P R E F A C E

IT is hoped that a second edition of The Complete Peerage may find favour for the following reasons:—

The period which has elapsed since the original work was published has been marked by the appearance of a multitude of volumes in which public Records, private Letters, Memoirs etc., have been printed, providing a great fund of material for rendering these pages more complete and for increasing their precision and interest. The present Editor has spared no pains to utilise to the utmost these sources of information, on which he has been engaged for more than fifteen years. It would be tedious to set out all the authorities that have been gone through, but as an illustration it may be mentioned that the Close Rolls, Patent Rolls, and Papal Letters, so far as they have been printed, all the publications of the Historical Manuscripts Commission, and the obituaries of the Gentleman's Magazine have been systematically searched for matter bearing on the Peerage; every number, also, of the London Gazette, since its first issue in 1665 has been examined by the Rev. A. B. Beaven, and his notes of the official dates of public appointments, as gazetted, have been utilised throughout. It will be found, accordingly, that a large addition has been made not only to the facts and dates, but also to those thumb-nail sketches of character, and particulars of life and manners, which enlivened the work in its earlier form and contributed so much to its popularity. In the House of Lords also, since the first edition appeared, some important cases have been decided, and the results of these will be incorporated, together with comments on their features and their bearing on peerage law. Lastly, the changes in the peerage itself, since the first volume of the original edition was published—more than 20 years ago—have already made a new one needful, extinctions, creations, promotions and successions, involving no small alteration.

As regards the plan or scope of the work very little change has been made, and none at all except after conference with the former Editor. Baronies by tenure not being Peerage dignities, and having only been dealt with in the first edition under the letter "A", have, except in one or two cases such as Abergavenny and Berkeley, disappeared altogether. As G. E. C. wrote, when deciding to discontinue them, "The reproduction of such accounts without accurate supervision (which the Editor has neither the will nor the capacity to bestow) does more harm than good."

The heirs apparent of living Peers, who come within its scope, are set out in the body of the work in all cases, and not merely, as in the previous edition, when they enjoyed a courtesy title.

The longer notes have been removed to appendices, because in some cases they so much reduced the text on a page as to interfere with its continuous and convenient examination. Where notes have been added which did not appear in the first edition, the present Editor has affixed his initials; where notes which did so appear have been altered or modified, the Editor has sometimes attached his initials and sometimes not, being conscious that whichever course he elected to pursue he must lay himself open to one of two charges, that of saddling G. E. C. with opinions for which he is not responsible, or that of claiming credit for remarks which are in truth due to another.

In those parts of the book which deal with the mediæval period an attempt has been made to describe people by the Christian names and Surnames which they may be supposed to have borne and by which they were known to their contemporaries, and not by the charter Latin equivalents or (even less suitably) by anglicized variants of the Latin, as has been the custom in all Peerages since the time of Dugdale. As this matter will be found fully discussed in vol. iii, Appendix C, it is not necessary to dilate further on it here. The brackets which appear round the Surnames of Peers are not meant to support the foolish modern phantasy that peers have no Surnames, but are merely inserted for convenience, with a view to indicating where the Christian names end and the Surnames begin.

The text is confined to giving, concisely and precisely so far as they have been obtainable, particulars of the parentage, birth, honours, orders, offices, public services, politics, marriage, death and burial, of every holder of a Peerage. In the above list the only novel item is that of the politics, which have been systematically recorded from the period of the Exclusion Bill agitation of 1679-81 (when the terms Whig and Tory first came into general use as party definitions) to the present day. The Editor hopes that this additional information (which has not hitherto been obtainable in a collected form, and is not easy to procure individually in the case of the less prominent politicians of the period before the Reform Bill of 1832) will not be without interest to the general reader, while it cannot fail to be of service to the future historian and biographer.<sup>(a)</sup> The party designations allotted in the text, as well as the notes appended in particular cases, to explain the political divagations of peers whom it is difficult to classify under one definite epithet, have all been furnished by the Rev. A. B. Beaven, whose familiarity with the minute details of the political and party history of England since the Restoration is probably unrivalled.<sup>(b)</sup>

Many more authorities have been cited in this than in the former edition, but it has been found impossible AUTHORITIES to quote them habitually on account of the intolerable size to which such a course would have swollen these volumes—e.g., such a typical (though imaginary) sentence as the following:—“He m., 14 April 1627, at Boston, co. Lincoln, at her age of 17, and without the knowledge of her parents, Jane, only child of Sir John Smith, Mayor of Boston (1620), by Jane, da. of James Jones, of York, Leatherseller,” might well have been built up from a dozen different sources, and might entail references to (1) a Parish Register, (2) a Newsletter, (3) a Peerage, (4) a Diary like Luttrell’s, (5) an entry in a Bible, (6) a note in a genealogical magazine, (7) a private letter to the Editor from a friend with genealogical tastes, (8) Correspondence printed by the Hist. MSS. Com., (9) Pedigrees both of Smith and Jones, (10) an unedited MS. at the British Museum, Record Office, or College of Arms, etc. Accordingly, as a general rule, authorities have only been given where the statements seem likely to be doubted or where they conflict with accounts previously given by writers of standing. In many cases a reference to the original English or Scottish Records (now available) has been substituted for notes referring to Dugdale, Douglas, Courthope, or other Peerage writers.

<sup>(a)</sup> The Dictionary of National Biography is conspicuously lacking in such details with regard to members of both Houses of Parliament who were not, and even some who were, ‘front bench’ men.

As this work is concerned rather with the history of the peerage than with the events of the moment, it has been thought well to exclude from this edition any account of persons who have become peers, whether by succession or creation, since the death of Queen Victoria, an event which practically synchronizes with the close of the 19th century. Thus a definite point of termination has been secured which will be the same through all the volumes.

In the notes, the editor has allowed himself a free hand.

“ Quidquid agunt homines nostri est farrago libelli. ”

NOTES Many of them will be found to contain passages from Swift, Hervey, Walpole, Macky, and other such writers, whose crisp epigrammatic style lends itself readily to quotation; but it should be borne in mind that (whether flattering or the reverse), these nearly contemporary comments are largely coloured by political or personal prejudice, truth being often sacrificed to smartness. If, however, not merely the unfairness but the triviality of some of these sketches should be urged against them, the defence of Francis Osborn (in his Queen Elizabeth) seems applicable, who remarks—“ Neither can I apprehend it a greater folly in me to register the yellownesse of Queen Anne’s hair with other levities, which may seem pertinent to posterity though trivial now, yet of as high concernment as Cæsar’s nose. ”

Anyone who reads this part of the work will go “ from grave to gay, from lively to severe, ” and, as the fancy takes him, may turn from the canonized Earl of the 14th to the bigamous Baron of the 19th century. He may learn who were the Scottish nobles slain at Flodden, or discover how two noble ladies were locked up in “ the Cage ” for being drunk and disorderly.

The present Editor would certainly not have tried unassisted to draw the “ bow of Ulysses, ” but he has been fortunate in securing not only, as he would ACKNOWLEDGMENTS confidently have expected, the constant advice and assistance, dating back now for many years, of G.E.C., the “ onlie begetter ” of this work, but also of those whose names follow in alphabetical order, on whom he had no sort of claim for the cordial and valuable co-operation which they have given.

Oswald Barron has kindly undertaken to furnish the armorial bearings of all peers of England or Great Britain, a difficult task, for which his fitness will be generally recognised, and which was not attempted in the first edition.

The Rev. Alfred B. Beaven has not only supplied information as to the politics of peers as already mentioned, but has also revised, and (where necessary) corrected, and added to, all statements with reference to the offices, honours, orders, or seats in the House of Commons, held by peers—no light labour—and last but not least has carefully read and commented on all proofs.

*George Dames Burtchaell, Athlone Pursuivant and Registrar of the Office of Arms (Dublin), has carefully and systematically revised the Irish portions of the work, and has devoted much labour to investigation with regard to some of the early and obscure Irish titles which will be found acknowledged in loco. He has also read all proofs relating to Irish peers and been ready to help in any case of difficulty.

Sir Henry Maxwell Lyte, K.C.B., Deputy Keeper of the Public Records, has given the benefit of his special knowledge with regard to some of the early baronies by writ, and both officially and unofficially has done everything in his power to aid the Editor.

Sir James Balfour Paul, Lyon King of Arms, as all who know him will anticipate, has been most obliging not only in fulfilling the same important function concerning Scotland which G.D. Burtchaell has undertaken with regard to the sister island, but has observed without a murmur the "conveyance" of matter from his Scots Peerage into the following pages.

*John Horace Round needs no trumpet from the present writer to be the herald of his fame; he also has been good enough, in spite of many conflicting claims upon his time, to examine the proofs, and though it would be grossly unfair to saddle him with any sort of responsibility for statements in this work, yet if no errors should hereafter be detected bearing upon peerage law, their absence may safely be attributed in large measure to his immense knowledge and watchful eye.

*George Wentworth Watson. Those who read the Genealogist will know something of the capacity of this writer, but of the extent to which the present Editor is indebted to him they can have no knowledge, and he finds it quite impossible to overstate his sense of obligation. The special articles which he has re-written are duly acknowledged in their place, but these do not represent a tithe of the assistance which he has rendered, for he has scrutinised every word, nay every comma, of the proofs with a minuteness which could not have been surpassed.

Besides the above many others have aided in a greater or less degree by sending communications, and the Editor desires to express his hearty thanks to H. W. Forsyth Harwood, Editor of The Genealogist, H. J. Ellis, of the British Museum, W. H. B. Bird, D. G. Warrand, Sir James Ramsay, Major Francis Skeet, H. Stuart Moore, Josiah Wedgwood, M.P., W. F. Carter, A. Crawley-Boevey, and to all who have helped in and looked kindly on this enterprise.

The list of those to whom the Editor is under obligation must not be concluded without mentioning his publisher, H. A. Doubleday, whom zeal has led, and knowledge has enabled, to make many valuable suggestions for the improvement not only of the form but of the matter of these pages.

It will be seen therefore that, if the Editor should be found to have attempted something greater than he was capable of accomplishing, he will not be able to plead in excuse the lack of competent and generous helpers. Whatever may be thought of the work on other grounds, he is satisfied that it will not deserve the praise that has been accorded to other peerages, namely:—
“The best thing in fiction that the English have ever done.”

Nor is it only to men but to books also that the Editor must proclaim himself a debtor. J. H. Round's recently published Peerage and Pedigree has proved most useful, The Scots Peerage has already been mentioned, but to this should be added Ruvigny's Jacobite Peerage, Crisp's quaintly named but useful Visitations, Burke's and other annual Peerages, and similar works as to which want of space has prevented acknowledgment in the cases where they have been laid under contribution.

EARLY WRITS

In an historic peerage the compiler is constantly confronted with the difficulty that it is impossible to reconcile the facts of history with the Law of Peerage. More especially is this the case when the question arises of how to describe men who were summoned to Parliament by writ before the time of Henry V. Take for example the incidental mention of, say, Ferrers of Groby; when we find that in the most formal documents Henry IV never describes this man otherwise than William de Ferrers of Groby knight, it seems both inaccurate and anachronistic to describe him as Lord Ferrers of Groby. On the other hand, he cannot conveniently be described otherwise in the article "Ferrers," and it seems unreasonable to give no indication that the Sir William de Ferrers of one part of the work is the same as the Lord Ferrers of another.

On the whole the best compromise in the case of a man summoned at an early date to Parliament, appears to be to refer to him when mentioned incidentally as Sir (—) (—) [Lord —], and, when he is dealt with directly in the article which gives an account of him, to set out the dates of his writs of summons and to add "whereby he is held to have become Lord—."

To write a peerage from a purely historic standpoint would be to exclude a number of men summoned at an early date to Parliament whose descendants in some cases are now sitting in the House of Lords in virtue of those summonses. To write a peerage from a purely legal standpoint would be to produce a work demonstrably and grotesquely untrue in fact.

Even in the case of a peerage written from a strictly legal standpoint, the arbitrary, conflicting, and unhistoric, decisions of the House of Lords would render it impossible for the compiler to feel any confidence that he had correctly decided as to who should, and who should not, figure in his work as peers, or that even if his list were correct at the moment of going to press it would be so six months later. E.g., the decision on the Mowbray and Segrave Case in 1877 had the effect, not only of treating the writs of 1264 as bad, although all the men then summoned might have been (on account of the precedency of 1264 having been allowed to the baronies of Despenser and de Ros) included in former peerages, but it held the hitherto universally discredited writs of 1283 to be good, and by so doing accomplished the ex post facto creation of, or gave a new precedence to, 99 peers, or rather, to be strictly accurate, it did so as far as the supposed intentions of King Edward I are concerned. But in fact, owing to the unreasonable though desirable doctrine that proof of sitting is necessary before a man can establish his right to a peerage under a writ of summons, this startling pronouncement has very small practical effect on any one living at the present day. It is not, however, only as regards the past that the decision in 1877 as to the writs of 1283 is important, but in view of the number of such summonses to councils and other gatherings, it has opened up a wide field for the conversion in the future of knights and gentlemen of the Edwardian period into hereditary noblemen. It may be quite true that with regard to the living the Crown is the 'sole fountain of honour,' but with regard to the dead and gone that position has been usurped by the Committee for Privileges.

Until 1877 the first valid writs of summons, setting aside the anomalous cases of Ros and Despenser, were supposed to have issued in 1295, but in consequence of the decision in the Mowbray and Segrave Case the Editor has felt bound to set out all the men summoned in 1283; for obviously all those that were summoned at the same date as Roger Mowbray were as much, or as little, peers as Roger himself.

Nevertheless, there is no ground for supposing that, because the House of Lords held Roger's peerage to have originated in the writ of 1283, they would treat another claimant whose claim rested on the same basis in the same fashion. For although we must all recognise the truth of what the learned Sir Francis Bacon advances in the Ros Case (27 April 1616), that "matters of honour before so honourable judges cannot but receive an honourable determination," yet it is much to be hoped that before such another occasion arises, sufficient light on the history of the subject will have penetrated into that august Chamber to prevent their Lordships repeating this decision. Remembering, however, the unanimous finding of the Committee for Privileges in the case of the Earldom of Norfolk in 1906, when the plainest historic facts were ignored because they did not square with later legal decisions, such a hope seems somewhat over-sanguine. Finality can never be reached as to who were and who were not peers until the Lords' decisions are based upon some recognised principle; hitherto they have been settled by the opinions of the small body sitting at the time, who did not as a rule possess expert knowledge, or else by the importance of the claimant.

The Mowbray and Segrave Case, in 1877, constituted, or implied, a reversal of the two previous awards in the Cases of Despenser and de Ros (1603 and 1616). The decision in the Case of the Earldom of Wilts in 1869 constituted a reversal of the extraordinary one in the Case of the Earldom of Devon in 1831, and no one can safely predict what the Lords will do from what the Lords have done.

The fact that an account is given of all the men summoned in 1283, and of all those who can be proved to have sat in the Parliament of 1290, forms a new and important feature which alone would differentiate this from any similar work.

It is not proposed to deal in this Preface with the large and difficult question of how far any summonses by writ can be held in their origin to have created a peerage dignity ; that matter will be discussed in an Appendix to the last volume if the writer should happily live to complete this work. He may however here say that he is abundantly convinced that there was no such thing as a peer of Parliament (i.e. a man who obtained a higher status because he had received a summons), at any rate in Edwardian times. To dogmatise as to what was, or was not, legally a good summons to Parliament is impossible, having regard to the fact that the Committee for Privileges has never (as J. H. Round has pointed out) laid down what constitutes a Parliament, although it has been regarded as necessary for this purpose that the Lords temporal, the Lords Spiritual, and the Knights of the Shire and Burgesses should be summoned.

It is, however, thought that this is as good a place as any other to discuss the DOUBTFUL WRITS, as to the validity of which different opinions have been held from time to time ; this, accordingly, the Editor will proceed to attempt.

WRITS OF 1264

The first writs on record of any summons to Parliament are those of 24 December (1264) 49 Henry III, and thereon Courthope [p. xxv sub "Baronies by Writ "] remarks, "Very little can be gathered from it as it does not contain the names of one third part of the [Feudal] Baronial body, and though issued in the King's name, the King was himself a prisoner to the Earl of Leicester, the leader of the rebellious Barons, who [i.e. which Earl], it may fairly be inferred, summoned only those Barons who took part with him against the Royal cause." The true date of these writs is, so far as laymen are concerned, 24 December, though owing to the fact that some of the clergy were summoned ten days earlier, viz., 14 December, to meet at the same time and place, that date is often wrongly substituted; e.g., Courthope divides the laymen summoned on 24 December impartially between the two dates. The number of the laity summoned at this date was 23, of whom 5 were Earls.

The full list is as follows :—

The first occasion on which a writ of this date was treated as being capable of founding an hereditary peerage was in 1604, when the Barony of Despenser was allowed to Dame Mary Fane, and confirmed to her with such pre-eminence as Hugh le Despenser, Justiciar of England (1264), enjoyed. The second occasion was shortly afterwards, in 1616, when the Barony of Ros was recognised as originating in the said writ of 1264. The same view was again held on 5 Feb. 1666/7, and again on 7 May 1806, when the question of the inheritance of that Barony was at issue. On none of these occasions does the point that these writs were bad, as having issued in rebellion, appear to have been taken; and it was not until the Mowbray and Segrave Case in 1877 that this very reasonable view was definitely adopted, although it should be remembered that previously (in 1841) the writs of 1264 were ignored in the Hastings Case.

WRITS OF 1283

These writs are recorded—merely—on the Welsh Rolls (m. 2 dorso), and are consequently ignored by Dugdale in his Summons to the Great Councils and Parliaments. The summonses were to 11 Earls; including William DE VALENCE, who, though summoned as 5th among the Earls is not designated Earl of Pembroke; also including Gilbert DE UMFREVILLE, EARL OF ANGUS, and Robert DE BRUS, EARL OF CARRICK, who, though so designated, can hardly be supposed, even if the writs be accounted good, to have been summoned as English Earls, but should rather be held to have been summoned, according to modern doctrine, as Barons, <sup>(a)</sup> the mention of the Scottish Earldoms being merely an act of courtesy. <sup>(b)</sup>

In addition to the Earls, summonses were issued to 99 other persons, who must, if the writs be good, be accounted as Barons. The full list is as follows :—

There were also summonses to Knights of the Shire, and to Burgesses from 21 cities or towns, but none to the Clergy.

In 1830-34 Palgrave threw a certain official halo over these (*) Sic on the Roll, but it should be "Rogeri". It may be added that in this list, both as printed in the Lords' Reports, and in Palgrave's Parliamentary Writs, the words "Davintre" and "Hoyland" have been misread, and there are also a few minor mistakes common to both. (G. W. Watson.)

writs by recognising them in his Parliamentary Writs as good : with this exception, until 1877, it had never, as far as the Editor knows, been suggested that writs summoning men to Shrewsbury to attend the trial of David ap Griffith, at least “super hoc et aliis locuturi” important as the event was in marking the development of parliamentary institutions, could confer on them hereditary titles. Nevertheless at that date the Lords, as it would seem, quite lightly and unadvisedly, and without realising the important bearing of their action, but apparently desiring to offer some solatium for disallowing a writ of 1264, held that one of 1283 was valid for that purpose. The question of the validity of these writs is fully discussed by J. H. Round in his Peerage and Pedigree (1910), where he deals with the treatment of them in the successive cases of Mowbray, Wahull, and Fauconberg. In this last case the validity of a writ of this date was keenly argued and was based on its acceptance in the Mowbray case. Unfortunately the Resolutions adopted by the Committee, while studiously ignoring these writs, leave it, perhaps, open to doubt whether they have been definitely rejected. J. H. Round has now advanced against them the further argument that “no fewer than half the ‘barons’ summoned were never summoned to a Parliament of clear validity” (Peerage and Pedigree, vol. i, pp. 261-2), which is certainly significant. The argument which appeared to have most weight with Lord Halsbury, who sat on the Committee, was that because a statute was passed by the assembly in 1283, that constituted it a Parliament. Yet, as has been pointed out, Magna Charta is numbered among the Statutes, but no one will suggest that it was a regular Parliament which met at Runnymede. Even if the fact that the Clergy were not summoned were not a fatal flaw, when it is remembered that as late as the first Parliament of James I the peers of England of all ranks only numbered 82, the notion that Edward I, into whose head it never entered to make peers at all, ever contemplated such a wholesale creation as that of 99 Barons in one day is so preposterous, that the mere number alone should have made the Lords hesitate to render the law of Baronies by writ ridiculous by adopting it. (a) If however it be answered that Edward I never had any such intention, but that many of these men had been peers of Parliament long before, the retort can only be “produce your evidence.”

(a) See Preface to 1st edition, note “a,” as reprinted on p. xxx of this volume.

J. H. Round points out that Bishop "Stubbs writing in 1875 declared there to be no valid writs between 1264 and 1295, so the production (in 1877) of 1283 [as valid] was a revolution," and that Sir Thomas Hardy, who became head of the Record Office, stated in evidence (1841) that there were no writs of summons to Parliament between 1264 and 1295 (Peerage and Pedigree, vol. i, p. 254). He further observes that Sir H. Nicolas had previously (1825) stated the writs of 1294 to be "the earliest on record excepting that of 1264" proving that he also ignored the writs of 1283.

PARLIAMENTS OF 1290

In this year two Parliaments were held, one after the Feast of St. Hilary, and another after Easter [2 Apr.]. As to the first of these, there are no writs of summons thereto on record. It appears, however, from an entry in the proceedings, that Edmund, Earl of Cornwall, had come to that Parliament "ad mandatum domini Regis : " presumably, therefore, a writ had been issued to him for that purpose, and so to others.

As to the second Parliament, no writs to Earls or Barons are in evidence: <sup>(a)</sup>but, there is a memorandum stating that, "in crastino S. Trinitatis anno xviiij [i. e. 29 May 1290]," a grant was made to the King, in full Parliament, of an Aid to marry his daughter, by certain persons named, who, besides five Bishops and the Elect of Ely, were as follows :—

Edmundus frater domini Regis	Humfridus de Bohun Comes
Willelmus de Valenc' Comes	Hereford et Essex'
Penebrock	Robertus de Tipetot
Gilbertus de Clare Comes Glouc'	Reginaldus de Grey et Hertford	Johannes de Hastings

<sup>(a)</sup> There are, however, writs enrolled (Close Roll, 18 Edw. I, m. 9d), dated 14 June, to the Sheriffs of counties, directing them each to elect duos vel tres knights of the shire to be at Westminster "a die Sancti Johannis Baptiste proximo futuro in tres septimanas ad ultimum" [i. e. before 15 July, some time after Parliament met] "ad consulendum et consentiendum pro se et communitate illa [comitatus] hiis que comites barones et proceres predicti tunc duxerint concordandum." No writs are known to have been issued to the authorities of any town.

The scant knowledge that we have about the constitution of this Parliament, and the fact that, in spite thereof, the Lords in 1841 decided that the then Lord Hastings' Barony originated at this date, because his ancestor could then be proved to have sat, makes it desirable to consider this Parliament when doubtful writs are being discussed.

The imperfection of the present state of our acquaintance with the development stage of our parliamentary history is emphasised by the discovery of C. Hilary Jenkinson that burgesses were summoned to the first Parliament of Edward I, at Easter 1275. Until April of the present year (1910) it was not known that representatives of the towns had ever been summoned before the Assembly or Parliament of 1283, except in the case of Simon de Montfort's rebel Parliament in 1264.

That the assembly of May 1290, however constituted, proceeded to pass Statutes, including among them the well-known Quia Emptores, is certain, and if Lord Halsbury's opinion ut supra is to be accepted, that fact alone constitutes it a genuine Parliament. Fortunately, whether the Parliament was good or bad, for the purpose of converting its members into hereditary noblemen, the effect on the Peerage can be but small.

In the first place only eleven men of Baronial rank are known to have sat; in the second, nearly all of those were summoned to an undoubted Parliament 5 years later,—in fact only two, Robert de Poynings and John de St. John, were never summoned again—and finally, as has been intimated already, the fact that the Committee for Privileges recognised the sitting in 1290 as originating the Barony in the Hastings case, is no criterion as to the line which a differently constituted Committee may take in the future. It is of course quite absurd to look for the same regularity and precision in the summoning of Parliaments during the period of transition and development temp. Edward I, as when these matters have been settled and ordered for centuries, temp. Edward VII.

The exact amount of irregularity in the constitution of an early parliamentary gathering which the Lords' tribunal may be prepared to overlook for the purpose of creating a man a peer or of furnishing his peerage with a high precedence, is governed by the sweet pleasure of the judicial body for the moment, is not regulated by known laws, and consequently cannot be determined beforehand. So we come back to the crucial question, What constitutes a Parliament for Peerage purposes? And this query nobody answers, for nobody knows.

WRITS OF 1294

The observations of Sir N. Harris Nicolas (p. 141) on these writs are as follows :—

“ REGINALD DE CLYVEDON was, with about sixty other persons, sum. 8 June (1294), 22 Edw. I, to attend the King, wherever he might be, to advise on the affairs of the Realm; but there is very considerable doubt if that writ can be considered as a regular writ of summons to Parl., as none of the higher temporal Nobility nor any of the spiritual Peers were included in it; nor was there any day fixed for the meeting. It is also to be observed that the writ in question is the earliest on record, excepting that of (1264) 49 Hen. III, that the majority of the persons summoned in (1294) 22 Edw. I were never again summoned excepting in 25 Edw. I, that several of those persons were not considered as Barons by Tenure, and that of those who were Barons by Tenure and summoned on those occasions, many were never included in any subsequent summons to Parliament. The writ of (1294) 22 Edw. I has, however, on one occasion (in the case of the Barony of Ros) been admitted as a writ of summons to Parliament at the bar of the House of Lords, but the last ‘General Report of the Lords’ Committee appointed to search for matters touching the Dignity of a Peer of the Realm,’ appears to confirm the objections here expressed.”

The criticisms of G.W. Watson on the above disquisition are as follows :

“ It appears from the foregoing remarks that Nicolas must have been under some misapprehension when he took these writs into consideration. For the only writ concerned in the Ros Case (1616, ‘before the Commissioners for the office of Earl Marshal’) was one of 1264 and not one of 1294. It would seem indeed that no writs of this latter date have ever been brought forward in any Case, nor are they even mentioned in the Lords' Reports, vol. i, p. 208. It may be further observed that the person whom Nicolas here calls Reginald de Clyvedon is described, and rightly described, in the enrolment (Gascon Roll, 22 Edw. I, m. 8d) as Reymond de Clivedon : also that under "Ros," Nicolas has confused the writ of 1294 to William de Ros (of Hemsley) with that to William de Ros of Ingmanthorpe, though both these persons were summoned, and distinguished from each other in the writs. It remains to be added that Courthope has copied Nicolas in all these particulars."

WRITS OF 1297

The validity of the writs of 1297 as regular writs of summons to Parliament (such as would now be held to originate a Peerage) is discussed at great length in Nicolas (p. 242), under "FITZ JOHN," in a long and elaborate note which is reprinted in Courthope, with a few slight alterations. The doubt of such validity was suggested by the following note (written, apparently, by John Vincent, son of the well known Augustine Vincent) in a copy of the summonses in the College of Arms. "This can be no summons [to Parl.], because it is only directed to the Temporality."

As to the reason for the clergy not being summoned, Hamilton Hall, in N. & Q., 8th Ser., vol. xi, p. 1, points out that they were all then outlawed, Pope Boniface VIII and the Primate Winchelsey having advanced the proposition (very unlikely to be admitted by a needy and resolute King) that Church property should pay no taxes.

J. H. Round points out that, according to Stubbs (Constitutional History), "Six earls and eighty-nine barons and knights had been invited, and most of them attended," but the clergy and commons were not summoned. It was in this historic assembly, which met at Salisbury, 24 February 1296/7, having been summoned 26 January preceding, that the earls of Hereford and Norfolk defied the king, who exclaimed to Norfolk 'By God, Earl, you shall either go or hang,' and was met by the rejoinder, 'By God, King, I will neither go nor hang.' It was probably owing to this assembly being styled a parliamentum in the marginal heading on the Close Roll that it seems to have been accepted without question as a 'Parliament' in 1677, when the solitary writ of summons produced in the Frescheville claim (see FRESCHVILLE) was to this assembly. But in the Wahull claim (1892), when this was one of the two 'Parliaments' to which writs of summons were produced, Lord Selborne said, in his Judgment, "it seems to me clear that the Assembly appointed to meet at Salisbury in 1297, to which Thomas de Wahull was summoned, was not a proper Parliament." Nevertheless, a writ of summons to it had been accepted as valid (in 1877) in the Mowbray and Segrave Case (see Round's Peerage and Pedigree, vol. i, pp. 255, 260). It should be added that the strange error of Dugdale (followed by Nicolas), who carelessly read Mathie as Mathei, which led him to suppose that the 'Parliament' was summoned for 21 September (instead of 24 February), was first pointed out in 1823. See the Lords' Reports, 2nd edition, vol. i, p. 470, note 55. In N. & Q., 5th Ser., vol. v, p. 103, James Greenstreet gives 94 coats of arms of the magnates there assembled, which he calls "The First Nobility Roll," being the earliest dated roll of arms known to exist.

WRITS OF 1342

The only other doubtful writs about which it is needful to say anything are those of 25 February (1341/2) 16 Edward III, and they do not require detailed examination. For some unknown reason they have been treated as good by peerage writers, but there seems no justification for looking on the assembly summoned by them as other than a council. The matter is of some importance, for though, so far as the Editor is aware, no attempt has ever been made to establish the validity of a writ of this date before the Committee of Privileges, yet of the multitude of men then summoned some were never summoned on any other occasion. Stubbs in his Constitutional History remarks that "Edward did not venture to summon a Parliament" in this year. The objections to these Writs, shortly stated by J. H. Round in a letter to the Editor, are as follows: — "The summonses are headed "de consilio summonito" [not "de Parlamento summonito" as is the case in 1341 and 1343] and are addressed only to the Archbishop of Canterbury, seven bishops, nine Earls and the Earl of Angus, and to a great number of Barons, but to no Knights [of the Shire] or citizens. Clearly this is no Parliament. The summons was put in evidence in the Meinill case, but Counsel stated that this was only a summons to a council." To the above need only be added, that whereas to the undoubted Parliaments of 1341 and 1343 there were, excluding Earls, 45 and 40 persons summoned respectively, to this intermediate council of 1342 the attendance of 96 persons was ordered.

So little regard do the voluminous Lords' Reports attach to this gathering, that in the chapter "On the constituent Parts of the Legislative Assemblies [N.B. not merely the Parliaments] of England during the reign of Edward the Third" it is entirely ignored in its chronological place (vol. i, p. 316), the writers passing straight from the consideration of the Parliament of 15 to that of 17 Edward III.

PREFACE

TO THE FIRST EDITION<sup>(*)</sup>

This work is intended as an alphabetical "Synopsis" of the ENTIRE HEREDITARY PEERAGE, extant, extinct, or dormant, of England, Great Britain and the United Kingdom, as also of Scotland and Ireland (including such Peerages as have been created for life only by charter or patent), containing a short account of each Peer, and stating also (where it can be ascertained) the date and place of birth, baptism, marriage, death and burial, not only of all the Peers themselves, but of their respective wives, together with other particulars, including the name and description of the father and mother of each Peer and Peeress.

The succession to the title is shown, and the plan generally adopted is almost the same as in the "SYNOPSIS OF THE PEERAGE OF ENGLAND" (a work of infinite labour and merit), edited by that well-known antiquarian genealogist, Sir Nicholas Harris Nicolas, G.C.M.G., in 1825. Of this work (after his death), a new edition, under the name of the "HISTORIC PEERAGE OF ENGLAND," was issued in 1857, with many very valuable additions, by one who was thoroughly competent for such a work, viz., William Courthope, late (1854-66) Somerset Herald. Both these works, however (besides that upwards of a quarter of a century has now [1887] elapsed since the publication of the latter), take no notice of the Peerage of Scotland or Ireland, and (though most useful, and indeed indispensable, to all genealogists) contain, even as to the English Peers, a somewhat meagre (though generally accurate) account; while no notice whatever is taken of their alliances.

This work includes such eldest sons or grandsons of Dukes, Marquesses, or Earls, who, having been styled by a courtesy title as heirs apparent to such Peerages, have died in the lifetime of their respective fathers or grandfathers. Of these the account is placed immediately after the notice of such their ancestors.

With respect to BARONIES BY TENURE (of which a fuller and more accurate account than any hitherto published is greatly to be wished), they are not included, save in two or three cases, such, more especially, as Abergavenny, Berkeley, &c., where it has been contended that the tenure per Baroniam constituted the actual peerage. Baronies by Tenure are a class of dignities which are best dealt with by themselves, and the account of them given in Nicolas and reproduced in Courthope is, when tested by the light of the researches made during the last threescore years, very inaccurate, besides also that a vast number of such Baronies are altogether omitted in those publications.

The object of the present work being not only to amplify and continue any previous account of the hereditary Peerage of England, &c., but to insert therewith that of Scotland and Ireland, some difficulty arises in determining, with respect to these last two kingdoms, as to what in them constituted a Peerage, in the same sense as that term (mutatis mutandis) is applied to England.

AS TO SCOTLAND, an accurate distinction between such Barons as may be considered PEERS (i.e., the GREATER BARONS, who were 'LORDS OF PARLIAMENT') and such (i.e., the LESSER BARONS) as held only a territorial Barony, is, at an early period, hardly attainable. In this work an account will be given of such Scotch Baronies only as were Lords of Parl., or which (though, in some cases, almost imperceptibly) developed afterwards into such. One of the best authorities on such a subject, the well-known John Riddell ('Scotch Peerage Law,' edit. 1833, p. 89, note 2) remarks that in Scotland 'we had no hereditary Lordships of Parl. till about [1437-1463] the reign of James II.' [S]. R. R. Stodart, Lyon Clerk Depute, in a letter (1885) to the Editor, writes that 'It does not seem that there were Barons by tenure here [S] as in England, or rather, one might say that the Minor Barons were all Barons by tenure; they certainly were not Lords of Parl.' G. Burnett, Lyon, adds, in a similarly directed letter (1889), that 'the Scotch Parl., as it existed in the 14th and 15th centuries and the greater part of the 16th, was an assemblage in one Chamber of three separate orders of the Community, the Prelates, Barons and Burgesses. The Earls belonged to the order of Barons. All Barons in the old sense, i.e., landholders holding their land as a Barony, had the right, or, more properly speaking, were under the obligation, to attend the meeting of the Estates, sometimes expressed as part of the reddendum of a charter. By the less considerable landowners the obligation to be present was often held a grievous burden, and a statute of James I [S], in March 1427/8, enacted that the Small Barons should be excused from attending Parl., provided they sent two or more wise men from each Sheriffdom to represent them. Though this act, as well as a later one, was a failure as to its main object (Parliamentary representation) it was probably held to afford a quasi-sanction to the habitual absence of the Small Barons, with the bestowal of a new title, that of Lord of Parliament, on the more considerable of the order, who might regard parliamentary attendance as a privilege rather than a burden, contributed further to the same result. No such creations, however, existed prior to the time (1406-37) of James I [S], who created but few, though his successor (1437-60) James II [S], created a good many, but many Barons even at that period, who attended the meetings of the estates, were not Lords of Parliament.' The distinction between the Greater Barons [S] (who were Lords of Parl.), and the Lesser Barons (who were not such Lords) is emphasised in the creation (14 Apr. 1616) of Sir David Carnegie in Baronem Majorem et Dominum Parliamenti [S].

AS TO IRELAND, where no comprehensive account of the entire Peerage exists, and where one cannot (as in England) be guided by the writ of summons (which in Ireland was merely incidental to, and not creative of the Peerage),<sup>(a)</sup> the Editor has not attempted to deal with any title of honour in that kingdom, which may have existed as an hereditary Peerage of parliament and have become extinct prior to the reign of Henry VII, other than with such among them as had been created, before that period, by patent or charter, (of which there appear altogether to have been but twelve), and with the Earldom of Cork, which in all probability was so created.<sup>(b)</sup> In addition to these, and to such Peerages as were existing in the reign of Henry VII, and (of course) such as thereafter were created, some account will be given of the few feudal Baronies which had developed before that reign, into the hereditary Peerages then existing, such as those of Slane, Howth, &c. Of the twelve Peerages created by patent before the reign of Henry VII as above-mentioned, the holders of five were among the fifteen Irish Peers<sup>(c)</sup> who were summoned by that King in 1489

<sup>(a)</sup> The case of the Barony of La Poer (or Power of Curraghmore) is but an apparent contradiction to this statement, for the decision concerning it (in 1767) was grounded on the erroneous report of the Attorney and the Solicitor General for Ireland, that this ancient feudal Barony (of which the Peerage dignity was created by patent, 33 Hen. VIII, to Richard Power, the then feudal Lord, "et hæredibus masculis de corpore exsuntibus") was a Barony created by writ, and, consequently, one in fee. With this anomaly, the entire Irish Baronage is composed exclusively of the male heirs of the Peers recognised in 1489 by Henry VII, and of those since ennobled by letters patent. So clearly was the fact recognised (even at so late a time as the end of the 17th century) that no writ of summons created a Peerage of Ireland, that when James II, shortly after the revolution, wished to confer a hereditary Irish Peerage, he (being then unwilling, in those troublous times, to rely solely on letters patent) introduced express words to that effect in the writ of summons, which otherwise would have been (like the Irish writs of his predecessors) merely personal.

<sup>(b)</sup> These were seven Earldoms (which, with the Earldom of Cork, were apparently, all that ever existed before that date), four Baronies, and one Viscounty, viz. the Earldoms of Ulster (1205); Carrick (1315); Kildare (1316); Louth (1319); Ormonde (1328); Desmond (1329) and Waterford (1446). The Baronies of Trimleston (1461/2); Portlester (1461/2); Ratowth (1468) and Rathwire * (1476); also the Viscounty of Gormanston (1478).

* As to the existence of Rathwire as a peerage title see Appendix A., p. 458, note "a" in this volume. V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> Viz., three EARLS, i.e., Kildare, Ormonde and Desmond (all three Earldoms having been created by patent); three VISCOUNTS, i.e., Buttevant, Fermoy and Gormanston (of which the last alone had been, in 1478, created by patent), and nine BARONS, i.e., Athenry, Kingsale, Kerry and Lixnaw, Slane, Delvin, Killeen, Howth,

PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION xxix

to Greenwich, but the remaining ten of those so summoned (two Viscounts and eight Barons) possessed Peerages, the mode of whose creation is, and probably will ever remain unknown; <sup>(a)</sup> it certainly was not by writ, <sup>(b)</sup> and probably, in the earlier cases at all events, not by patent. These ten may be called Prescriptive Peerages, of which the holders were, in 1489, acknowledged as Hereditary Peers of Parliament by Henry VII.

As to Scotland and Ireland, the Editor, though he has not in all cases implicitly adopted the views therein contained, is under the greatest obligation to two most valuable works: one entitled "Inquiry into the Law and Practise in Scottish Peerages, &c.," by John Riddell: the other, "Feudal Baronies in Ireland during the Reign of Henry II.," by William Lynch, F.S.A. <sup>(c)</sup> The early dates (1181, &c.) assigned to some of the Irish Baronies have always been a great difficulty, one, it is feared, that has not been very adequately dealt with in this work, but (since its issue) the Trimleston and Dunsany, of which Trimleston alone had been (in 1461/2) created by patent. The Earl of Waterford (Earl of Shrewsbury in England) was not summoned, neither was Lord Portlester, who did not die till 1496. The Baronies of Rathowth and of Rathwire * were probably under forfeiture.

<sup>(a)</sup> Even with respect to the Baronies of Killeen and Dunsany, two of the most modern prescriptive peerages, nothing can be ascertained as to the mode of their creation. Camden merely states that "Christopher Plunket was advanced [erectus est] to the dignity of Baron of Killeen, having inherited Killeen (i.e., the manor) from the family of Cusack." The Barony so created (though the name and estate were inherited through a female) was, according to the established rule of the Irish Baronage, one descendible to the issue male of the grantee, and has, as such, twice passed over the heir general in favour of the heir male. The writ under which Lord Killeen's male ancestor, Richard Plunkett of Rathregan, sat in the Parliament of 48 Edw. III did not entitle him (as in England) to any hereditary Peerage.

<sup>(b)</sup> Until the 10th year of Henry VIII the power of summoning these Parliaments was in the chief Governor of Ireland though he issued his writ in the Royal name and style. No act of any subject, however exalted, can, in any case, create a Peer, and indeed (excepting in the case of the Barony of La Poer) none of the families so summoned ever attempted to advance any such claim. See "Remarks upon the Ancient Baronage of Ireland" [Dublin 1829, 8vo., pp. 158], page 16, 31, &c., which little work is a very clear account of these dignities, probably written by William Lynch, the Author of "Feudal Baronies in Ireland."

<sup>(c)</sup> "Lynch is the ablest writer, no doubt, upon the subject, but, we must remember, a partisan. Lynch wrote with the object of establishing, as a rule of law, a presumption in favour of heirs male in the descent of Irish dignities. Betham, in spite of his official position [Ulster King of Arms, 1820-53] was so poor an advocate (in his Dignities Feudal and Parliamentary, 1830) of the opposite view, that we cannot wonder at G.E.C. following Lynch throughout. . . . The native tribal principle, invincibly in favour of Agnates, strove here, as elsewhere, against the principles of English law. We imagine that at first the latter prevailed especially within the Pale, but with the ebb of the English rule the native principle revived, and even the Anglo-Normans (Hibernis Hiberniores) adopted, in the wilder parts, the old tribal system, or at least elaborately entailed their estates upon heirs male. Thus there arose, in practise, a system of male succession, altho', in our opinion, it had not solution thereof has been thus ably indicated. 'The origin of the difficulty is, we would suggest, that whereas in England the creation of a Barony [if not by letters patent] is reckoned to date from the first proved writ of summons; in Ireland the writ of summons has been comparatively ignored, and dignities traced to the earliest period at which their possessors were Barons by tenure. This principle, tho' pressed upon them, has always been rejected by our own House of Lords, so that the apparent superior antiquity of Irish over English Baronies has no foundation in fact.' The anomalous precedency accorded to the Barony of Abergavenny seems, however, a case (probably the only case) in which the English Peers have in modern times recognised some such right.

AS TO ENGLAND, Courthope's work (above mentioned) is an almost infallible guide as far as it extends; some matters, however, have been changed since (1857) the date of its issue. The validity of the writ of (1264) 49 Hen. III (to Montfort's parl.) which had been accepted in the cases of Le Despencer (1604) and of De Ros (1806) has been disallowed in 1877 (in the decision on Mowbray) whereby it 'has raised a question of precedence as yet insoluble.' It had previously, in 1841, been ignored in the Hastings Case. The theory that the next valid writ to 1264 was that of 24 June (1295) 23 Edw. I, (though the late Dep. Keeper of the Records, the well-known Sir Thomas Duffus Hardy, expressly stated in 1841, in the Hastings case, that he had made search for any intermediate writs of summons and found none) has also been upset by their Lordships' decision in 1877 (in the Mowbray and Segrave case) who allowed the validity of the writ of summons to Shrewsbury, 28 June (1283) 11 Edw. I, 'apparently without the slightest conception that they were establishing a precedent of the most momentous consequence. When it is added that the contested writs of 1294 and 1297 were also allowed to be put into evidence without question<sup>(a)</sup> and that the writ of 1283 affects a hundred [!] Baronies, it will be seen that the Mowbray decision (1877) unconsciously worked a revolution, and that the histories of baronies by writ must now be undertaken de novo.'<sup>(b)</sup> The decision in 1841 in the Hastings case (ignoring the writ of 1264) recognised the sitting in 1290 (no record being found of writs of summons) as the date of that dignity.

prevailed at first. It is largely due to this development that the houses of the Conquistadores present so long and illustrious a descent in the male line, instead of merging in heiresses, as in England would have been their fate." (Quarterly Review, for Oct. 1893, vol. 177, p. 410, in an able article headed "The Peerage").

<sup>(a)</sup> These writs, however, were very possibly not questioned, as nothing turned upon them. The number of writs (already held to be valid) under which (by the decision of 1673), a peerage descendible to heirs general is now held to have been created, is great, and the persons summoned in such writs are "legion." It is curious, too, that these (now deemed) hereditary peerages should have been created in batches of 100 or so, and that, too, by the early Plantagenet kings, generally supposed to have been more chary of such creations than their successors.

PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION xxxi

The account of existing Peers, or even of existing Peerages, forms but a small part of this work. An acknowledgement is however due to the various Editors of the Annual Peerages for such information as may have been taken therefrom, e.g., from "Dod" it may have been culled that a certain Peer was born in Wilton Crescent, educated at Harrow &c. ; from "Lodge" that some nobly born lady of an uncertain age was actually born on some precise (though possibly ancient) date ; from "Foster," that a marriage or birth occurred at some hitherto unascertained and unsuspected period ; as also a full account of all the places for which the embryo Peer was M.P., with the dates thereof, and many other precise and well verified dates ; while from "Burke"—but who can say what can, or rather what can not, be found in the closely printed and well-arranged pages of that most energetic and chivalrous King of Arms ? His are the Extant and Extinct Peerage, the Extant and Extinct Baronetage, the Landed Gentry, the Vicissitudes of Families, the Anecdotes of the Aristocracy, &c., &c., &c. The amount of indebtedness which all who write on a kindred subject must feel to this all comprehensive and indefatigable genealogical writer cannot be too deeply acknowledged.

The account of the Family estates is taken from Bateman's "Great Landowners of Great Britain and Ireland," 1883. An earlier edition was pub. in 1878. A still earlier one, which related to England alone (being called "The Acre-ocracy of England") was pub. in 1876. It should also be mentioned that, early in 1886 (about two years after this publication had commenced) a most important work, as far as the higher grades (Dukes to Viscounts) of the English Peerage is concerned, has appeared. It is entitled (somewhat strangely, inasmuch as it is not by an "official," nor under "official" sanction, and [alas !] does not (excepting in some few special instances) contain the "Barons") "The official Baronage of England, by James E. Doyle." [3 vols. 4to.]. The great value of this work consists in the long list of the various appointments held by the Peers therein mentioned, the dates whereof (of which a free use has been made in this work), having been sought out, with wonderful and most commendable industry, from the original authorities by the indefatigable Editor.

Among the persons who energetically assisted the Editor during the progress of the work (1884-97) are, taking first those who have passed away before its completion in the order of their death, [1] Edmund Montagu BOYLE, d. 11 Aug. 1885 aged 40 ; [2] Robert Riddle STODART, Lyon Clerk Depute (1863-86) d. 19 Apr. 1886, aged 58 ; [3] Walford Dakin SELBY, of the Public Record Office, Editor (1884-88) of The Genealogist, "N.S., vols. 1 to 5 (in which work, from Jan. 1884 to Dec. 1889, the first two vols. of this Peerage were first issued), who d. 3 Aug. 1889 aged 45, and as to whom see The Genealogist, N.S., vol. vi, pp. 65-68 ; [4] George BURNETT, LL.D., Lyon King of Arms (1866-90) who d. 24 Jan. 1890, as to whom see The Genealogist, N.S., vol. vi, pp. 213-215 ; [5] Sir Bernard BURKE, Ulster King of Arms (1853-92), above mentioned, who d. 12 Dec. 1892, aged 80, as to whom see The Genealogist, N.S., vol. ix, p. 186 ; [6] Michael J. M. SHAW-STEWART, sometime in the Bombay Civil Service, d. 3 Apr. 1894, aged 65. Among those that are still, <sup>(a)</sup> happily, among us, are [7] J. Horace ROUND, LL.D., author of Geoffrey de Mandeville, &c.; [8] G. Wentworth WATSON, M.A.; [9] Joseph BAIN, F.S.A. (Scot) <sup>(b)</sup>; [10] R. E. CHESTER-WATERS, M.A. <sup>(c)</sup>; [11] The Rev. John WOODWARD, F.S.A. <sup>(d)</sup> author of a valuable work on Heraldry; [12] B. Wyatt GREENFIELD, F.S.A. <sup>(e)</sup>; [13] Sir Albert W. Woods, K.C.B., <sup>(f)</sup> Garter, as well as several other members of the College of Arms, London; [14] George Dames BURTCHAELL, M.A., <sup>(g)</sup> whose assistance has been invaluable; [15] W. Duncombe PINK, of Leigh, co. Lancaster; and last, but by no means least, [16] The Hon. Vicary GIBBS, M.P., not only for contributing numerous dates, and names of persons and places, but for supplying many notices of peers and peeresses, generally from contemporary sources (more especially those in vols. vi to viii), and for various valuable suggestions. The Editor takes this opportunity of mentioning that during the course of this work, a large number of Letters, Memoirs, Journals, Obituaries and other kindred writings have (with the assistance of friends) been carefully examined, with the result not only of correcting and amplifying many vague and doubtful statements appearing in works bearing on the Peerage, but of checking and confirming a still larger number. Such a field is practically inexhaustible, and, if this enquiry be pursued, it will, as printing makes more and more of such works accessible, be possible in the future to approach much nearer, not only to correctness, but also to completeness, than in this so styled Complete Peerage has hitherto been attained.

In conclusion, the Editor, though fully (most fully) aware how many errors and imperfections there must (almost of necessity) be in a work of this nature, and how little competent (more especially as regards the intricacies of the Scotch Peerage) he is to deal with it, trusts that the manifest advantage of an arrangement by which any correction for any Peerage can at once be effected, and be thereafter capable of at once being referred to, will in a great measure compensate for the numerous sins of omission and commission which are herein.

EXPLANATION ## OF THE PLAN OF THE WORK, AND OF THE ABBREVIATIONS USED

1. The Roman numerals indicate the number of persons who have borne a dignity, while the Arabic ones show how many of the same family have inherited it.

2. A slanting line between the figures of a date indicates that it refers to the first part of the year preceding 26 March, before the style was changed in England, and a horizontal line that it refers to the regnal year. Thus "He d. Jan. 1601/2" means a death which after 2 Sep. 1752 would have been regarded as occurring in January 1602; whilst the words "He d. 1299-1300" would indicate a death in 28 Edw. I, i.e. between 20 Nov. 1299 and 20 Nov. 1300.

3. The date after the Roman numeral is that of the creation of, or succession to, the dignity. When such date is not accurately known, the name of the king in whose reign it is supposed to have occurred is substituted.

4. The limitation of all patents of creation is to be understood as being to the heirs male of the body of the grantee, unless otherwise stated.

5. All Peerages and other dignities are to be considered as either of England, Great Britain, or of the United Kingdom, unless followed by the letters [S.] or [I.], which respectively denote them to be of Scotland or of Ireland.

7. In Scottish Peerages the title is given as in the Appendix to Douglas; in Irish Peerages as in Lib. Hib., unless at variance with any higher authority.

8. In the account of each Peer or Peeress, as also of any Peer connected with him or her by alliance, the surname is given within brackets; but when a Peer is but incidentally mentioned, his surname is often omitted, more especially if it is the same as the title of the Peerage.

9. The words "Knight" and "Esquire" are omitted. The former is applicable, in this work, to all who have the designation of "Sir" before their names, unless expressly stated to be Baronets.

10. All wills and administrations are to be considered, unless stated otherwise, as having been registered in the Prerogative Court of the Archbishop of Canterbury, or, after its abolition, in the Principal Registry, London.

EDITOR'S NOTE

While this volume was in the press it was found advisable to make a change in the Appendices. Appendix A in this volume was originally to have contained a list of the Irish Peerage before the 16th Century. This list is postponed to vol. xi. The references to it in the following notes consequently require to be cancelled, and the words "appendix A in vol. xi" substituted.

Note "b" p. 290
Note "b" p. 291

ABERCORN

BARONY [S.]

I. 1603.

EARLDOM [S.]

I. 1606.

I. JAMES HAMILTON, Master of Paisley, <sup>(a)</sup> s. and h. ap. of Claud (HAMILTON), 1st LORD PAISLEY [S.], by Margaret, da. of George (SETON), 6th LORD SETON [S.], was M.P. [S.] for Linlithgow 1597, and, being P.C. and Gent. of the Bedchamber to James VI [S.], obtained in 1600 the office of Sheriff of co. Linlithgow to him and his heirs male, and in 1601, a grant of the lands of Abercorn, &c., in that co., subsequently erected into a free Barony. On 5 Apr. 1603, he was cr. LORD <sup>(b)</sup> ABERCORN, co. Linlithgow [S.], to him and his heirs male and assigns whatever. In 1604 he was on the Commission which treated of a proposed Union of Scotland with England. On 10 July 1606, he was cr. EARL OF ABERCORN, LORD PAISLEY, HAMILTON, MOUNTCASTELL, and KILPATRICK [S.], to him and his heirs male whatever. On 20 May 1615 he was appointed one of the Council of the province of Munster, having previously by Privy Seal, Westm., 31 Mar. 1613, obtained a Royal Warrant "to hold [in Ireland] the place and precedence of an Earl in Parliament as he did at the Council table and in all other places." <sup>(c)</sup> He received large grants of land in the Barony of Strabane, co. Tyrone, and built a castle thereon. He m. Marion, 1st da. of Thomas (BOYD), 5th LORD BOYD [S.], by Margaret, da. of Sir Matthew <sup>(a)</sup> The eldest sons of Scottish Peers were said to be Peers, and (presumably as such) were declared, in Dec. 1708, incapable of sitting in the House of Commons as members for any shire or burgh in Scotland. The title of 'MASTER' was as early as 'the beginning (at least) of the 15th century borne by the heirs apparent of the noblemen of the 1st class'; such was the case of 'Robert, Master of Atholl,' grandson and h. ap. [1437] of Walter (Stewart), Earl of Atholl [S.]. It was, in some cases, as in that of Forrester, 1651, expressly conferred, while on certain occasions (as in that of the Earldom of Lennox, 17 Sep. 1490) both the father and the son (the h. ap.) are given the same peerage title, the fee of such title having been resigned by the former, though the life-rent was reserved. (See Riddell, p. 114).

<sup>(c)</sup> On 11 March 1613/4 (1) the Earl of Abercorn [S.]; (2) Lord Henry O'Brien, s. and h. ap. of the Earl of Thomond, [I.]; (3) Lord Audley [E.], afterwards Earl of Castlehaven [I.]; (4) Lord Ochiltree [S.], afterwards, 1619, Baron Castle Stewart [I.], and (5) Lord Burleigh (Qy. Lord Balfour of Burleigh [S.]), were sum. by writ to the Irish House of Lords, it being enacted that the said Earl of Abercorn should 'hold the place and precedence of an Earl in parl.,' &c. This singular warrant, granted to a person in no way connected with the Irish Peerage, appears to have been generally classed with the summons issued to the eldest s. and h. ap. of an Irish Peer. This classification is strengthened by the fact that on the same day, also by Privy Seal, occurs the 1st of such summons to the Irish House of Lords, viz., the s. of the Earl of Thomond, as Baron of Ibrackan. Of these summons of the h. ap. there were in all but nine, viz. (1) the said Lord Ibrackan, in 1613; (2) the s. of the Duke of Ormonde, as Earl of Ossory, in 1662; (3) the s. of the Earl of Clancarty, as Viscount Muskerry, also in 1662; (4) the s. of the Earl of Cork, as Viscount Dunganarvan, in 1662/3; (5) the s. of the Earl of Meath, as Baron of Ardee, in 1665; (6) the CAMPBELL, of Loudoun. He d. v.p., at Monkton, 23 Mar., and was bur. 29 Ap. 1618, in the Abbey Church, Paisley, aged 43. Will dat. 7 June 1616, pr. 26 June 1624. His widow, a prominent Rom. Cath. who was excommunicated in the Kirk of Paisley 20 Jan. 1628, d. in the Canongate, Edinburgh, 26 Aug., and was bur. 13 Sep. 1632, with her husband.

2. JAMES (HAMILTON), EARL OF ABERCORN, &c. [S.], s. and h. In the lifetime of his father and grandfather, he, though only about thirteen years of age, was, on 8 May 1617 (the Privy Seal being dat. 18 Oct. 1616), cr. LORD HAMILTON, BARON OF STRABANE, co. Tyrone [I.], with rem. to the heirs male of the body of his father. Soon after this he suc. to his father's Peerages in Scotland, and in 1621 he suc. his grandfather as LORD PAISLEY, co. Renfrew [S.], a Peerage cr. 29 July 1587. On 11 Nov. 1633 he resigned his Irish Peerage in favour of his yr. br., Claud Hamilton, on whom the Irish estates were settled. Being a Rom. Cath., he was excommunicated by the general assembly of the Church of Scotland in 1649, and ordered out of that kingdom. On 11 Sep. 1651, by the death, s.p.m., of his cousin, William, 2nd DUKE OF HAMILTON [S.], he became the male representative of the illustrious house of Hamilton, though he inherited none of the estates or titles of the senior line.<sup>(a)</sup> He m., about 1632, Catharine, Dowager DUCHESS OF LENNOX [S.], da. and h. of Gervase (CLIFTON), LORD CLIFTON OF LEIGHTON BROMSWOLD, by Catharine, da. and h. of Sir Henry DARCY, of Leighton afsd. She (who by Royal Lic., 28 Nov. 1632, was entitled, notwithstanding her marriage, to retain her title, rank, and precedence as Duchess of Lennox [S.]), d. in Scotland, and was bur. "without ceremonie" 17 Sep. 1637, aged about 45. Will dat. 12 Aug. 1637, pr. 15 Jan. 1638/9. He was then living, but "more than 400,000 merks in debt." He d. about 1670.

s. of the Earl of Clanricarde, as Baron Dunkellin, in 1711; (7) the s. of the Earl of Meath (again), as Baron of Ardee in 1714; (8) the s. of the Earl of Granard, as Baron Forbes in 1725; and (9) the s. of Viscount Strabane (Earl of Abercorn [S.]), as Baron Mountcastle, in 1735/6. As to the precedence of Peers in the English Parl. granted by Royal Warrants since the Statute of Precedency of 31 Hen. VIII, see Appendix C. at the end of this volume.

<sup>(a)</sup> As h. male of the body of James (Hamilton) Earl of Arran [S.] (so cr. 11 Aug. 1503, in consequence of his marriage with the Princess Margaret of Scotland), it is not improbable that he was entitled to that Earldom. (See Pedigree on p. 4). The original limitation thereof to heirs male of the body, was extended by the second, and possibly by the 1st, of two charters thereafter granted, viz. (1) on 16 Jan. 1512/3 the limitation of the lands and BARONIES OF HAMILTON, &c. was extended to several bastard sons of the grantee and to others therein named (of the name of Hamilton) "and the heirs male of their bodies respectively, which failing, to the nearest heir male whatever" of the grantee. (2) On 15 Sep. 1650, by another charter, the BARONIES OF HAMILTON &c., together with the EARLDOM OF ARRAN, were granted to James, the 2nd Earl, and the heirs male of his body, which failing, to five other persons (therein named) of the name of Hamilton, in like manner, which failing, "to his nearest heirs [query, heirs male] bearing the arms and name of Hamilton." See Wood's Douglas, vol. i, pp. 697-699.

TABULAR PEDIGREE OF THE EARLS OF ABERCORN [S.]

showing their descent from, and since 1651, their representation in the male line of the family of Hamilton Earls of Arran [S.], of the Lady Mary Stewart, 1st da. of James II of Scotland, as also of the Dukes of Châtellerault in France. To the first (Hamilton) EARL OF ARRAN [S.], and the heirs male of his body, the Roman numerals I to XV are successively prefixed. The descent of the Earl of Derby, the heir of line, & the descent of the Duke of Hamilton [S.] (who is neither h. male, nor h. of line) from the same three sources is also shewn.

[JAMES HAMILTON, styled LORD PAISLEY, s. and h. ap. He m., 28 Apr. 1653, at St. Bartholomew's-the-Less, London, Catharine,<sup>(a)</sup> da. of Sir John LENTHALL, Marshal of the King's Bench, by Hester, da. of Sir Thomas TEMPLE, 1st Bart., of Stowe, which John<sup>(b)</sup> was a br. of William LENTHALL, of Burford, Oxon, Speaker of the House of Commons. He d. v.p. and s.p.m. before 1670. His widow's admon. as "of Burford, Oxon, widow," 20 July 1696.]

III. 1670? 3. GEORGE (HAMILTON), EARL OF ABERCORN, &c. [S.], 3rd, but 1st surv. s. and h., b. about 1636. He was living in 1670, but d. unm. at Padua, in Italy, before 1683.

IV. 1680? 4. CLAUD (HAMILTON), EARL OF ABERCORN, &c. [S.], also LORD HAMILTON, BARON OF STRABANE [I.], cousin and h. male. He was s. and h. of George, 4th LORD STRABANE [I.] (by Elizabeth, da. and h. of Christopher FAGAN, of Feltrim, co. Dublin), who was br. and h. of James, 3rd Lord Strabane [I.], being s. of Claud, 2nd Lord Strabane [I.], which Claud was yr. br. of James, 2nd Earl of Abercorn, who had (as before mentioned) resigned in his favour the Irish Peerage of Strabane. He was hap. 13 Sep. 1659, at St. Audoens, Dublin. On 14 Apr. 1668, he suc. his father in the Irish Peerage and estates. He was P.C. [I.], and Lord of the Bedchamber to James II, with whom he went to France at the Revolution, and for whom he commanded a regiment of Horse, in 1689, in Ireland, where he was killed when re-embarking for France, after the battle of the Boyne, 1 July 1690. He d. unm. After his death he was outlawed [I.], 11 May 1691, when his Irish Peerage and estates were forfeited.

V. 1690. 5. CHARLES (HAMILTON), EARL OF ABERCORN, &c. [S.], and afterwards, also, LORD HAMILTON, BARON OF STRABANE [I.], br. and h. By Royal Letters, 24 May 1692, he obtained a reversal of his brother's attainder, and suc. to the Irish Peerage and estates accordingly. On 31 Aug. 1695 he took his seat in the Irish House of Lords, and in 1697 signed the declaration for the succession to the Crown, &c. On 16 July 1697, he was tried at Oxford for the murder of Mr. Prior of Burford, and acquitted. <sup>(c)</sup> He m. Catharine, widow of William LENTHALL (bur. 5 Sep. 1686), of Burford, Oxon, only da. and h. of James HAMILTON, styled LORD PAISLEY, abovenamed, by Catharine, da. of Sir John LENTHALL, afsd., Marshal of the King's Bench. He d., s.p.s., at Strabane, June 1701. Will dat. 7 Aug. 1697, pr. 16 May 1704. His widow d. 24 May 1723, aged about 70, in Pall Mall, and was bur. in the Richmond vault in Henry VII's Chapel, Westm. Abbey. Will dat. 17 Aug. 1722, pr. 24 May 1723.

On 6 June 1673 he suc. his father (who d. v.p., being mortally wounded 3 June in a sea-fight with the Dutch), whose post as Groom of the Bedchamber to Charles II he obtained. M.P. for Tyrone 1692, and again 1695. He was Col. of a regiment to James II, but, deserting that King at the Revolution, assisted William III during the siege of Londonderry, by bringing relief to that city. Accordingly, on 2 Sep 1701, he was cr. BARON MOUNTCASTLE, co. Tyrone, and VISCOUNT STRABANE [I.], and took his seat (as such) 21 Sep. 1703 in the Irish House of Lords. On 3 Oct. 1706 he took his seat in the Scottish House. He was P.C. [I.] to Queen Anne, Geo. I., and Geo. II. He m. (Lic. at Fac. off. 24 Jan. 1683/4), Elizabeth (then aged about 15), only child of Sir Robert READING, of Dublin, Bart. on 23 Mar. 1735/6, as BARON MOUNTCASTLE (I.) to the Irish House of Lords, and took his seat the same day.<sup>(a)</sup> In 1761, 1768, 1774, 1780, and 1784 he was chosen a Rep. Peer (Tory) [S.]. On 11 Mar. 1766 he voted against the Repeal of the American Stamp Act, and on 17 Dec. 1783 against Fox's India Bill. On 24 Aug. 1786, he was cr. a Peer of Great Britain<sup>(b)</sup> as VISCOUNT HAMILTON<sup>(c)</sup>, with a spec. rem., failing his issue male, to his nephew, John James HAMILTON. In 1745 he purchased the Barony of Duddingston, co. Edinburgh (where he built a mansion), and in 1764 the Lordship of Paisley, co. Renfrew (being the inheritance, anciently, of his paternal ancestors), where, in 1779, he laid out a new town. He also built a magnificent house at Baronscourt, near Londonderry. He d. unm. at Boroughbridge (on a journey), 9 Oct. 1789, in his 77th year, and was bur. in the Abbey of Paisley.<sup>(d)</sup> Will dat. 24 May 1785, pr. 14 Oct. 1789.

This resolution was the first on this subject, and was somewhat militated against by the fact of the Duke of Atholl [S.] having sat in the House from 14 Mar. 1737 till the gen. election in 1741 as a Peer of Great Britain (Lord Strange), as well as a Rep. Peer [S.]. See Robertson, pp. 181 and 430. See also note sub William, DUKE OF QUEENSBERRY [1778.]

<sup>(e)</sup> This was certainly a most unusual proceeding, as neither her father (who d. s.p.m. 26 Nov. 1787) nor any of his issue ever could have suc. to the title, he having been a yr. br. of Capt. John H., ancestor of the then Peer. This favour was not extended to any of her four elder sisters; indeed the precedence was only that of the da. of an Earl, viz., one of a creation of 1789, not of 1606, as if her father had suc. to the Earldom. The explanation of this special favour is, according to Wraxall, (Posth. Mem. vol. i, pp. 63-4) highly discreditable to all the parties concerned, and implies that she had been the Marquess's mistress during his first wife's lifetime. Wraxall adds that the Marquess had used his influence with Pitt to obtain the honour for her, though not "without strong marks of repugnance being evinced by their Majesties." George Selwyn writes to Lady Carlisle, 9 Nov. 1786, "Mr. Hamilton now Lord Hamilton but toujours magnifico will have one of his cousins a Lady as if she had been an Earl's daughter, and no other of her sisters. He will himself be Duc de Châtellerault, to which I know that he has no more pretensions than I should have to an estate that an ancestor of mine had sold a century ago." V.G.

(b) "He is stated to have always gone out shooting in his Blue Ribbon, and to have required his housemaids to wear white kid gloves when they made his bed. It is also alleged that having learnt of his second wife's contemplated elopement, he sent her a message begging her to take the family coach, as it ought never to be said that Lady Abercorn left her husband's roof in a hack chaise." ## ABERDEEN (County of)

EARLDOM[S.] 1. SIR GEORGE GORDON, of Haddo, co. Aberdeen, Bart. [S.], 2nd s. of Sir John G., 1st Bart. [S.], by Mary, da. of William FORBES, of Tolquhoun, b. 3 Oct. 1637; suc. his eldest br. in the Baronetcy and estate of Haddo in 1665. He became an Advocate 7 Feb. 1668, M.P. for co. Aberdeen 1669-74, 1678, and 1681-2. P.C. 1678, one of the Lords of Session 1 June 1680, President 1 Nov. 1681, and having been made HIGH CHANCELLOR [S.] 1 May 1682, was, on 30 Nov. 1682, cr. LORD HADDO, METHLICK, TARVES, and KELLIE, VISCOUNT OF FORMARTINE, and EARL OF ABERDEEN <sup>(c)</sup> [S.]. In June 1684 he resigned office, and though at the Revolution he was imprisoned in Edinburgh Castle for refusing to take the oath of allegiance to William III, he took it subsequently to Queen Anne. He m. (cont. 1671) Anne, 1st da. of George LOCKHART, of Torbrecks, by classical scholar, and had travelled far in the bypaths of literature. In Byron's verse he is "the travelled thane, Athenian Aberdeen."

4. GEORGE (GORDON, afterwards HAMILTON-GORDON), EARL OF ABERDEEN, &c. [S.], grandson and h., being s. and h. of George GORDON (styled LORD HADDO) and Charlotte his wife above-named. He was b. 28 Jan. 1784, at Edinburgh; was styled LORD HADDO, 1791 till 1801; ed. at Harrow, and at St. John's Coll., Cambridge; M.A. 1804; attached in 1801 to the embassy to negotiate with Napoleon at Amiens, where the treaty for peace was signed Mar. 1802; Rep. Peer [S.] 1806-18; K.T. 16 Mar. 1808; F.R.S. 28 Apr. 1808; Grand Cross of St. Stephen of Austria, 4 Sep. 1813; ambassador to Austria, 1813, where he prevailed with the Emperor to join (by the treaty of Toplitz, Sep. 1813) the allied Sovereigns against (his s.-in-law) Napoleon. <sup>(a)</sup> On 1 June 1814 he signed the treaty of Paris on behalf of his Sovereign, and on the same day was cr. a Peer of the United Kingdom as VISCOUNT GORDON OF ABERDEEN, co. Aberdeen. P.C. 22 July 1814. By Royal lic., 13 Nov. 1818, he took the name of HAMILTON before that of GORDON. <sup>(b)</sup> After fourteen years' retirement he again took office, Jan. to June 1828 (under the Wellington administration), as CHANCELLOR OF THE DUCHY OF LANCASTER. From June 1828 to Mar. 1830, and again from Sep. 1841 to 1846, he was SECRETARY OF STATE for Foreign Affairs. Finally, Dec. 1852 to Feb. 1855, he was FIRST LORD OF THE TREASURY, and as such, PRIME MINISTER, the chief event in his tenure of office being the bloody Crimean Campaign. His cabinet fell from the idea that through his feebleness we had "drifted into the war." <sup>(c)</sup> K.G. 7 Feb. 1855. <sup>(d)</sup> Trustee Brit. Museum from 1812, and Lord Lieut. of co. <sup>(b)</sup> The ground on which he petitioned for this licence was his connection with the family of Hamilton, and his being guardian to (his wife's child) the young Marquess of Abercorn; as neither he nor his surv. children had any of the blood or estates of the Hamiltons, the reason alleged for taking such name appears very inadequate. Accordingly it was, with good judgment, formally abandoned by the 7th Earl, 9 Oct. 1900.

"The cast of his features in later life was one of dignified sternness rather than beauty." He did much by planting to improve his estate at Haddo, and was something of a botanist. His s., Lord Stanmore, writes, "nothing could be more curious than the way in which colleagues and friends, whenever at a loss, came to him for information on the most varied topics, and rarely came in vain." (The Holland House Circle, by Lloyd Sanders, pp. 295-9.) "He belonged to that class of statesmen who are great without being brilliant, who succeed without ambition, who without eloquence become famous, who retain their power even when deprived of place. He denied that his vocation was politics, but his friends knew him better; they appreciated his clear head, his tolerant nature, his vast experience, and his perfect integrity." (J.T. ABERDOUR

ABERGAVENNY

or (as it was at one time styled) BERGAVENNY

On account of the notoriety of this dignity, and to assist in forming a judgment as to how far the possession of the castle and demesne of Abergavenny could be supposed to constitute a Barony by tenure, a brief account is here given of its possessors previous to 1392, the date when the (then) possessor was first summoned as "DE BERGAVENNY." Before the period when a writ of summons converted a Barony into a personal instead of a territorial dignity, the owner of this castle, &c. doubtless by its tenure possessed a Feudal Barony, which was, however, but one among very many others. (b)

OWNERS of the LORDSHIP      HAMELIN DE BALLON (c) received the lordship of Over Gwent, including the castle of Abergavenny, (d) from I. temp. Will. II.      William Rufus. (e) He m. Agnes, and had two sons,

(a) Reg. Mag. Sig., as quoted in the Scots Peerage, vol. vi. p. 375.

(b) The editor desires to express his obligation to G.W.Watson for having entirely rewritten the account of these early owners of the Castle, as also for many valuable corrections and additions to the accounts of the early Lords Bergavenny.

(c) For the earliest lords of Abergavenny see the paper on "The Family of Ballon," in J.H.Round's Studies in Peerage and Family History, pp. 189 et seq., where Dugdale's errors are corrected. It is there shown that Hamelin, who took his name from his birthplace, Ballon in Maine, received his lands in England from William Rufus. He founded a Priory at Abergavenny. V.G.

They transferred the honour to Miles, Earl of Hereford, <sup>(c)</sup> in 1141-2, to be held of them and their heirs by the service of 3 knights.

III. 1141-2. MILES OF GLOUCESTER, hereditary sheriff thereof, and the King's Constable, s. and h. of Walter FITZ ROGER de PÎTRES, who held the former office. He was cr. EARL OF HEREFORD, 25 July 1141. He m., 1121, Sibyl, da. and h. of Bernard DE NEUFMARCHÉ, Lord of Brecon, <sup>(d)</sup> and d. 24 Dec. 1143. See fuller account under "HEREFORD."

IV. 1143. ROGER, EARL OF HEREFORD and the King's Constable, s. and h. He was confirmed in all his father's possessions by Henry II in 1155; this must be held to have included the honour of Abergavenny. He also gave all the tithes of all Over Gwent (Weneiscoit). These gifts were confirmed by King Henry I. (ex inform. G.W.Watson.) V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> According to an inquisition in the Testa de Nevill (p. 115), she was widow of Miles Crespin (a Domesday tenant, who d. 1107), and da. and h. of Robert d'Oilly of Wallingford (another Domesday tenant) by the da. and h. Round infers from this important charter that Brien held the castle in right of his wife. It will be observed that the charter merely creates an under-tenancy. V.G.

William of Hereford abovenamed. Sheriff of Hereford, Easter 1173-1175, at which earlier date probably he already possessed the Lordship of Over Gwent. He was living in 1179.

XI. WILLIAM DE BRIOUZE, Lord of Briouze, Bramber, Brecon, Over Gwent, &c., s. and h.<sup>(a)</sup>. He m. Maud DE ST. VALERY, "Lady of La Haie." In consequence of his well-known quarrel with King John, his lands were forfeited in 1208, and his wife and 1st s. starved to death in the dungeons of Corfe (or of Windsor) in 1210. He d. at Corbeil near Paris, 9, and was bur. 10 Aug. 1211, in the Abbey of St. Victor at Paris.

His widow m., 2ndly, Ralph DE MORTIMER, of Wigmore, who d. 6 Aug. 1246, and was bur. at Wigmore Abbey. She d. at Windsor in 1251.

XV. EVE DE BRIOUZE, da. and coh., heiress of Abergavenny. She m., after 25 July 1238 (when his father, William de C., obtained her wardship and marriage together with the custody of Abergavenny and the other lands falling to her share), and before 15 Feb. 1247/8, William DE CANTELOU,<sup>(b)</sup> of Calne, Wilts, and Aston Cantlow, co.

Seisyll was owner of Castle Arnold, and is said in an inaccurate version of the Brut to have captured Abergavenny in 1172, the slaughter being dated 1177 (The Gwentian Chronicle, Cambrian Arch. Assoc., p. 137). But the better version of the Brut (Rolls Ser., p. 218; Y Brutieu, in Welsh Texts, ed. Rhys and Evans, 1890, p. 330) on the contrary, states that Seisyll was captured in 1172 by the garrison of Abergavenny. (ex inform. G. W. Watson.) V.G.

He m. (cont. ratified by the King, 1 Sep. 1254) Margaret, da. of Edmund (DE LACY), EARL OF LINCOLN, by Alasia, da. of Manfredo, MARQUIS OF SALUZZO. He was knighted 13 Oct. 1272, and had seizin of his lands 25 Apr. and 1 May 1273. He d. s.p., 18 Oct. 1273.<sup>(a)</sup> His widow was bur. in the Church of the Black Friars at Pontefract.

XVII. 1273. JOHN (HASTINGS), LORD HASTINGS, nephew and coh., being s. and h. of Sir Henry HASTINGS of Ashill, Norfolk, by Joan, sister and coh. of the last owner of Abergavenny. He was b. 6 May 1262, suc. his father in 1268/9,<sup>(b)</sup> and was sum. to Parl., 1295 to 1313, by writs directed “Johanni de Hastings.”<sup>(c)</sup> Writ of diem cl. ext., 28 Feb. 1312/3.

XVIII. 1313. JOHN (HASTINGS), LORD HASTINGS, s. and h., b. 30 Sep. 1286. He was sum. to Parl., 1313 to 1325, by writs directed “Johanni de Hastings,”<sup>(c)</sup> and d. 1325.

Baronies by Writ, &c., 1734, pp. 61-96) it is stated that “It pleased King Henry III to create Sir William de Cantelupe Lord of Bergavenny, by his writ of summons to Parl. by the name of William Cantelupe of Bergavenny, chevalier, as by the name of his chiefest mannor and seigniory.” There is, however, not the slightest proof of the existence of this writ, which (as the said William d. in 1254) would be many years earlier than the earliest writ on record.

<sup>(a)</sup> His heirs were his sister Milicent, then of full age and wife of Eudes la Zouche, and his nephew John, the next owner of Abergavenny. Oswald Barron writes, “I question the accuracy of the form de Cantilupe; all my notes give Cantelowe or Cantlow as the accepted english version of this surname.” Indeed Cantilupe has the air of being an anglicization of a lantinization rather than a real name. For some discussion on mediæval English names see vol. iii, Appendix C. V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> In 1301 he signed the letter to the Pope as “Johannes de Hastings, dñs de Bergeveny.” Considerable stress is laid on this fact in a small work by Bird, (see note “d” p. 19) at the end whereof is a statement, “That the Barony of Aburgavenny is a Barony by tenure.” Any person, however, who looks at the list of these Barons (given in Nicolas, p. 762) will see how many of them were but feudal Lords of the place, whereof they wrote themselves “Domini.” The very next Baron to Lord Hastings is Henry Percy, “dñs de Topclive,” yet no one, probably, would contend that the Barony of the Percy family was styled “Topcliffe;” that of Lovel, “de Dakking” (i.e. Docking, in Norfolk); that of de Vere, “de Swanschaumpis,” &c., &c. John de Hastings was undoubtedly styled “Dominus de Bergeveny,” “Seigneur de Bergeveny,” &c., in many contemporary documents, but doubtless only from that Castle being his chief residence.

<sup>(c)</sup> As Nicolas points out (see post, p. 25, note “c”) the word ‘Bergavenny’ never appears on any of the numerous writs issued to these two Barons. The Barony they held was that of “HASTINGS,” which Barony in 1841 was allowed, with the precedence of the sitting in 1290, to Sir Jacob Astley, Bart., the junior coheir of the junior coheir thereof.

<sup>(b)</sup> In pursuance of a royal licence, dated 20 Feb. (1368/9) 43 Edw. III, the Earl enfeoffed certain persons of all his estates, except the manor of Ashill, Norfolk, and the feoffees redemised to him for 5 years from 20 Mar., 43 Edw. III. On 15 Apr. (1372) 46 Edw. III, styling himself Johan de Hastynges conte de Pembrok seigneur de Weiseford et Bergeveny, he confirmed and granted the same estates to these feoffees and their heirs for ever. Finally, by letters patent written in his hostel in London, 5 May 1372, he directed the feoffees that, if he d. abroad, his debts should be paid, and that if he d. s.p. [he had then no child], the King should be enfeoffed of the castle and county of Pembroke, the castles and lordships of Tenby and Kilgerran, and the commote of Oysterlowe: and that they should give and grant the other castles, manors etc., which they had of his feoffment ove la reversione du chastel la ville et seigneurie de Bergeo' etc., to his cousin Monsieur William de Beauchamp and his heirs for ever, on condition that he bore the Earl's arms undifferenced (enteres), and that he took proceedings before the King qil port noñ de cont de Pembrok a lui et a ses heirs, and that if William declined these terms, they should enfeoff the Earl's cousin, William de Clynton, on the same conditions. Wherefore, in the quinzaine of St. Michael (1375) 49 Edw. III, the Earl being dead in parts beyond seas, the feoffees appeared before the King's Council at Westm., and afterwards, in the same presence, William de Beauchamp accepted the above terms. But since the Earl had an heir of his body then living under age, it was decreed that the King should have the custody of the castles, manors, etc., till the age of the said heir. (Exemplification on the Patent Roll, 5 Mar. 1377, 51 Edw. III, m. 29). (ex inform. G.W. Watson.) V.G.

Abergavenny, he was sum. to Parl., 23 July (1392), 16 Ric. II to 18 Dec. (1409) 11 Henry IV, <sup>(a)</sup> as a Baron, [LORD BERGAVENTNY, or BEAUCHAMP DE BERGAVENTNY <sup>(b)</sup>], all the writs being directed "Willelmo Beauchamp de Bergeveny," <sup>(c)</sup> In 1399 he was appointed Justiciary

<sup>(c)</sup> The following note by Sir N. Harris Nicolas states that much doubt exists in his mind "whether, until the Writ of Summons of the 29th Hen. VI. to Edward Nevill, as 'Domino de Bergavenny,' the proper designation of the previous barons was not that of their family name. The first possessor of that territory after Writs of Summons were regularly issued was John de Hastings, who d. 6 Edw. II. and was suc. by his s. John de Hastings, who d. 18 Edw. II.; to these personages nearly thirty Writs of Summons were directed, and in no instance, in this number, does the word 'Bergavenny' occur, in addition to which the said John de Hastings was entitled to Summons to Parl. as s. and h. of his father Henry, Lord Hastings, a Baron of great note, and the barony in which they sat passed away upon the death of the last Earl of Pembroke, and was separated from the tenure of Bergavenny. From the creation of the 1st Earl of Pembroke till the death of the last, no inference on the subject is to be drawn, until the Writ of Summons to William Beauchamp, 16 Ric. II., who was sum. as 'Willielmo Beauchamp de Bergavenny.' This William Beauchamp not being related to the preceding Barons, and being summoned as 'de Bergavenny,' certainly affords at the first view strong grounds for the generally received opinion that he was sum. as Lord Bergavenny, by tenure of that Castle. On looking attentively into the point, however, a conclusion equally strong may be drawn, that it was merely an addition used to distinguish him from 'John de Beauchamp de Kydderminster.' In the previous reign, a John de Beauchamp was sum. as 'de Somerset,' and another John de Beauchamp, a younger son of Guy Earl of Warwick, as 'de Warwyck;' and before, contemporary with, and after this William de Beauchamp de 'Bergavenny,' numerous Barons were named in Writs of Summons with the addition of their place of residence, without such ever being supposed to be the title of their Baronies: as, therefore, in the only instances which occur of Writs of Summons being issued to the possessor of the Castle of Bergavenny, previous to that to William de Beauchamp, in the 16th Ric. II. they were never designated as 'de Bergavenny,'—and as examples of such additions were exceedingly frequent, without any similar inference being deduced from them,—there does not appear any greater cause for supposing that the designation in question was intended to express the title of the Barony, than there is for concluding such to have been the case either in the instances of John de Beauchamp 'de Somerset,' 'de Warwyck,' or in either [sic] of the numerous examples alluded to. In order, however, to obtain as much information as possible on the subject, it was necessary to inquire in what manner the Barons in question were described in the Rolls of Parliament previous to the reign of Henry VI., and the result of the examination is certainly in favour of William Beauchamp's being considered as Baron Bergavenny, though it does not positively establish the fact, whilst it confirms the opinion that his predecessors in the Lordship of Bergavenny never bore that name as the title of their dignity. The earliest instance when BERGAVENTNY occurs as a title in the Rolls of Parl. is in the 21st Ric. II. 1397, five years after William Beauchamp was sum. to Parl. as 'Willielmo Beauchamp (de Bergavenny),' when he was described as 'W<sup>m</sup> Beauchamp, S<sup>r</sup> de Bergavenny.' In the 1st Hen. IV. the names of 'Dns. de Roos, de Willoghby, de Bergeveny,' occur; and in the following year we find among the Barons then present, 'le S<sup>r</sup> de Bergavenny.' In the 2nd Hen. IV. he is mentioned as 'William Sire de Bergavenny,' and in a similar manner on subsequent occasions. It must, however, be observed, on the other hand, that on the last and most solemn occasion when his name occurs in the Rolls of Parl., viz. among the Peers present at the settlement of the Crown in the 8th Hen. IV., he is in both places styled 'Will'mi Beauchamp de Bergevenny;' and at the same time Henry Lord Scrop of Masham is mentioned as 'Henrici le Scrop de Masham,' whilst other Barons are styled 'Reginaldi Domini de Grey de Ruthyn, Wiliam Domini de Ferrers, Thomæ Domini de Furnyvel,' &c. Richard Beauchamp, his s. and h., was never sum. to Parl. as a Baron, as he was cr. Earl of Worcester four years after he became of age; and though he is sometimes styled 'Lord of Bergavenny,' and his mother, both in the Rolls of Parl. and in her will, is called 'Lady of Bergavenny,' no conclusion is to be drawn therefrom, for this expression was more frequently applied to designate important manors and lordships than Parliamentary Baronies. On Edward Nevill's being sum. in the 29th Hen. VI. as 'Domino de Bergavenny,' such certainly became the title of his Barony: but it is to be considered that this occurred in the reign of Henry VI., a period, as is remarked elsewhere, fruitful in anomalies on subjects connected with the Peerage, and when even, as is stated in a subsequent page, some instances occur of the addition of 'Domino de,' &c., being used, without such designation being the title of the dignity possessed by the Baron to whose name it was appended. Vide the observations on this subject under Charleton, Dudley, and Grey of Powis."—Nicolas, p. 9, note.

his 23rd or 24th year), viz. in Feb. 1420/1, (a) was cr. EARL OF WORCESTER. He m., 27 July 1411, at Tewkesbury, Isabel, sister and eventually (1414) sole h. of Richard LE DESPENSER, apparently de jure LORD BURGHESH, being da. of Thomas, [the attainted] EARL OF GLOUCESTER (LORD LE DESPENSER), by Constance, da. of Edmund, DUKE OF YORK. He d. s.p.m. (being mortally wounded at the siege of Meaux in France, 18 Mar. 1421/2), and was bur. 25 Apr. 1422 in Tewkesbury Abbey. At his death, his vast estates and the representation of his Barony devolved on his only da. and h. (as below), but the EARLDOM OF WORCESTER apparently reverted to the Crown. His widow, (who was b. (posthumous) 26 July 1400, at Cardiff, and who was apparently suo jure BARONESS BURGHESH, and, but for the attainder, would have been suo jure BARONESS LE DESPENSER) m. (by papal disp.) 26 Nov. 1423, at Hanley Castle, co. this Richard "was a commoner until created an Earl," arguing, from the mere circumstance of his being styled "Richard Beauchamp of Bergavenny, Knight" in the same instrument in which his mother is spoken of as "Lady Bergavenny," that the Peerage (which, it should be remarked, was undoubtedly possessed by her late husband) was vested (suo jure) in her (and not in the s. and h.) by her tenure of the Castle. At that time, however, and long afterwards, Peers were frequently (if, indeed not generally) described as above ; and in the writ to the escheator for the Inq. post mortem of this very Lady she is styled merely "Johanna, quæ fuit uxor Will'i de Bello Campo, militis," though, in the inquisition itself, her husband is alluded to as "nuper Dominus de Bergevenny." (Berkeley Case, Appendix 2, p. 59.)

right did not accrue till 11 June 1446, even on the most favourable interpretation to the Nevill family of the entail of 1395/6, <sup>(a)</sup> unless, indeed, that entail is, from some unknown cause, to be considered as invalid, against her right as heir at law to her grandfather, the maker of the entail. She d. 18 June 1448, <sup>(b)</sup> aged 32, and was bur. at the Carmelites, Coventry. <sup>(c)</sup>

<sup>(a)</sup> On 11 June 1446 the male line of the Beauchamp family, who [under the entail 20 Feb. 1395/6, of William (Beauchamp), 1st Lord Bergavenny] were entitled to the castle and lands of Abergavenny, became extinct by the death, s.p.m., of Henry (Beauchamp), Duke and Earl of Warwick. A grave question however remains as to what title the Earls of Warwick had therein. The words of the entail are, "Thomas, Earl of Warwick, and his heirs male for ever." Under the construction that such estate constituted one in fee, the castle, &c., is stated to have been held in fee, in the Inq. post mortem of Richard, Earl of Warwick (who d. 1439), and of Henry, Duke of Warwick, his s. and h. It is to be noted that Coke says "where lands are given to a man and his heirs male he hath a fee simple, because it is not limited, by the gift, of what body the issue male shall be." Anyhow, the castle, &c., was for a long time afterwards withheld from this branch of the Nevill family by Anne, da. and h. of this Duke Henry, and Anne, sister of the said Duke, who m. Richard (Nevill), Earl of Warwick and Salisbury [on whose seal, of date 1 Feb. 4 Edw. IV (1464/5) is Sigillum : ricardi : neuill : comitis : warrewici : domini : de : bergeuenny : See Visit. of co. Huntingdon, 1613, Camden Soc., p. 74.]. Besides these, it was asserted in Fane's case that George, Duke of Clarence, and Richard, Duke of Gloucester, his [i.e. the Earl of Warwick and Salisbury's] sons-in-law, were successively seized of the castle and lordship as in right of their wives; that Henry VII granted the castle &c., to Jasper, Duke of Bedford; and that after the death of Jasper s.p., the property was restored by Henry VIII to George Nevill, Lord of Bergavenny, upon a petition of right. (Collins, Baronies by Writ, p. 79.) "The fact seems to have been as thus stated, and therefore the Nevill family, during the seisin of the several persons before named, could not have been sum. to Parl. in consequence of their seisin of the Castle and Lordship of Bergavenny, not having such seisin." (Lords' Reports, vol. i, p. 443.) Sir Edward Nevill, however, asserted his wife's right as heir at law (notwithstanding the entail) and "Undeuly entred upon us in the place and Castel of Bergevenny, whereof the heir is our warde." See commands for his expulsion therefrom issued to the Duke of York by Henry VI on 15 Oct. [qy. 1447?] printed in Bentley's Excerpta Historica (1831), p. 6.

<sup>(b)</sup> On the petition of Edward Nevill, lord of Bergevenny:—showing that he and Elizabeth late his wife as in her right were seized in their demesne as of fee of the castle, lordship, and manor, of Bergevenny, until by Richard, late Earl of Warwick, contrary to law and equity they were disseized, on which they forthwith claimed the premises, and, on Richard's death, Henry, late Duke of Warwick, entered therein, on which they entered and were seized thereof, and had issue George: and afterwards Henry disseized them, and had issue Anne. And after Henry's death they entered and were seized thereof until they were expelled under colour of an inquisition, by which it was found that Henry d. seized of the premises, that the sd. Anne was his da. and h. and under age, and that the premises were held of the King and Crown. And Anne d. when the premises were in the King's hands:—the King gave him licence, 14 July 1449, to enter and possess the sd. castle, lordship, and manor. (Patent Roll, 27 Hen. <sup>(a)</sup> The origin of the Nevills is shewn by J.H. Some dates and facts (not to be found elsewhere) are in an Account of the noble family of Nevill, particularly of the House of Abergavenny, by Daniel Rowland, Esq., London, 1830, folio. The account in Drummond's Noble British Families of this branch of the Nevill family is very jejune.

<sup>(g)</sup> Sir Roger Wilbraham, temp. Eliz., relates a smart retort, made apparently by this Lord, to Henry VIII. "The L. of Burgavenny had morgaged that house; the King having an ynkling thereof at his meeting with him said 'God morow my L. of Burgavenny without Burgavenny;' the Lord more boldly than discreetly said to the King 'God morow my liege Lord, King of France without France.' This tale is not only amusing, but has a practical bearing; for if Abergavenny were a Barony by tenure, and if the fond "conceit that the Castle and Lordship of A. should draw the stile and dignity" were true, then a mortgage, which transfers the legal ownership, would have also transferred the peerage; but the Lords having no notice of the transfer would have continued to summon Mr. Nevill, and by so doing would, (according to modern peerage law) have conferred a new peerage on him of the same date as the summons, while as soon as the mortgagee had foreclosed on Abergavenny and taken possession, they could not refuse him his writ of sum. to the ancient Barony. It is clear that such a process might recur, and that by now we might have a collection of Lords Abergavenny of various dates, which, as Euclid says, is absurd.

If it were possible for a Barony by tenure to exist in modern days, we should have from time to time the scandal of sales, and see advertisements such as this.—"At the Mart, Tokenhouse Yard, on Tuesday the 21st, will be sold the castle of Abergavenny in Monmouthshire carrying with it the right to a seat in the H. of Lords with high precedence." Later on there would be the Newspaper account of the auction. "We have to chronicle quite a "slump" in feudal Baronies since the "record" price obtained for this unique lot in 18—. We understand that "Abergavenny" did not reach the reserve, and that, like so many of our treasures, it will probably be disposed of privately in America. The fall in values is explained by the fact that the present Government freely supply a very similar though of course modern article, and have practically cleared the Market of buyers." V.G.

(<sup>a</sup>) On the death of Richard III, 22 Aug. 1485, the lordship of Abergavenny appears to have been vested in the s. and h. of Isabel, Duchess of Clarence. For, 1 Feb. 1485/6, one of the servants of that lordship was appointed during the minority of Edward, Earl of Warwick (Privy Seals, 1 Hen. VII, no. 667 : Patent Roll, pars ii, m. 13). However, shortly afterwards, 27 Feb. 1485/6, a grant in tail male was made to Jasper, Duke of Bedford, of all the castles, lordships, and manors, of Glamorgan, Morgannwg, Abergavenny, etc., to hold the same as from 21 Aug. last (Privy Seals, 1 Hen. VII, no. 725 : Patent Roll, pars ii, m. 5). This grant was repeated 15 and 21 Mar. 1487/8 (Privy Seals, 3 Hen. VII, no. 124 : Patent Roll, pars ii, m. 20), subsequent to a grant and confirmation, 13 Dec. 1487, to the King and his heirs male, by Anne, Countess of Warwick, of all her castles, lordships, manors, etc. (including the three abovenamed) except the manor of Erdington, co. Warwick (Close Roll, 3 Hen. VII, m. 11 d). Jasper d.s.p. in 1495, when Abergavenny escheated to the Crown. Finally, 18 Dec. 1512, there is an order for George Nevile, Lord Bergevenny, to have livery of lands as s. and h. of George, s. and h. of Edward, Lord Bergevenny, and Elizabeth, his wife, which Edward and Elizabeth were seized in right of the sd. Elizabeth of the castle and manor of Bergevenny, and disseized by Richard, Earl of Warwick, against whom they claimed the premises, and on his death entered on the same, and were again disseized by Henry, Duke of Warwick, s. and h. of the sd. Earl, who d. seized of the premises in fee, leaving issue Anne, his da. and next h. (Patent Roll, 4 Hen. VIII, pars ii, m. 9). In the R.O. there is a roll endorsed "A bill of lands and possessions assigned by the King's Highness to divers uses," wherein, under "Lands and possessions restored," occurs "to Lord Burgavenny £253-7-11½" (Cal. of Letters and Papers, temp. Hen. VIII, vol. ii, no. 1363). (ex inform. G. W. Watson). V.G.

(<sup>b</sup>) It had been granted by Henry VII to his 2nd s., Henry, Duke of York, who is spoken of, 19 Apr. 1496, as Lord of Abergavenny (Ancient Deeds). The statement that this George Nevill was not seized of the castle, made in Nicolas, p. xxxvii, is, of course, not true as to him, though, as is correctly stated by Nicolas, it is true as to his immediate predecessor; the passage therein referred to, as being in Collins' Baronies by Writ (p. 96), only says, "It shall be proved," &c., but does not give any proof. The account of the Barony of Bergavenny given in Nicolas (pp. xxx to xxxvii), is much fuller than that given in the subsequent edition, edited by Courthope, as regards the nature of its tenure and the proceedings concerning it in 1604.

7. EDWARD NEVILL, of Newton St. Loo, Somerset, cousin and h. male, who <sup>(b)</sup> in the grant of livery (1588)

<sup>(a)</sup> Mary, his da. and sole h. (by his 1st wife), who, at the time of his death, was aged 32, and the wife of Sir Thomas FANE, was unquestionably entitled to any Barony in fee possessed by her late father. She, however, by patent 25 May 1604, was granted the Barony of LE DESPENSER (a Barony originating by writ of 1264), of which she was a coh. [see pedigree, p. 41]. As this was a much more ancient Barony than the Barony of Bergavenny, under the writ of 1392, which was all she could claim (being neither the representative nor even a descendant of any of the former holders), this practically put an end to her claim to the latter Barony. Whether or no her claim, and that of her representatives thereto, is legally barred by this, or by the subsequent proceedings of the Crown and the House of Lords, as to such Barony, is open to grave doubt. The Barony "came with a lass" (the h. gen. of the Beauchamps of Abergavenny) to the Nevills, and ought apparently to have left them "with a lass" (the h. gen. of the Nevills), and gone to the Fanes, more especially as the subsequent proceedings of the House in giving it a precedency inferior to that of Le Despenser (cr. by writ of 1264) shew that their Lordships held it to be a personal dignity of the Beauchamp family, and not one attaching to the tenure of the Castle, whose owners were Barons at a much earlier period.

This Lady inherited, though only by agreement with the heir of entail (confirmed by Act of Parl. 35 Eliz.), the estate of Mereworth, Kent (which had come to the Nevills through the Beauchamps and Fitzalans), and also the manor and park of Althorne, Essex. Her s. and h., Francis Fane, was, in 1624, cr. Earl of Westmorland, in which title till 1762 (when the h. male was no longer the h. gen.) the Barony of Le Despenser continued merged.

<sup>(b)</sup> In Coke's Reports (vol. xii, p. 70) it is stated that this Edward had summons to Parl. 2 and 3 Philip and Mary, but d. before Parl. met; the writ is given at length, and Coke takes occasion to state that it was decided 8 Jac. I (1610-11) that the direction and delivery of the writ did not make him a Baron or Noble until he came to Parl. and there sat according to the commandment of the writ, and hence that no hereditary dignity was cr. by the writ directed to him in consequence of his never having sat under it. (See Lord's Reports, vol. i, pp. 482-486). As to Coke's statements, it should be noted that (i) no writ was addressed to "Edward Nevill de Abergavenny" for that Parl., though there is one, of the alleged date, 21 Jan., to "Henry Nevill de Bergavenny." (ii) In this same Parl., 31 Jan., is the petition above related [note "a" p. 33] of this same Edward as "Edward Nevill esquier." (iii) This Edward did not die, as Coke falsely asserts, in 1555/6, but lived till 1588/9, as in the text. Charity itself cannot suppose that such a wholesale misrepresentation of facts, which must indeed have been common knowledge, was anything but wilful. This, which is famous as "Lord Abergavenny's case," is the foundation of the doctrine that a writ does not create a barony unless a sitting under it is proved. It is discussed at some length in J.H.Round's Peerage and Pedigree, where the facts alleged by Coke are shown to be fictitious and a different version of the case is suggested. V.G.

of the lands of Henry, late Lord Bergavenny decd., is styled "Edwardus Nevill, armiger, alias dictus Edwardus Nevill, dominus Bergavenny," and who (according to the decision of 1604, and the place assigned to his son in the House of Lords) may perhaps be considered entitled to be reckoned as LORD BERGAVENNY. He was s. and h. of Sir Edward Nevill, of Addington Park, Kent, by Eleanor, Dowager LADY SCROPE of Upsall, da. of Andrews (WINDSOR), LORD WINDSOR, which Edward was 3rd son of George 4th, and br. of George 5th, Lord Bergavenny. He inherited the Castle, &c., of Abergavenny and the entire estates of the family, under the entail thereof to heirs male made by his uncle, the 5th Lord (as abovenamed), notwithstanding the attainder of his father, being enabled so to do under Act of Parl. beforementioned, <sup>(a)</sup> 2 and 3 Philip and Mary. M.P. for Windsor 1588-89 and 1593. "Being seised of an estate in tail male by virtue of the Act of Restoration, 2 and 3 Philip and Mary (1555/6) in the Castle and Lordship of Bergavenny, he claimed in 1598 the dignity of Baron of Bergavenny, not, as has been generally supposed, on the sole ground that the dignity was attached to the Castle of Bergavenny, but that he, as being seised of that Castle, and as h. male of the last Lord, was the more eligible person. On this occasion the Lord Chief Justice of England (Sir John Popham) determined that there was 'no right at all in the h. male, and therefore he must wholly rely on the favour of the Prince—the common custom of England doth wholly favour the h. gen.—that Her Majesty may call by new creation the h. male, and omit the h. gen. during her life, but yet a right to remain to her [i.e. the h. general's] son, having sufficient supportacion. No entail can carry away dignity but by express words or patent ;' the Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas was of the same opinion. Upon these opinions Lady Fane, who, as da. and h. of Henry, Lord Bergavenny, claimed as h. gen., prayed to be allowed the Barony, but nothing further took place until 1604, when the claims being renewed, the House of Lords avoided a formal decision, being 'not so perfectly and exactly resolved as might give clear and undoubted satisfaction to all the consciences and judgements of all the Lords for the precise point of Right;' it was agreed therefore that suit should be made to the King for ennobling both parties by way of restitution, the one to the Barony of Le Despencer, the other to the Barony of Bergavenny; and by a further resolution it was determined that BERGAVENNY should go to Nevill, and LE DESPENCER to Fane; this arrangement was approved of by the King, and a Writ of Summons was directed Edwardo Neville de Bergavenny Chr., 25 May, 2 Jas. 1604, and letters patent dated the same day confirmed the dignity of Le Despencer to Lady Fane."—Courthope, p. 17. (a) The famous and prolonged struggle for the barony of Abergavenny between the heir-general and the heir male after the death of Henry, Lord Abergavenny is described and discussed by Sir Harris Nicolas in his Barony of l'Isle (1829), pp. 384-391. It has also been investigated anew by J. H. Round in his Peerage and Pedigree, where it is shown that all previous accounts of it are inaccurate, and that there were three stages, at successive periods: (i) Sir Thomas Fane, in right of his wife versus the elder Edward Nevill; (ii) Lady Fane, as a widow, versus the younger Edward Nevill, under Queen Elizabeth; (iii) the same parties, under James I. V.G.

(b) That is to say a precedency based neither upon writ, nor tenure, but upon usage. V.G.

(c) This appears to have been without a Royal Warrant. See Appendix C in this vol. as to precedency of Peers in Parl. granted by Royal Warrant since the Statute of Precedency of 31 Hen. VIII. The award made by Edward IV, 14 April 1473, in the case of the BARONY OF DACRE, is very similar to that made by James I as to the BARONY OF BERGAVENNY. Edward IV, after awarding the old Barony to the h. gen., declares that the h. male should be "called the LORD DACRE OF GILLESLAND, and he and the heirs male of the said Thomas, late Lord Dacre to have place in our Parl. next adjoining beneath the place the said Richard Fenys, Knt., LORD DACRE [the h. gen.] now hath." Here then is a spec. precedency, extending even to Parl. (where, in this case, it has always been allowed), granted by the Crown to a newly created Barony. Neither in the case of Dacre nor of Bergavenny was the King's award carried out by patent, but in both by writ. The effect of this as to the Barony of Dacre of Gillesland was, that this Barony (when claimed in 1569 by Leonard Dacre the h. male of the body of the grantee, as against his nieces, the heirs gen.), was declared by the Commissioners of the Earl Marshal "to have commenced by writ 13 Edw. IV," and so "ought not to descend to the said Leonard as h. male." The royal award which (in the case of Dacre, though not in that of Bergavenny) declared expressly it should be to heirs male, not having been carried out by letters patent, went for nothing. It is difficult to see why the writ of 1604 in the case of Bergavenny (which has not, as in the seat, precedency and pre-eminence of the Barons Le Despencer, anciently was, and is and ought to be before and above that of the Barons of Bergavenny," i.e. that a Barony cr. by writ of 1264, was entitled to the precedence of one, which, if by tenure, must have been long before that date, "for the territory of Bergavenny undoubtedly existed in the hands of tenants in chief of the Crown, before (1264) 49 Hen. III and, of persons who were certainly esteemed Barons of the Realm." (Report of the Lords Committees on the Dignity of a Peer, vol. i, p. 440.). Unless we accept the theory that this writ was incidental either (i) to a Patent (hitherto undiscovered) of this date, or (ii) to the tenure of the Castle, it must (according to all modern Peerage law) have cr. a Barony in fee, and one de novo of the date of 1604. 2. HENRY (NEVILL), EARL OF ABERGAVENNY, &c., only s. and h., b. 22 Feb. and bap. 19 Mar. 1755, at St. Geo., Han. Sq.; ed. at Ch. Ch., Oxford; M.A. 8 Mar. 1776; M.P. for Seaford 1784, and for co. Monmouth 1784-85. Recorder of Harwich. K.T. 23 May 1814. About 1790 he repaired the old family place of Eridge (where <sup>(a)</sup> In this patent he is styled "George Lord Abergavenny." The creation of an Earldom of the same place as that of a Barony, but with a different limitation is very objectionable as, in the event of their separating, the anomaly arises of two persons being designated of one and the same place—e.g. in 1717 the Earldom of Ferrers (so cr. 1711) became separated from the Barony of that name, and so continues; and in 1882 the Earldom of Berkeley (so cr. in 1679) became (apparently) separated from the ancient Barony thereof. The Barony of Abergavenny however may be held to have vested in the first Earl, either (1) by a PATENT (hitherto undiscovered), granted in 1604 (or even in 1450!) to his ancestor, or in 1724 to his father; or (2) by the TENURE OF THE CASTLE. As to the former supposition it is not usual (though not without a precedent) for the House of Lords to imagine a patent to exist, and to regulate the descent of a Peerage accordingly. As to the Peerage being one by tenure, the decision of the House, in 1604, that it was a Peerage less ancient than the Barony of Le Despenser, is certainly greatly against such having been the then theory; and it is one also that has not found greater favour in more modern times. The only other alternative then that remains is (3) that the writ of 1724, (according to the modern law in Peerage) cr. a Barony de novo of that date (1724), to which the House yielded (as it has done in other cases, see Appendix D. at the end of this volume) the precedence due to the ancient Barony of the same name existing (in this case) some 330 years previously.—See pedigree, p. 41.

Walpole, writing to Lord Hertford 12 Feb. 1765, talks of a separation being in contemplation on account of the Earl's infidelity, and remarks that "his Lordship's heart is more inflammable than tender." <sup>(b)</sup> His Lordship is not improbably h. male of the body of Ralph Nevill, Earl of Westmorland, so cr. 29 Sep. 1397, and, as such, entitled to an Earldom, which (but for the exceptional Earldom of Arundel now vested in the Dukes of Norfolk) would be more ancient than any now existing, supposing the attainder of 1570 was reversed. The attainted Earl d. s.p.m.s., in 1601. Soon after his death, Edmund Nevill, styling himself Lord Latimer (a Barony by writ of which, though he was h. male, he was not h. general), claimed in 1605 the Earldom (being h. male of the body of the 1st Earl, but by the second wife) on the ground that being cousin of the half blood (only) to the attainted Earl, such attainder (being that of a person of whom he could not by the [then] law of half-blood be heir) did not affect him. It was however decided against his claim, and the honour declared to be forfeited. This Edmund d. about 1640 (before 2 Jan. 1645/6) s.p.m.s., when Lord Bergavenny possibly became h. male of the 1st Earl. According, however, to Drummond's Noble British Families, p. 15, the issue male of Thomas Nevill, of Pigotts in Ardleigh, Essex (who was of a senior line to the House of Abergavenny, being yr. s. of the 2nd Lord Latimer), existed long afterwards.

<sup>(a)</sup> "He was the first peer of the realm who [in Nov. 1688] made his appearance at the quarters of the Prince of Orange." Hitherto the Earl had "been regarded as a supporter of arbitrary government. He had been true to James in the days of the Exclusion Bill. He had, as Lord Lieutenant of Oxfordshire, acted with vigour and severity against the adherents of Monmouth, and had lighted bonfires to celebrate the defeat of Argyle. But dread of Popery had driven him into opposition and rebellion." (Macaulay, History of England.) He had also shortly before (as some recompense for having been deprived of the Lieutenancy of Oxon owing to his zeal for the Protestant faith), been mentioned for the Chancellorship of the University of Oxford, which however was given to the young Duke of Ormonde, grandson to the late Chancellor.

"The Earl of Abingdon, with a party of 50 Horse is gone thro' Dorchester to join the Prince of Orange." (Diary of Narcissus Luttrell, under 17 Nov. 1688.) The following character of him when "past 40 years old" is given by Bishop Burnet with Swift's comment thereon in italics. "A gentleman of fine parts; makes a good figure in the counties of Oxon and Berks: is very high for Monarchy and Church; of a black complexion."—"Very covetous."

BARONY.

1. JAMES SCARLETT, 2nd s. of Robert S., of Duckett's Spring, in St. James's Parish, Jamaica, by Elizabeth WRIGHT, widow, da. of Philip ANGLIN, of Paradise estate in that island, was b. there 1769; entered as a Fellow Commoner at Trin. Coll., Cambridge, at the age of fifteen; B.A. 1790; M.A. 1794; LL.D. 1835; Barrister (Inner Temple) 1791; King's Counsel 1816; M.P. for Peterborough 1819-30 (having been defeated, in 1822, for the University of Cambridge); M.P. for Malton 1830-31; for Cockermouth 1831-32; and for Norwich 1832-34; Knighted 30 Apr. 1827; Attorney-Gen. for a short time in 1827, and again in 1829. On 24 Dec. 1834 (Sir Robert Peel being then Prime Minister), he was made LORD CHIEF BARON OF THE EXCHEQUER, and a few weeks afterwards, 12 Jan. 1835, was cr. BARON ABINGER, <sup>(a)</sup> of Abinger, <sup>(b)</sup> in Surrey, and of the city of Norwich; being the first Chief Baron who ever received a Peerage while in office. P.C. <sup>(c)</sup> He m., 1stly, 22 Aug. 1792, Louise

<sup>(a)</sup> The Scarletts, Lords Abinger, bear arms of Checky gold and gules with a lion rampant ermine and a quarter azure charged with a castle of three turrets silver. A grant of these arms was made to the first peer in 1835. The castle differences them from those borne in the 17th Century by Scarlett of Nayland and Copford, to whom this family, although descended out of Sussex, would seem to be of kin. (ex inform. Oswald Barron.) V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> An amiable, popular man, of respectable character and genial disposition. His voice was low and mellifluous, his manner persuasive and easy, his face was round, jolly, rubicund, and intelligent in expression. In later life he became very portly. "Cautious, wary, astute, clear in his discernment, almost infallible in his judgment," he was an unrivalled nisi prius counsel, and his success with juries was almost miraculous, though not given to oratorical or any other form of display. He is the "Mr. Subtle" of Warren's Novel Ten Thousand a year. Like so many distinguished lawyers, he was not very successful in the House of Commons. He made a fairly good judge, though too much of the advocate still remained in him after his elevation. He is stated to have expressed his ability to convince any 12 jurymen of the truth of the Christian religion. When this was repeated to another judge now (1909) living, he retorted that if the case came before him he should stop it as there was no evidence to go to a jury! He began life as a Whig, but changed sides during the Reform agitation in 1830. A Memoir of him by the Hon. Peter Scarlett was pub. in 1877. V.G.

Henrietta, 3rd da. of Peter CAMPBELL, of Kilmorey, co. Argyll. She d. 8 Mar. 1829. He m., 2ndly (a few months before his death), 28 Sep. 1843, at Ockley, Surrey, Elizabeth, widow of the Rev. Henry John RIDLEY, Rector of Abinger, and da. of Lee Steere STEERE, formerly L. S. WITTS, of Jayes, in Wotton, Surrey, by Sarah, da. of Robert HARRISON, of London. He was struck with paralysis, after having sat through the whole day in Court, at Bury St. Edmund's, and d. there (five days afterwards), 7, and was bur. 14 Apr. 1844, at Abinger. Will pr. 1844, under £18,800. His widow d. 13 Oct. 1886 at West Cliff House, Brighton, aged 84. Will pr. at Lewes, 9 Nov. 1886, under £40,000.

II. 1844.                    2. ROBERT CAMPBELL (SCARLETT), BARON ABINGER, s. and h., by first wife, b. 5 Sep. 1794, in London. Ed. at Trin. Coll., Cambridge, B.A. 1815, M.A. 1818. Barrister (Inner Temple) 1818. M.P. for Norwich 1835-38; for Horsham 1841-44. Sometime British Minister at Florence. He m., 19 July 1824, Sarah, 2nd da. of George SMITH, Chief Justice of the Mauritius. He d. 24 June 1861, at Abinger Hall, Surrey, aged 66, having survived his br.-in-law, Lord Chanc. Campbell, but one day. His widow d. 3 June 1878, in her 76th year, at Queen's Gate Terrace, South Kensington.

III. 1861.                    3. WILLIAM FREDERICK (SCARLETT), BARON ABINGER, s. and h., b. 30 Aug. 1826 at Abinger Hall, Surrey. Ed. at Eton, and at Trin. Coll., Cambridge. Entered the army 1846; Capt. and Lieut. Col. Scots Fusilier Guards 1855, Major 1868, Lieut. Col. 1874, Major Gen. 1877, Lieut. Gen. 1882. Served in the Crimean War, 1854-56, and was at Alma, Inkermann, Balaklava, &c. Retired on half-pay, Sep. 1877. C.B. 2 June 1877; 5th class Medjidie. He settled in Scotland at Inverlochie Castle, co. Inverness. He m., 23 Dec. 1863, at Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal, Helen (Ella, or Eileen), 2nd da. of George Allan MAGRUDER, Commodore in the U. S. Navy. He d. 16 Jan. 1892, aged 65, at Inverlochie Castle, and was bur. at Inverlochie. Will pr. at £108,167 gross, and £93,933 net. His widow living 1909.

IV. 1892.                    4. JAMES YORKE MACGREGOR (SCARLETT), BARON ABINGER [1835], only s. and h., b. 13 Mar. 1871; sometime Lieut. 2nd Batt. Cameron Highlanders. He d. unm., suddenly, at supper at Montmartre, Paris, 11, and was bur. 19 Dec. 1903, at Inverlochie Castle. Will pr. over £24,000 personalty. <sup>(a)</sup> He was suc. by his cousin, who does not come within the scope of this work.

Family Estates.—These, in 1883, consisted of 39,414 acres in co. Inverness, worth £4,346 a year, and 1,005 in Surrey valued at £689

See “FARRER OF ABINGER,” CO. SURREY, Barony (Farrer), cr. 1893.

See “ABERCROMBY OF ABOUKIR, &c.,” Barony (Abercromby), cr. 1801.

ABOYNE

i.e., “ABOYNE” Barony [S.] (Gordon), cr. 1627, with the Viscounty of MELGUM [S.], which see; extinct 1630.

VISCOUNTCY [S.] 1. GEORGE GORDON, styled LORD GORDON, and sometimes EARL OF ENZIE, s. and h. ap. of George, 6th EARL and 1st MARQUESS OF HUNTLY [S.], and elder br. of John GORDON who had been cr. LORD ABOYNE and VISCOUNT MELGUM [S.] in 1627, was, soon after the death of his said younger br. (who d., s.p.m., Oct. 1630), by patent dat. 20 Apr. 1632, at Whitehall (reciting “the lamentable death of the late Viscount of Melgum”), cr. VISCOUNT ABOYNE [S.], with a spec. rem. after his father’s or his own death (whichever should first happen), to his 2nd s. James GORDON and the heirs male of his body. This rem. took effect on the death of the Marquess (his father), 13 June 1636, when he, the said George Gordon, became 2nd MARQUESS OF HUNTLY [S.], and his yr. s. suc. (as below) to the Viscounty.

For fuller particulars see “HUNTLY” [S.], under the second Marquess.

II. 1636 to 1649. 2. JAMES (GORDON), VISCOUNT ABOYNE [S.], 2nd s., but h. to the title under the spec. rem. He was a consistent and active but inefficient supporter of the Royal Cause, on which behalf he took and held Dumfries. He was defeated by Montrose (then fighting for the Covenanters) at the Bridge of Dec, 19 June 1639. He was excommunicated by the Gen. Assembly at Edinburgh, 24 Apr. 1644. He joined Montrose in Menteith in Apr. 1645, and his defection from him at Philiphaugh, 13 Sep. 1645, ruined the King’s cause in Scotland. On 2 July following he became (by the death of his elder br.) 1st surv. s. and h. ap. of his father. He was excepted from pardon in 1648, and made his escape to France. He d. unm. at Paris, Feb. 1648/9, a few days after (and, it is said, from grief occasioned by) the execution of his Royal Master (30 Jan.), and a few days previous to the execution of his father (22 Mar. 1648/9), for loyalty to the said King. His honours are presumed to have become extinct. <sup>(a)</sup>

EARLDOM. [S.] I. CHARLES GORDON, styled LORD CHARLES GORDON, 4th s. of George, 2nd MARQUESS OF HUNTLY [S.], by I. 1660. Anne, 1st da. of Archibald (CAMPBELL), 7th EARL OF ARGYLL [S.], and br. of James, VISCOUNT ABOYNE [S.] abovenamed, adhered firmly to the Royal cause during the Civil Wars, and suffered many hardships thereby, and was, in consideration thereof cr., 10 Sep. 1660, LORD GORDON OF STRATHAVON and GLENLIVET, and EARL OF ABOYNE [S.]. He had a charter under the great seal in 1661 of the whole of the lands and lordship of Aboyne. He m., 1stly, Margaret, da. of Alexander IRVINE, of Drum. She d., s.p.m., Dec. 1662. He m., 2ndly, (cont. 28 Aug. 1665) Elizabeth, only da. of

<sup>(a)</sup> Considerable insight as to the interpretation to be put upon the words "Heirs male bearing the name and arms" is afforded by this patent. "The use of the phrase bearing the name and arms was rare till 1615, and the fashion was not very prevalent till the time of Charles I, towards the end of whose reign it again fell out of common practice. From the table given of Peerages cr. in connexion with his visit to Scotland in 1633, it is shewn that the stipulation is then, as it would appear, indiscriminately added or omitted. It was occasionally annexed to heirs male of the body, as well as to heirs male whatsoever, in either of which cases it could have no effect." (Alex. Sinclair, Dissertation upon Heirs male in grants of Scotch Peerages, 1837, p. 148. See also Riddell, pp. 624-626, and pp. 1020-1021.)

In the patent by which this Viscountcy is cr., the former letters patent are recited whereby the King had conferred the title of Lord Aboyne and Viscount Melgum [S.], on the deceased Viscount Melgum "et hæredes suos masculos nomen et insignia de Gordon gerentes," and it is added that the said Viscount Melgum had died "absque hæredibus masculis DE CORPORE suo legitime procreatis, IN QUOS dictus titulus Vice comitis conferendus fuit, thus clearly proving that the dignity, though granted as above, was considered as confined to heirs male of the body. "Ac volentes (continues the patent) ut prior titulus [i.e., that of Aboyne] REVIVAT [which expression shews its EXTINCTION], et permaneat in personâ domini Gordon, &c." The patent proceeds to confer the dignity of Viscount Aboyne [S.] on the said Lord Gordon in the manner stated in the text, with a spec. rem. to his 2nd son, James, "hæredesque suos masculos cognomen et insignia de Gordon gerentes."

As this James d. unm., 1648/9, this title, which was conferred with precisely the same limitation as that of Melgum, must similarly be held to be extinct. Sinclair suggests that it may be considered as having devolved on his next younger br., Lewis, who a few days later (on his father's death) became 3rd Marquess of Huntly [S.], and hence have passed on to the subsequent Marquesses. This suggestion can hardly be entertained, for, if so, one of the younger brothers of the Viscount Melgum [S.] (of whom we know that one, viz. Lord Adam Gordon, was alive in 1636 and at his father's funeral) ought to have suc. to that title in 1630, (the remainders being exactly the same), whereas we have the authority of the patent of Apr. 1632 that the Viscountcy of Melgum was then extinct.

II. 1681.

2. CHARLES (GORDON), EARL OF ABOYNE, &c. [S.], s. and h. <sup>(b)</sup> Having been bred a "Papist" he qualified himself for taking his seat in the House, 27 July 1698, by taking the oath as a Protestant. He m. his 1st cousin, Elizabeth, 2nd da. of (his maternal uncle) Patrick (LYON), 3rd EARL OF STRATHMORE AND KINGHORN [S.], by Helen, 2nd da. of John (MIDDLETON), 1st EARL OF MIDDLETON [S.]. He d. Apr. 1702. His widow m. Patrick (KINNAIRD), 3rd LORD KINNAIRD [S.], who d. 31 Mar. 1715. She m., 3rdly, Capt. Alexander GRANT, of Grantsfield, and d. Jan. 1739.

III. 1702.

3. JOHN (GORDON), EARL OF ABOYNE, &c. [S.], s. and h. Served h. to his father in Nov. 1702. He m., 20 June 1724, Grace, da. of George LOCKHART of Carnwath, by Euphemia, 2nd da. of Alexander (MONTGOMERIE), 6th EARL OF EGLINGTON [S.]. He d. 7 Apr. 1732, at his seat of Charlton-Aboyne, Scotland. His widow m., Dec. 1734, James (STUART), 8th EARL OF MORAY [S.], who d. 5 July 1767. She d. 17 Nov. 1738, at Darnaway, co. Moray.

IV. 1732.

4. CHARLES (GORDON), EARL OF ABOYNE, &c. [S.], s. and h., b. about 1726. After a long minority he entirely cleared his estate from debt, and actively improved it in other ways. He m., 1stly, 22 Apr. 1759, at Edinburgh, Margaret, da. of Alexander (STEWART), 6th EARL OF GALLOWAY [S.], by his 2nd wife, Catherine, da. of John (COCHRANE), 4th EARL OF DUNDONALD [S.]. She d. 12 Aug. 1762, at Aboyne Castle. He m., 2ndly, 14 May 1774, at St. Geo., Han. Sq., Mary, da. of James (DOUGLAS), 14th EARL OF MORTON [S.], by his 1st wife, Agatha, da. of James HALYBURTON, of Pitcur. He d. 28 Dec. 1794, in St. Andrew's Sq., Edinburgh, in his 68th year. His widow d. 25 Dec. 1816, aged 79, at Edinburgh.

V. 1794.

5. GEORGE (GORDON), EARL OF ABOYNE, &c. [S.], s. and h., by 1st wife, b. at Edinburgh, 28 June 1761. On 28 May 1836 he suc. as MARQUESS OF HUNTLY [S.], on the death of his cousin, George, 5th DUKE OF GORDON and 8th MARQUESS OF HUNTLY [S.]. See "HUNTLY," Marquessate [S.], cr. 1599, under the 9th Marquess.

ACHESON

BARONY.

I. 1847.

I. ARCHIBALD ACHESON, styled VISCOUNT ACHESON, s. and h. ap. of Archibald, 2nd EARL OF GOSFORD [I.], and 1st LORD WORLINGHAM, was, on 18 Sep. 1847, cr. BARON

<sup>(a)</sup> He was an author, and some of his poems are preserved. They are said to be not without merit, but licentious in tone. V.G.

ACHESON of Clancairney, co. Armagh. On 27 Mar. 1849 he suc. to his father's honours, when this Barony became merged in the Barony of WORLINGHAM (cr. 1835). See "GOSFORD," Earldom of [I.], cr. 1806, under the 3rd Earl.

ACTON OF ALDENHAM

BARONY. I. SIR JOHN EMERICH EDWARD DALBERG-ACTON, Bart., l. 1869. of Aldenham Hall, Salop, s. and h. of Sir Ferdinand Richard Edward DALBERG-ACTON, Bart., of the same, by Marie Louise Pelina, only da. and h. of Emmerich Josef Wolfgang Heribert, DUKE OF DALBERG, <sup>(a)</sup> was b. 10 Jan. 1834, at Naples, and suc. his father, as 8th Bart., 31 Jan. 1837. Ed. at the R.C. College at Oscott, and under Dr. Döllinger at Munich. M.P. for Carlow, 1859-65; for Bridgnorth, 1865, but was unseated on petition the following year. D.C.L. Oxford, 1887, LL.D. Cambridge, 1888. Hon. Fellow of All Souls, Oxford, 1890 (an honour shared only with Mr. Gladstone). A Lord in Waiting, 1892-95. Regius Professor of Mod. Hist. Cambridge, 1895. On 11 Dec. 1869 he was cr. BARON ACTON OF ALDENHAM, Salop. <sup>(b)</sup> He m., 1 Aug. 1865, at St. Martin, in Upper Austria, Maria Anna Ludomilla Euphrosina, 2nd da. of Johann Maximilian, COUNT OF ARCO-VALLEY, by Anna Margareta Maria Juliana Pelina, COUNTESS MARESCALCHI; <sup>(c)</sup> she was b. 11 Feb. 1841. He d. 19 June 1902, at Tegernsee, Bavaria. <sup>(d)</sup> He was suc. by his s., who is outside the scope of this work.

<sup>(a)</sup> He was only s. of Wolfgang Heribert, Kämmerer von Worms, Reichsfreiherr von Dalberg zu Hershheim, and was cr. a Duke of the Empire by Napoleon, by letters patent, dated 14 Apr. 1810, and confirmed by Louis XVIII, 1 Feb. 1817; he was cr. a Peer of France 17 Aug. 1815, and d. at Hershheim near Worms, 27 Oct. 1833. (K. Hopf, Hist. Geneal. Atlas, 1858-66, vol. i, no. 201; A. Révérend, Armorial du Premier Empire, 1895, vol. ii, p. 3). The arms quartered by the Lords Acton for this marriage differ somewhat from those of the Freiherren von Dalberg, which were, Quarterly, 1 and 4, Az., 6 fleurs-de-lis Arg., a chief diminué indented Or, for Kämmerer von Worms; 2 and 3, Or, a cross moline Sa., for Dalberg. To which the Duke added a chief Gu., semé with estoiles Arg. (Siebmacher, under Baden; Rietstap, etc.) (ex inform. G.W. Watson.) V.G.

appearance is hailed with rejoicing by everyone who appreciates manifold learning, a courtly manner, and a delicately sarcastic vein of humour." (Collections and Recollections, 1898.) A man of great personal charm and amiability, his liberal views and love of historic truth brought him into conflict with the narrower ultramontanes of his own communion. He collected an enormous library at Aldenham, but considering that he was perhaps the most learned and widely read man of his day, he left singularly little work behind him. According to the 'Times' obituary notice, "a decided indolence of disposition, a certain mental timidity, a distinct want of national fibre, were his main imperfections." He was ennobled on the recommendation of Mr. Gladstone, whom he adulated, and followed and encouraged in his political divagations. He made no mark in either House of Parliament. V.G.

AILESBUURY

EARLDOM. I. ROBERT (BRUCE), EARL OF ELGIN, LORD KINLOSS, and LORD BRUCE OF KINLOSS [S.], also BARON BRUCE OF I. 1664. WHORLTON, co. York [E.], was only s. and h. of Thomas, 1ST EARL OF ELGIN, &c. [S.], and 1ST BARON BRUCE OF WHORLTON, by his 1st wife, Anne, da. of Sir Robert CHICHESTER, of Raleigh, Devon, K.B. He was b. before 1638, in the parish of St. Bartholomew the Less, London. <sup>(a)</sup> He was one of the 12 commoners deputed, 7 May 1660, to invite the return of Charles II. On 26 July 1660 he was, with the Earl of Cleveland, appointed joint Lord Lieut. of Beds, and was M.P. for that co. 1661-63. He suc. his father 21 Dec. 1663, and, having been instrumental in procuring the Restoration, was, on 18 Mar. 1663/4, cr. BARON BRUCE OF SKELTON, co. York, VISCOUNT BRUCE OF AMPTHILL, Beds, and EARL OF AILESBUURY, Bucks. On 29 Mar. 1667 he was sole Lord Lieut. of Beds ; High Steward of the Honour of Ampthill <sup>(b)</sup> 1670 ; joint Commissioner for the office of Earl Marshal, 20 June 1673 ; P.C. Oct. 1678 ; Gent. of the Bedchamber ; Lord Lieut. of Hunts 1681 ; Lord Lieut. of cos. Cambridge and Hunts 1685 ; F.R.S. ; a few months before his death, at the coronation of James II, 23 Apr. 1685, he bore St. Edward's Staff, and on 30 July following was appointed LORD CHAMBERLAIN OF THE HOUSEHOLD. <sup>(c)</sup> He m., 16 Feb. 1645/6, <sup>(a)</sup> This fact (as well as the place of his marriage) is mentioned in the Earl's will.

<sup>(b)</sup> The Honour of Ampthill had been leased by the Crown in 1613 to Lord Bruce [S.], and was sold by the Earl of Ailesbury, in 1730, to the Duke of Bedford, as was Houghton Park, the seat of the Bruce family (demolished in 1794), which was partly in this parish and partly in Houghton Conquest. Maulden, which was the burial place of the Bruces, was also included in the sale.

Page of Honour, at the Coronation of James II, 23 Apr. 1685. Groom of the Bedchamber, 1685-88. Lord Lieut. of cos. Bedford and Huntingdon 1685-88. He was one of the few noblemen who offered their services to James II after the Prince of Orange had embarked for England, and was one of the four Peers <sup>(d)</sup> deputed to invite that King to return from Sheerness to Whitehall; and when the King, two days later (18 Dec. 1688), was ejected from Whitehall, he was one of the four Peers <sup>(e)</sup> who accompanied him to Rochester. The Earl returned to London, and took the oath to the Revolution Government. <sup>(f)</sup> He was accused of having conspired, in May 1695, to plan the restoration of King James, and was imprisoned in the Tower of London, Feb. 1695/6, but admitted to bail 12 Feb. 1696/7, and subsequently allowed to quit the Kingdom. He m., 1stly, 31 Aug. (or 30 Oct.) 1676, Elizabeth (who was raised, by royal warrant, 28 June 1672, to the precedence of a da. of the DUKE OF SOMERSET), 3rd da., but

It was part of the old Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, and came to the Bruce family through that of Cecil, to whom it had been granted by James I.

<sup>(e)</sup> These were the Earl of Ailesbury and the Earl of Lichfield [E.], the Earl of Dunbarton and the Earl of Arran, afterwards Duke of Hamilton, [S.].

<sup>(f)</sup> He took the oath, regarding it, to use his own expression, as "a Garrison one," and thinking, moreover, that those "who desired protection (from the de facto King) ought to take some oath." He sent, however, a message to William that he would accept nothing so long as James or his son lived. "Ailesbury and Dartmouth had as little scruple about taking the oath of allegiance [to William and Mary] as they afterwards had about breaking it;" and in 1690, "Clarendon, who had refused the oaths, and Ailesbury, who had dishonestly taken them, were among the chief traitors."—See Macaulay, History of England. It is surely Whiggery run mad to brand as "Chief traitor" a man who only formally acknowledged the Revolution, and who preferred a long life in poverty, obscurity, and exile, to breaking the oath of allegiance which he had taken to King James. no occupation." Witnesses "Arthur Thompson," and "Mary Jane Haseley." Each of the three Marquesses having left a widow, all of whom were alive in 1886, this lady was the junior of no less than 4 living Marchionesses of Ailesbury, and (having been generally known as Doll Tester) was spoken of in The World (Oct. 1886) as "The Marchioness Dorothy, née Tester, late of the refreshment department of the Theatre Royal, Brighton, and more recently, of the chorus at The Empire and elsewhere." As (besides these ladies) the mother of the 4th Marquess was also alive in 1886, "The Marchioness Dorothy" in the ordinary course of nature would have been the fifth (living) Marchioness. See note sub Charles, EARL OF PETERBOROUGH [1697], as to the marriages of Peers with actresses, singers, and dancers.

(b) A young man of low tastes, bad character and brutal manners, of whom a recent Prime Minister remarked that 'his mind was a dunghill, of which his tongue was the cock.' On 30 Sep. 1887 he was expelled for life from the Jockey Club, for fraud in connection with the running of his horse 'Everitt.' On 4 Mar. 1892 his total liabilities were stated in the Bankruptcy Court to be £345,462, of which £244,211 was unsecured. It has been said that his death was only mourned by the Radical Party, who thus lost, for their speeches, a most eligible example of hereditary legislators. It is said that he was kind to animals, and doubtless he had other good qualities, though obscured by ill training and worse associates. V.G.

BARONY.

I. 1876 I. RICHARD AIREY, 1st s. and h. of Lieut. Gen. Sir George AIREY, K.C.H. (d. 1833), by Catharine, yst.
da. of Richard TALBOT, of Malahide Castle, co. Dublin, to by Margaret, suo jure BARONESS TALBOT OF MALAHIDE 1881. [I.], was b. Apr. 1803, at Newcastle-on-Tyne. Ed. at Woolwich Academy. Ensign 34th Foot, 1821; Capt.
1825; Aide-de-Camp to the Commissioner of the Ionian Islands, 1827-30; to the Governor of British North America, 1830-32; Military Secretary there, 1832-35; Lieut. Col. 34th Reg., 1838; Assistant Adjutant Gen. at the Horse Guards, 1838-47; Assistant Quarter-Master-Gen. there, 1851-53; Acting Quarter-Master-Gen. in the Crimea, 1854-55; was in command of a brigade at Alma, Balaklava, and Inkermann, and was at the capture of Sebastopol; Quarter-Master-Gen. of the forces, 1855, when he received the local rank of Lieut. Gen. in Turkey. He was nom.
K.C.B., 5 July 1855, for his services against the Russians; was Col. of the 17th Foot, 1860; Governor and Commander-in-Chief at Gibraltar, 1865-70; G.C.B., 13 Mar. 1867; Col. of the 7th Foot, 1868; Adjutant
Gen. of the Forces, 1870-76; Gen. in the Army, 1871-72. On 29 Nov.
1876, he was cr. BARON AIREY <sup>(a)</sup> of Killingworth, Northumberland.
In Oct. 1877 he retired from the army. He m., Jan. 1838, Harriet Mary Everard, 3rd da. of his maternal uncle, James (TALBOT), LORD TALBOT OF MALAHIDE [I.], by Anne Sarah, da. and coh. of Samuel RODBARD, of Evercreech, Somerset. She d. 28 July 1881, in Lowndes Sq., Midx. He survived her but a few weeks, and d. s.p.m.s., 13 Sep. 1881, at the Grange, Leatherhead, Surrey, when the title became extinct. <sup>(b)</sup> Both were bur. in the cemetery at Kensal Green, Midx.

<sup>(a)</sup> Lord Airey of Killingworth bore arms of Azure a chevron silver between three molets silver in the chief and a mural crown gold in the foot with three cinquefoils of the field on the chevron. This modern shield seems to have been based upon the ancient arms of the Derbyshire Eyres, which were adopted without reason by more than one of the surname of Airey. (ex inform. Oswald Barron.) V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> He appears to have been a hardworking, strong, efficient man, trained in the school of Wellington. Owing to the attempt to throw on him the responsibility for the failure of the commissariat department in the Crimean War, he demanded an official enquiry, the result of which was to clear him of the charge. V.G.

AIRLIE

BARONY [S.] I. 1491. 1. SIR JAMES OGILVY, of Airlie and Lintrathen, co. Forfar, s. and h. of Sir John O.<sup>(a)</sup>, of the same, possibly by Marion, 2nd da. of Sir William SETON, of Seton, b. about 1430, suc. his father about 1484 (in which year he was one of the guarantors of the treaty of peace concluded with the English), was, on 28 Apr. 1491, cr. LORD OGILVY OF AIRLIE [S.]. On 18 May following he went as AMBASSADOR to Denmark. He is said to have m., 1stly, about 1450, Elizabeth KENNEDY, of the family of Cassillis. <sup>(b)</sup> He certainly m. Helen GRAHAM, who was his wife 20 Nov. 1486. He m. lastly Jean LYLE. He d. about 1504, before 25 Sep. 1504. His widow d. about 1525.

II. 1504? 2. JOHN (OGILVY), LORD OGILVY OF AIRLIE [S.], s. and h. by 1st wife. Knighted between 1494 and 1497. He m., 1stly, before 14 Oct. 1472, Mariot or Marion. He m., 2ndly, Jean, 1st da. of William (GRAHAM), LORD GRAHAM, of Kincardine [S.], by Elene DOUGLAS, apparently da. of George (DOUGLAS), 4th EARL OF ANGUS [S.]. He d. before 9 Jan. 1505/6. <sup>(c)</sup>

III. 1505. 3. JAMES (OGILVY), LORD OGILVY OF AIRLIE [S.], s. and h. by 2nd wife. He m. Isobel, da. of Alexander (LINDSAY), 8th EARL OF CRAWFORD [S.], by Margaret, da. of (—) CAMPBELL, of Ardkinglass. He d. between 1513 and 29 Nov. 1524.

IV. 1520? 4. JAMES (OGILVY), LORD OGILVY OF AIRLIE [S.], s. and h. Served h. to his father 29 Nov. 1524. On 5 Mar. 1542, he was appointed one of the Extraordinary Lords of Session. He m. Helen, da. of Henry (SINCLAIR), 1ST LORD SINCLAIR [S.], by Margaret, da. of Patrick (HEPBURN), 1ST EARL OF BOTHWELL [S.]. He d. between 27 Nov. 1547 and 13 July 1548. <sup>(d)</sup> His widow d. between 1552 and 1562.

<sup>(d)</sup> The death of "James, Lord Airlie, May 1554," is among the funeral entries at the Lyon office; and this agrees with the retour to him of his great-great-grandson, 10 May 1630, where he is stated to have d. "about 1554." This date is, however, totally inconsistent with the charter of 1549, granted by his grandson, as in the text. See Crawford Peerage Case, p. 161, note.

V. 1548.

5. JAMES (OGILVY), LORD OGILVY OF AIRLIE [S.], grandson and h., b. about 1541, being s. and h. of James OGILVY, styled Master of Ogilvy, by Katherine, da. of Sir John CAMPBELL, of Cawdor, which James was s. and h. ap. of the 4th Lord, but d. v.p., 10 Sep. 1547, being killed at the battle of Pinkie. On 17 Dec. 1549 he granted an annuity, with consent of his mother and guardian, out of the lands of Airlie, to "Thomas, s. of the deceased James, Lord Ogilvy of Airly, grandfather of James, now Lord Ogilvy of Airly." He was one of the Commissioners who ratified the treaty of Berwick, 10 May 1560. When Queen Mary escaped from Lochleven, he repaired to her standard, and signed the association in her defence, 8 May 1568. He was imprisoned, accordingly, till James VI took the government on himself. By him he was sent as Envoy to Denmark, to assist at the coronation of Christian IV, in 1596. He m. Jean, 1st da. of William (FORBES), 7th LORD FORBES [S.], by Elizabeth, da. and coh. of Sir William KEITH. He d. Oct. 1606, at Farnell. Will dat. 21 July 1606, pr. 20 Mar. 1607, ordering his burial "in the Isle of the Kirk of Kynnell."

VI. 1606.

6. JAMES (OGILVY), LORD OGILVY OF AIRLIE [S.], s. and h. He m., 1stly, 11 Nov. 1581, "with great solemnity and triumph," in Holyrood House, Jean, 4th da. of William (RUTHVEN), 1ST EARL OF GOWRIE [S.], by Dorothea, da. of Henry (STEWART), 1ST LORD METHVEN [S.]. She d. 6 Jan. 1611/2. Will pr. 12 Jan. 1616/7. He m., 2ndly, (cont. dat. 1613) Elizabeth, 6th and yst. da. of Archibald NAPIER, of Merchistoun, by his 2nd wife, Elizabeth, da. of Robert MOUBRAY. He d. between Aug. 1616 and Apr. 1618. His widow, who was living 1 May 1623, and apparently not then remarried, m. Alexander AUCHMOUTIE, Gent. of the Privy Chamber.

VII. 1617?

7. and 1. JAMES (OGILVY), LORD OGILVY OF AIRLIE EARLDOM [S.] [S.], s. and h. by 1st wife, b. 1586. In reward of his own and his ancestors' loyalty, he, by pat. dat. at York 2 Apr. 1639, was cr. LORD OGILVY OF ALITH and LINTRATHEN, co. Forfar, and EARL OF AIRLIE [S.].<sup>(*)</sup> In 1644 he joined Montrose, and greatly distinguished himself in the victory over the Covenanters at Kilsyth, 15 Aug. 1645. He, with his 1st s., was excepted from pardon by the Articles of Westminster, 11 July 1646, and was excommunicated by the Gen. Assembly, 27 July 1646. His "forefaultour," however, was rescinded 17 Mar. 1647. He m., (cont. dat. 22 Nov. 1610) Isabel, 2nd da. of Thomas (HAMILTON), 1ST EARL OF HADDINGTON [S.], by his 1st wife, Margaret (d. Dec. 1596), da. of James BORTHWICK, of Newbyres. She was b. at Edinburgh, 18 Feb. 1595/6. He d. 1664/5. His wife surv. him.

(*) In July 1640 the Marquess of Argyll raided and devastated his lands and burnt his castle, leaving him "in all his lands not a cock to crow day,"—an event commemorated in the ballad "The bonnie House of Airlie." V.G.

2 and 8. JAMES (OGILVY), EARL OF AIRLIE, &c. [S.], s. and h., b. about 1615. He was a devoted adherent of Charles I, and was twice taken prisoner by the Covenanters. On the last occasion, after his defeat under Montrose at Philiphaugh, 13 Sep. 1645, he was sentenced to death, 26 Nov. 1645, but escaped out of the Castle of St. Andrew, the eve before his execution, in his sister's clothes. On 7 June, and 9 July 1649, two Acts of Parliament were passed in his favour. He was "an excommunicate Papist" in 1650. He was a prisoner in the Tower for several years under the Commonwealth, until Jan. 1656/7. After the Restoration, he had command of a troop of horse, and was made a P.C. In 1693 he was excused from attending Parl., owing to his great age. He m., 1stly, (cont. 20 Mar. 1628/9) Helen, 1st da. of George (OGILVY), 1ST LORD BANFF [S.], by his 1st wife, Margaret, da. of Sir Alexander IRVINE, of Drum. She was living Feb. 1663/4. <sup>(c)</sup> In the Airlie case it was held, that "if the attainted person survived the person in possession of the dignity, the title was forfeited."—See Hewlett, p. 12. This was the unanimous opinion of the 12 English Judges, to whom the question had been referred, and "it seems clear that, IF a Judgment had been asked at the time [1814], and the opinion of Sir Vicary Gibbs and his brethren laid before the Committee, it would have been confirmed."—See Maidment, pp. 85-86. See also Cruise, p. 131, &c.; and Riddell, pp. 724-730. There is great difficulty in reconciling this opinion (for it is but an opinion) with the ratio decidendi in the earlier case of Atholl. In that case (1764) it was held that the claimant, being son of the attainted person (Lord George Murray), though at common law he would have been included in the attainder, came within the statute "de donis" (12 Edw. I, c. 1, modified by 26 Hen. VIII, c. 13) and that thus

He took no part in the Rising of 1745. Under the Act of 1747 abolishing heritable jurisdictions, he was allowed £2,800 for the baileries of the Regalities of Aberbrothock, Coupar, and Brechin. Ed. at Perth. On 3 Oct. 1745 he joined (Prince) Charles Edward, "the young Chevalier," at Edinburgh with a Regiment of 300 men, mostly of his own clan. For this he was attainted by Act 19 Geo. II, cap. 26. He escaped after the battle of Culloden to Norway, whence he went to France, where he commanded a Regiment of Foot, called "Ogilvy's Regiment," and rose to the rank of Lieut. Gen. in the French service. He procured a free pardon under the Great Seal, 30 Mar. 1778, and, returning home, obtained a confirmation thereof by Parl. in 1783, Act 23 Geo. III, cap. 94. He m., 1stly, (having eloped with her) Margaret, da. of Sir James JOHNSTONE, of Westerhall, 3rd Bart. [S. 1700], by Barbara, da. of Alexander (MURRAY), 4th LORD ELIBANK [S.]. She was b. 30 Oct. 1724, and was so active in the Rising of 1745, that in June 1746 she was imprisoned in Edinburgh Castle, whence (in Nov.) she escaped to France, where she d. 1757, aged 33. (passing over his attainted father, who was never tenant in tail in possession) he could take the dignity, as by gift, directly from his grandfather. In the case of Airlie, on the other hand, the opinion given was that the statute "de donis" had no application to Honours, and that the common law principle must prevail, i.e. that every heir, belonging to the same estate-tail as the attainted person, suffers from the attainder, whether descended from him or not; it being only on the extinction of that estate-tail that the honours revive in favour of the representative of the next estate-tail.

On the same day, by a similar Act, the attainder affecting the Earldom of Wemyss [S.] was reversed, and the Earldom of Carnwath [S.] and the Barony of Duffus [S.] were restored to the respective heirs thereof. ## AIRTH of line to David (STEWART), EARL OF STRATHERN [S.] (who was s. of Robert II, KING OF SCOTLAND), was, on 31 July 1631, confirmed in that dignity by Royal Charter "to him and his heirs male and of entail, directing that he and they should thereafter be styled EARLS OF STRATHERN AND MENTEITH" [S.]. The King's Charter, however, as well as the retour (finding the Earl to be the h. of Prince David), were subsequently "reduced" by the Court of Session, 1633. The Earl having thus (for no fault of his own) been deprived of the Earldom of Strathern, the King, to make such deprivation less conspicuous, and, perhaps, for the purpose of sinking the title of Menteith (as being connected with Royal descent), erected the lands and Barony of AIRTH into an Earldom, and united it by patent, 28 Mar. 1633, with the EARLDOM OF MENTEITH, declaring its precedency to be that which was due to that Earldom, therein defined as 6 Sep. 1428, (a) and "ordained the said Earl and his heirs to be called in all time coming EARLS OF AIRTH and to bruik and enjoy the honours, dignity, and precedence due to them by virtue of the said Charter granted to the said Malise, Earl of Menteith before all others" (b). He d. in 1661, after 13 Apr.

II. 1661 to 1694. 2. WILLIAM (GRAHAM), EARL OF AIRTH and MENTEITH [S.], grandson and h. Having no issue, he resigned his territorial Earldoms (desiring also to resign, at the same time, the actual dignities of the EARLDOMS OF MENTEITH AND OF AIRTH) in favour of James (GRAHAM), MARQUESS OF MONTROSE [S.], and his heirs male, but the King, while he accepted the resignation of the territorial Earldoms and directed a charter of regrant to pass thereupon, refused to accept a resignation of the dignities, or to interfere with the right of succession to them. The Earl d. s.p. 12 Sep. 1694, when the issue male of the 1ST EARL OF AIRTH [S.] became extinct. (c)

For fuller particulars see "MENTEITH," Earldom of [S.], cr. 1427, under the 7th and 8th Earls.

(a) This date is, oddly enough, in error by a year; it should be 6 Sep. 1427. In right of this clause of precedency the Earl of Menteith (who in the "decret of Ranking" had been ranked as a creation of 1466) was (subsequently) placed next below "Mar" and next above "Rothes," as appears in the records of Parl., 1639. This militates against the theory that the date of 1457 (not 1404) was the one assigned at the "Ranking" to the Earldom of Mar.

DUKEDOM [S.] I. ROBERT STEWART, 3rd, but 2nd surv., s. of Robert, I. 1398.

HIGH STEWARD of Scotland, afterwards (1370-90) Robert II, by his 1st wife, Elizabeth, da. of Sir Adam MURE, of Rowallan, was b. about 1340, and, while a young man (1361), became, in right of his wife, EARL OF MENTEITH [S.]. By agreement, 30 Mar. 1371, with Isabel, suo jure COUNTESS OF FIFE [S.], he became, on her resignation, EARL OF FIFE [S.], by which latter title he was generally known. Great Chamberlain [S.] 1383-1407. He made two successful raids into England, one in 1385, and another in 1388. On 1 Dec. 1388, the King (his father), being aged, and his eldest br. (afterwards

John Allardice of Allardice, and d. Dec. 1720, leaving issue; (2) Elizabeth m., Dec. 1663, Sir William Graham of Gartmore, Bart. [S.], and d. v.f., leaving issue, which, according to some accounts, became extinct on the death of her great-great-granddaughter Marie Bogle in 1821. The claim of the Allardice family to the title was opposed in 1839 by Nicholas Donnithorne Bishop, and Mary Eleanor his wife, da. and h. of James Andrew Bogle, alleged to have been a descendant of this Elizabeth Graham.—See Burke's Extinct Peerage, sub "Graham, Earl of Strathern," &c. In 1834 Robert Barclay-Allardice (whose mother, Sarah Ann, was da. and h. of James Allardice, great-grandson and h. of Sir John A. and Mary Graham abovenamed) claimed the dignity of EARL OF AIRTH [S.] as h. of line of the grantee, contending that the word "heirs" in the patent of 1633 must be read as "heirs of the body." To which the Lord Advocate objected that the patent only annexed the new dignity of Airth to the old one of Monteith, and that no person could be Earl of Airth [S.] who was not also Earl of Monteith [S.]. The case was frequently heard in 1839, and was adjourned 15 Aug. 1839. In 1840, the same claimant presented a petition for the dignity of EARL OF STRATHERN AND MONTEITH [S.], but no further steps were taken, and he d. in 1854. In 1870, Mrs. Barclay-Allardice, his only surv. child, claimed the dignity of COUNTESS OF AIRTH [S.], and was opposed by W. C. Bontine (formerly Graham), who claimed to be h. male of the body of the 1st Earl of Monteith, or Monteith [S.], and asserted this Earldom to be united with the Earldom of Airth. The case was last heard 21 July 1871. See Hewlett, pp. 74-76. G.E.C.

Mrs. Barclay-Allardyce d. 7 Aug. 1903, and in Nov. 1904, her s., Robert B.-A. was contemplating the assertion of his claim as h. of line. From press notices of that time it would appear that Robert Bontine Cunninghame Graham, 1st s. of W. C. Bontine mentioned above, was prepared to contest the claim on the same ground as his father had done. Another claimant was also announced in the Daily Mail of 19 Nov. 1904, as intending to assert his claim as h. male, namely George Marshall Graham, b. 18 Nov. 1852, at Edinburgh, and then of Kansas City, U.S.A., s. and h. of James G. of Leichtown, Monteith, co. Perth. (ex inform. J. H. Round.) V.G.

Robert III) infirm, he was made, by Parl., GUARDIAN (Custos) OF THE REALM [S.], and, as such, agreed to a treaty with the English in 1389; but on 27 Jan. 1398/9, he was superseded, by the appointment of David, the h. ap. of the throne, as "King's Lieutenant," with as ample powers as his (David's) uncle (the said Duke) had as "Guardian." On the death, s.p. legit., of his br. Alexander (STEWART), EARL OF BUCHAN [S.], he appears to have been considered to have suc. to that Earldom, (recognized to the said Alexander, 25 July 1382) which he resigned 20 Sep. 1406. <sup>(a)</sup> In Mar. 1398 he, with his said nephew David, had an interview at Haudenstank with John, Duke of Lancaster, and other English Commissioners, and shortly afterwards he and his said nephew were each advanced to a Dukedom (the first Dukes <sup>(b)</sup> ever made in Scotland), he being, on 28 Apr. 1398, cr. DUKE OF ALBANY [S.], in a solemn Council held at Scone. For his complicity in the arrest of his said nephew, David, then Duke of Rothesay [S.], (who d. a prisoner in Albany's Castle of Falkland, 27 Mar. 1402) he received a remission from Parl. <sup>(c)</sup> After his nephew's death, the Duke assumed the then vacant office of "KING'S LIEUTENANT" [S.]; and by Charter, 2 Sep. 1403, was cr. EARL OF ATHOLL [S.] during the life of the reigning King, with rem. (should he die before the said King) to his 2nd s. John. By the death of the said King, 4 Apr. 1406, this Earldom consequently became extinct. At the council held June 1406, after the death of his br. Robert III, he was made REGENT [S.] (Gubernator Scotiæ), the King (his nephew James I), being then a prisoner in England, which Kingdom accordingly he again invaded in 1417, but on this occasion without success. He m., 1stly, (disp. 9 Sep. 1361), Margaret, suo jure COUNTESS OF MENTEITH [S.], (who had previously been the wife of Sir John MORAY of Bothwell (d. s.p. 1352), of Thomas (ERSKINE), EARL OF MAR [S.], and of Sir John DRUMMOND of Concraig) <sup>(d)</sup>, da. of John GRAHAM, jure uxoris EARL OF MENTEITH [S.], by Mary, suo jure COUNTESS OF MENTEITH [S.]. <sup>(c)</sup> The Parl. declared that the Prince had d. from natural causes; but whether his death was from dysentery or from actual starvation seems doubtful. Sir Walter Scott, though, as a historian, inclining to the (popular) belief in Albany's guilt, expresses his entire disbelief in the sensational particulars taken from Boëce, which he used with such thrilling effect in his Fair Maid of Perth.—See Lardner's Cabinet Cyclopædia, vol. i, p. 136. He suc. his father as REGENT [S.] in 1420; and having accomplished the release of his cousin James I in 1424, attended him at his coronation at Scone. The King, however, "was not slow in commencing the work of vengeance on the race by whom he had been long supplanted," <sup>(b)</sup> and, having obtained their conviction, at a Parl. held at Perth 25 Mar. 1425, caused the Duke himself, his two elder surv. sons (Walter and Alexander), and his father-in-law the EARL OF LENNOX [S.], to be beheaded on the Castle Hill of Stirling. <sup>(c)</sup> He m. (settlement 17 Feb. 1391/2) Isabel, 1st da. and coh. of Duncan, EARL OF LENNOX [S.], by Helen, da. of Gillespie CAMPBELL. III. 1456?

I. ALEXANDER STEWART, 2nd s. of King JAMES II, b. about 1454, and before 8 July 1455. He was EARL OF MARCH [S.] before 8 July 1455, was styled "LORD OF ANNANDALE and EARL OF MARCH" [S.] in an Act of Parl., 4 Aug. 1455, and soon afterwards (certainly before 3 July 1458) was cr. DUKE OF ALBANY [S.]. In 1479 his br. James III, on suspicion of conspiracy, arrested him and his br. John, Earl of Mar [S.]. The latter died in prison, but the Duke escaped to France, where he was honourably received by Louis XI. In 1482 he (styling himself KING OF SCOTLAND) made an agreement with Edward IV to pay homage to him, but, soon afterwards, he appears to have been reconciled to his br., James III, who apparently, about this time (Jan. 1482/3) must have cr. him EARL OF MAR AND GARIOCH [S.], which dignity had belonged to his abovenamed br. In 1483, however, he renewed his treaty with the English, and placed his Castle of Dunbar in their hands, and was "forfeited" in that year. Having invaded Scotland he was routed near Lochmaben, 22 July 1484, and escaped again into France. DUKEDOM.

1. GEORGE MONCK, <sup>(b)</sup> 2nd s. of Sir Thomas MONCK, of Potheridge, Devon, by Elizabeth, da. of Sir George SMYTHE, of Madford in Heavitree, in that co., was b. at 1660. Potheridge, 6, and bap. 11 Dec. 1608, at Lancross. His military achievements and general career are a matter of history. M.P. for Devon (Barebones Parl.) 1653, and again 1660 (having also been elected at the same time for Cambridge Univ.) until made a peer. He was one of the (62) members of Cromwell's House of Lords, being styled therein "George Monke, General in Scotland." For the active part he took in effecting the restoration of Charles II, at which time he was Commander in Chief of all the Forces for the Parl., and Joint Gen. of the Fleet, he was nom. by that King K.G., being el. and invested at Canterbury, 26 May 1660, and inst. 15 Apr. 1661. On 7 July 1660 he was cr. BARON

<sup>(a)</sup> Monck was the first person to bear precisely this title, and its history appears to be as follows. His predecessors were Earls or Dukes of Aumale, Aumarle, or Aubemarle, according to the various ways in which the word was spelt. (Oswald Barron informs me that the last is the form which he has usually found in old documents.) Of these words the supposed latin equivalent employed in charters was de Alba Marla, and this expression was, somewhere in the 16th century, docked and anglicised into Albemarle. For some remarks on mediæval English names, see vol. iii, Appendix C.

<sup>(b)</sup> He bore for arms, Gules with a chevron silver between three lions' heads razed of the same. These are the arms of the ancient Devonshire house of Monck of Potheridge, of which he became heir male on the death of his elder brother. (ex inform. Oswald Barron.) V.G.

MONCK OF POTHERIDGE, BEAUCHAMP AND TEYES; (<sup>a</sup>) EARL OF TORRINGTON, Devon, and DUKE OF ALBEMARLE. (<sup>b</sup>) A pension of £7000 a year, and the estate of New Hall, in Essex, were granted to him and his heirs for ever. (<sup>c</sup>) P.C., Gent. of the Bed-

(<sup>a</sup>) As to the unwarranted assumption of the title Teyes, as also that of three other Baronies, by John (Dudley), 1st Duke of Northumberland, see note under that title.

(<sup>b</sup>) "The General's title is Duke d'Albemarle (a place in Normandy belonging to the Plantagenets from whom he derives himself), Earl of Toddington or Torrington: Viscount Coldstream, and Baron of Potheridge, his house. Coldstream is the river in the north that lay between him and Lambert last year." (See letter from Andrew Newport, dat. 26 June 1660. Hist. MSS. Com., 5th Rep., App., p. 154.) The explanation of these titles is by reason of the undermentioned descent; a descent, however, which carries with it no representation of the titles thus taken. Alice, da. and h. of Henry, Lord Teyes (or Tyas), m. Warin de Lisle. Their grandson, Warin, Lord Lisle, left a da. and h., Margaret, who m. Thomas, Lord Berkeley, and had a da. and h., Elizabeth, who m. Richard (Beauchamp), Earl of Warwick, and (cr. 1419) Earl of Aumale. Margaret, one of the three daughters of this Earl and his said wife, m. (as 2nd wife), John (Talbot), 1st Earl of Shrewsbury, and had a son, John, cr. Viscount Lisle, 1452. His da., Elizabeth, coh. of the Barony of Teyes, m. Edward Grey, cr. Baron and Viscount Lisle. Their da. and eventually, representative, m., for her 2nd husband (the issue by her 1st husband, Edmund Dudley, carrying away her representation), Arthur Plantagenet (illegit. s. of Edward IV), who was cr. Viscount Lisle, 1533. Frances, one of his three daughters and coheirs (having left issue by her 1st husband, John Basset, in whom her representation would vest) m., for her 2nd husband, Thomas Monck of Potheridge, the great-grandfather of George Monck, cr., as in the text, Baron Monck of Potheridge, Beauchamp and Teyes, and Duke of Albemarle. This Frances was sister, ex parte maternâ, of John (Dudley), Duke of Northumberland, who was styled, though improperly, Baron Tyas. The Baronies indicated a descent not only from the last possessor (a life tenant) of that title, but also (though but a bastard one) from the Royal Family, by whom alone (with the exception of the abovenamed grant in 1419) this semi-royal Peerage had hitherto been borne, after the extinction, in the 13th century, of the old (Norman) line of Earls. The surname is spelt both as Monck and as Monk in the patent, though, generally as the former, which is the spelling of the Barony cr. by the said patent.

(<sup>c</sup>) The following is drawn from Lord Clarendon's account of him:—"He was of an ancient family in Devonshire, always very loyally affected, and being a yr. br., he entered early into the life and condition of a soldier. When the troubles began in Scotland, he betook himself to the service of the King, and was soon after sent into Ireland, where he served with singular reputation of courage and conduct. He was taken prisoner at Nantwich, and remained in the Tower to the end of the war, when Cromwell prevailed upon him to engage himself again in the war of Ireland; and from that time he continued very firm to Cromwell, who was liberal and bountiful to him, and took him into his entire confidence. After the death of Cromwell, Monk was looked upon as a man more inclined to the King than any other in great authority, if he might discover it without too much loss or hazard. He had no fumes of religion to turn his head, nor any credit with, or dependence upon, any who were swayed by these trances." He is thus described by Lord Macaulay—"With very slender pretensions to saintship, [he] had raised himself to high commands by his courage and professional skill. His nature was cautious and somewhat sluggish." Lord Clarendon also remarks that "He was cursed, after long familiarity, to marry a chamber, Capt. Gen. and Master of the Horse, 1660. Lord Lieut. of Ireland 1660-62. P.C. [1.] 1661. Lord Lieut. of Devon 1660, and of Midx. 1662; Bearer of the Sceptre and Dove at the Coronation, 23 Apr. 1661; acting Lord High Admiral, Mar. to June 1666. First Lord of the Treasury, 1667-70. He m., 23 Jan. 1652/3, at St. George's, Southwark, Surrey, Anne, late, or possibly actual, wife of Thomas RADFORD, or REDFORD, (<sup>a</sup>) da. of John CLARGES, a farrier in the Savoy, Strand, by his wife, Anne LEAVER. He d., at the Cockpit in Whitehall, 3 Jan. 1669/70, and was bur., 29 Apr. 1670, with a state funeral the next day, in Westm. Abbey. Will dat. 8 June 1665, pr. 3 Jan. 1669/70, the day of his death. His widow survived him but three weeks. She d. 29 Jan., and was bur. (nearly two months before him) 28 Feb. 1669/70, in Westm. Abbey, aged 54. Admon. 15 Dec. 1688 to her br., Sir Thomas Clarges.

woman of the lowest extraction, the least wit, and less beauty." According to Pepys, 8 Mar. 1661, she was "ever a plain homely dowdy." He also says, 28 Dec. 1663, "I find him a very heavy dull man." "The Duke of A., in his drink, taking notice, as of a wonder, that Nan Hide should be Duchess of York, 'Nay' says Troutbeck, 'n'er wonder at that, I will tell you as great if not greater a miracle.' And what was that but that our dirty Bess (meaning his Duchesse) should come to be Duchesse of Albemarle." (Pepys, 4 Nov. 1666.) Thomas, Lord Ailesbury, in his Memoirs, written about 1729, says of him:—"He was naturally of heavy parts and illiterate, but he supplied that by a good judgment, and secret to the last degree, and most cautious in all his undertakings." V.G.

(<sup>a</sup>) She m. her 1st husband 28 Feb. 1632/3, at St. Laurence Poultney, London. He is said to have been (as was her father) a farrier, and was not improbably a s. of that "Thomas Redford, farrier, servant to Prince Charles," who was bur. 20 Nov. 1624, at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields. She proved her father's will 1 Jan. 1648/9, being then separated from her husband, but there is no evidence of his death before her 2nd marriage. See note under her burial in Col. Chester's Registers of Westminster Abbey. See also a curious account in Burke's Extinct Peerage, 1883, in a note under "Monk," as to the suit (15 Nov. 1700) of William Sherwin, the h.-at-law, v. Clarges.

(<sup>b</sup>) It is stated in "Pride v. the Earls of Bath and Montague," in Salkeld's Reports, vol. i, p. 120 (edit. 1795), Hilary term, 6 Will. III (King's Bench), that "Duke Christopher was a bastard begotten of a woman who at the time of her marriage with George, Duke of Albemarle, was married to another man who was then and is yet living." It was objected that since Duke George and the said woman were dead, the issue, who was dead also, could not be bastardized, who, when living, was reputed legitimate, but the court held that this objection did not apply to bastardy of this sort.

of Barnstaple 1688. He was employed against Monmouth in June 1685, when he is said to have shewn neither capacity nor courage. He was appointed Gov. of Jamaica, 25 Nov. 1686. <sup>(a)</sup> He m., 30 Dec. 1669, in the Cockpit, Whitehall, (Lic. Vic. Gen.) Elizabeth, 1st da. and coh. of Henry (CAVENDISH), 2ND DUKE OF NEWCASTLE, by Frances, da. of the Hon. William PIERREPONT. He d. in Jamaica, s.p.s., 6 Oct. 1688, and was bur., 4 July 1689, in Westm. Abbey, when his honours became extinct. Will dat. 4 July 1687. His widow (who was b. 22 Feb. 1654) m., 8 Sep. 1692, as his 2nd wife, Ralph (MONTAGU), 1ST DUKE OF MONTAGU, who d. 9 Mar. 1708/9. She was well known as "the mad Duchess." She d. s.p.s., at Newcastle House, Clerkenwell, Midx., 28 Aug., and was bur. 11 Sep. 1734, in Westm. Abbey, aged 80, or, according to the journals of the day, 96. Admon. 4 Nov. 1734.

Note.—So popular was this title of ALBEMARLE, that, in 1661 (only a year after it had been conferred on George Monck), on the petition of John (GRANVILLE), EARL OF BATH (so cr. 20 Apr. 1661), "the King passed a warrant, under the privy seal, whereby he obliged himself and recommended it to his successors, that, in case of failure of male issue to Gen. Monck, the title of DUKE OF ALBEMARLE should descend to the said EARL OF BATH and be continued in his family." (See Heylin's Help to English History, 1783, p. 183.) In 1688 this event happened. The validity of the King's warrant had expired with his Majesty in 1685, so that a royal recommendation to his successor was all that remained; however, as will be seen below, this recommendation was acted upon, as far as it was in his power to do so, by the titular King James III, in 1721.

TITULAR DUKEDOM. I. 1696.	I. HENRY FITZ-JAMES, 2nd s. and yst. of the five illegit. children of James II, by Arabella CHURCHILL, spinster, sister to John, DUKE OF MARLBOROUGH, and only da. of Sir Winston Churchill, was b. Aug. 1673. At the age of 16 he was made Col. of a reg. of infantry, which he headed at the battle of the Boyne. In 1695, he and his br., the gallant Duke of Berwick, were outlawed . He was commonly known as "the

"Let a disbanded peer, kicked out of Court,
And made some upstart statesman's common sport,
Sneak like a dog, and beg he may be sent
With a great character to banishment."

A note to Absalom and Achitophel, part ii, is more complimentary. "Son to the brave General Monk, and President of Wales. He was liberal, loyal, and a leading man among the friends of the King and the Duke." Of his wife her father writes, 16 Mar. 1682/3:—"I saw, when my daughter Albemarle was here, she was not mad, but there was a great consternation upon her, I suppose caused by her own folly and pride, and the malice of others." Grand Prior." On 13 Jan. 1696, he was cr. by his father James II (when in exile), DUKE OF ALBEMARLE, EARL OF ROCHFORD, AND BARON OF ROMNEY, <sup>(a)</sup> and was placed in command of the Toulon fleet designed to invade England. He was, in 1702, made a Lt. Gen. and Admiral in France. He m., 20 July 1700, Marie Gabrielle, only child of Jean d'AUDIBERT, COUNT OF LUSSAN, in Languedoc, by Marie Françoise, da. of Henri RAIMOND, SEIGNEUR DE BRIGNON, also in Languedoc. <sup>(b)</sup> He d. s.p.m.s., <sup>(c)</sup> 16/27 Dec. 1702, at Bagnols in Languedoc. His widow m., <sup>(d)</sup> at St. Eustache, Paris, 25 May 1707 (without the knowledge and much to the displeasure of her parents), John (DRUMMOND), 2nd EARL (titular DUKE) OF MELFORT [S.], who d. 29 Jan. 1754. She, who was b. about 1675, d. 15 May 1741, at St. Germain en Laye.

II. 1721. I. GEORGE (GRANVILLE), BARON LANSDOWN, (1712) was cr., by the titular King James III, 6 Oct. 1721, as "George Granville Esq., " LORD OF LANSDOWN, Devon, VISCOUNT OF [—] co. [—], and EARL OF BATH, Somerset [E.] with rem. to his heirs male, and on 3 Nov. following, as "George Granvill, commonly called LORD LANSDOWN, EARL OF CORBEIL AND LORD THORIGNI AND GRANVILLE in France and Normandy," he was cr. BARON LANSDOWN OF BIDEFORD, Devon, VISCOUNT BEVEL, EARL OF BATHE, MARQUIS MONK AND FITZHEMON, and DUKE OF ALBEMARLE [E.], with a spec. rem. failing heirs male of his body, to his br. He was b. 1700; served in the Army; suc. his father 8 Dec. 1723, and his uncle 11 years later. He d. unm., at Calwich, co. Stafford, 2 July 1776, when the Dukedom, and other honours cr. 3 Nov. 1721, became extinct, but those conferred on 6 Oct. of that year devolved on his h. male.

<sup>(d)</sup> According to Anselme, ut supra, (1733), she "se remarria à — Mahoni, Colonel Irlandois. Ce mariage fut tenu caché, afin qu'elle pût conserver le titre duchesse d'Albemarle." No confirmation has been found of this story. If she did marry Mahony, it must have been as her 2nd husband. V.G.

by Reinira Anna Gertruyde, da. of Johan VAN LINTELLO TOT DE MARS. He was b. 1670, and attended the Prince of Orange, in 1688, to England as a page of honour, who, soon after his accession to the throne of England (as William III), made him (1691) Groom of the Bedchamber 1691-95, and Master of the Robes 1695-97. He also granted him an enormous amount of forfeited Irish lands, though Keppel was then but a handsome lad, under age, who had rendered no service whatever to his adopted country. (*) He attended the King in his several campaigns, and (having been in 1692 admitted into the Knighthood of Zutphen, and, subsequently, into that of Holland and West Friesland), was, on 10 Feb. 1696/7, cr. BARON ASHFORD, of Ashford, Kent; VISCOUNT BURY, co. Lancaster; and EARL OF ALBEMARLE. (b) Major Gen. 1697. Col. of 1st troop of (*) "Keppel had a sweet and obliging temper, winning manners and a quick, though not a profound, understanding. Courage, loyalty, and secrecy, were common between him and Portland." See Macaulay's History of England, where also it is mentioned that of nearly three-quarters of the 1,700,000 acres that had been forfeited in Ireland, "though a small part had been bestowed on men whose services to the state well deserved a much larger recompence" (e.g., the Earl of Athlone and the Earl of Galway), the rest had been given to "the King's personal friends. Romney had obtained a considerable share of the royal bounty. But of all the grants the largest was to Woodstock, the eldest s. of Portland; the next was to Albemarle. An admirer of William cannot relate without pain that he divided between these two foreigners an extent of country larger than Hertfordshire." The facts are as follows. To his discarded concubine, to six foreigners, and three others, the upright monarch allotted over 600,000 acres in Ireland, besides an immense acreage in England of which no precise estimate is available. It is not surprising that Parl. should have refused to sanction all these grants, which were without parallel since the reign of Ric. II. The list of the principal grants is as under:—

Of the above grants even more outrageous than that to his mistress, is the colossal donation to the young Dutchman, Keppel, with which the Royal Corydon rewarded the public (?) services of a handsome lad then barely of age, who was shortly after to be adorned with an English Earldom. No wonder that Portland was jealous, that mutinous Tories talked of Piers Gaveston, and that even Macaulay is driven to express the above pained disapprobation of his hero's conduct. V.G.

(b) The late Lord Braybrooke (1825-58) states [erroneously] that he was cr.

Horse Guards, 1698/9-1710. El. K.G., 14 May, inst. 5 June 1700. Having just returned from a special embassy to the Hague, he was present at the death of the King, 8 Mar. 1701/2, (who bequeathed to him 200,000 guilders), after which event he retired to Holland, and took his seat among the Nobles of the States General. He was appointed Gen. of their forces, and was in command at Ramillies in 1706, at Oudenarde, 1708, &c. On 16 Apr. 1705, he was cr. LL.D. by the University of Cambridge. He was defeated when fighting for the Imperialists at Denain, 13/24 July 1712, and taken prisoner by the French. He m., 15/26 June 1701, at the English church at the Hague, in Holland, Gertrude de Quirina, da. and h. of Adam VAN DER DUYN, Lord of St. Gravenmoer in Holland, and Master of the Buckhounds to William III. He d. <sup>(a)</sup> 19/30 May 1718, aged 48, at the Hague, and was bur. there. <sup>(b)</sup> Will. dat. 29 May 1718, pr. 13 July 1721. His widow d. Dec. 1741, also at the Hague. Admon. 5 June 1742 to her son, the 2nd Earl.

II. 1718. 2. WILLIAM ANNE (VAN KEPPEL), EARL OF ALBEMARLE, &c., only s. and h., b. at Whitehall, 5, and bap. 16 June 1702, at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, the Queen (Anne) being his God-mother. He was educated in Holland, and was a Gen. in the service of the United Provinces. Capt., with rank of Lieut. Col., in 1st Reg. of Foot Guards, 25 Aug. 1717. Lord of the Bedchamber to the Prince of Wales, Oct. 1722, which office he still held after the Prince's accession, till 1751. K.B., 18 May 1725, on the revival of that order, but resigned in 1749 for the Garter. Aide-de-camp to the King, 1724-34. Col. of 3rd troop of Horse Guards, 4 June 1733. Gov. of Virginia, 26 Sep. 1737-54. Brig. Gen. 2 July 1739; Maj. Gen. 20 Feb. 1741/2; Lieut. Gen., 26 Feb. 1744/5; Col. Coldstream Guards 1744-54. He was at the battles of Dettingen (1743), Fontenoy (1745), and Culloden (1746); after which he was, on 23 Aug. 1746, made Commander-in-Chief of the forces in Scotland. AMBASSADOR TO FRANCE, 1749-54. El. K.G., 22 June 1749; inst. by proxy, 12 July 1750. Groom of the Stole 1751-54. P.C. 12 July 1751. On 30 Mar. 1752, he was one of the Lords Justices during the King's absence in Germany.

"Earl of Albemarle in Normandy," adding, "the title having been doubtless selected as one so frequently enjoyed by persons of the highest consideration, and not in any way resting upon an hereditary claim." See N. & Q., 1st Ser., vol. ii, p. 466. Doubtless this was the idea, though why Keppel was entitled to the highest consideration, does not appear so clearly. The case was different (as regards merit) with Gen. Monck, and (as regards pre-eminence) with all the previous holders. The grantee is in the patent styled "Arnoldus Justus de Keppel," and in the docquet "Arnold Joost van Keppel."

I do not think the members of the House enjoyed it, but it could not be helped." Albemarle had no connexion by blood or estate with Scotland, so apparently the King's blunder was helped by making him G.C.H. instead. V.G.

TITULAR
EARLDOM [I.]

I. 1640?

I. "SIR EDMUND PLOWDEN, EARL OF ALBION," so styled in the margin of his will, dat. 29 July 1655, pr. 27 July 1659. In the body of the said will he describes himself as "Sir Edmund PLOWDEN of Wansted, co. Southampton, Knt., Lord, EARL PALATINE, Governor and Capt.-Gen. OF THE PROVINCE OF NEW ALBION in America, and a PEER OF

THE KINGDOM OF IRELAND." (a) In this will (which is signed "ALBION") he states that "I am seized of the Province and County Palatine of New Albion as of free Principality and held of the Crown of Ireland of which I am a Peer, (a) which Honour, and Title and Province, as ARUNDELL and many other Earldoms and Baronies, is assignable and saleable with the Province and County Palatine as a local Earldom." (b) He was 2nd s. of Francis PLOWDEN, of Plowden in Lidbury, Salop, by Mary, da. of Thomas, and sister of Sir Richard FERMOR, of Somerton, Oxon. He was knighted in Ireland by the Lords Justices, 25 Dec. 1630. He m. Mary, da. and h. of Peter MARRINER, of Wansted afsd., by Dorothy, his wife. He d. July 1659. His wife survived him. Their 2nd s., THOMAS PLOWDEN, suc. under his father's will to "the Province and Earldom of Albion," and he, by will, dat. 16 May, and pr. 10 Sep. 1698, left it to his 3rd s., FRANCIS PLOWDEN, who went out there to prosecute his right, and d. in Maryland. His descendants registered their pedigree in 1774 at the College of Arms, London, but the style or title of EARL OF ALBION seems never to have been assumed after 1659.

BARONY. I. FREDERICK BEAUCHAMP PAGET SEYMOUR, G.C.B., 2nd, I. 1882 but 1st surv. s. and h. of Col. Sir Horace Beauchamp SEYMOUR, K.C.H. (who was s. of Admiral Lord Hugh SEYMOUR, 5th s. of Francis, 1st MARQUESS OF HERTFORD), by his 1st wife, Elizabeth Malet, da. of Sir Lawrence PALK, 2nd Bart., 1895. was b. 12 Apr. 1821, in Bruton Str., Midx.; ed. at Eton; entered the Royal Navy, Jan. 1834; served in the Burmese War, 1852-53; in the White Sea, 1854; in the Black Sea, 1855-56; in New Zealand, where he was severely wounded, 1860-61; Rear Admiral 1870; commanded a detached squadron, 1870-72; Junior Lord of the Admiralty, 1872-74, and 1883-85; commanded the Channel Squadron, 1874-77; Vice Admiral 1876; Admiral 1880, and Commander-in-Chief of the Mediterranean Squadron,

(a) There appears to be no authority for the existence of any Irish Peerage either of the name of "ALBION" or of "PLOWDEN" but he may have considered that he was a peer of Ireland, as holding a palatine earldom "of the crown of Ireland." V.G.

(b) On 30 Oct. 1654, as "Sir Edmund Plowden, Earl of Albion," he presented Ezekiel Lawrence to the benefice of Luffam, (? Lasham) Hants. (Loose sheets at Lambeth Library.)

1880-83; in command at the destruction of the forts of Alexandria, 1882; C.B., 16 July 1861; K.C.B., 2 June 1877; G.C.B., 24 May 1881; had Royal lic., on 16 Nov. 1882, to accept the First class of the Order of Osmanieh; and, finally, on 24 Nov. 1882, was, as a reward for his distinguished services, cr. BARON ALCESTER<sup>(a)</sup> of Alcester, co. Warwick. He was introduced into the House on 12 Apr. 1883 by Lord Harlech and by (his companion in the Egyptian campaign) Lord Wolseley. Shortly afterwards he received the freedom of the City of London, and the sum of £25,000 by vote of Parl. in lieu of the usual annual grant. D.C.L. Oxford 1885. <sup>(d)</sup> This creation has been compared with the enrolment in Chancery [I.]. The choice of the name of Amiens for a Peerage title is accounted for by referring to a fulsome account of the ancestry of the family of Stratford (which, in Lodge begins only in 1660) given in Owen, Davis, and Debrett's Peerage, 1790, vol. iii, p. 156. Here it is stated that the ancestor of the Stratford race, one "Gualtera [sic] de Lupella, vulgarly called Lovel or Tonci," came "from Amiens the capital of Picardy in France, to England with William the Conqueror, &c." It may interest the reader to know (on the same unquestionable authority) that "the arms of the noble peer [Earl of Aldborough] are the same as those of Alexander the Great, &c., &c."

Having failed to establish the validity of her marriage, she was known henceforward as "Mrs. Gerard," and lived with her numerous family at Florence. She d. about 1876. The case of Mary Countess of Aldborough was published. In this the will of the 5th Earl (as above) is quoted, wherein he alleges that he "never was married to a Miss Tandy," and that his issue by her are "natural children," and that he has "no legitimate child but those of Mary Arundell, Countess of Aldborough," to whom and to whose children he leaves everything. A document sealed up with the will in an envelope (opened 19 Feb. 1850), states that, "before I ever saw Miss Tandy I was married to Miss Maria Teresa Devenport, who was then alive." A distinct family of Aldeburgh, who bore entirely different arms, viz., Az. a fesse Arg. between 3 cross crosslets Or (Ped. in Foster's Yorkshire Visitations, p. 279), took their name from Aldborough, near Boroughbridge, Claro wapentake, in the church of which place there is a well known brass to the memory of one of them. The two families are nearly always confused with each other. V.G.

Most genealogists assume that Elizabeth was sister of Robert, though Ralph Brooke (Discoverie of certaine Errours in the Britannia, 1596, p. 66) denies this, and says that she was sister of John, Robert's father. But there is no known authority for either relationship. The arms of l'Isle, and those of Aldeburgh (as above), occur among those seen by Glover at Harewood. (Foster, ut supra, pp. 466-8). V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> The Lord of the manor of Great Wymondley is entitled to the office of CHIEF CUPBEARER at the Coronation, it having been granted (at least so it is said) on this tenure, by Will. I to Guy, filius Teconis, whose da. and h. brought it in marriage, temp. Stephen, to John de Argentine. However this may be, it is certain that Richard d'Argentine held Great Wymondley, temp. John, by the serjeantry of serving with a silver cup at the King's Coronation (Red Book of the Exchequer, p. 507). Richard d'Argentine, and Giles, his s. and h., subsequently held the same by a like service (Ch. Inq. p. m., 31 Hen. III, file 5, no. 12, and 11 Edw. I, file 33, no. 16). Wymondley passed by an heiress, temp. Hen. VI, to the family of Alington. The service was performed by William, the 3rd Lord [I.] at the coronation of Charles II, and by Hildebrand A. (afterwards the 5th Lord), on behalf of his nephew Giles, the 4th Lord [I.], at the coronation of James II. The manor (and office) continued (save for a space of some 20 years or so after 1691) in the family of Alington till the death of the last Lord in 1722/3, when it passed to his 3 nieces and coheirs, the sisters of his nephew, the preceding Lord. Sir Richard Grosvenor, Bart., husband of Diana, da. and h. of Sir George Warburton, Bart., by Diana, one of his 1st wife, (<sup>a</sup>) Dorothy, da. of Thomas (CECIL), 1st EARL OF EXETER, was bur. 14 Mar. 1610/1, at Horseheath, and suc. his father, who was bur. there 23 Dec. 1638. these 3 coheirs, (in right of  $\frac{1}{3}$  of the manor inherited by his wife and of the other  $\frac{2}{3}$  acquired by purchase), performed the office at the coronation of Geo. II, and it was again performed by his nephew Richard, 1st Lord Grosvenor, at the coronation of Geo. III. In 1767, however, his Lordship sold the estate, when this honourable office, which had been some 350 years in his family, passed into the hands of strangers. See Clutterbuck's History of Hertfordshire, vol. ii, pp. 537-544.

(<sup>a</sup>) His 2nd wife, (another) Dorothy, da. of Michael Dalton (whom he m. 2 Dec. 1630, at West Wrattling, co. Cambridge, he aged 58, she 24), was his niece, i.e. the da. of his half-sister, Mary (2nd wife of the said Michael), which Mary was da. of his (Sir Giles') mother, Margaret, by her 2nd husband, Edward Elrington. Several pedigrees mistake this Sir Giles A. for his 2nd son, Giles A., who d. in Feb. 1613/4 at the age of twelve. "Sir Giles Alington was censured and fined in the Star Chamber £32,000, [rectius, Eccl. Ct. High Com. £12,000.] only for marrying the da. of his sister by the half blood. He paid the fine to Sir Thomas Hutton, a young courtier." (Ch. Caesar's Commonplace Book, cited in Clutterbuck, vol. ii, p. 540). He did penance in 1631. On 7 Jan. 1633/4 the offenders had "pardon for incest, provided they shall not hereafter cohabit." (Privy Seal, 48th Rep. Dep. Keeper, p. 491.) [ex inform. J. H. "The Lords of the committee of Privileges being this day met, upon reading a Draught of a Petition to be presented unto His Majesty for making such noblemen as are resident in England liable to all publick charges and payments taxed by Parliament in this Kingdom, from whence the Titles of their Honours are derived, it is thought fit and so ordered, that His Majesty's Attorney General, with the advice of some of the Judges, shall reduce the contents of the said Petition, ready to be presented to the House tomorrow morning, to an Act, with limitation that every Earl deriving his Honour from this Kingdom, shall within two years next after this present Parliament, purchase in this Kingdom three Hundred Pounds pr. annum at least, and every Viscount Two hundred and fifty Pounds pr. annum at least, and every Baron Two hundred Pounds pr. annum at least, with a clause therein contained that upon their Defaults of purchasing as aforesaid their Honours derived from this Kingdom to be void and annihilated to all intents and purposes whatsoever." Of course nothing further was heard of this attempt to curtail the Royal Prerogative. [ex inform. G. D. Burtchaell]. V.G.

I. 1698.

1. "Signor VIRGILIO DAVIA, Senator of Bologna," was cr. by James II (when in exile at St. Germain) EARL OF ALMOND, VISCOUNT OF MON-EYDIE and BARON DAVIA "in our ancient Kingdom of Scotland." Drafts of the warrant and letters patent (in Latin and English), dat. 9 and 12 Apr. 1698, are still in existence. The preamble states that the honour was conferred on account of his own services to the Queen, but chiefly on account of the "extraordinary merits" of his wife "Donna Victoria DAVIA-MONTECUCULI, and her having attended on the person of our said dearest Consort even from her infancy with great zeal and fidelity, and particularly her having waited on our said dearest Consort in her hazardous passage out of England into France at the beginning of the late Revolution, and shared in all the many and great dangers and difficulties of her evasion, and that, as the misfortunes of our Royal Family increased, she has redoubled her endeavours to be still more and more usefull in performing all the duties of a faithfull servant," &c. (°) See Luttrell, Diary.

(°) By the trial in the Irish Exchequer, mentioned below, the truth of the following statements, which appear more fully in a publication entitled The adventures of an unfortunate young Nobleman, seems to be established. It is stated, however, (per contra) in the petition of George, 2nd Earl of Mountnorris, 7th Baron Altham, &c. [I.], for the Earldom of Anglesey (30 June 1819), that by a subsequent chancery suit this "unfortunate young nobleman," James Annesley, was found to be a bastard s. of a maidservant named Landy (i.e. the Joan L. of the text). According to his own account, however, his descent was as follows:

V. 1727.                    5. JAMES ANNESLEY (de jure BARON ALTHAM [I.], and in 1737 de jure EARL OF ANGLESEY, &c. [E.]), only s. and h. of the 4th near Dublin, 16, and was bur. 18 Nov. 1727, at Ch. Ch., Dublin.<sup>(a)</sup> His widow d. 26 Oct. 1729, of paralysis,<sup>(b)</sup> and was bur. at St. Andrew's, Holborn, London. Admon. 18 May 1743, to her s., "James Annesley, Esq."

V. 1727.

5. RICHARD (ANNESLEY), BARON ALTHAM [I.], br. and h., supposing the last Peer to have d. s.p. legit. He was b. 1694. His right of succession to the Peerage was acknowledged by the House [I.], inasmuch as he took his seat (as Baron Altham) 28 Nov. 1727. On 1 Apr. 1737, he (by virtue of the same descent) suc. his cousin Arthur as VISCOUNT VALENTIA, &c. [I.] (under which title he took his seat [I.] 4 Oct. 1737), and as EARL OF ANGLESEY, &c. [E.]. He d. 14 Feb. 1761, s.p. legit. according to the decision of the English House of Parl., (22 Apr. 1771) whereby the EARLDOM OF ANGLESEY and his other English honours became (under the English decision) extinct, but the Irish dignities devolved on his s., who, according to the decision of the Irish House of Parl., 1765 (confirmed 1772), was b. in wedlock.

For fuller particulars see "ANGLESEY" Earldom of, cr. 1661, under the 6th Earl.

Lord Altham [I.], by Mary, his wife (formerly Mary Sheffield, spinster), abovenamed, b. at Dunmain, co. Wexford, 1715, being an obstruction to the grant of some leases, which his father's extravagance rendered necessary, was removed to an obscure school, whence his death was announced. On his father's death, his uncle Richard (who had assumed the title of Lord Altham [I.] as stated in the text), sold him, as a slave, to an American planter. (Smollett devotes a chapter of Perigrine Pickle to the story, and Sir Walter Scott has evidently made use of his adventures in the construction of Guy Mannering.) He escaped, however, to Jamaica, and thence, in Sep. 1740, to England, Admiral Vernon taking him under his care. He began an action of ejectment against his uncle, then (as stated in the text) Earl of Anglesey, which came on for trial 11 Nov. 1743. The defence attempted was that, though s. of the 4th Lord, he was not by his wife, but by one Joan Landy, spinster. This, however, was confuted, and the jury on the 15th day of the trial returned a verdict for the Plaintiff, who recovered the estates accordingly. (See Howell's State Trials, vol. xvii; Gent. Mag., xiv, pt. i, p. 503, pt. ii, pp. 405 and 605. See also an account of the trial in O'Flanagan's Chancellors of Ireland, under 'Bowes.') Singularly enough, he appears never to have assumed the family honours either in England, or even in Ireland, where his legitimacy had thus been established. He m., 1stly, —, da. of — CHESTER, of Staines Bridge, Midx., who d. 22 Dec. 1749. He m., 2ndly, 14 Sep. 1751, at Bidborough, Kent, Margaret, da. of Thomas FANSON, of Bounds, near Tunbridge. II. 1592. 2. GEORGE (KEITH), EARL MARISCHAL, LORD KEITH, and LORD ALTRIE [S.], nephew and h. male; h. to this title according to the terms of the charter. He was s. and h. of William KEITH, styled LORD KEITH (1st br. of Lord Altrie [S.] abovenamed), who was s. and h. ap. of William, 4th EARL MARISCHAL [S.] also abovenamed. In the Earldom of MARISCHAL the Barony of Altrie [S.] continued merged, and with it was attainted in 1716. See "MARISCHAL," Earldom of [S.].

ALVANLEY

BARONY.

I. 1801. 1. RICHARD PEPPER ARDEN, <sup>(b)</sup> was 2nd s. of John ARDEN (or ARDERN), of Harden (or Hawarden) in Bredbury township, in the parish of Stockport, co. Chester, by Mary, sister and h. of Preston PEPPER, of Pepper Hall in South Cawton, co. York, and da. of Cuthbert P., of the same. He was b. at Bredbury, 20 May, and bap. at Stockport, 20 June 1744; ed. at the Grammar School at Manchester, 1752-63, and, in Oct. 1763, admitted a Fellow Commoner of Trin. Coll., Cambridge; B.A. and 7th Wrangler, 1766; M.A. and Fellow, 1769; Barrister (Middle Temple), 1769; King's Counsel, 1780; Solicitor Gen., 1782-83, and again 1783-84; Attorney Gen. and Chief Justice of Chester, 1784-88. He was M.P. for Newtown, Isle of Wight, 1783-84; for Aldborough, co. York, 1784-90; for Hastings, 1790-94, and for Bath, 1794-1801. On 4 June 1788, he was made Master of the Rolls, and Knighted on the 18th. In May 1801, he was made Lord Chief Justice of the Common Pleas, and was, on 22 May 1801, cr. BARON ALVANLEY, <sup>(c)</sup> of Alvanley, <sup>(d)</sup> co. Chester.

<sup>(a)</sup> The Editor has unfortunately not preserved his authority for this statement, which probably is to be found in Hist. MSS. Com. The Scots Peerage states that he was living 13 July 1594, and gives no authority, but this (ex inform. Sir J.B. Paul) must be that in a charter in the Reg. of the Great Seal, 15 July 1594, (by which the King grants to Robert Keith, Lord A.'s nephew, lands which that Lord had resigned) he is not designated as quondam. V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> This is one of the 12 families (Arden, Ashburnham, Bruce, Cecil, Compton Drummond, Dunbar, Dundas, Harley, Hume, Nevill, and Perceval) treated of in that magnificently illustrated, but carelessly compiled work, Drummond's Histories of Noble British Families, 2 vols. large folio, 1846.

<sup>(c)</sup> Lord Alvanley bore arms of Gules with three crosslets fitchy and a chief gold. These arms are a differenced version of a coat of Arden or Arderne in whose earliest form the crosslets were six in number. (ex inform. Oswald Barron.) V. G.

<sup>(d)</sup> Alvanley was a manor, in the parish of Frodsham, Cheshire, which had been in the possession of the family since the time of Hen. III. See Foss's Judges of England.

P.C. 1788. He m., 9 Sep. 1784, at Hornsey, Midx., Anne Dorothea, sister of Edward, 1st LORD SKELMERSDALE, da. of Richard WILBRAHAM (afterwards WILBRAHAM-BOOTLE), by Mary, da. and h. of Robert BOOTLE, of Lathom House, co. Lancaster. He d. at Frogna, Hampstead, or according to the Annual Reg. in Great George Str., Westm., 19, and was bur. 26 Mar. 1804, aged 59, in the Rolls Chapel, London. <sup>(a)</sup> Will pr. Apr. 1804. His widow d. 17 Jan. 1825, at the British Hotel, Edinburgh.

II. 1804. 2. WILLIAM (ARDEN), BARON ALVANLEY, 2nd, but 1st surv. s. and h., b. 8 Jan. and hap. 20 Feb. 1789, at the Rolls House, Chancery Lane, in St. Dunstan's-in-the-West, London. Sometime an officer in the Coldstream Guards, and afterwards Capt. 50th Reg. of Foot. He was well known as a wit and a spendthrift. <sup>(b)</sup> In May 1835 he fought a duel with Morgan John O'Connell, whose father (the well known "agitator") he asserted to have been "purchased" by Lord Melbourne on his accession to office, and who had called him "a bloated buffoon." He d. unm., 16 Nov. 1849. Admon. Dec. 1849.

III. 1849 3. RICHARD PEPPER (ARDEN), BARON ALVANLEY, br. to and h., b. 8 Dec. 1792, and hap. 1 Feb. 1793, at the Rolls House afsd. Lieut. Col. in the army. He m., 25 Apr. 1831, at St. James's, Westm., Arabella, 5th and yst. da. of William Harry (VANE), 1st DUKE OF CLEVELAND, by his 1st wife, Catherine, da. and coh. of Harry (PAULETT), 6th and last DUKE OF BOLTON. He d. s.p., 24 June 1857, in Bruton Str., when the title became extinct. Will pr. Aug. 1857. His widow, who was b. 2 June 1801, d. 26 Nov. 1864, at Thorpe Perrow, co. York.

ALVERSTONE

BARONY. 1. RICHARD EVERARD WEBSTER, of Winterfold, Surrey, I. 1900. 2nd s. of Thomas W., Q.C., of Beachfield, Sandown, Isle of Wight (d. 3 June 1875), by his 1st wife, Elizabeth

<sup>(a)</sup> He is stated, in The Rolliad, to have once blundered into a joke, which was "that some resolutions passed between 6 and 7 a.m. were entitled no respect as the House was then at sixes and sevens." "He was not a man of great oratorical powers, but possessed the qualities of intelligence, readiness and wit.... It would be vain to claim any great distinction for Lord Alvanley. He was a learned lawyer and a successful politician... the few productions that remain from his pen evince refinement, taste, and facility of expression." (Dict. of Nat. Biog.) V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> Charles Greville in his Memoirs, 23 Jan. 1850, writes of him:—"His constant spirits and good humour, together with his marvellous wit and drollery, made him the delight and ornament of Society. He was naturally of a kind and affectionate disposition, good natured, obliging, and inclined to be generous; but he was to the last degree reckless and profligate about money; he cared not what debts he incurred . . . For the last four years of his life he was afflicted with painful diseases, and his sufferings were incessant, and intense. He bore them all with fortitude, and a cheerfulness which excited universal sympathy and admiration." Dighton's clever caricature of him is still (1909) in White's Club, St. James's Str. V.G.

Anne (d. 3 Dec. 1847), da. of Richard CALTHROP, of Swineshead Abbey, co. Lincoln; was b. at 4 Chester Pl., 22 Dec. 1842, and was bap. 3 May 1843, at St. Peter's, Eaton Sq.; ed. at King's Coll. School, at the Charterhouse, and at Trin. Coll. Cambridge. M.A. 1869, Hon. LL.D. 1892, Hon. LL.D. Edinburgh and Aberdeen; D.C.L. Oxford; F.R.S. Called to the Bar 1868; Q.C. 1878; Attorney Gen. 1885-86, 1886-92, and 1895-1900; Master of the Rolls May 1900; Lord Chief Justice of England Oct. 1900. M.P. (Conserv. interest) for Launceston 1885, and for the Isle of Wight 1885-1900. Knighted 9 July 1885; G.C.M.G., 7 Dec. 1893; cr. a Baronet 29 Jan. 1900, and P.C. in the same year. On 18 June 1900, being then Master of the Rolls, he was cr. BARON ALVERSTONE<sup>(a)</sup> of Alverstone, co. Southampton. He m., 20 Aug. 1872, at Withern, co. Lincoln, Louisa Mary, only da. of William Charles CALTHROP, M.D., of Withern afsd., by Louisa Jane, da. of the Rev. Christopher CARR, rector of Fletton, near Peterborough. She, who was b. at Withern, d. 22 Mar. 1877, at Hornton Lodge, Kensington, and bur. at Norwood.<sup>(b)</sup>

OF BENGAL, 1822-28. In 1835 he was nom. by Peel, when leaving office, GOVERNOR OF CANADA, but this was cancelled by the incoming Ministry. On 24 Feb. 1824, he was compelled by the pretensions of the King of Burmah to declare war; the result being the annexation (among other places) of Arracan, whence he afterwards took the title of his Earldom. G.C.H. (Civil) 1834.

(<sup>b</sup>) For remarks on this and similar titles chosen to commemorate foreign achievements, see vol. iii, Appendix E. V.G.

(<sup>c</sup>) He was an honourable and popular, if not a great man, who "proved himself worthy of high command by his quiet self control and skilful combinations." By the conquest of Canada he conferred a lasting service on his country, but his later official career calls for no encomium. V.G.

(<sup>d</sup>) According to the "Black Book," a pension of £3000 a year was granted in 1803 (sic) to Jeffrey (sic), Lord Amherst and his heirs for ever.

On 19 Dec. 1826 he was cr. VISCOUNT HOLMESDALE, in Kent, and EARL AMHERST OF ARRACAN in the East Indies.<sup>(a)</sup> He m., 1stly, at St. Geo., Han. exceptional favour of a spec. rem. to his 1st da. it is impossible to suggest. (For a list of, and remarks on, spec. remis. granted to commoners, see vol. iii, Appendix F). It is also much to be regretted that he was allowed to take the title of Amherst, then enjoyed by a noble family to whom it had been granted for really eminent services to the State. This action is the more unreasonable when it is remembered that the grantee was not an Amherst at all by male descent, and that if he did not fancy either of his other surnames, he could perfectly well have taken the simple title of "Hackney" where much of his property was situated. V.G. This was one of 8 Baronies conferred at the recommendation of Lord Salisbury, when leaving office, for a list of which see note sub. 1ST LORD LLANGATTOCK. No fewer than two of these, of which this was one, were granted with a special remainder.

<sup>(b)</sup> See note sub. WANDSWORTH, as to the "county of London." In a letter, however, 22 Apr. 1897 (marked  $\frac{1.5}{4.97}$  from the "London County Council, Estates and Valuation department," signed "Andrew Young, Valuer, pr. W.G." in reply to enquiries (made by G.E.C.), it is stated that "By the Local Government Act, 1888, and the Metropolis Management Act, 1885, Putney, which includes Roehampton, was incorporated and became part of London, ceasing from that time to form part of Surrey!" It is presumed therefore that this remark (mutatis mutandis) applies generally to all other places now situated in the county (or "administrative county" as, at first, it was certainly designated) of London.

<sup>(c)</sup> For the greater part of his life he had been a collector of rare books, MSS., Egyptian antiquities, and works of art, but owing to the rascality of his solicitor, who stole an immense quantity of his money, he was forced shortly before his death to sell his choicest treasures. V.G.

ANCASTER

DUKEDOM. I. ROBERT BERTIE, s. and h. ap. of Robert (BERTIE), 3rd EARL OF LINDSEY, by his 2nd wife, Elizabeth, da. of Philip (WHARTON), 4th LORD WHARTON, was b. 20 Oct. 1715.

1660. M.P. for Boston 1685-87 and 1689-90, also el. for Preston 1689; Chanc. of the Duchy of Lanc. 1689-97. On 27 Apr. 1690, he took his seat in the House of Lords, having been sum., v.p., on 19 Apr., in his father's Barony, as LORD WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY. On 8 May 1701, he suc. his father as HEREDITARY LORD GREAT CHAMBERLAIN,<sup>(a)</sup> and also as EARL OF LINDSEY, and took his seat, as such Earl, on 28 May. Lord Lieut. of co. Lincoln 4 Apr. 1701-23. P.C. 19 June 1701, 18 Mar. 1702, and again 25 Nov. 1708 and 1 Oct. 1714. On 21 Dec. 1706, he was cr. MARQUESS OF LINDSEY, with a spec. rem. as in the subsequent creation of the Dukedom of Ancaster. Having been one of the Lords Justices during the absence of George I in Hanover in 1715, he was, on 26 July 1715<sup>(b)</sup> cr. DUKE OF ANCASTER AND KESTEVEN,<sup>(c)</sup> with a spec. rem., failing the heirs male of his body, to the heirs male of the bodies of his father and mother abovenamed. He m., 1stly, 30 July 1678, at Westm. Abbey, Mary, da. and sole h. of Sir Richard WYNN, 4th Bart. of Gwydyr, by Sarah, da. of Sir Thomas MIDDLETON, 1st Bart. of Chirk. She d. 20 Sep. 1689. He m., 2ndly, 6 July 1705, Albinia, 1st da. of Major Gen. William FARRINGTON, of Chislehurst, Kent, by Theodosia, sister and coh. of Sir Edward BETENSON, Bart., and da. of Richard B., of Scadbury in Chislehurst afsd. He d. at his seat, Grimsthorpe, co. Lincoln, 26 July, and was bur. 16 Aug. 1723, aged 62, at Edenham, in that co. M.I.<sup>(d)</sup> Will dat. 23 May 1719, pr., with 3 cods., 1 Apr. 1724. His widow, who, in her issue, became (1758) h. to her father, m. James DOUGLAS. She d., aged 46, 29 July, and was bur. 1 Aug. 1745, in Chislehurst Church, Kent.

<sup>(b)</sup> By statute 1 Geo. I. it was enacted that, notwithstanding the statute of 31 Hen. VIII. (whereby the Great Chamberlain takes precedence of all Peers of his degree) this Dukedom should rank [only] according to the date of its patent. This unjust infringement of the existing law came, however, to an end (on the extinction of the peerage) in 1809 'when the precedence of the office of Great Chamberlain fell again under the operation of the statute of 31 Hen. VIII.' (Sir C.G. Young's Order of Precedence, p. 21).

<sup>(d)</sup> According to Macky, in his Characters, c. 1704, he was "handsome in his person; of a fair complexion, doth not trouble himself with affairs of state, but his brother [Peregrine Bertie] is Vice Chamberlain and a Privy Counsellor, a fine gentleman, has both wit and learning." The brother's merit seems hardly sufficient to have gained the Earl two steps in the Peerage. Bishop Burnet's character of the Earl with Swift's remarks thereon in italics, is as follows.—"A fine gentleman, hath both wit and learning. I never observed a grain of either."

[ROBERT BERTIE, styled LORD WILLOUGHBY, s. and h. ap. to his father when EARL OF LINDSEY, by his 1st wife; b. 6 Feb. 1683/4; d. v.p., unm., and under age, about 4 May 1704, at Wolfenbüttel, in the Duchy of Brunswick. Admon. 3 July 1704.]

II. 1723. 2. PEREGRINE (BERTIE), DUKE OF ANCASTER, &c., 2nd, but 1st surv. s. and h., by 1st wife, b. 29 Apr. 1686. Vice Chamberlain to Queen Anne, 14 Apr. 1702. Cr. D.C.L. at Oxford, 27 Aug. 1702. M.P. for co. Lincoln, 1708-15. P.C. 25 Nov. 1708, and 3 Jan. 1723/4-42. Was sum., v.p., 16 Mar. 1714/5, to the House of Lords, in his father's Barony, as LORD WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY. A Lord of the Bedchamber 1719-27; Lord Lieut. of co. Lincoln, 3 Feb. 1723/4. He officiated as LORD GREAT CHAMBERLAIN at the Coronation of George II. Lord Warden and Justice in Eyre North of Trent, 21 June 1734-42. He m., June 1711, Jane, 3rd da. and coh. of Sir John BROWNLOW, of Great Humby, co. Lincoln, 3rd Bart., by Alice, da. of Richard SHERARD, of Lobthorpe, in that co. She d. at Grimsthorpe, afsd., 26 Aug., and was bur. 18 Sep. 1736, at Edenham. He d. 1, and was bur. 13 Jan. 1741/2, at Edenham. M.I. Will pr. May and Nov. 1742.

III. 1742. 3. PEREGRINE (BERTIE), DUKE OF ANCASTER, &c., s. and h., b. 1714. P.C. and Lord Lieut. of co. Lincoln, 20 Feb. 1741/2-78. Being attached to the House of Hanover, he raised a regiment for the de facto King in 1745. Lord of the Bedchamber 1755-65. Major Gen., 19 Mar. 1755. Lieut. Gen., 3 Feb. 1759. General, 25 May 1772. At the coronation, 22 Sep. 1761, he officiated as LORD GREAT CHAMBERLAIN, and from 13 Dec. 1766 to 1778 was MASTER OF THE HORSE.<sup>(a)</sup> He m., 1stly, 22 May 1735, Elizabeth, (with £70,000) widow of Sir Charles Gunter NICOLL, K.B., da. and sole h. of William BLUNDELL, of Basingstoke, Hants. She d., s.p., 17 Dec. 1743. Admon. 4 Apr. 1745 to her husband. He m., 2ndly, 27 Nov. 1750, at Newmarket, co. Cambridge, Mary,<sup>(b)</sup> da. of Thomas PANTON, of Newmarket afsd., Master of the King's running horses, by Priscilla, his wife. He d. at Grimsthorpe, "of a bilious disorder," in his 65th year, 12, and was bur. 27 Aug. 1778, at Edenham. M.I. Will pr. Aug. 1778. His widow, who was Mistress of the Robes to Queen Charlotte, 1761-93, d. at Naples, 19 Oct. 1793. Will pr. Jan. 1794.

EARLDOM.

I. 1872. I. GILBERT HENRY (HEATHCOTE-DRUMMOND-WILLOUGHBY), LORD WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY [1313], BARON AVELAND [1856], and a Baronet [1732/3], only s. of Gilbert John (HEATHCOTE), 1st BARON AVELAND, by Clementina Elizabeth, suo jure BARONESS WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY, was b. 1 Oct. 1830, in Portman Sq., Marylebone; ed. at Harrow, and at Trinity Coll. Cambridge; M.P. for Boston 1852-56, and for Rutland 1856-67, when he suc. his father as BARON AVELAND and a Baronet. He was appointed, 24 Jan. 1871, Deputy to his mother and her sister (the Dowager Baroness Carrington) in the office of LORD GREAT CHAMBERLAIN,<sup>(a)</sup> which position he held till 22 Jan. 1901 (the end of the reign of the sovereign who conferred it), having himself meanwhile become a coh. of that High Office, by the death, 13 Nov. 1888, of his mother. On 4 May 1872, he took by royal lic. (as did also his mother) the name of HEATHCOTE-DRUMMOND-WILLOUGHBY in lieu of his patronymic HEATHCOTE. P.C. 1880. Being through his said mother (who was da. of Peter Robert (BURRELL), LORD WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY and BARON GWYDYR, and grand-daughter of Peter (BURRELL), BARON GWYDYR (so cr. 16 June 1796), by Priscilla Barbara Elizabeth, suo jure BARONESS WILLOUGHBY DE ERESBY, elder of the two daughters of Peregrine (BERTIE), 3rd DUKE OF ANCASTER) a descendant and a representative of the DUKES OF ANCASTER [a title extinct 8 Feb. 1809, as above], was himself cr. EARL OF ANCASTER, 22 Aug. 1892. Family Estates.—The Heathcote estates, belonging to Lord Aveland in 1883, consisted of 17,637 acres in co. Lincoln; 13,633 in Rutland, and 5 in cos. Derby and Huntingdon. Total, 31,275 acres, worth £46,894 a year. Those at that date belonging to the Baroness Willoughby de Eresby, which, since 1888, have become united with the above, were 24,696 acres in co. Lincoln (derived from the family of Willoughby); 30,391 in co. Carnarvon, and 296 in co. Denbigh (both derived from the family of Wynn<sup>(b)</sup> and estimated at £8,521 a year), besides 76,837 in co. Perth (derived from the family of Drummond, and estimated at £28,965 a year). Total, 132,230 acres, worth £74,006 year. The two totals together making 163,505 acres, worth £120,900 a year. Principal Seats.—Grimsthorpe Castle, near Bourn, co. Lincoln; Normanton Park, Rutland; Gwydyr,<sup>(b)</sup> near Llanwryst, co. See note sub BUCCLEUCH for a list of those who existed in 1883, at which date the lands then belonging to his mother, Baroness Willoughby de Eresby, but inherited by him in 1888, were considerably over that amount, viz., above 132,000, to which should be added above 31,000 inherited by him in 1867, from his father.

ANCRAM or ANCRUM

EARLDOM [S.] I. SIR ROBERT KERR (OF CARR) of Ancrum, co. Roxburgh, s. and h. of William K., of the same, by Margaret, widow of Sir David HOME, of Fishwick, da. of Archibald DUNDAS, of Fingask. He was b. 1578, suc. his father 20 Dec. 1590; was served h. of his grandfather Robert Kerr (who had d. in 1588) in 1607; had charters of lands at Whitchester, 1611; of the Lordship of Newbottle, 1631; of the Barony of Langnewton, 1632, &c. He was a Capt. of the King's Body Guard to James VI [S.], which office he resigned in 1613. He was possibly K.B. at the Coronation, 25 July 1603,<sup>(a)</sup> and was certainly, as a knight, M.P. for Aylesbury Jan. to Aug. 1625, and for Preston 1628-29.<sup>(b)</sup> Being much esteemed by Charles, Prince of Wales, he was made by him, when he became King (in 1625), a Gent. of the Bedchamber, and by patent<sup>(c)</sup> dat. 24 June 1633, was cr. EARL OF ANCRAME, LORD KERR OF NISBET, LANGNEWTOUN, AND DOLPHINSTOUN [S.], with a spec. rem. to his heirs male by his 2nd wife, Anne, which failing to his heirs male general. After the murder of the King he retired to Holland. He was a fervent loyalist, of high education, and an author of some note. He m., 1stly, in 1605, Elizabeth, da. of Sir John MURRAY, of Blackbarony. She d. before 1620. He m., 2ndly, in 1621 (after 6 Nov.),<sup>(d)</sup> Anne, widow of Sir Henry PORTMAN, 2nd Bart. (who d. s.p., 12 Feb. 1621), da. of William (STANLEY), 6th EARL OF DERBY, by Elizabeth, da. of Edward (VERE), 17th

Wynn, of Gwydyr, co. Carnarvon, he acquired that considerable estate, which afterwards gave its name to the Barony of Gwydyr, conferred in 1796 on the husband of his great-grand-daughter Priscilla, suo jure Baroness Willoughby de Eresby. These Wynn estates, however, were sold, in or about 1895, to Earl Carrington, whose mother was sister and, in 1870, coh. to Alberic, Lord Willoughby de Eresby, after which acquisition he, by Royal lic., 24 Apr. 1896, took the name of Wynn before that of Carrington.

<sup>(a)</sup> It is more probable that this K.B. was Robert Carr, then s. and h. ap. of (and in 1609 himself) the Earl of Lothian [S.]. See Howe's continuation of Stow's Chronicle, p. 827, in which 'Newboth' is an obvious misprint for 'Newbottle,' and Nichols' Progresses of James I, vol. i, p. 222, note 5. It is certain that the identification, Douglas' Peerage, vol. ii, p. 134 (in Shaw's Knights of England, and Metcalfe's Book of Knights) of the K.B. with the future Earl of Somerset, is erroneous. V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> About 1 Feb. 1620, he killed Charles Maxwell of Terregles, in a duel, which the latter had forced on him. For this he was tried at the Cambridge Assizes, found guilty of manslaughter, and banished for six months.

EARL OF OXFORD. He d. at Amsterdam, shortly after 9 Dec. 1654, in great poverty, aged 76. Admon. 2 July 1657, to his s. "Stanley Carr, Esq.," and (on his death) again 14 May 1672, to his s. Earl Charles. His widow, who was b. about 1600, d. at St. Paul's, Covent Garden, and was bur. 15 Feb. 1656/7, in Westm. Abbey. Admon. 9 June 1657 to her s. Earl Charles.

II. 1654. 2. CHARLES (KERR), EARL OF ANCRAM, &c. [S.], 2nd s., being only s. by 2nd wife. He (being then styled 'Lord Carr') was M.P. for St. Michael's, Mar. 1647 till secluded in Dec. 1648; and suc. to the peerage [S.] in Dec. 1654, according to the spec. rem. in the creation of that dignity. He was subsequently (July to Dec. 1660) M.P. for Thirsk, and for Wigan (in 5 parls.), 1661-81, and 1685-87. He m. shortly before 1 May 1662. (W. Harbord to Earl of Essex, 28 Mar. 1674.) The great Duke of Ormonde also had a mean opinion of him, and writes, in 1680/1 of him as "a man I have seen detected in public of misinformation and mean artifices, for sordid sums, and yet never blush at the matter." 6. RICHARD (ANNESLEY), EARL OF ANGLESEY and BARON ANNESLEY [E.], also VISCOUNT VALENTIA, BARON MOUNTNORRIS, and (5th) BARON ALTHAM [I.], cousin and h. male, <sup>(d)</sup> being yr. s. of Richard, 3rd BARON ALTHAM [I.], (by Dorothy, da. of John DAVEY), who was a yr. s. of Arthur (iii), 1ST EARL OF ANGLESEY, &c. [E.], and (iii) 2nd VISCOUNT VALENTIA, &c. [I.]. He was b. shortly after 1690, <sup>(e)</sup> became an Ensign in the army, but was struck off the half pay in 1715, about which time, being in needy circumstances, he appears to have sought his fortune by marriage (or marriages) as stated below. On 14 Nov. 1727 he suc. his elder br. as BARON ALTHAM [I.], and his right thereto was acknowledged by his taking his seat as such. In 1737 he suc. his cousin (as above) in the Earldom of Anglesey and other titles [E. & I.], and took his seat in England, as an Earl, 10 May 1737, and in Ireland, as a Viscount, 4 Oct. 1737. <sup>(f)</sup> He was also a Governor of co. Wexford before 1745, in which county he fixed his residence at Camolin Park. He m., 25 Jan. 1715, <sup>(g)</sup> when he is stated to have been 21, <sup>(h)</sup> at Northam, in North Devon, Ann, da. of Capt. John PRUST, of Monkleigh, near Bideford, in that co., by Mary, da. of Thomas LEY. She, who was b. 21 Sep. and hap. 11 Oct. 1694, at Monkleigh, is said to have brought him a considerable fortune, and to have lived with him at Westminster, and at Waterford and Ross, but to have separated from him in 1719, returning to North Devon, where she d. s.p., and was bur. (as Ann, Countess of Anglesey) 13 Aug. 1741, <sup>(i)</sup> at Monkleigh, Devon.

According to another account, <sup>(a)</sup> however, in the same year 1715, he m., 1stly privately, and afterwards publicly (with a Lic. from the Consistorial Court of Dublin) <sup>(b)</sup>, Anne, only da. of John SIMPSON, a wealthy clothier of Meath Str., Dublin, she being then about 15 years old. This Anne is mentioned in her father's will (who d. 1730) under the name of "Lady Altham," and was presented (after 1737) at the Vice Regal Court [I.], as "Countess of Anglesey." <sup>(c)</sup> This Lady, by whom he had three daughters, survived the Earl four years, so that, if her marriage be reckoned valid, <sup>(d)</sup> it would upset both the other ones. On 15 Sep. 1741 (about a month after the burial of Anne, Countess of Anglesey first named), he m., <sup>(e)</sup> privately at his own house, Camolin Park, afsd., Juliana, da. of Richard DONOVAN, sometime a merchant of Wexford, by (—), da. of Richard NIXON, of the same co. This marriage, both the witnesses being dead, was acknowledged to have taken place as above, and was again celebrated in the same place, 8 Oct. 1752. The Earl d. 14 Feb. 1761, at Camolin Park. Wexford, whose will was pr. 1795, and d. at Bath, Somerset, 20 Nov. 1776. Will pr. 1771.

<sup>(d)</sup> There is a remarkable document signed by this Lady, on 22 Dec. 1726, wherein she binds herself never to prosecute her husband for bigamy, which certainly looks as if both these parties considered the marriage with Ann Prust to have been legal. See claim to Earldom of Anglesey, in 1819.

<sup>(e)</sup> The certificate of this marriage was produced to the ENGLISH House of Lords on the trial for the English Peerage, but was discredited on the ground of forgery. The witness on whose testimony that decision was principally grounded was proved (afterwards) to have been perjured, and the decision itself (22 Apr. 1771), was but by a majority of one, thirteen Peers being present. In the following year, the validity of the marriage was again confirmed by the IRISH House (1 June 1772), and their decision appears (from the evidence produced) to have been in all probability the right one. Both the Earl and Countess testified to the marriage of 1741 on their death beds. As to the Earl (though we are told that he was "a man very regular in devotion, and using frequent prayers in his family, at which he constantly assisted with great appearance of fervour"), his devotion to the fair sex certainly equalled, if it did not surpass his spiritual devotion, for we hear of another illegit. s. of his (by yet another woman, named Salkeld), one Richard Annesley, who claimed the title in 1770. The London Evening Post, 4 Apr. 1722, states this Richard to be the legit. s. of Earl Richard "by Anne, 2nd da. of William Salkeld, of the city of London, Merchant." (The date of 1742 is attributed to this marriage in a ped. of Jackson—the name of Anne Salkeld's mother—in Morehouse's History of Kirkburton, co. York, p. 172. See N. & Q., 7th Series, vol. ii, p. 16.) The possibility of such a marriage is doubtful, as the Earl's 1st marriage (or marriages) was (or were) in 1715, soon after he was of age, and the subsequent marriage (the 1st of the two marriages with Juliana, who survived him) was within a month of the death of one of these wives, probably the 1st and lawful wife. See N. & Q., 2nd Series, vol. x, pp. 27 and 156, as also several notices in 2nd Series, vol. xi.

<sup>(f)</sup> The statement in Vicars' Irish Wills, that his will was pr. 1759, is wrong. V.G.

Note.—On the death of the Earl (14 Feb. 1761), ARTHUR ANNESLEY, his s. by the said Juliana (b. 7 Aug. 1744), though opposed by the next h., was held in Ireland to have suc. to the IRISH HONOURS, and took his seat in the House [I.] as VISCOUNT VALENTIA, 5 Dec. 1765 and 7 Nov. 1771. <sup>(a)</sup> On his petitioning, however, for a writ of sum. to the Parl. of Great Britain as EARL OF ANGLESEY &c., the House of Lords for that kingdom (to whom it had been referred) decided, 22 Apr. 1771, that “the claimant had no right to the titles, honours and dignities claimed by his petition.” <sup>(b)</sup> According, therefore, to these decisions, the ENGLISH titles of EARL OF ANGLESEY and BARON ANNESLEY had become extinct on 14 Feb. 1761, the Irish titles continuing.

The said Arthur, Viscount Valentia [I.], was, on 3 Dec. 1793, cr. EARL OF MOUNTNORRIS [I.]. He d. 5 July 1816, and was suc. by his s. George, 2nd Earl of Mountnorris, &c. [I.]. The latter’s claim as a Peer of Ireland was, on 6 Mar. 1817, admitted (by the House of Lords of the United Kingdom) not only as an Earl, but as a Viscount, and the holder of two Baronies [I.], which last three peerages he could only possess in right of inheritance from his grandfather, Richard (viii) 6th Earl of Anglesey abovenamed. <sup>(a)</sup> On the ground of this admission of his father’s lawful birth, he petitioned, 30 Jan. 1819, for his writ as “EARL OF ANGLESEY,” &c., which petition was referred to the committee for privileges, but no further steps appear to have been taken in the matter. He d. s.p.m.s., 23 July 1844, when the issue male of the 1st Earl of Anglesey and Baron Annesley (to whom alone those honours were limited) became extinct, granting (as was held by the Irish House of Lords) that the s. of the 6th Earl (who suc. him in his Irish, but not in his English, honours) was b. in wedlock. The title of ANGLESEY, however, was (in accordance with the English decision of 1771, whereby it was held to have been extinct in 1761) made use of again, as a Peerage title, some thirty years before such extinction of issue had occurred.

In 1790 he raised a regiment (the 80th Foot or Staffordshire Volunteers) from his father's tenantry, of which he was subsequently Lieut. Col. In 1795 he was Lieut. Col. of the 16th Light Dragoons, and in 1797 of the 7th Light Dragoons; Col. thereof 1801-42; Col. of the Royal Horse Guards 1842-54; Major Gen. 1802; Lieut. Gen. 1808; General 1819. He distinguished himself (being then styled LORD PAGET) in the campaign of the Duke of York, and subsequently, when commanding the Calvary, at Corunna, under Sir John Moore. On 13 Mar. 1812 he suc. his father as EARL OF UXBRIDGE AND LORD PAGET DE BEAUDESERT. At Waterloo, 18 June 1815, he commanded the cavalry of the Anglo-Belgian army, and contributed greatly to the success of that memorable battle, in which he received a wound, which entailed the loss of his leg. (*) Three weeks after that action, on 4 July 1815, he was rewarded by being cr. MARQUESS OF ANGLESEY. G.C.B. 2 Jan. 1815. ## ANGUS

This was one of the seven original Earldoms [Mormaerships] of Scotland which, more or less, represented the seven provinces (each province consisting of two districts), of the Pictish Kingdom, afterwards called ALBAN, into which, prior to the 9th century, "transmarine Scotland" (i.e. the country north of the Firth of Forth and the Firth of Clyde) was by seven brothers divided. <sup>(b)</sup> These divisions were: (1) ANGUS (being the name of the eldest brother), now co. Forfar, with MEARNs, now co. Kincardine; (2) ATHOLE with GOWRY, now the north and east part of co. Perth; (3) STRATHERNE with MENTEITH, now the southern part of co. Perth; (4) FIFE

<sup>(a)</sup> He incurred debts, within 6 years, to the extent of £544,000, though his estates were worth £110,000 p. a. His wardrobe and personal jewels, sold when he became insolvent, disclosed a preposterous accumulation, the latter realising £88,000. He seems only to have existed for the purpose of giving a melancholy and unneeded illustration of the truth that a man with the finest prospects, may, by the wildest folly and extravagance, as Sir Thomas Browne says, "fouly miscarry in the advantage of humanity, play away an uniterable life, and have lived in vain." V.G.

with FOTHREVE now together forming co. Fife ; (5) MAR with BUCHAN, now together forming cos. Aberdeen and Banff ; (6) MORAY (Muref or Moreb) with ROSS, now cos. Inverness and Ross ; and (7) CAITHNESS with SUTHERLAND. The district on the west being the Kingdom of Dalriada (now part of Argyll), is here omitted ; but in the 10th century the province of ARREGAITHEL (Argyll) was added, which included not only the Dalriada, but the entire western seaboard of Scotland as far north as the old province of CAITHNESS, which latter province was then omitted, having previously passed into the hands of the Norwegians. The ruler of each of these districts originally bore the title of "Ri" (i.e. King), being inferior only to the "ARDRI" (i.e. Supreme King) ; but in the 10th century (with the exception of Argyll, and occasionally of Moray) each such ruler was styled "MORMAER," i.e. Great Maer or Steward.

During the reign of Alexander I, in the foundation charter of the monastery of Scone bearing date either 1114 or 1115, the MORMAERS of most of these provinces occur for the first time under the name of EARLS. This charter was granted "with the consent of nine persons, two of whom have the simple designation of Episcopus [being] followed by seven others, six of whom have the word Comes, or Earl, after their names, and the only one who is not so designated is Gospatrick, whom we know to have been at the time (or shortly afterwards) EARL OF DUNBAR, and who probably represented that part of Lothian attached to Alexander's Kingdom. The other six must of course have represented the districts of transmarine Scotland which properly formed Alexander's dominions. . . . The six persons who bear the title of Comes, are Beth, Mallus, Madach, Rothri, Gartnach, and Dufugan, and of these we can identify four," (a) viz. (Mallus) STRATHERNE ; (Madach) ATHOLE ; (Rothri) MAR ; and (Gartnach) BUCHAN. Doubtless another was (Dufugan) ANGUS. "Beth, Comes" is difficult of strict identification, not improbably he was Earl of FIFE, but possibly Earl of MORAY. (b) In this early part of the 12th century, out of the seven original provinces founded by the seven brothers, Caithness, was certainly, and Moray probably (though Fife possibly) wanting ; the two vacant places being supplied by Dunbar (from the Lowlands), and by Buchan, which had previously become separated from Mar.

"Thus the great Celtic Chiefs of the Country, to whom the Norwegians applied the Norwegian title of Jarl, which was a personal dignity though given in connection with a territory, now appear bearing the Saxon title of Comes or Earl, and the Celtic title of Mormaer, probably official in its origin, was now merged in a personal dignity." (c)

"From the time when the Celtic King Malcolm (1057-98) had m. the Saxon Princess Margaret, there had been an increasing Saxon influence in the government of the Celtic provinces," and of his three sons (by that Princess) who, from 1098 to 1153, were successively Kings [S.], "the reigns of Edgar and Alexander I must be viewed as essentially those of Saxon monarchs, modelling their Kingdom in accordance with Saxon institutions, while the object of David was to introduce the feudal system of Norman England into Scotland, and adapt her institutions to feudal forms."<sup>(a)</sup>

"David's object on his accession to the throne (1124) was to feudalise the whole Kingdom, by importing feudal forms and holdings into it, and to place the leading dignitaries of the Kingdom in the position of crown vassals, as well as to introduce a Norman Baronage. The relation of these old Celtic Earls, or Mormaers, towards the districts with which their names were connected was not a purely territorial one. It was more a relation towards the tribes who peopled it, than towards the land. David's desire, certainly, would be to place them, whenever opportunity offered, in the position of holding the land they were officially connected with, as an Earldom of the Crown in Chief, in the same manner as the Barons held their Baronies."<sup>(b)</sup>

"The process of feudalizing the Earldoms began under David I, and was carried on by his successors, Malcolm the Maiden, and William [1153-1214]. In the course of the twelfth century,<sup>(c)</sup> the seven Earls were gradually passing from the position of COMITES of the Sovereign to that of Feudal Lords, holding the lands, with which their position had been judicial, as an Earldom of the Crown; the creation of six additional Earls, namely MENTEITH, GARIOCH, LENNOX, ROSS, CARRICK and CAITHNESS, formed part of the feudalizing scheme; and though the Earls continued down to 1214 to be spoken of as seven in number, the Earldoms enumerated were not always the same. . . . Till feudalized, the Earldoms of Scotland were distinctly non-territorial, and the Earls oftener designated by their names than their titles. The ancient Earldoms, when converted into feudal holdings, were territorial exactly as far as the newer were, and no further. All the Scottish Earldoms had become feudalized before the end of the thirteenth century. . . . In the case of some of them . . . even at an early period, the lands became so sub-divided, that little remained of them but the chief message." (a)

<sup>(c)</sup> "After 1214," said Lord Mansfield in his speech in the Sutherland case, "I think it clear that territorial peerages [S.] must have gone, because lands then became saleable." This, however, is merely an obiter dictum (and not a very happy one) of his Lordship, and, in a legal point of view, these dicta, whether of Lord Mansfield, or of other Law Lords, "are acknowledged to have none of the force of a decision of the House of Lords sitting as a Court of Appeal; and [in this case] being founded on very imperfect knowledge of the facts about which they would generalize, they are still less value historically. . . . History tells us that Scottish Earldoms only began to be territorial half a century before the time when Lord Mansfield supposed that they ceased to be so. Documentary evidence further tells that of the multitudes of extant and recorded charters of Earldom, original and by progress, from the earliest date to 1578, only five can be named (Carrick, 1318; Wigton, 1341; Glencairn, 1488; Moray, 1501; and Mar, 1562), in which the dignity of EARL is directly mentioned, and in four out of these five there is an obvious reason for its specification. In 1578 the practice began to vary, and from that date to 1600, half the charters of Earldom (they were ten in all) did, and half did not, specify the dignity, yet in each and every case the grantee was recognised as Earl, and the line of heirs specified in their charters, original or by progress, enjoyed the dignity, as well as the lands." See p. 226, &c., of a very exhaustive treatise on the "Jurisdiction in Scottish Peerages," in the Journal of Jurisprudence, &c., vol. xxvii, pp. 225-244; May 1883.

In the early part of the reign (1153-1165) of Malcolm IV, the seven Earls of Scotland consisted of ANGUS, ATHOLE, FIFE, MAR, STRATHERNE and BUCHAN, together with DUNBAR from the Lothians. Of the two last named, Buchan, before 1114, had become separated from Mar, and had apparently taken the place of Caithness; while Dunbar appears to have taken the place of Moray, which was the first of the Celtic Earldoms to break up (by the defeat and death of Angus, bearing the title of EARL OF MORAY), in the beginning of the previous reign [1124-53] of David I.

Malcolm IV (1153-65) added two new Earldoms, viz., ROSS and MENTEITH; and continued the policy, inaugurated by David I, "for transforming the old Celtic Kingdom of the Scots into a feudal monarchy." (b) His successor, William the Lion (1165-1214), added four new Earldoms, viz., GARIOCH, LENNOX, CARRICK, and CAITHNESS.

During the reign of Alexander II (1214-49) "We find the seven Earls of Scotland frequently making their appearance, apparently as a constitutional body, whose privileges were recognised. They first appear at the King's Coronation, and then consisted of the Earls of FIFE, STRATHERNE, ATHOLE, ANGUS, MENTEITH, BUCHAN and LOTHIAN [i.e. Dunbar]. With the exception of Menteith, which was a more recent Earldom, these are the same Earldoms whose Earls gave their consent to the foundation charter of Scone, but Menteith now comes in the place of Mar, perhaps owing to the controversy as to the rightful possessor of the latter Earldom, and Buchan was now held by a Norman Baron." (b) The seven Earls again appear in 1237, in the agreement of that date with England. They were, at that time, DUNBAR, STRATHERNE, ANGUS, ATHOLE, (with) LENNOX, MAR and ROSS, these last three being in place of FIFE, MENTEITH and BUCHAN. Again the seven Earls appear, when the agreement was renewed in 1244, and, this time, Fife, Menteith and Buchan re-appear among them, while Angus (which had in 1243 passed to a Norman race), Lennox and Ross were omitted. Thus we see that, "though the number of seven was always retained, the constituent members were not always the same." (b) It would almost seem from the addition and subtraction of Lennox and Ross, in 1237 and 1244 respectively, that junior Earldoms were added to make up the number to seven, when, from any cause, the senior Earldoms were not available.

In 1251, the 2nd year of Alexander III, a solemn ceremony took place in the presence of the seven Earls, but 30 years later they "were gradually losing their separate corporate existence, and were no longer able to maintain in this reign the functions they exercised in previous reigns, for when the succession to the throne was settled upon the da. of Alexander in 1284, we find them merged in the general Communitas, in which the entire body of the Earls, now amounting to thirteen, appear." (a) In 1297, however, the seven Earls, being, at that time, BUCHAN, MENTEITH, STRATHERNE, LENNOX, ROSS, ATHOLE, and MAR, (in company with John Comyn of Badenoch), made a disastrous invasion of England; but "after this, we hear no more of the SEVEN EARLS of Scotland." (a)

EARLDOM [S.] I. 1115? 1. "Dufugan, Comes," who appears among the seven Earls in the charter of 1114 or 1115, (see remarks above) in all probability was Mormaer of Angus, though in this charter (possibly for the first time) styled "Comes," i.e. EARL OF ANGUS [S.]. He was probably a descendant of Dubucan, Mormaer of Angus in the 10th century. (b)

II. 1135? 2. GILLBRIDE, (c) EARL OF ANGUS [S.], was at the battle of the Standard, 22 Aug. 1138, when the Scots were totally defeated at Northallerton, co. York, and was (long afterwards) one of the hostages for King William the Lion [S.] in 1174. He seems to have m., 1stly, a da. of Gospatrick, EARL OF DUNBAR [S.]. He m., subsequently, the h. of the EARLS OF CAITHNESS [S.], who was mother, by him, of Magnus, EARL OF CAITHNESS [S.] in 1232. (d) He d. about 1187.

III. 1187? 3. ADAM (e) EARL OF ANGUS, s. and h., witnessed a charter, v.p., in 1164, as "SON OF EARL GILLBRIDE." He is named in a charter, about 1187, as EARL OF ANGUS. He d. before 1198.

(a) Skene's Celtic Scotland.

(b) It is stated on the contemporary evidence of the "Pictish Chronicle" (a work of the 10th century) that Dubucan, s. of Indrechtaig, was Mormaer of Angus, and d. about 935, being suc. by his s. Maelbrigdi. After him (according to the later chronicles), one Conchar was Mormaer of Angus. He was father of Fynebole, Lady of Fettercairn, by whom King Kenneth McMalcom was treacherously slain, in 995, in revenge for the slaughter of her only son at Dunsinane. See Chronicles of the Picts and Scots, edited by W.F. Skene, pp. 9, 175, 289. The resemblance of the name of Dufugan to that of Dubucan "leads to the supposition that he may have filled that [i.e. the same] position, &c." See Skene's Celtic Scotland, vol. iii, p. 60.

(c) "During the whole reign of David I (1124-53) these Earls [i.e. the seven Earls of the seven Provinces of transmarine Scotland], appear simply with the designation of Comes, without any territorial addition, with two exceptions which occur towards the end of his reign. In the last year of David's reign, the Earl who suc. Gillemichel appears as Dunchad, Comes de Fif, and, along with him, for the first time appears Gillebride, Comes de Angus." (Skene's Celtic Scotland, vol. iii, p. 63.) Thus the two Earldoms of Fife and of Angus appear to have been already territorialised.

- V. 1210? 5. DUNCAN, EARL OF ANGUS [S.], s. and h. He d. between 1207 and 1214.
- VI. 1214? 6. MALCOLM, EARL OF ANGUS [S.], s. and h., witnessed a charter as Earl of Angus (simply) 22 Apr. 1231, and is called Earl of Angus and Caithness in 1232, <sup>(b)</sup> most probably from having the last named Earldom in ward. He m. Mary, da. and h. of Sir Humphrey BERKELEY. He was living 1237, when he took part in the Convention of York, <sup>(c)</sup> but d. before 1242.
- VII. 1240? 7. MAUD, suo jure COUNTESS OF ANGUS [S.], da. and h., ~~X~~ m. John COMYN, who, in her right, became EARL OF ANGUS [S.], and d. s.p., in France, 1242. She m., 2ndly, in 1243, Gilbert DE UMFREVILLE, <sup>(d)</sup> Lord of Prudhoe and Redesdale in Northumberland, who may, in her right, have become EARL OF ANGUS [S.]. <sup>(e)</sup> He was s. and h. of Richard de Umfreville, of the same, and did homage for his father's lands 8 Jan. 1226/7. <sup>(f)</sup> He d. shortly before 13 Mar. 1244/5, <sup>(g)</sup> and was bur. in Hexham Priory. <sup>(c)</sup> "The family of Ogilvie, who retained possession of a considerable portion of the Earldom [of Angus], appear to have been the male descendants of these old Celtic Earls, and they likewise gave a line to CAITHNESS, who possessed with the title of Earl one half of the lands of the Earldom [of Caithness]. Of the land of the Earldom of Angus, the district of Glenisla was alone included within the Highland line, and preserved its Gaelic population." Skene's Celtic Scotland, vol. iii, p. 290.

Qy. EARLDOM [E.]

I. 1299. [1283?]

8. GILBERT (DE UMFREVILLE), EARL OF ANGUS [S.], s. and h., b. about 1244. (*) In 1265 he joined the rising of the Barons against the King. He is styled EARL OF ANGUS in June 1267. (b) In 1281 he was one of the Nobles who swore to ratify the marriage of Margaret of Scotland with Eric, King of Norway. In 1291, being then Governor, not only of Dundee and Forfar Castles, but of the whole territory of Angus, he refused to surrender it to England unless under an indemnity from the King, and from all the Competitors to the Scottish Crown. On 24 June, 1 Oct., and 2 Nov. (1295) 23 Edw. I, and on 26 Aug. (1296) 24 Edw. I, he was sum. to Parl. by writs directed Gilberto de Umframvill', whereby he may be held to have become LORD UMFREVILLE, (c) and on 28 June (1283) 11 Edw. I, (d) and again from 6 Feb. (1298/9) 27 Edw. I to 26 Aug. (1307) 1 Edw. II, he was sum. to Parl. under the designation of EARL OF ANGUS, the writs being directed Gilberto de Umframvill' (or Unframvill') comiti de Anegos. (e) He m. Elizabeth, 3rd da. of Alexander (COMYN), (*) Simon de Montfort obtained the custody of the lands and of the heir of Gilbert de Umfraunvilla, 15 June 1245, for a fine of 10,000 marks. (Fine Roll, 29 Hen. III, m. 8).

(b) In 1267 the King granted to Gilbert de Humframvilla, Earl of Angus, and his heirs, free warren in his demesne lands in Northumberland (16 June), and a market and fair at his manors of Overton, Rutland, and Kirkwhelpington, Northumberland (22 June). (Charter Roll, 51 Hen. III, m. 5 and 4.)

(c) As to how far these early writs of summons did in fact create any Peerage title, see Appendix A in the last volume. V.G.

(d) As to this supposed Parl., see Preface.

(e) "Dugdale states that he was sum. in virtue of his Barony of Prudhoe, co. Northumberland; but by the late Francis Townsend, Esq., Windsor Herald, the writ of 25 Edw. I (1297) [i.e. the writ, dated 26 Jan. 1296/7, to attend an assembly at Salisbury, which at the time when Townsend wrote, was considered to have been a summons to Parl.], was considered to have cr. an English Earldom, and certainly he and his descendants are always sum. with other Earls; but the editor [i.e. Courthope, not Nicolas], is of opinion that no such English Earldom was intended to have been cr., but that the King, having in 1296 seized upon the sovereignty of Scotland, did, in directing summons to his Baron, Gilbert de Umfreville, in the following year, allow to him, in the way of courtesy, that title which had by marriage or otherwise been acquired in Scotland; he was therefore sum. as a Baron, though by the appellation of an Earl: and it may be added, in confirmation of the opinion that no English Earldom was intended to be cr., that Henry de Beaumont, having m. Alice, da. and h. of Alexander Comyn, Earl of Buchan, was sum. to Parl. from 1334 till his decease, 1340, as 'Henrico de Bello Monte Comiti de Boghan,' but that his s. and h., John Beaumont, having lost the Buchan property in Scotland, was no longer sum. by the title of Buchan, but by that of Beaumont only." (Courthope, p. 24). The remarks of Townsend will be found in Coll. Top. et Gen., vol. vii, p. 383. He sensibly observes (referring to the manner in which this peerage altogether ceased after the death of Earl Gilbert in 1381), that this case seems to countenance the idea "that the descent of ancient dignities in general depended chiefly upon the will of the Crown."

“ Courthope’s view is evidently based on the Lords’ Reports on the dignity of a Peer, from which his argument is practically derived, and which were issued (1820-22) subsequent to Townsend’s day. (See 1st Report, p. 432; 3rd Report, pp. 116, 117). The Reports incline rightly to the view ‘ that those Earls, though summoned by the names of Earls, were really summoned as Barons of the Realm.’ It may be added that the summonses were not addressed to them, as stated by Courthope, as ‘ Umfrevill (sic), Comiti de Anggos,’ but as ‘ Umframvill’, Comiti de Anegos;’ and a more serious error is committed by Courthope [as also by Nicolas, both of them following Dugdale’s Summons] in the dates of the writs; Gilbert, the father, not having been sum. after 26 Aug. (1307) 1 Edw. II, while Robert, his son, was first sum. on 19 Jan. (1307/8) 1 Edw. II. The father and son are also confused by a most careless error in the Lords’ Reports (3rd Report, p. 171), where the writ of 25 Edw. I is twice said to have been addressed to Robert (sic) de Umframville. ”

With respect to the summons to Gilbert de Umfreville as Earl of Angus, there is in Camden’s Britannia, (ed. Gough, vol. iii, p. 403) the following statement.—“ The English lawyers indeed refused to allow this title in their proceedings, because Angus was no part of the Kingdom of England, till he produced in the court the writ by which the King had summoned him to parliament by the title of Earl of Angus. ”

(<sup>a</sup>) Her Christian name is sometimes given as Agnes, but of the marriage itself there is no doubt. Wyntoun, in his account of the Earls of Buchan, (Cronykil, ed. Macpherson, vol. ii, p. 35) states that of the “ systris fywe ” of Earl John—

“ The thryd [had] Schyr Gylbert Wmfrayvyle, Erle of Angws in that qwhile,
(Of Angws and of Ryddysdale Erle he wes, and Lord all hale)
On that Lady estyrwart
Of Wmfraywylle he gat Robert :
On that Lady he gat alswa
Othir Brethyr to Robert ma. ”

(<sup>b</sup>) Writ of diem cl. ext. 13 Oct. 1 Edw. II. He d. seized of the castle or Prudhoe, the liberty of Redesdale (which included the castle of Harbottle and the manor of Otterburn), and the manors of Harlow and Birtley, etc., in Northumberland. (Ch. Inq. p. m., Edw. II, file 2, no. 21). V.G.

(<sup>c</sup>) According to the ancient Rolls of Arms, the Umfrevilles, Earls of Angus, bore, Gules semy of cross crosslets and a cinquefoil Or. On the effigy of this earl at Hexham the crosslets are however crosses patonnées, and in the arms cut on the battlements of Elsdon castle, Northumberland, they are cross crosslets patées, which is much the same thing. The crest depicted with these latter arms is a cinquefoil, supporters two wolves, no doubt in allusion to the ancient tenure of Redesdale, the Umfrevilles holding “ castrum de Herbotell et manerium de Otterburn de domino rege in capite per servicium custodiendi vallem et libertatem de Riddesdale ubi dicta castrum et manerium situantur a lupis et latronibus. ” The earlier Umfrevilles sealed with a single cinquefoil.

Gilbert, held Hambleton and Overton, Rutland, in dower.

<sup>(c)</sup> His possessions in Scotland were confiscated by Robert Bruce, and he is styled in a charter dudum comes de Anegos. The English Kings of course did not recognise these proceedings by a usurper, and it seems futile to attempt to estimate the legal effect of this informal confiscation. It is, however, clear that, although the Umfrevilles were sum. under the title of Earl of Angus, among, and with precedence over several of, the English Earls, the Edwards had no idea that they had thereby created another (English) Earldom of Angus. Whether they did not do so, according to modern notions, which are far removed from ancient practice, is another question.

XVI. 1361. 3. THOMAS (STEWART), EARL OF ANGUS [S.], only s. and h. An infant at his father's death. He d. s.p., 1377.

<sup>(a)</sup> Inq. on Gilbert and Robert de Umfreville, as above; Durham Inq., 5 Apr. 1446. (Cursor's Records, no. clxiv, nos. 72, 73, 74). It will be observed that each of the coheirs is described in 1421 as 10 years or so younger than she must actually have been.

XVII. 1377.

4. MARGARET (STEWART), suo jure COUNTESS OF ANGUS [S.], eldest sister and h. of line. She m., between 1361 and 1374, as his 2nd wife, Thomas, 13th EARL OF MAR [S.], the last Earl of Mar in the direct male line, who d. s.p., 1377. Probably in her husband's lifetime,<sup>(a)</sup> but certainly very shortly afterwards, she became mother of a s., known as George Douglas, begotten by her late husband's br.-in-law, William (DOUGLAS), 1ST EARL OF DOUGLAS [S.], whose wife Margaret, suo jure COUNTESS OF MAR [S.] (being sister and h. of Thomas, 13th Earl of Mar abovenamed), was then alive, and outlived her said husband. On 9 Apr. 1389 the Countess of Angus resigned the Earldom (reserving for herself the frank tenement thereof for life) in favour of the said GEORGE DOUGLAS, not however then styling him her s. or alleging any relationship to him; though in his marriage contract with the King's da., some eight years afterwards, she styles him "LORD OF ANGUS," and acknowledges him as her s. She, however, survived her said s., and was living 1417, being styled "Countess of Angus and Mar," (viz., ANGUS, in her own right, and MAR, in right of her long deceased and only husband), but (of course) never styled "Countess of Douglas," as the wife of that Earl of Douglas (who was the father of her children) survived him. She d. before 23 Mar. 1417/8.

XVIII. 1389.

1. GEORGE (DOUGLAS), EARL OF ANGUS [S.], illegit. s. of William (DOUGLAS), 1ST EARL OF DOUGLAS<sup>(b)</sup> [S.], by Margaret, suo jure COUNTESS OF ANGUS [S.], as above mentioned, was b. not later than 1378. On 9 Apr. 1389, by the resignation of his mother, the said Countess, he received a grant of THE EARLDOM OF ANGUS [S.] to himself and the heirs of his body, with rem. to Elizabeth, wife of Sir Alexander HAMILTON, of Innerwick (yst. and only sister of the said Countess), and the heirs of their bodies.<sup>(c)</sup> He m., contract dat. 24 May 1397, the Lady Mary STEWART, 2nd da. of ROBERT III, by Annabel, <sup>(a)</sup> The date of the birth of her s., George DOUGLAS (the future Earl of Angus [S.]), who m. in May 1397, and had three children within five years afterwards, would (if we suppose him to be 19, and no older, at his marriage) just allow of his being b. a year after the death of his mother's husband, the Earl of Mar [S.].

<sup>(b)</sup> The Earldom of Douglas [S.] was entailed, 26 May 1342, on the heirs male of the body of Earl William, whom failing, to a certain William Douglas and Archibald Douglas respectively in like manner. On the death, s.p., in Aug. 1388, of James, 2nd Earl of Douglas [S.], who was the only legit. s. of the said Earl William, this George Douglas (the Earl of Angus mentioned in the text), would, if legitimate, have, of course, as h. male of the body, suc. to his father's Earldom of Douglas [S.]. Under the actual circumstances, however, that Earldom devolved (according to the entail of 1342) on the Archibald Douglas abovenamed. "This singular Douglas entail now above 500 years old, is given by Mr. Riddell in [his] Stewartiana, pp. 83 and 84, apparently from the Torphichen charter chest" [the family of Sandilands being the representatives of the House of Douglas]. See Sinclair's remarks on the status of George Douglas, 1st Earl of Angus [S.].

da. of Sir John DRUMMOND, of Stobhall. He was taken prisoner at the battle of Homildon Hill, and d. of the pestilence in England, in the same year, 1402. His widow m., 2ndly, 1404, Sir James KENNEDY the yr., of Dunure. He was killed, v.p., before 8 Nov. 1408. In July 1409 his widow had Papal disp. to m. (as his 2nd wife) Sir William CUNNINGHAM, but there is no clear evidence that the marriage ever took place. He d. between 7 Aug. 1413 and Dec. 1415. She m., 3rdly, (as his 2nd wife) 13 Nov. 1413, (*) William (GRAHAM), 1ST LORD GRAHAM [S.], who was living 10 Aug. 1423. She m., 4thly, 1425, Sir William EDMONSTONE, of Duntreath. She was living 1458, having had issue by all four husbands, and was bur., with her last husband, in the Church of Strathblane.

XIX. 1402. 2. WILLIAM (DOUGLAS), EARL OF ANGUS [S.], s. and h. He was one of the negotiators for the release of James I [S.] in 1423. Was AMBASSADOR to England, 1430, and Warden of the Middle Marches, 1433. He defeated the English at Piperden, 10 Sep. 1435. (b) He m. (betrothal dat. 12 Dec. 1410) by disp. dat. 1425, Margaret, only da. of Sir William HAY, of Yester, by his 1st wife, Jean, da. and coh. of Hew GIFFORD, of Yester. He d. Oct. 1437. His widow was living as late as 22 Apr. 1484.

XX. 1437. 3. JAMES (DOUGLAS), EARL OF ANGUS [S.], s. and h., served h. to his father 27 Feb. 1437/8. He was forfeited 1 July 1445, but the attainder was probably soon reversed. He d. s.p., and apparently unm., (c) in 1446, before 9 Sep.

XXI. 1446. (d) 4. GEORGE (DOUGLAS), EARL OF ANGUS [S.], br., though often supposed to be uncle, (e) and h. He was one of the Commissioners to conclude a treaty with England, 1449 and 1459, and was AMBASSADOR there, 1451. He adhered to James II during the Douglas rebellion in 1454, and was rewarded with large grants of

(a) The Editor has unfortunately not preserved the authority for this date, but there is no reason to doubt its correctness, as the marriage unquestionably took place before 15 May 1416. V.G.

(b) Sometimes considered as the battle commemorated in "Chevy Chase," this Earl being the Earl Douglas therein mentioned. See note sub NORTHUMBERLAND.

(c) As to his alleged marriage with the Lady Jean STEWART, 3rd da. of JAMES I (to whom he was contracted 18 Oct. 1440, but who m., 1458/9, James (Douglas), 1st Earl of Morton [S.]), see such statement confuted in the Exchequer Rolls [S.], vol. vi, Preface, pp. lv and lvi.

(d) There is a puzzling entry in the Exchequer Rolls [S.], vol. v, pp. 371-372, implying that an Earl George had succeeded an Earl William in 1448 or 1449. The supposition that William may be a clerical error for James is hardly sufficient explanation, inasmuch as the same record states (p. 246) that Earl James, though alive in 1445, was dead and was succeeded by Earl George in 1446.

(e) That statement is refuted by Godscroft's MS., and by a document, dated 26 June 1450, at Durham, in which appears the 'Relaxatio Willielmi Douglas, comitis de Angus, patris comitis moderni' and by other proofs in Fraser's Book of Douglas, vol. ii, pp. 45-6.

lands of that family. He was accounted the head of the party known as the "Old Lords" during the minority (1460) of James III. When Henry VI was a fugitive in Scotland in 1461, he engaged to give the Earl lands of the yearly value of 2000 marks, and to erect them into a Dukedom. Early in 1462 he obtained a victory over the English at Alnwick. He m., probably before 1446, Isabel, only da. of Sir John SIBBALD, of Balgony, co. Fife. He d. 14 Nov. 1462, or, according to his son's retour, 12 Mar. 1462/3, and was bur. at Abernethy. His widow m., 2ndly, in or before 1477, John CARMICHAEL, of Balmedie. She m., 3rdly, after 1479, as his 2nd wife, Sir Robert DOUGLAS, of Lochleven, who was slain at Flodden, 9 Sep. 1513. She d. between 1500 and Feb. 1502/3.

XXII. 1462. 5. ARCHIBALD (DOUGLAS), EARL OF ANGUS [S.], popularly called "Bell the Cat,"<sup>(a)</sup> and "The Great Earl," s. and h. He was but 9 years old at his father's death. He was Warden of the East Marches, 11 Apr. 1481, and was continued in that office by James IV, with whom he was in great favour. He was P.C., and was HIGH CHANCELLOR [S.] 1493-98. His advice to the King against the fatal engagement at Flodden being insultingly received, he quitted the field shortly before the fight, bidding his two sons remain, both of whom were there slain, with their King. He m., 1stly, <sup>(b)</sup> 4 Mar. 1467/8, Elizabeth, only da. of Robert (BOYD), 1st LORD BOYD [S.], by Mariot, da. of Sir Robert MAXWELL, of Calderwood. She d. before 21 Feb. 1497. He m., 2ndly, about 1498, Janet, 2nd wife, or possibly mistress, of Sir Alexander GORDON (who was slain at Flodden, 9 Sep. 1513), da. of John (KENNEDY), 2nd LORD KENNEDY [S.], by his 2nd wife, Elizabeth, Dowager COUNTESS OF ERROLL [S.]. There are charters by him, dat. 20 July and 25 Sep. 1498, of lands granted to her for life, "with rem. to the heirs male procreated or to be procreated betwixt them." She, however, must soon have deserted him, for on 1 June 1501, she obtained a charter (under the name of "Janet Kennedy, Lady Bothwell") from James IV (by which King she was mother of James Stuart, cr. (as an infant) EARL OF MORAY [S.] in 1501), on condition of her remaining "absque marito seu alio viro, cum Rege, &c." In 1531, Janet Kennedy founded a prebend in the collegiate church of <sup>(a)</sup> This name was thus acquired. The nobles having, in 1483, resolved to check the favouritism of James III, there was quoted in their conclave the "Fable of the Mice," wherein it is suggested that, to warn them of the approach of the Cat, some one should place a bell round her neck; but the proposition fell to the ground, as none had the courage to do so. On this Angus exclaimed "I will bell the Cat," and forthwith organised measures which resulted, not only in the execution of the favourites, but in the murder of the King himself, in 1488. G.E.C.

The too partial family historian, Hume of Godscroft, writes of him thus:—"Upright and square in his actions, sober and moderate in his desires. . . . one fault he had, that he was too much given to women, otherwise there was little or nothing that was amiss." Sir Herbert Maxwell (1902) more truly pronounces his career to have been "in most of its features deplorable, and in none of them glorious." V.G.

He m., lastly, in 1500, Katherine, da. of Sir William STIRLING, of Keir, by Margaret, da. of James CRICHTON, of Ruthvendeny. She signed a discharge as "Katryste Ctesse of Angus" 10 Aug. 1510, but on 14 May 1513, she is designated simply as Katherine Stirling, and she was then probably separated from the Earl, and living with Alexander, Lord HOME, by whom she had an illegit. s. about this time. He was b. about 1490, and was one of the most distinguished men of his time. From 1517 to 1521 he was one of the Council of Regency, and again, 1523-26. In 1526, when the King, James V, attained his majority of 14 years, the Earl exercised supreme power for two years, and in Aug. 1527 was made HIGH CHANCELLOR [S.]. In 1528, however, sentence of forfeiture (which was reversed Mar. 1542/3) was pronounced against him, and he retired to England, where he was made P.C. On the death of the King in 1542, he returned to Scotland, and distinguished himself at the battle of Ancrum muir, in 1545; and of Pinkie, in 1547. On 31 Aug. 1547, he resigned his Earldom and had a regrant of the same "sibi et suis hæredibus masculis et suis assignatis quibuscunque."<sup>(b)</sup> He m., 1stly (cont. 26 June 1509), Margaret or Mary, 2nd da. of Patrick (HEPBURN), 1ST EARL OF BOTHWELL [S.], by Janet, only da. of James (DOUGLAS), 1ST EARL OF MORTON [S.]. (see note "b" next p.), renounced all right to the Earldom. Action of reduction was brought, some years afterwards, by James VI as h. of line, but determined against him, 7 Mar. 1588/9. He thereupon agreed to relinquish all further claim to the Earldom on receipt of 35,000 merks from his opponent; payment of this sum was enforced by the Session 14 Aug. 1589; final acquittance dated 9 Jan. 1590; and contract, whereby the King renounced that Earldom to William, Earl of Angus [S.], his heirs male and of tailzie, ratified by Act of Parl., 1592.

XXVIII. 1611. I I. WILLIAM (DOUGLAS), EARL OF ANGUS [S.], s. and h. <sup>(a)</sup> “Qui primus eram Regni Scotorum Comes, et in bellis Dux primæ aciei, &c.” See M.I. in Riddell, p. 158.

The precedence claimed by the Earls of Angus was that of Premier PEERS; the precedence recognised as their right was that of Premier EARLS. It was connected with the privilege of leading the van in battle, and bearing the Crown in Parl., and is therefore, perhaps, first (distinctly) to be traced in 1567 (vide supra); but as the then Earl was a boy at the time, it was, probably, at least as old as the 6th Earl. When William Douglas, the h. male, had proved his right to succeed as (9th) Earl of Angus, he obtained a charter in 1591 confirming all the ancient privileges of the family of Douglas to himself and his heirs male, viz.:—The first vote in council or parliament; to be the King’s hereditary Lieutenant; to have the leading of the van of the army in the day of battle, and to carry the Crown at coronations.” After his death, and to the detriment of his s. and h., William, the 10th Earl (then 35 years old and upwards), the Duke of Lennox [S.] twice (1590 and 1592) carried the Crown, but Earl William was confirmed in the right of his ancestors to the “first place in first sitting and voting in all Parliaments &c., first place and leiding of wanguard in battailis and bearing the Crown” (Acts of Parl., vol. iii, p. 588). These privileges were again recognised 15 Dec. 1599, and then stated to have been granted to the Earls of Angus and “*utheris of the surname of Douglas* for their mony notable and guide offices, &c.*” See Riddell, pp. 156-157.

* [It was under the changed order of things, after the war of Succession [S.], that DOUGLAS (as the representative of Bruce’s chief comrade in arms, Sir James Douglas, “the Good,” who commanded at Bannockburn in 1314) came to the forefront among the Earls. What the exact nature was of the prerogative asserted, in 1371, by the Earl at the coronation of Robert II (which some historians have imagined to have been a rival claim to the throne) does not clearly appear, but some sort of compromise regarding it seems to have been adjusted, a condition of which was the marriage of the Earl’s eldest son, James Douglas (afterwards the 2nd Earl), with Isabel, da. of the said King. The important part sustained by the 3rd and 4th Earls Douglas (1388-1424) in the days of the Regent Albany, &c., is a matter of history, the 4th Earl having m. the da. of the King (Robert III), while his sister was wife to Prince David, the h. ap. to the Crown. On the accession (1437) of James II, the 5th Earl (Lieutenant General of Scotland) occupied a position entitling him to look down, from a vantage ground of superiority, on the highest nobles of the land; he had his Barons who held of him, as also his Council of retainers, analogous to the Parl. of the Country. The Earl of Crawford, alone, with his Heralds and Pursuivants, occupied a somewhat similar position, and, it is well known how formidable these two great Earls became

See "DOUGLAS," Marquessate of [S.], cr. 1633; and see "DOUGLAS," Dukedom of [S.], cr. 1703, extinct 1761. From 1633 to 1703 the Earldom of Angus, and from 1703 to 1761 the Marquessate of Angus [S.] (cr. 1703) was used as the courtesy title of the eldest son of the Marquess of Douglas or Duke of DOUGLAS [S.].

In 1761, the DUKE OF HAMILTON [S.], as h. male of the abovenamed William (Douglas), Earl of Angus and (1st) Marquess of Douglas [S.], suc. (apparently)<sup>(a)</sup> to those titles, his right to the Earldom of Angus [S.] being under the regrant of 1547. Since that time the EARLDOM OF ANGUS has apparently<sup>(b)</sup> continued merged in that Dukedom. See "HAMILTON," Dukedom of [S.], cr. 1643, under the 7th Duke.<sup>(c)</sup> when they leagued together against the Royal House. That Douglas was in all respects the premier Earl during nearly the whole of the reigns (1406-60) of James I and James II, cannot admit of doubt, and it was only after the attainder of the 9th and last Earl, in 1455, when, as was popularly said, "The Red Douglas put down the Black," that the former (then represented by George, Earl of Angus, a stedfast adherent of the Crown during the Douglas rebellion), seems to have been tacitly allowed to step into all the privileges of the latter. (Ex inform. G. Burnett, sometime Lyon.)]

Lastly, in the confirmation of the Comitatus of Angus by charter under the Great Seal to the Earl in liferent and to his s. in fee (13 Feb. 1602), there was included "primum locum in sedendo in omnibus nostris Parliamentis, conventionibus et conciliis; primum locum et ductionem primæ aciei et gerendi coronam in omnibus nostris Parliamentis." This charter was confirmed by Parl. in 1606 (Acts of Parl., vol. iv, p. 311), and in virtue of it "the Earls of Angus obtained by the decret of ranking in that year, the precedence of all the Earls, and sat in Parl. accordingly." See Riddell, p. 159.

In 1611, however, the "fiar" of 1602 became Earl, and in 1633, he, by arrangement, resigned (ut supra) these privileges, the resignation being duly registered six days later (Acts of Parl., vol. v, p. 10). Notwithstanding this, the family subsequently endeavoured to disavow the resignation, on the ground that the Resigner was only a liferenter, the comitatus having been at the time (under a charter of 1631) in his s. in fee; consequently, on the hypothesis that the original precedence was not only over Earls, but over all Peers, the Marquesses of Douglas (as Earls of Angus) persistently protested their right to "the first seat and vote in Parl." from the Restoration (1660) to the eve of the Union, 16 Jan. 1707.

(<sup>a</sup>) In the article on "The Peerage" in the Quarterly Review for Oct. 1893 (p. 389) the Earldom of Angus is only spoken of as claimed by the Dukes of Hamilton.

(<sup>b</sup>) The Earldom of Angus [S.] has never officially been allowed to the Dukes of Hamilton [S.], and the petition of the Duke in 1762 for that Earldom, though referred to the House of Lords, was never followed up.

ANNALY OF ANNALY AND RATHCLINE

BARONY.

I. 1863. I. HENRY WHITE, of Woodlands (formerly Luttrellstown), co. Dublin, and subsequently of Rathcline, co. Longford, 4th, but only surv. s. of Luke W., bookseller, of Woodlands (*) afsd., (who d. 25 Feb. 1824) by his 1st wife, Elizabeth, da. of Andrew DE LA (b) MAZIERE, was b. 1791. He served in the 14th Light Dragoons in the Peninsular War, was M.P. (c) for co. Dublin 1823-32, for co. Longford 1837-47, and 1857-61. Lord Lieut. of co. Longford 1841-73, and, having suc. to the Longford estates on the death of his next elder br., Luke W., in Aug. 1854, was, on 19 Aug. 1863, cr. BARON ANNALY OF ANNALY AND RATHCLINE, (d) co. Longford. (e) He m., 3 Oct. 1828, Ellen, da. of William Soper DEMPSTER, by Hannah, only da. and h. of John Hamilton DEMPSTER, of Skibo Castle, Sutherland. She d. 12 May 1868. He d. 3 Sep. 1873, at Sunbury Park, Midx., aged 84.

II. 1873.

2. LUKE (WHITE), BARON ANNALY, s. and h., b. 26 Sep. 1829. Ed. at Eton. Capt. 13th Light Dragoons, 1847-53:

This is stated to have been confirmed by charter signed by Queen Anne, 10, and ratified by Parl. 26, Mar. 1707. See Robertson, p. 309. The whole matter was referred to the Lords' Committee for Privileges, but no further steps appear to have been taken, and the Earldom (under the regrant of 1547) passed to the h. male. By decision of the House of Lords, 27 Feb. 1769, the petitioner was found h. gen., and was cr. a Peer. See "DOUGLAS," Barony, cr. 1790, extinct 1857.

(*) The estate of Luttrellstown was purchased by this Luke White from the Earl of Carhampton [I.], in whose family (Luttrell) it had been since the time of Hen. VI. G.E.C.

He was M.P. (Whig) for co. Leitrim, 1812-24, and was the "celebrated Luke White, bookseller and lottery office keeper in Dublin, who is said to have realised the largest fortune ever made by trade in Ireland." See Annual Reg. for 1854, p. 330. In Hare's Story of two noble Lives, 1893, vol. i, pp. 13-17, is a curious account of his career, which mentions "his keeping a stall for books, on Essex bridge, near the Castle." V.G.

(b) Andrew de la Maziere, of Fleet Str., Dublin, m., in 1738, Mary, da. of Mark White, of Pill Lane, grocer, and had, with other issue, a da. Elizabeth, most probably the lady in question.

(c) In Parl. he gave steady support to the Whig-Liberal party. V.G.

(d) Rathcline, an old castle of the O'Ferrals, is in Annaly.

(e) White, Lord Annaly, bears arms of Silver a chevron engrailed between three roses gules, with a crosslet gold on the chevron. The crosslet in this shield granted to the first Lord Annaly is its only difference from that of the ancient family of White of Leixlip, from whom no descent has otherwise been suggested. (ex inform. Oswald Barron.) V.G.

Lieut. Col. of the Longford Rifles. He was M.P. (Liberal), for Clare 1859-60, for Longford 1861-62, and for Kidderminster 1862-65. Sheriff of co. Dublin 1861, of co. Longford 1871. A junior Lord of the Treasury 1862-66. State Steward to (Earl Spencer) the Lord Lieut. [I.] 1868-73. K.P. 9 Feb. 1885. He m., 24 Aug. 1853, Emily, da. of James STUART. He d. at Funchal, Madeira, 16, and was bur. 31 Mar. 1888, at Holdenby, Northants, aged 58.

III. 1888. 3. LUKE (WHITE), BARON ANNALY OF ANNALY AND RATHCLINE [1863], 1st s. and h., b. 25 Feb. 1857. In the Scots Guards 1877-96, serving in the Egyptian Campaign, 1882 (medal, clasp, and bronze star); Capt. 1888; retired 1896. A Lib. Unionist in politics. He m., 24 July 1884, at St. James's, Westm., Lilah Georgiana Augusta Constance, 2nd, but only surv. da. and [1895] h. of Henry (AGAR-ELLIS), 3rd VISCOUNT CLIFDEN OF GOWRAN [I.], by Eliza Horatia Frederica, 2nd da. of Frederick Charles William SEYMOUR. She was b. 6 Aug. 1862.

[LUKE HENRY WHITE, only s. and h. ap., b. 7 Aug. 1885. Lieut. 11th Hussars.]

Family Estates.—These, in 1883, consisted of about 12,500 acres in co. Longford and about 4,000 in co. Dublin. Total about 16,500 acres of the yearly value of about £15,000. Principal Residences.—Luttrellstown, (*) near Clonsilla, co. Dublin; Rathcline House, co. Longford.

ANNALY OF TENELICK

BARONY [I.] 1. JOHN GORE, 2nd s. of George G.,<sup>(b)</sup> 2nd Justice of the Court of Common Pleas [I.], by Bridget, da. and eventually sole h. of John SANKEY, of Tenelick, co. ## ANNANDALE

The Lordship of Annandale was obtained by Robert Bruce from David I, about 1124, and thus, when his descendant Robert Bruce became King of Scotland in 1306, merged in the Crown. It appears to have been re-granted, in or before 1455, to Alexander (Stewart), Duke of Albany [S.], 2nd s. of James II, by whom it, together with the Earldom of March [S.], was forfeited in 1483; both dignities being shortly afterwards, viz. by Act. of Parl., 1 Oct. 1487, annexed inalienably to the Crown. See "ALBANY," Dukedom of [S.], cr. 1456.

<sup>(c)</sup> Nevertheless he gave the date as 4 Aug. 1770, in Lords' Entries, Ulster's Office, 22 Jan. 1790, when certifying his Pedigree, but added "as to Persons and alliances, cant be sure as to dates." (ex inform. G. D. Burtchaell.) V.G.

She d. 29 Nov. 1750, in her 69th year. Her grandson James, 3rd Earl of Hopetoun, became in 1792 (on the death of his grand-uncle George, 3rd Marquess of Annandale [S.]) the heir gen. of the 1st Earl of Annandale [S.], and, as such, claimed the dignities under the regrant of 1661.

AND EVANDALE (1643 and 1701) [S.], br. of the half blood and h., being s. of the 1st Marquess by his 2nd wife. He was b. 29 May 1720. (*) The loss of his only surv. br. John (who d. Oct. 1742, aged 21) so affected him that he became insane, and by inquest in Chancery, 5 Mar. 1748, he was declared to have been a lunatic since 12 Dec. 1744. By Act of Parl. 1744, he took the name of VAN DEN BEMPDÉ, pursuant to the will of John van den Bempdé. Under the Act for abolishing hereditary jurisdictions in 1747, he was allowed £2200 for the Stewartry of Annandale, and £800 for the Regality of Moffat. He d. unm., in his 72nd year, at Turnham Green, Midx., 29 Apr., and was bur. 7 May 1792, at Chiswick. Admon. May 1792.

After his death, his personalty, amounting to £415,000, was divided in three parts—viz., one to each of his two uterine brothers, and one to the descendants (next of kin) of his sister (ex parte paternâ), of the half blood, the Countess of Hopetoun [S.]. His Scotch estates went to his grand nephew (of the half blood) and heir of line, James (HOPE), 3rd EARL OF HOPETOUN [S.], grandson of his said half sister, while his English estates, which he had inherited through his mother, went to his uterine br. Richard VAN DEN BEMPDÉ JOHNSTONE, afterwards cr. a Baronet. His peerage dignities became dormant. (b)

(*) Mrs. Pendarves (afterwards Mrs. Delany) writes of him in 1741, as “very tall, what is called handsome, and much commended for his dancing.” V.G.

(b) Among the many claimants to these Honours, some as heirs of entail, under the regnant of 1661, to the Earldom, &c., (with the precedency of 1643), and some as heirs male whosoever, to the Marquessate and other honours granted in 1701, may be enumerated—

1. James (HOPE), EARL OF HOPETOUN [S.], in 1794, as h. gen. and h. of entail, being grandson and h. of Henrietta, Countess of Hopetoun [S.], the only child that left issue of William, 2nd Earl and 1st Marquess of Annandale.

This claim was continued by John James HOPE JOHNSTONE, of Annandale, his grandson and h. of line (being s. and h. of his 1st da.) in 1825. Disallowed 11 June 1844. Revived on the ground of “res noviter.” See Maidment, pp. 89, 107, 109 and 121. This last claimant d. 11 July 1876, aged 80, and was suc. in the Annandale estates and his claim by his grandson and h. male. Lord Campbell in his Life of Brougham, remarks: “When I was Attorney Gen. [1834-41], Brougham was about to create another Earl [besides the Earl of Devon], by making Mr. Hope Johnstone EARL OF ANNANDALE, and he had actually congratulated Mrs. Hope Johnstone as the Countess; but, with the assistance of Sir William Follett, I prevented him completing the creation, and the claim was disallowed.”

2. Sir John Lowther JOHNSTONE of Westerhall, Bart. [S.], in 1805, as h. male.

This claim was continued by his s. and h., Sir George Frederick Johnstone, Bart. [S.], who petitioned 30 June 1834. Continued also after Sir George's death by his (posthumous) s. and h. Sir Frederick John William Johnstone, Bart. [S.]. See Maidment, p. 108, and 119 to 121.

3. John Henry GOODINGE, afterwards GOODINGE JOHNSTONE, in 1830 and 1839, as h. of entail. He was s. and h. of Sarah (wife of William Goodinge), only child that had issue of John Johnstone, s. and h. of John Johnstone, alleged to be 2nd s. of the 1st Earl of Annandale. This claim was disallowed 11 June 1844. See Maidment, p. 107, but a fresh petition was lodged in 1851.

ANNESLEY OF CASTLEWELLAN

BARONY [I.] I. WILLIAM ANNESLEY, of Castlewellan, in the parish of Kilmegan, co. Down, 6th s. <sup>(a)</sup> of Francis A., of the same, and of Thorganby, co. York, by his 1st wife, Elizabeth, da. of Sir Joseph MARTIN, of London, was b. about 1710; was a Barrister at Law (Dublin) 1738; M.P. for Midleton, co. Cork, 1741-58; suc. his father (though not his h. male) in the estate of Castlewellan, 7 Aug. 1750; was Sheriff for co. Down, 23 Nov. 1750; and on 20 Sep. 1758, was cr. BARON ANNESLEY of Castle Wellan, co. Down <sup>(b)</sup> [I.]. He took his seat in the House 29 Nov. 1759. On 14 Nov. 1766, he was cr. VISCOUNT GLERAWLY <sup>(c)</sup> of co. Fermanagh <sup>(b)</sup> [I.], and took his seat accordingly 27 Jan. 1768. He m. (lic. Prerog. Ct. [I.] 5 Aug.), 16 Aug. 1738, at St. Mary's, Dublin, Anne, 1st da. of Marcus (BERESFORD), 1ST EARL OF TYRONE [I.], by Catharine, suo jure BARONESS LA POER [I.]. <sup>(d)</sup> She d. 12 May 1770. He d. at Clontarf, 12 Sep. 1770, in his 61st year. Will pr. 1770.

4. Dougal CAMPBELL, M.D., as h. of entail (through Mary, 1st da. of the 1st Earl of Annandale, wife of William (Lindsay), Earl of Crawford [S.]). This claim also was disallowed 11 June 1844.

5. Sir Robert GRAHAM of Esk, Bart. (claim pending 1841), as h. of entail, through the same lady, in contradiction to the generally received pedigree which makes him such h. to her aunt, the sister (not the da.) of the 1st Earl of Annandale.

6. James JOHNSTONE of Dromore, co. Monaghan (claim made before 1841), as h. male. Continued by his only s. and h. Charles Johnstone.

7. Edward Douglas JOHNSTONE, of Snow Hill, co. Fermanagh.
8. Edward JOHNSTONE, of Fulford, co. Warwick, Barrister at Law. Claim referred 28 May 1876. } Presumed to be as h. male.

9. James F. GYLES, a citizen of the United States in America, in 1875.

<sup>(b)</sup> The three patents (1758, 1766, and 1789) are printed in extenso in the claim to the Peerage by the 4th Earl in July 1855. In the patent of 1758 the name is written Castle Wellan, but in that of 1789 Castlewellan.

AP ADAM <sup>(a)</sup>BARONY

I. 1299

1. SIR JOHN AP ADAM, of Gorste, near Chepstow, and Beachley in Tidenham, co. Gloucester, s. and h. of Reynold AP ADAM, by JOAN DE KNOVILLE, his wife. <sup>(b)</sup> He was b. before 1267. <sup>(a)</sup> For this article, and the notes thereto, the editor is indebted to G. W. Watson. V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> Inspeximus, 25 June 1285, of a charter dated 1267, whereby the Abbot and convent of Grace Dieu gave to Joan de Knoville, sometime the wife of Reynold Abadam, the manor of Penyard Regis, co. Hereford, to be held of them by Joan and her heirs and assigns. This Joan had a grant, 27 Feb. 1280/1, of free warren in all her demesne lands of Penyard. (Charter Rolls, 13 Edw. I, m. 19, and 9 Edw. I, m. 10). Penyard Regis was alienated by her grandson, Thomas ap Adam, 2 June 1329. By two fines, Easter and Trinity, 25 Edw. I, between John de Badeham, or Abadam, and Elizabeth his wife, and John de Knoville, the manors of Beverstone, Purton, and Redwick, co. Gloucester, East Harptree and Barrow Gurney, Somerset, Sharnocote, Wilts, and East Hampnett, Sussex, were settled on John and Elizabeth, and the heirs of their bodies, rem. to Elizabeth's right heirs. (Feet of Fines, case 285, file 24, nos. 233, 236)

Dr. Ormerod, in his memoir of this Baron (Strigulensia, 1861, pp. 96-108) avers "that he never met with any document giving proof of his parentage in any way, and he therefore commences with him, without any disparagement of Herbert descent." This descent appears first in the (alleged) commission, 12 Aug. 1460, issued by Edward IV to investigate the ancestry of William Herbert, Earl of Pembroke. Meyrick (Dwnn's Visitations, vol. i, pp. 196-7) shows, from the occurrence in it of the title "hys magestye," that it must be "a forgery and not earlier than the reign of Henry VIII." It states that Herbert fitz Herbert m. the da. of Milo fitz Walter, and was father of Peter, who inherited Betsley [Beachley] from his mother, father of Reignold, lord of Llanllowel, father of Adam, father of Sir Thomas Adam and of Jenkin Adam of Wernddu [the reputed ancestor of the Herberts]. This account, elaborated by various Welsh genealogists, now appears in the following form.—(1) Reginald fitz Peter, d. 1286, father of (2) Peter fitz Reginald, who, by Alice, da. of Bleddyn Broadspere, Lord of Llanllowel and Beachley, was father of (3) Herbert fitz Peter, father of (4) Adam ap Herbert, father of (5) Sir Thomas ap Adam (and of Jenkin ap Adam, as above), who, by Margaret, da. of Llewelyn ap Howel, was father of (6) Sir John ap Thomas ap Adam, sum. to Parl. 19 Edw. I, who, by Joyce, da. of Andrew Winston, had a da. and h. (7) Margery, wife of John Tomlyn alias Huntley, of Tre Owen. (Bradney's Monmouthshire, 1904, vol. i, p. 199). Burke, Extinct Peerage, under Herbert, gives nearly the same account, with great impartiality, as it is utterly at variance with his statements under Ap Adam. In this tissue of lands of John de Gurnay, and, 19 July 1296, of those of Olive, afsd. <sup>(a)</sup> Having thus become the possessor of vast estates, <sup>(b)</sup> he was sum., 26 Jan. (1296/7) 25 Edw. I, to attend the King at Salisbury, <sup>(c)</sup> and was sum. to Parl., 6 Feb. (1298/9) 27 Edw. I to 13 Dec. (1309) 3 Edw. II, by writs directed Johanni ap Adam, ab Adam, or Abbadam, whereby he may be held to have become LORD AP ADAM. He subscribed the Barons' letter to the Pope, 12 Feb. 1300/1, as Johannes ab Adam dominus de Beveriston. He was sum., 18 Jan. 1307/8, to attend the coronation of Edward II. He d. in May or June 1311. <sup>(d)</sup> errors, (3) and (4) are, perhaps, wholly imaginary persons. Peter fitz Reginald—whose only known wife was named Maud—was a minor in 1286 (Close Roll, 14 Edw. I, m. 1d), but he is here made the ancestor in the 3rd degree of a man who was of age in 1325. Further, the Baron himself is omitted: for the John here described as “sum. 19 Edw. I” is obviously his grandson. As to Llanllowel (near Usk), a great authority, Thomas Wakeman, believed that the Ap Adams never held it, and that it was acquired, long afterwards, by the Huntleys.

None of his descendants were ever sum. to Parl. in respect of this Barony. <sup>(e)</sup> His s. and h., Sir Thomas ap Adam, having proved his age, did homage and had livery of his lands, 4 July 1325. <sup>(f)</sup> Immediately afterwards, he began a series of alienations, to different persons, of his extensive property. <sup>(g)</sup> He m., 1stly, Margery, who was living 13 Oct.

Salisbury, Multon, Brendehyroc, Allt-y-Bela, and Llanbadock, co. Monmouth, and Talyvan, co. Glamorgan, likewise held by John ap Adam of the Earl of Gloucester, were probably inherited from his father.

<sup>(c)</sup> Concerning the validity of a writ of this date as a regular writ of summons to Parl., see Preface. V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> 25 Apr. 1311, being about to go beyond seas on pilgrimage, his attorneys were nominated for a year: 15 June 1311, the custody of his lands and those of Elizabeth his wife, was granted to Ralph de Monthermer for 6000 marks. (Patent Rolls, 4 Edw. II, pars ii, m. 17, 8: 5 Edw. II, pars i, m. 5). The writ of diem. cl. ext. was not issued till 6 July (Fine Roll, 4 Edw. II, m. 2). There is no inquisition extant, except those following two writs of plenius certiorari, 3 Sep. and 1 Feb. 6 Edw. II, on the small property in Tidenham. (Ch. Inq. p. m., Edw. (Close Rolls, 19 Edw. II, m. 31d, 20d; 3 Edw. III, m. 18d: Patent Roll, 4 Edw. III, pars i, m. 32.) The clue, that Dr. Ormerod desiderated, "to the rapid dissipation by the son of the wealth so suddenly obtained by the father," is probably to be found in two complaints by Thomas ap Adam: that during his minority his castle of Beverstone had been entered by force and wrecked, and some 70 charters, &c., relating to his inheritance, stolen—commission thereon, appointed 12 Jan. 1325/6: that Thomas de Gurnay and others had abducted his wife, Margery, at Beverstone, taken away his goods, and still withheld his wife—commission thereon, 13 Oct. 1331. (Patent Rolls, 19 Edw. II, pars i, m. 10d; 5 Edw. III, pars ii, m. 11d).

<sup>(a)</sup> By a fine, Hilary term, 14 Edw. III, the manor of Corton Denham, Somerset, was granted to Sir John Inge for life, rem. to Alice Basset for life, rem. to Thomas ap Adam and Joan his wife and their issue, rem. to John, Hildebrand, Alice, and Elizabeth, brothers and sisters of Joan, and the heirs of their bodies, in succession. (Feet of Fines, case 199, file 23, no. 33). On 9 July 1349, John [Inge], s. of Alice Basset, and br. of Joan late the wife of Thomas ap Adam, did homage for Corton and had livery thereof. On 28 May 1375, he acknowledged the sd. deed in Chancery. (Close Roll, 49 Edw. III, m. 34d).

John ap Thomlyn, his s. and h., is described as "dominus de Beatisley" in a conveyance of 20 Mar. (1498/9) 14 Hen. VII. He m. the da. and h. of John Roulf of Llanllowel, and had 4 daughters and coheirs. (1) Margaret, mother of William Edmond, who is described in a deed, 26 Nov. 1536, as "dominus de Betisley filius et heres Edmundi ap Gwyllym ap Hopkin et Margarete uxoris ejus unius filiarum et heredum Johannis ap Thomlyn." (2) Margery, wife of Thomas Parker, of Monmouth, ancestress of the Parkers of Llanllowel. (3) Jane, wife of Reynalt ap Gwyllym. (4) Elizabeth. Thus Dr. Ormerod, partly on the authority of Thomas Wakeman. The Welsh genealogists, who omit two generations altogether, and on whose statements no reliance can be placed, describe these coheirs as (1) Margery, h. of Llanllowel, wife of Thomas Parker, (2) Margaret, h. of Tre Owen and half Llanarth, wife of David ap Jenkin (Herbert) of Cefn-y-ddwy-glwyd (slain at Edgcott Field in 1469), (3) Anne or Matilda, h. of half Llanarth, wife of David ap Gwyllym (Herbert), (4) Joan, wife of Robin Wallis, and (5) Alice, wife of Thomas William. JOHN, <sup>(c)</sup> DUKE OF LANCASTER, &c. ("John of Gaunt") 4th s. of Edward III, having shortly before resigned the style of "KING OF CASTILLE AND LEON," was, on 2 Mar. 1389/90, cr. in Parl. HENRY, PRINCE OF WALES, DUKE OF CORNWALL AND EARL OF CHESTER, s. and h. ap. of Henry IV, was declared in Parl., 10 Nov. 1399, DUKE OF LANCASTER, and was granted the titles of PRINCE OF WALES, DUKE OF AQUITAINE, OF LANCASTER AND OF CORNWALL, AND EARL OF CHESTER. It is usual for two Gentlemen of the Court to walk in the procession as DUKES OF NORMANDY AND GUIENNE, habited in the ancient dress of the Ducal Peers of France . . . in representation, as is stated in a book of the age of Henry VII, 'of the King's two Duchesses of Gyen and Normandie.' Of the first appearance of these characters in our coronations I have not found any account, but it may be conjectured that they were introduced after the conquests of Edward III, and for the purpose of perpetuating the claims of our Norman and Angevine Princes."

<sup>(b)</sup> Aquitaine was erected into a principality in 1362, for Edward, Duke of Cornwall, 1st s. and h. ap. of Edward III, but was confiscated by the King of France, by act dated 14 May 1370. The province was reconquered by Henry V in 1418, but finally lost by his successor.

<sup>(c)</sup> It is much to be wished that the surname 'Plantagenet,' which, since the time of Charles II, has been freely given to all the descendants of Geoffrey of Anjou, had some historical basis which would justify its use, for it forms a most convenient method of referring to the Edwardian kings and their numerous descendants. The fact is, however, as has been pointed out by Sir James Ramsay and other writers of our day, that the name, although a personal emblem of the aforesaid Geoffrey, was never borne by any of his descendants before Richard Plantagenet, Duke of York (father of Edward IV), who assumed it, apparently about 1448. ## ARCEDEKNE (b)

BARONY BY WRIT.

1. SIR THOMAS L'ARCEDEKNE, (c) of Ruan Laniorne, Cornwall, s. and h. of Otes l'A. (d. 1289-90), by Amice, his wife, was Governor of Tintagel Castle 1312, and Sheriff of Cornwall, Mich. 1313-14. He was sum. to Parl. 15 May (1321) 14 Edw. II to 13 Sep. (1324) 18 Edw. II, by writs directed Thome Lercedekne, whereby he may be held to have become LORD ARCEDEKNE. He m., 1stly, Alice, 3rd da. of Thomas DE LA ROCHE, (d) of Roch Castle, co. Pembroke.

(a) His next br. and h. presumptive, Hugh, sometime Lieut. 81st Foot, b. 10 Sep. 1847, d. unm. 17 July 1906, at Arbuthnott House, co. Kincardine, aged 58. V.G.

(b) The re-writing of this article has been most kindly undertaken by G.W. Watson.

The continental family of Archdeacon emigrated from Ireland to Bruges in comparatively recent times, and are descendants of the Cornish folk,—not ancestors, as M.A. Lower, in Family Names, suggests. V.G.

(and in her issue, sole h.) of Edward, 2nd Earl of Meath, Lord Brabazon and Baron Ardee [I.]. It appears from a case laid, in 1836, before the eminent Peerage lawyer, Sir N. Harris Nicolas, by Chidley Coote, of Mount Coote afsd. (grandson and h. gen. of the abovenamed Chidley Coote, the Petitioner), that the said petition was, on 22 Apr. 1762, referred to the Attorney Gen. and the Solicitor Gen. [I.], and that the latter (alone) gave his opinion thereon, which was in favour of the Petitioner, "in consequence of which a writ was ordered to issue, but the Petitioner, C. C., dying in the meantime [24 Feb. 1764], the subject was not brought forward again."

The facts of the case were these—William Brabazon, s. and h. ap. of Edward, 2nd Earl of Meath [I.], was called v.p. to the House of Peers [I.] by writ of summons, 30 Oct. 1665, as Lord Ardee, or Lord Brabazon of Ardee (the title is "Atherdee" on the Lords' Journals [I.] of 21 Dec. 1665), and sat and voted in the House as Junior Baron till his father's death, when he inherited the Earldom of Meath [I.]. His father's title as given in the patent which cr. him a Baron [I.], 19 July 1616, was "Lord Brabazon, Baron of Ardee."

Nicolas' opinion was (1) that the decision in the case of the Barony of Sydney in 1782 (20 years after the report in this case) was conclusive against any new Barony of Ardee being cr. by such writ of summons and sitting, unless there was "a material variation" from the name of the Barony enjoyed by the father of the Peer so summoned; and (2) that though the fact of Lord Brabazon having sat as Junior Baron "is entitled to some weight, still, I fear, it would not in itself be deemed sufficient to prove a new creation."

The opinion that the precedence assigned to a Barony is not, of itself, sufficient to determine the date of its creation, is strengthened by the cases of Strange, Clifford, &c. In the former case we read in Cruise (p. 227) that the newly summoned Baron's "rank and precedence is a matter merely collateral: . . . and if any question arises upon the place given [to such Baron] by the Heralds, it is to be decided by the Lords of Parl., in the House of Lords, as a matter of privilege; whereas the right of Peerage itself the Lords never have judged, but upon a reference by the Crown." G.E.C. J. H. Round however considers that this is a hazardous proposition, and instances the well-known Delawarr case temp. Eliz., in which stress was laid on the fact that William West sat as junior Baron, under a new creation, and not in the seat of his ancestors. V.G.

With respect to this claim it must moreover, be borne in mind that "Ardee,"

By privy seal, 28 June, and writ 30 Oct. 1665, William BRABAZON, s. and h. ap. of Edward, 2nd EARL OF MEATH [I.], was sum. v.p.,<sup>(a)</sup> to the House of Lords [I.] in his father's Barony as Lord BRABAZON OF ARDEE [I.]. On 25 Mar. 1675, he suc. his said father as EARL OF MEATH &c. [I.].

By writ 9 Mar. 1714/5, Chaworth BRABAZON, s. and h. ap. of Chambre, 5th EARL OF MEATH [I.], was sum. v.p.,<sup>(a)</sup> to the House of Lords [I.] in his father's Barony as LORD BRABAZON OF ARDEE [I.]. On 1 Apr. 1715, he suc. his said father as Earl of Meath &c. [I.].

ARDENERIE

BARONY [I.] I. Sir John BOURKE, otherwise DE BURGO, <sup>(d)</sup> "the Mac William Oughter," known as "Johannes Magnus," was I. May 1580. s. and h. of Oliver BOURKE, of Tyrawley, Ardenerie, <sup>(e)</sup> &c., co. Mayo, by (—)da. of (—)O'DONNELL. On 14 June 1570, he defended that county against the encroachments of Fitton, President of Connaught. He was knighted at Athlone, Apr. 1576; and in 1577 was Sheriff of co. Mayo; being, in May 1580, <sup>(f)</sup> cr. BARON OF ARDENERIE [I.], with rem. to the heirs male of his body. He d. 24 Nov. 1580.

II. Nov. 1580 2. WILLIAM BOURKE, only legit. s. and h., <sup>(g)</sup> b. probably in or before 1560, was sent in July 1579 by Sir 1591. Nicholas Malby, President of Connaught, to Sir Francis Walsingham, with whom he remained 2 or 3 years, and

<sup>(d)</sup> Some account of this branch of the Bourke family is in Lodge, vol. iv, p. 288, sub MAYO.

<sup>(e)</sup> This is evidently Ardnaree, co. Sligo, on the border of Mayo; it is now a suburb of Ballina, the largest town in Mayo. The river Moy separates the places, and is the boundary of the two counties. (G.D. Burtchaell to V.G., Oct. 1909.)

hence became known as "Walsingham's man";<sup>(a)</sup> Sheriff of co. Sligo in 1583, but did not assume the peerage (to which he was apparently, in 1580, entitled), nor did any of his descendants, who were seated in Castle Lacken, co. Mayo, down to the middle of the 18th century. He was accidentally killed in 1591, since which time the peerage has remained dormant.

ARDGLASS

EARLDOM [I.] I. THOMAS CROMWELL, only s. and h. of Edward, 3rd LORD CROMWELL, by his 2nd wife, Frances, da. of William RUGGE, of Norfolk, was b. 11 June 1594, and, having suc. his father as BARON CROMWELL 24 Sep. 1607, was on 22 Nov. 1624, cr. VISCOUNT LECALÉ in Ulster [I.], and, continuing firmly attached to the King during the Civil War (for whom he commanded a Regiment of Horse [I.]), was cr., 15 Apr. 1645 (privy seal at Oxford 7 Jan. 1644/5), EARL OF ARDGLASS [I.]. He subsequently made his peace with the Parl., paying £460 for his "delinquency." He m. Elizabeth, da. and h. of Robert MEVERELL<sup>(b)</sup>, of Throwleigh and Ilam, co. Stafford, 1570, matric. at Oxford (Magd. Coll.) 9 Feb. 1587/8, aged 17; he was admitted to the Middle Temple, 30 Oct. 1594, as "s. and h. of John Bourke of Tireawly, Kt.," and was J. P. for co. Mayo 1598. Another s., Walter B. of Belleky in Tyrawley, called "Kittagh" (left-handed), m. a da. of (—) O'Donnell of Tyrconnel, and was father of Theobald B., who by the influence of O'Donnell was declared the "MacWilliam" in 1595, which style had, however, been interdicted by the Government. After defeating the English, in 1596, under Sir John Norris, he was himself shortly after defeated and attainted. He fled to Spain, and was cr., by Philip II of Spain, Marquis of Mayo, a dignity which expired on the death of his s., Walter Bourke, s.p.

by Elizabeth, da. of Sir Thomas FLEMING, Lord Chief Justice of the King's Bench. He d. 1653, aged 59, and was bur. at Tickencote, Rutland. Will dat. 26 Mar. 1653, pr. 1661 in Prerog. Court [I.]. His widow d. the same year, and was also bur. there.

II. 1653. 2. WINGFIELD (CROMWELL), EARL OF ARDGLASS, &c., [I.], and BARON CROMWELL [E.], only s. and h., b. 12 Sep. 1624, at Throwleigh, co. Stafford. Ed. at Stone, co. Stafford, and afterwards at Finglas, co. Dublin. Matric. Trin. Coll. Dublin as Fellow Com. 20 Mar. 1637/8. D.C.L. Oxford, Nov. 1642. He was taken prisoner at Chester in the Royal cause, Apr. 1649. He m. Mary, da. of Sir William RUSSELL, Bart., of Strensham, co. Worcester, by Frances, da. of Sir Thomas READE. He d. 3 Oct. 1668, and was bur. at Ilam afsd. His widow (who had a jointure of £1,500 a year) m., between 1670 and 1675, as his 2nd wife, Charles COTTON<sup>(a)</sup>, of Beresford Hall, Notts (the Angler and Poet), who was bur. at St. James's, Westm., 16 Feb. 1686/7. She survived him, though probably somewhat his senior, and was living 12 Sep. 1687. (b)

III. 1668. 3. THOMAS (CROMWELL), EARL OF ARDGLASS, &c., [I.], and BARON CROMWELL [E.], only s. and h., b. 29 Nov. 1653, at Strensham, afsd. Matric. at Oxford (Ch. Ch.) 29 Oct. 1668. He m. Honora, sister and in her issue coh. of Murrough, 1st VISCOUNT BLESSINGTON [I.], being da. of Michael BOYLE, ARCHBISHOP OF ARMAGH and LORD CHANCELLOR [I.], by his 2nd wife, Mary, da. of Dermot (O'BRIEN), 5th BARON INCHIQVIN [I.]. He d. s.p., 11 Apr. 1682, and was bur. at Ilam afsd. (c) His widow m., before 1687, Francis CUFFE, M.P. for co. Mayo, (s. of Sir James C. of Ballinrobe) who was b. 12 Sep. 1656, and d. 26 Dec. 1694. She m., 3rdly, Capt. Thomas BURDETT, of Garahill, co. Carlow, who subsequently (1723) was cr. a Bart. [I.], and who d. 14 Apr. 1727. She d. in Dublin, and was bur. 14 Nov. 1710, in St. Patrick's, in that city.

IV. 1682 4. VERE ESSEX (CROMWELL), EARL OF ARDGLASS, and

BARONY.

I. 1880. I. SIR ARTHUR EDWARD GUINNESS, Bart., of Ashford, co. Galway, s. and h. of Sir Benjamin Lee GUINNESS, Bart., (b) by Elizabeth, 3rd da. of Edward GUINNESS, of Dublin, was b. 1 Nov. 1840, at St. Anne's, Clontarf, co. Dublin, ed. at Eton, and at Trin. Coll., Dublin; B.A. 1863; M.A. 1866; suc. his father 19 Mar. 1868; was M.P. (Conservative) for the City of Dublin 1868-69, and again 1874-80, and was cr., 1 May 1880, BARON ARDILAUN OF ASHFORD, co. Galway. Hon. LL.D. Dublin, 1891. He m., 16 Feb. 1871, at Bantry, co. Cork, Olivia Charlotte, 2nd da. of William Henry Hare (HEDGES WHITE), 3rd EARL OF BANTRY [I.], by Jane, da. of Charles John HERBERT, of Muckross Abbey, co. Kerry. She was b. 27 Aug. 1850.

(*) A Barony of Cromwell, supposed to have been cr. by writ, 28 Apr. 1539, was considered to have devolved on Elizabeth, only da. of the last Earl of Ardglass [I.], and this Lady appeared as "Baroness Cromwell" at the funeral of Queen Mary, and at the coronation of Queen Anne. It appears, however, that there was no sitting in Parl. under the writ of 1539, which, of itself, would be fatal to such writ having cr. a Barony in fee. In the same writ his father is sum., also as Lord Cromwell, though, being Vicar Gen., he is placed (as such?) at the head of the list. However five months after the death of his father, the Earl of Essex, (who had been so cr. in Apr., but who was attainted, and beheaded July 1540) the said Gregory Cromwell was cr. by patent, 18 Dec. 1540, Baron Cromwell "to him and the heirs male of his body." The Barony thus cr. by the patent of 1540, appears to have been the only Barony of Cromwell vested in the Earls of Ardglass [I.].

(b) So cr. in 1867, in recognition of his munificent restoration of the Cathedral of St. Patrick, Dublin, at his own sole expense. He was head of the well known firm of "Arthur Guinness and Co," Dublin, Brewers.

Family Estates.—These, in 1883, consisted of about 27,000 acres in co. Galway, about 4,000, co. Mayo, and about 500, co. Dublin. Total about 31,500 acres, worth about £6,500 a year. Principal Residences.—Ashford, <sup>(a)</sup> near Cong, co. Galway; St. Anne's, Clontarf, co. Dublin.

 "It was in 1852 that the late Sir Benjamin Guinness bought Ashford of Lord Oranmore as a small residential estate, being captivated by the extreme beauty of the spot, and intending merely to build a cottage ornée. In 1860 he added the adjacent Rosshill, sold to him by Lord Charlemont and Lord Leitrim, who had married the two Miss Berminghams, who were co-heiresses. Oddly enough, the next purchase in 1864 was also from co-heiresses—from the Misses Blake, nieces of the late Sir Valentine Blake. It was that of Doon, and the picturesquely situated island ruin of Castle Kirk is a part of it. I have not visited the Doon property, where there is a handsome shooting lodge, but it is said to be as rich in natural attractions as Ashford. It was about the same time, I think, that 2,000 of the most poverty-stricken of the acres which I passed through in the neighbourhood of Maan were acquired from Sir Richard O'Donnell. Lastly, in 1870, the 6,000 acres around the white shooting lodge on the Lake of Kylemore, were bought from Mr. Finlay, a newspaper proprietor in Belfast, who had himself purchased them not very long before from the D'Arcy's of Clifden, one of the oldest of the Mayo families. The average price of these lands was 20 years of the former rents; of course the rents since then have in many cases been considerably reduced."

<sup>(b)</sup> 'Ardmannach was a generic name, including Avach and Eddirdale, held by the Douglas family previous to their forfeiture, the chief messuage of Avach being Ormond (known also as Douglas) Castle.' (Letter of G. Burnett, sometime Lyon). See also note sub ORMOND.

ARGYLL

EARLDOM [S.] I. COLIN (CAMPBELL), LORD CAMPBELL [S.], <sup>(a)</sup> s. and h. of Archibald CAMPBELL, of Lochow, Argyll, styled MASTER OF CAMPBELL, by Elizabeth, da. of John (SOMERVILE), 3rd LORD SOMERVILE, which Archibald was s. and h. ap. of Duncan, 1st LORD CAMPBELL [S.], but d. v.p., between Apr. 1431 and Mar. 1440. He suc. to the dignity of a Lord of Parl. [S.] by the death of his said grandfather, in 1453, being then a minor, and was cr. by James II, in 1457, EARL OF ARGYLL [S.]. <sup>(a)</sup> He was employed in various embassies to England and France, was Master of the Household 1464, and Chancellor [S.] 1483 to Feb. 1488, and again June 1488 till his death. In 1460 he had a commission as Bailie of Cowal. In 1471 he had a charter of the heritable offices of Justiciary and Sheriff within the lordship of Lorne. In 1479 he had a charter confirming to him the offices of Lieutenant and Commissary of Argyll, as held by his ancestors Gillespic and Colin Cambel under a charter of 1382. In 1487 he joined the conspiracy of the nobles against James III. He m., before 9 Apr. 1465, Elizabeth or Isabel, da. and senior coh. of John (STEWART), 2nd LORD LORNE [S.]. On the resignation of her uncle, Walter STEWART, the h. male of the family, till then usually designated LORD LORNE, but afterwards LORD INNERMEATH [S.], he obtained a crown charter of the Lordship of Lorne (dominium de Lorne), 17 Apr. 1470, to him and the heirs male of his body, with rem. to Sir Colin Campbell of Glenorchy, to Colin Campbell Nelesoun, to Duncan Campbell (br. of Sir Colin, of Glenorchy), &c., each in like manner respectively. It was made a condition of this resignation that the resigner should continue a Lord of Parl. by the style of Lord of Innermeath "or any other honourable place that pleases him." From that time the Earl is usually designated (as are his successors) "Earl of Argyll, Lord Campbell and Lorne." <sup>(b)</sup> After the rebellion in 1487, which ended in the death of James III at Sauchieburn, he was deprived of the office of Chancellor, but was reinstated by James IV in 1488, as above. He d. 10 May 1493. His widow d. 26 Oct. 1510, at Dunbarton, and was bur. at Kilmun. <sup>(c)</sup>

II. 1493. 2. ARCHIBALD (CAMPBELL), EARL OF ARGYLL, &c. [S.], s. and h. He, like his father, was in the confidence of James IV, to whom, in Mar. 1494/5, he was Master of the Household. <sup>(d)</sup>

<sup>(a)</sup> Both the Barony and the Earldom (of which the former was cr. 1445) belong to periods at which the Great Seal is defective, and no document connected with either is extant. The usual form and spelling is "Ergile," or, when Latinized, "Ergadia." It was in the time of the 1st Earl that the form of "Campbell" began to supersede the old spelling of "Cambel."

In addition to the offices inherited from his father, enumerated in his service of 1493 (Sheriff, Justiciary, Chamberlain and Coroner of Argyll and Lorne, and Lieut. within the said Sheriffdom), he had, by a charter of 1504, those of Justiciary, Sheriff, Coroner and Chamberlain of Kintyre and Knapdale, and Captain of Tarbert. In 1500 he was made Lieut. Gen. of the Isles. He m. Elizabeth, 1st da. of John (STEWART), 1st EARL OF LENNOX [S.], by Margaret, da. of Alexander (MONTGOMERY), 1st LORD MONTGOMERY [S.]. He d. 9 Sep. 1513, being slain at the battle of Flodden, <sup>(a)</sup> where he and his br.-in-law, the Earl of Lennox [S.], commanded the right wing of the army, and was bur. at Kilmun.

III. 1513. 3. COLIN [CAMPBELL], EARL OF ARGYLL, &c. [S.], s. and h. He was a prominent statesman both during the minority of James V, when he exerted himself to procure the tranquillity of the Isles, and throughout the reign of that King; besides holding the heritable offices of Sheriff, Justiciary, Chamberlain, and Coroner of Argyll, and the offices of Justiciary, Sheriff, Coroner, Bailie, and Chamberlain of Kintyre and Knapdale, held by his father, he was also made HIGH JUSTICIAR, or Justice Gen., OF SCOTLAND July 1514, and Lieut. of the Isles in 1516. Vice-regent and Lieut. of the Kingdom, May 1511; Lieut. of the Borders and Warden of the Marches, July 1528. In 1528 he was confirmed in the appointment of JUSTICIAR [S.], and had that of Master of the Household [S.] conferred on him. In 1528 he obtained the barony of Abernethy, part of the forfeited estate of Archibald (Douglas), 5th Earl of Angus [S.]. In 1529 (shortly before his death) he resigned nearly the whole of his lands, together with the offices of Sheriff of Argyll, Kintyre, and Knapdale, in favour of his s. and h. ap., Archibald Campbell, styled Master of Argyll. He m., before 28 Feb. 1506/7, Jean, 1st da. of Alexander (GORDON), 3rd EARL OF HUNTLY [S.], by his 1st wife, Janet, da. of John (STEWART), EARL OF ATHOLL [S.]. He d. in 1529, before 26 Mar. <sup>(b)</sup>

IV. 1529. 4. ARCHIBALD (CAMPBELL), EARL OF ARGYLL, &c. [S.], s. and h. On 19 Aug. and 2 Sep. 1529, he had (v.p.) sasine of the lands and offices conveyed to him by his father, and on 28 Oct. 1529, he was (as Archibald, Earl of Argyll) appointed JUSTICIAR OF SCOTLAND, and Master of the Household. Master of the King's wine cellar, 28 Mar. 1542. In 1543, the lands of Muckart, co. Perth, were bestowed on him for his services in the defence of the Church against heresies. In 1545 he was made Justiciary of Bute. He commanded a body of Highlanders at Pinkie 10 Sep. 1547, and was at the siege of Haddington in 1548, but was soon afterwards won over (by English gold)

Scotland in 1494, apparently arises from confusing him with Archibald, Earl of Angus, who then held that office. The discrepancies in dates and statements in this from that work must generally be regarded as deliberate. V.G.

He m., 2ndly, 21 Apr. 1541, at the Priory of Inchmahome, Margaret, da. of William (GRAHAM), 3RD EARL OF MENTEITH [S.], by Margaret, da. of John MOUBRAY, of Barnbogle. He m., 3rdly, before 23 Jan. 1546, Catharine Maclean. <sup>(b)</sup> He d. between 21 Aug. and 2 Dec. 1558, "in tempore congregationis" at Dulnynn, (? Dunoon) and was bur. at Kilmun. His widow m., 2ndly, about 1559, Callough (or Calvagh) O'DONNELL, whose creation, as Earl of Tyrconnell [I.], was ordered by Queen Elizabeth 27 May 1561, though this was never carried out. He d. Dec. 1567. She m., 3rdly, shortly before 6 Apr. 1575, when her m. cont. is mentioned in a disposition of lands to herself, John STEWART, of Appin, who d. in or shortly before 1595.

V. 1558. 5. ARCHIBALD (CAMPBELL), EARL OF ARGYLL, &c. [S.], s. and h. by 1st wife, b. about 1532. In 1552 he had a grant of the hereditary offices on his father's resignation. In 1558 he had a charter (from Francis and Mary) of the office of JUSTICIAR OF SCOTLAND for life, confirmed, by Queen Mary, in 1561, but in 1565 he appeared in arms against her; he also participated in the plot for Darnley's murder, but afterwards supported the cause of the Queen, for whom he fought at Langside, 13 May 1568, being appointed her Lieut. on the day of that battle, and exhibiting incapacity and irresolution. P.C. 1571. In 1572 he came to terms of accommodation with the Regent Morton, and on 15 Jan. 1572/3 was made CHANCELLOR [S.], for life. He m., 1stly, (cont. dat. 1 July 1553) Jean, illegit. da. of JAMES V, by Elizabeth, da. of Sir John BETHUNE, of Creich. She was present with the Queen at the murder of Rizzio, 9 Mar. 1566. In that same year, also, she stood proxy for Queen Elizabeth, as Godmother to James VI. The Earl was censured by the Gen. Assembly in Dec. 1567, for having separated from her. She, who continued a Catholic, was taken prisoner at the surrender of Edinburgh Castle, 28 May 1573. She had endeavoured to stipulate that she should not be surrendered to her husband, fearing to come to "a hard end" at Inveraray. From her he obtained a divorce "for desertion," 23 June 1573. <sup>(c)</sup> In Aug. 1573 he m., 2ndly, (cont. dat. 5 Aug. 1573) Janet, da.

<sup>(c)</sup> This is the first case in Scotland of a divorce being obtained for "non-adherence." In 1572 the Earl had obtained a decree of 'adherence,' and on 25 Apr. 1573 she was excommunicated. On 30 Apr. following he obtained an Act of Parl. falsely declaring the law as to non adherence entitling to a divorce to have existed since Aug. 1560, and the divorce was granted as stated in the text. The Earl's interest with the party of the Reformation, as also that of the father of his new wife, tended to their being able to carry this measure. However, perhaps owing to the above fraud, it was not fully recognized after the Earl's death, and the countess of Alexander (CUNNINGHAM), 5th EARL OF GLENCAIRN [S.], by his 2nd wife, Janet, da. of Sir John CUNNINGHAM, of Caprington. He d. s.p., of the stone, 12 Sep. 1573, <sup>(a)</sup> aged about 43. Will pr. 25 May 1576, at Edinburgh. His widow m., in 1583, Humphrey COLQUHOUN, of Luss, and d. s.p., 1584.

VI. 1573. 6. COLIN (CAMPBELL), EARL OF ARGYLL, &c. [S.], half br. and h., being s. of the 4th Earl by his 2nd wife. He was known before he succeeded to the Earldom as Sir Colin Campbell of Boquhan. In 1571, on his brother's resignation, he had the hereditary offices conferred upon him. A quarrel with the Regent Morton, arising out of a demand that he should restore certain royal jewels (of which his countess had become possessed when wife of the Regent Moray), combined with other sources of irritation, led him, in coalition with John, Earl of Atholl [S.], to obtain possession of the young King, who was made to take the sceptre in his own hands, effecting thereby Morton's retirement from the regency. Morton, however, recovering the power, though not the name of Regent, an accommodation was effected, and on 10 Aug. 1579, Argyll was made CHANCELLOR [S.], which office he retained till his death. He m., 1stly, (cont. dat. 14 Oct. 1551, when she was not yet of full contracting age) Joan, (legitimated 1551) da. of Henry (STEWART), 1st LORD METHVEN [S.], by his 3rd wife, Janet, Dowager COUNTESS OF SUTHERLAND [S.], da. of John (STEWART), 2nd EARL OF ATHOLL [S.]. She d. s.p. <sup>(b)</sup> He m., 2ndly, between May 1571, and 26 Feb. 1571/2, Annabel, or Agnes, widow of James, EARL OF MORAY [S.] (the well-known REGENT, assassinated 1570), da. of William (KEITH), 4th EARL MARISCHAL [S.], by Margaret, da. and coh. of Sir William KEITH. He d. 10 Sep. 1584, at Darnaway. Will dat. 5 Sep. 1584, pr. 23 June 1586, at Edinburgh. His widow, who was excommunicated for non-adherence to her husband, about 25 Apr. 1573, d. 16 July 1588, at Edinburgh, and was bur. at St. Giles's there, with her 1st husband. Funeral entry at Lyon office. Will pr. 9 Aug. 1591, at Edinburgh.

VII. 1584. 7. ARCHIBALD (CAMPBELL), EARL OF ARGYLL, &c. [S.], s. and h. by 2nd wife, b. 1575. At the age of 18, in 1594, he was sent, as the King's Lieut., against Huntly and Erroll, the Catholic Lords, by whom he was completely defeated, 3 Oct. 1594, at Glenlivet or Balrinnies. In the decret of ranking, 5 Mar. 1606, he was placed (not according to the precedence of the creation of his Earldom, but) in the exalted rank of 2nd Earl [S.], owing to his office as JUSTICE

Jean continued to hold the dower lands. She was legitimated under the great seal, 18 Oct. 1580, and d. 7 Jan. 1587/8, being bur. as Countess of Argyll, at Holyrood. Her will, as Dame Jane Stewart, spouse of Alexander [sic] Earl of Argyll, was pr. at Edinburgh, 26 Mar. 1588.

GENERAL. (a) In 1610 he had, on his resignation, a charter to himself in life rent, and to his s. and h. ap., Archibald, in fee, of his Earldom and hereditary offices. Having expelled the Macdonalds of Kintyre, he obtained a grant of the whole of that Lordship, including the island of Jura, in 1617. In 1618, having become a Roman Catholic after his 2nd marriage with a lady of that faith, he served, under Philip III of Spain, against Holland. (b) On 16 Feb. 1618/9, he was formally declared a rebel and traitor at the Market Cross, Edinburgh, which sentence was reversed 22 Nov. 1621. (a) THE PRECEDENCY OF THE EARLS OF ANGUS, ARGYLL, CRAWFORD,
ERROLL AND MARISCHAL

Over the other Earls [S.] of more ancient creation.

As in England, by the ranking of Henry VIII, several of the King's Officers of State were placed (during their tenure of office) at the top of that class of the nobility of which they happened to be members, so in Scotland (on a somewhat similar principle) certain Earls who held high office (though, in some cases, hereditary office) were ranked above other Earls of more ancient creation.

The precedence of Angus, above all other Earls, (which apparently was originally one more by privilege than office) had been conferred by James VI, under charter of the Great Seal [S.] in 1602, and, consequently, was ratified four years later at the "Decreet of Ranking" in 1606. (For a fuller account of the precedence of Angus see ante p. 160 note "b.") In this decreet the 1st place was allotted to ANGUS, the next to ARGYLL, and the 3rd, 4th and 5th places, to CRAWFORD, ERROLL and MARISCHAL respectively. This was according to "the old established Precedences from Office or Privilege a matter about which much evidence may be gleaned from the Scottish Records. Privilege or office, and not priority of creation was the cause why Angus, Argyle [owing to his office as Justice General], Crawford, Erroll and Marischal, preceded all the other Earls. Next came the two oldest Earls [according to priority of creation, viz.] Sutherland and Mar, the former producing title deeds dating from 1347, the latter from 1395 and 1404. Then followed Rothes, &c. . . . Till the middle of the sixteenth century there seems to have been no recognition of precedence in virtue of priority of creation. In the fifteenth century the idea of the great Earls of Douglas or Crawford yielding the pas to an Earl of older date (e.g. Ross or Sutherland) would have been unintelligible. The right of ANGUS (who came in the place of Douglas) to bear the Crown and precede all Earls (if not Dukes) was recognized in Parl. in 1592, and by charter of 1599. On public occasions, when Angus bore the Crown, ARGYLE, who also held the hereditary office of Justiciary, bore the sceptre; and, by contemporary evidence, CRAWFORD's privilege of bearing the sword was equally acknowledged. As the Constable [i.e. the Earl of ERROLL] and [the Earl] MARISCHAL, were both Commissioners [in the decreet of ranking, in 1606], it would have been strange if their official precedence, often alluded to in the records, had been unrecognised. It was the clashing of the new ideas with the old that had caused the unseemly scenes in Parl., and that led to the appointment of the Commission of 1606." See an able article on "Jurisdiction in Scottish Peerages," by George Burnett, sometime Lyon, in the Journal of Jurisprudence, &c., vol. 27 (No. 317), p. 241 and note thereto.

Quitting thy Prince to serve his foreign foes." V.G.

8 and 1. ARCHIBALD (CAMPBELL), EARL OF ARGYLL, &c. [S.], s. and h., being only s. by 1st wife, b. between Aug. 1605 and Apr. 1607, probably in 1607. Matric. at St. Andrew's 15 Jan. 1622. In 1618, his father having left the kingdom, the care of the Western Highlands devolved on him, and to him, being a Protestant, his father was directed to make over all his estates. (<sup>b</sup>) In 1625 the office of JUSTICE GENERAL [S.] was conferred on him and his successors, Earls of Argyll, but in 1628 it was resigned by him to the King. P.C. 12 June 1628. On 14 Jan. 1634, he was (under the style of "Lord Lorn") one of the Extraordinary Lords of Session. On his accession to the Earldom he subscribed the "Covenant"; in 1639 he sent 500 Highlanders to swell the covenanting force at Aberdeen, and in 1640, in the cause of the "Covenant," he carried fire and sword through Atholl, Badenoch, and Angus. But when Charles I came to Scotland, Aug. 1641, he made his peace with him, and was cr., 15 Nov. 1641, MARQUESS OF ARGYLL [S.], a pension of £1000 a year being, at the same time, settled upon him. Soon afterwards he again joined the Covenanters, but was signally defeated at Inverlochy, 2 Feb. 1644/5, and at Kilsyth, 15 Aug. 1645, by Montrose. In Oct. 1648 he conducted Cromwell to Edinburgh, where the "Covenant" was renewed. He assisted, however, in bringing Charles II to Scotland in June 1650, (<sup>c</sup>) and placed the Crown on his head at Scone, 1 Jan. 1650/1, (<sup>a</sup>) James Campbell, her 1st s., was (v.p.), on 22 Feb. 1626, cr. LORD OF KINTYRE [S.] "to him, his heirs male and successors in that Lordship." He was afterwards, 1642, cr. EARL OF IRVINE and LORD OF LUNDIE [S.], with rem. to the heirs male of his body. On his death the title of "LORD OF KINTYRE" [S.] was inherited, under the spec. rem., by his br., the Marquess of Argyll [S.].

(<sup>b</sup>) On this occasion his father is reported by Clarendon to have given the following account of him to the King. "Sir, I must know this young man better than you can do: you have brought me low that you may raise him, which I doubt you will live to repent; for he is a man of craft and subtlety and falsehood, and can love no man; and if ever he finds it in his power to do you a mischief he will be sure to do it." V.G.

(<sup>c</sup>) A letter to him from Charles II, dat. 24 Sep. 1650, is extant, promising to make him a Duke and K.G., and Gent. of the Bedchamber, "on the word of a King!" V.G.

having obtained a promise to be made a Duke and K.G. Subsequently, however, he was present at the proclamation of Cromwell as Lord Protector, and signed a promise to live peaceably under that Government. He was M.P. for co. Aberdeen 1658-59. <sup>(a)</sup> On the death of his half br. James, Earl of Irvine [S.], s.p., in Sep. 1645, he inherited the title of LORD OF KINTYRE [S.], cr. 22 Feb. 1626. In July 1660 he went to London, to wait on the newly arrived King, but this, the last of his many tergiversations, availed him nothing, as he was ordered to the Tower, and thence taken to Edinburgh Castle. He was tried for high treason and sentence pronounced against him 25 May 1661, when, having been attainted, all his honours became forfeited. He d. 27 May 1661, being executed <sup>(b)</sup> at the Cross of Edinburgh; his head was exposed (where Montrose's had been) on the top of the Tolbooth till 8 June, when it was bur. with his body at Kilmun. <sup>(c)</sup> He m., in 1626, shortly before 6 Aug., his cousin, Margaret, 2nd da. of William (DOUGLAS), 9th EARL OF MORTON [S.], by Anne, 1st da. of George (KEITH), 5th EARL MARISCHAL [S.]. His widow, who was b. 1610, d. 13 Mar. 1677/8.

EARLDOM [S.] 9. ARCHIBALD CAMPBELL, styled LORD LORNE and MASTER OF ARGYLL in his father's lifetime, and for some period after his death, s. and h., b. 26 Feb. 1628/9, at Dalkeith. He was appointed Col. of the Foot Guards and fought at Dunbar, 3 Sep. 1650, and at Worcester, 3 Sep. 1651, on behalf of Charles II, and being then Lieut. Gen., was excepted from Cromwell's Act of Grace 1654. He afterwards, however, submitted, but was compelled to find £5000 security. At the Restoration he was imprisoned and sentenced to death, 26 Aug. 1662, but was released 4 June 1663, and, by patent, 16 Oct. 1663, wherein he is styled "Dominus de Lorne," was restored to the titles of EARL OF ARGYLL, LORD CAMPBELL, LORNE and KINTYRE [S.]. <sup>(d)</sup> F.R.S. 28 Oct. 1663; nom. P.C. Apr. and sworn 9 June 1664. On 15 Oct. 1667, he received a new charter of all his lands and offices. <sup>(e)</sup> From 11 July 1674 to Nov. 1681, <sup>(a)</sup> Though a peer of Scotland, he sat in the House of Commons, as did the 2nd, 4th, and 5th VISCOUNTS FALKLAND.

<sup>(b)</sup> See N. & Q., 3rd Ser., vol. ii, p. 260, &c. Lord Clarendon describes him as "a person of extraordinary cunning," one, who "carried himself so, that they, who hated him most, were willing to compound with him," and as having "no martial qualities, nor the reputation of more courage than violent and imperious persons, whilst they meet with no opposition, are used to have."

<sup>(c)</sup> He was a small, wiry, squinting, blue eyed, red haired man, with a high forehead and hooked nose. V.G.

<sup>(e)</sup> The office of JUSTICE GEN. OF SCOTLAND was not included, as it had ceased to be in the family. It was not, strictly speaking, hereditary, excepting from 1625 to 1628; but it was virtually so, having been held by the 2nd down to the 8th inclusive. In 1561, in the confirmation thereof to the 5th Earl, the moving cause is said to be

he was an Extraordinary Lord of Session. On 19 Dec. 1681, he was sentenced to death for high treason, for refusing to subscribe to the "Test Act," but escaped from Edinburgh Castle to Holland, when, having been attainted, all his honours became forfeited. <sup>(a)</sup> On 17 Apr. 1685, he was chosen General of the forces which invaded Scotland in support of Monmouth's rebellion. After a short and inglorious campaign, he was taken prisoner at a ford of the Inchinnan, was executed on his former sentence (at the same place as his father had been) on 30 June 1685, <sup>(b)</sup> and bur. in Greyfriars churchyard. M.I. He m., 1stly, 13 May 1650, in the Canongate, Edinburgh, Mary, 1st da. of James (STUART), 4th EARL OF MORAY [S.], by Margaret, 1st da. of Alexander (HOME), 1st EARL OF HOME [S.]. She d. May 1668. He m., 2ndly, 28 Jan. 1670, Anne, Dowager COUNTESS OF BALCARRES [S.], 2nd da. of Colin (MACKENZIE), 1st EARL OF SEAFORTH [S.], by Margaret, 1st da. of Alexander (SETON), 1st EARL OF DUMFERMLINE [S.]. By her he had no issue. She was a prisoner in Edinburgh Castle at the time of her husband's execution in 1685, and was bur. at Balcarres 29 May 1707.

DUKEDOM [S.]

I. 1701.

IO and I. ARCHIBALD CAMPBELL, styled LORD LORNE and MASTER OF ARGYLL in the lifetime, and for some period after the death of his father, s. and h. by 1st wife. On his father's afsd. invasion, in 1685, he offered to serve against him, placing himself in the hands of King James. This King, however, he soon afterwards deserted, and assisted the Prince of Orange in his expedition against him to his utmost power. In 1689 he was admitted as EARL OF ARGYLL [S.] into the convention of estates [S.], made P.C. 1 May, and, on 5 June in that year, his father's attainder was rescinded. From 14 Dec. 1694 until his death, he was an Extraordinary Lord of Session. He commanded a regiment, chiefly of his own clan, in Flanders, and was Col. of the (Scottish regt.) 4th troop of Horse Guards 1696-1703. A Lord of the Treasury [S.] 1696-1703. On 23 June 1701, he was cr. DUKE OF ARGYLL, MARQUESS OF KINTYRE and LORN (sic), EARL OF CAMPBELL AND COWALL, VISCOUNT OF LOCHOW and GLENYLA, LORD OF INVERARY, MULL, MORVERN and TIRIE [S.], with rem. to his that the office had been held and the duties well discharged by the grantee's father and grandfather; and in the charter of 1625 it is stated that the predecessors of the Earl had for ages past exercised this office. On the other hand the JUSTICIARYSHIP OF ARGYLL AND OF THE ISLES (comprised in this charter) were, in the strictest sense, hereditary and continued in the family till 1747. The office of GRAND MASTER OF THE HOUSEHOLD (which still continues in the family) was also confirmed by this charter as a hereditary office. (ex inform. G. Burnett, sometime Lyon.)

<sup>(a)</sup> Halifax remarks on this, "I know nothing of the Scotch law, but this I know, that we should not hang a dog here, on the grounds on which my Lord Argyle has been sentenced." V.G.

He d. <sup>(b)</sup> 25 Sep. 1703, at Cherton House, near Newcastle. <sup>(c)</sup> His will, made long before his creation as a Duke, in which he styles himself "Earl of Argyll, Lord Kintyre, Campbell and Lorne," dat. 26 Sep. 1690, at Inveraray, was produced 2 Oct. 1703, at Edinburgh, and pr. 1 July 1704. His widow, who was hap. 10 July 1659, at Great Fakenham, Suffolk, and who had been separated from her husband many years before his death, d. 9 May 1735, at Campbelltown.

2 and 11. JOHN (CAMPBELL), DUKE OF ARGYLL, &c. [S.], s. and h., b. 10 Oct. 1680, at Ham House, Petersham. <sup>(d)</sup> K.T. 4 Feb. 1703/4. An extraordinary Lord of Session 1704-08. High Commissioner of the Parl. [S.] 1705. He exerted himself greatly in favour of the Protestant succession, and of the Union between England and Scotland. On 26 Nov. 1705, he was cr. BARON OF CHATHAM, and EARL OF GREENWICH, Kent [E.]. Col. of the 4th troop of Horse Guards 1703-15; Col. of the 3rd Regt. of Foot (or Buffs) 1707-11; Col. of the Royal Horse Guards 1715-17, 1733-40, and Feb. to Mar. 1742; Col. of the 3rd Horse (now 2nd Dragoon Guards) 1726-33. Brig. Gen. 1704; Major Gen. 1706; Lieut. Gen. 1709; Gen. 1711; Field Marshal 14 Jan. 1735/6. He served in the wars under Marlborough with great distinction, 1708-10. P.C. [G.B.] 3 Feb. 1708/9. El. K.G. 22 Mar. 1709/10, when he resigned the Order of the Thistle, <sup>(e)</sup> inst. 22 Dec. 1710. AMBASSADOR to Charles III of Spain Jan. 1710/1. Governor of Minorca June 1712 to Apr. 1714, and 5 Oct. 1714 to July 1716; Governor of Edinburgh Castle 1712-14. At the Council of 30 July 1714, whereby the undisputed succession of the House of Hanover was chiefly secured, he and the Duke of Somerset boldly presented themselves without having been summoned. He was one of the Lords Justices, Regents of the Realm (1 Aug. to 18 Sep. 1714),

<sup>(a)</sup> The patent is made out in the plural—i.e. "Duces de Argyll, &c.," the word "Lorn" being spelt therein without the final "e." It is to be remarked that "the limitation of the Dukedom of Argyll is so expressed that the Earldom can never subsist independently of it." (Riddell, Scotch Peerage Law, 1833, p. 109, note 1.)

Two letters to Robert Harley, of 1 and 5 Oct. 1703, describe his death, and mention his "eminent parts and endowments of mind," as well as "his vices and scandalous course of life." V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> A letter to Robert Harley, 5 Oct. 1703, speaks of him as "a very hopeful person, being sober, thoughtful, a good husband, and having to a more than ordinary degree the promising character of being a strict observer of his word." V.G.

On 27 Apr. 1719, he was cr. DUKE OF GREENWICH [G.B.]. <sup>(a)</sup> See for a list of these, note sub William, DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE [1707].

<sup>(b)</sup> From 1733 he was a leading opponent of Walpole, voting steadily with the Tories and "Patriots" until the fall of that Minister in 1742. According to his M.I. he was "a General and Orator exceeded by none in the age he lived," which "terminological inexactitude" is versified by Pope as

"Argyle the State's whole thunder born to wield,
And shake alike the Senate and the Field."

<sup>(d)</sup> Bishop Burnet's character of him, with Dean Swift's remarks thereon in italics, is as follows:—"Few of his years have a better understanding, nor a more manly behaviour. He has seen most of the Courts of Europe; is very handsome in his person; fair complexioned; about twenty-five years old. Ambitious, covetous, cunning Scot, has no principle but his own interest and greatness." Swift also writes of "his unquiet spirit, never easy while there is any one above him." "This great Duke was in his political life but a petty intriguer, a greedy courtier, and a factious patriot." (Suffolk Correspondence, vol. ii, p. 119.) He "was graceful in his figure, ostentatious in his behaviour, impetuous in his passions; prompt to insult, even where he had wit to wound and eloquence to confound; and what is seldom seen, a miser as early as a hero. . . . He had a great thirst for books, a head admirably turned to mechanics; was a patron of ingenious men, a promoter of discoveries, and one of the first great encouragers of planting in England. . . . But perhaps too much has been said on the subject of a man who had so little great either in himself or his views. . . that posterity will probably interest themselves very slightly in the history of his fortunes." (Horace Walpole, George II, vol. i, pp. 275-8.) An excellent Memoir of him, by Lady Louisa Stuart, was published in 1899. She describes him as very handsome, "warm hearted, frank, honourable, magnanimous, but rash, fiery tempered, ambitious, haughty, impatient of contradiction. . . . whose shining abilities, and loftiness of mind did not prevent his harbouring the most illiberal contempt of Treasury [S.] 1705-06. One of the Commissioners for the treaty of the Union of Scotland with England. On 19 Oct. 1706, he was cr. EARL AND VISCOUNT OF ILAY, (<sup>b</sup>) LORD ORANSAY, DUNOON AND ARASE [S.]. He was a REP. PEER [S.] 1707-13, and again 1715-61. An extraordinary Lord of Session 1708 till his death; Lord Justice Gen. [S.], 1710 for life. P.C. 13 Dec. 1711. He was a great promoter of the succession of the House of Hanover, and was Lord Clerk Register, Aug. 1714 to July 1716. He fought and was wounded at Sheriffmuir. Lord Lieut. of Midlothian from 1715, and of co. Haddington from 1737, till his death. Privy Seal [S.], 1721-33; Keeper of the Great Seal [S.], 1733-61, being a steadfast supporter of Walpole's administration. Under the Jurisdiction Act of 1747, four years after he had suc. to the Dukedom, he was allowed £21,000 for the hereditary offices of Justiciary of Argyllshire and the Isles, the Sheriffship of Argyll, and the Regality of Campbell. (<sup>b</sup>) A very interesting letter from the Earl of Mar, dat. 29 Oct. 1706, states that the title originally selected for the Earldom and Viscounty, was Dundee, and describes the natural indignation of the Earl of Montrose that a title borne by the most distinguished cadet of his house should pass to a Campbell. It further details the great difficulty experienced in persuading the Duke of Argyll to agree to his brother's title being changed. (Hist. MSS. Com., Mar MSS., pp. 303-4.) V.G.

2, 9 and 18. JOHN DOUGLAS SUTHERLAND (CAMPBELL), <sup>(d)</sup> DUKE OF ARGYLL [U.K. 1892], DUKE OF ARGYLL, MARQUESS OF KINTYRE AND LORN (sic) [1701]; EARL OF ARGYLL [1457]; EARL OF CAMPBELL AND COWALL [1701]; VISCOUNT LOCHOW

<sup>(a)</sup> He was one of the (ordinary) Knights of the Thistle (of whom his ancestor, the 3rd Duke, was another) who have obtained the Garter; but, in his case, was added the very rare distinction of being one (out of four) of those Knights who were permitted to retain both orders. See ante, p. 16, note "d."

<sup>(c)</sup> He is thus described in Gent. Mag., Feb. 1857. "Remarkable for an extreme juvenility of appearance, and hair which his enemies might call red. A slim person, features intelligent and regular, a good voice and excellent delivery, great confidence and self possession of manner, and considerable industry, constitute some of his characteristics." In later life he proved himself a very able man, both in politics (as a Liberal), and in other fields, but was somewhat too arrogant and cocksure. On his retirement from Gladstone's Government in 1881, Punch insinuated the Ducal surprise, that the Ministry did not instantly collapse, by putting in his mouth Macbeth's lines,

"The time has been

That when the brains were out the man would die."

He was author of a work called The Reign of Law, written with the object of reconciling the claims of Science and Religion. V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> He was gazetted (on the announcement of his marriage) 25 Oct. 1870, as "John George Edward Henry Douglas Sutherland," which was corrected as above

ARKLOW

The existence of the Barony of Arklow as an Irish Peerage, though believed in by some, can hardly be maintained. In the elaborate account of the Butler family given (1754 and 1789) by John Lodge, in his Peerage of Ireland (vol. iv., pp. 1-76), the title of "Baron of Arklow" is not even mentioned. William Lynch, however (who may be considered as an authority on Feudal Institutions in Ireland), classes it (p. 92) as "an ancient feudal Barony" descending (in accordance with his views on these "prescriptive or feudal dignities") to the heir male. He contends (p. 81) that the first holder of this "Barony" was Theobald Walter, <sup>(e)</sup> the first

<sup>(e)</sup> J.H.Round, in an article on Theobald Butler, in Dict. of Nat. Biog., says that he "received from John (before 1189) the fief of Arklow, afterwards confirmed to him

“Butler” [who was possessed, possibly in 1177, but certainly in 1205, of the Lordship of Arklow], and that from him it has descended to his heirs male, thereby vesting in each successive Earl of Ormonde of the house of Butler. In support of this assertion he urges (p. 219) that “it continued to be enjoyed by the heir male of the Butler family, even when, under Henry VIII, the heir male had ceased to hold the Earldom,” and that it was “so enjoyed by the successive heirs male who became Earls.”<sup>(a)</sup> He also mentions (p. 220) its recognition, under Charles II, “in various Royal instruments,” and speaks of “the multiplicity of proofs and documents still to be found respecting his Lordship’s [Lord Ormonde’s] right, as heir male, to the ancient feudal Barony of Arklow” (p. 91). In accordance with this view the holder of this Earldom has very frequently been considered as “BARON ARKLOW OF ARKLOW” [I.].

On the other hand, the claim of the family of Butler to this title (such claim having in June 1881 been specially insisted upon in a circular, issued by Lord James W. Butler<sup>(b)</sup>), has been discussed by J. Horace Round, in an able article in Coll Gen., pp. 42-48. He very truly observes (1) “that there is not one scrap or tittle of direct evidence to prove that a Barony of Arklow [I.] was ever cr., or even that any lineal ancestor of the present Marquess ever sat as Baron Arklow in any Parl. of Ireland;” (2) that by William Marshal on becoming, jure uxoris, Lord of Leinster. It is in virtue of this fief that Lynch and others have attempted to claim a feudal Barony for him and his descendants.”

(<sup>a</sup>) In the British Museum is a curious letter from this Walter, Earl of Ormonde [1614], the h. male (then imprisoned in the Fleet by James I, who had espoused the cause of the h. gen.), to Camden, running thus—“I entreated you some fortnight past to do me the favour to make search to see if Tibbot Fitz Walter was Lord Barron of Arclo; he went over in King John’s time and Henry the Second’s tyme. What trouble you shal receive for this business shal be thankfully requiring [Qy. requited?] by your loving friend, Walter Ormond and Oss.”

(<sup>b</sup>) His Lordship thus, more forcibly than grammatically, ends his letter—“I may conclude by adopting the distich of the head of the De Coucy family (freely Englished)—

‘I am no Duke nor Prince, I know,
I am son of the twenty fifth Lord of Arklow,’

With Lord James Wandesford Butler’s compliments.”

On this statement J.H.Round sensibly remarks, “Twenty fifth Lord of Arklow his father indeed was, but in the sense that Ingelram de Ghysnes was hereditary Sire de Coucy; in the sense that John Hampden is described in his epitaph as 24th hereditary Lord of Great Hampden.”

Even, however, in this limited sense one can hardly see how the title of “Lord of Arklow” can belong to the more recent Earls, to whom that “Lordship” never belonged, inasmuch as “the Lordship of Arklow, co. Wicklow,” appears not only, as Round shews, to have belonged to the Boleyn family, during their tenure of the Earldom of Ormonde [I.], but to have been completely alienated from the Butler family after the attainder of 1715. In 1750 it was settled by Margaret, Dowager Viscountess Allen [I.], as a marriage portion for her da. the Hon. Frances Allen, spinster, with John Proby, afterwards Lord Carysfort [I.]. See will of the said Viscountess, pr. Nov. 1758.

when, in 1791, the Ormonde honours were successfully claimed by the h. male of the family, his claim to the Barony of Butler and the Barony of Arklow was disallowed by the Law officers on the ground that he did not produce "any evidence" in support of it. Moreover (3) when the h. male of the house of Butler was, 23 Feb. 1527/8, cr. Earl of Ossory [I.] "to compensate him for the loss of the Earldom of Ormonde," he was "duly described" as Sir Piers Butler, and not as Baron Arklow<sup>(a)</sup> which expressly militates against Lynch's statement (as above quoted) that the Barony was continuously enjoyed by the h. male. To this may be added (4) that the solitary instance quoted by Lynch out of "the multiplicity of proofs" as to the right of the h. male to the Barony of Arklow, consists of the very unimportant fact of the 2nd Duke of Ormonde having been enrolled a Bencher of King's Inn, Dublin, in 1702, under the style of (inter alia) "Viccomes de Thurles et Dingle, Baro de Arklow et Louthinia," a singularly careless way of recording the titles of Viscount Thurles [I.], Baron Dingwall [S.], Baron of Arklow [I.], and Baron Butler of Llanthony [E.].

It appears, therefore, that nothing whatever was heard of this Barony till the year 1588, when the words "Baro de Arclo" appear on the Garter plate of Thomas, xith Earl of Ormonde, who d. s.p.m. in 1614, in which year also he was called Baron of Arkloe in his funeral entry in Ulster's office. These words again appear in the fun. entry of his nephew, Walter, xiith Earl, who d. 1622/3, as also does the title in Latin on the Garter plate, in 1661, of James, xiiiith Earl, 1st Marquess, and, subsequently, 1st Duke. As the Marquess was h. male, though not h. gen. (which, however, his wife was) to the xith Earl, this certainly gives some force to the argument that the Barony of Arklow was a title descending to heirs male. Such recognitions, however (though of more value than the inaccurate record quoted by Lynch) are as nothing in comparison with the recognition contained in the patents of 1642 and 1661, wherein James the xiiiith Earl (being cr. Marquess and Duke respectively) is styled (among other titles) LORD BARON OF ARKLOW, as he is also in letters patent 2 Apr. 1662, restoring to him the co. of Tipperary (see Lodge, vol. iv, p. 51, note).<sup>(b)</sup> Yet even this recognition in letters patent of the existence of a Barony of Arklow, can only be held, on the most favourable hypothesis, to constitute a creation of that date, and cannot therefore in any case be appealed to after the extinction of the male issue of the person so recognised, which in this instance took place 17 Dec. 1758, at which date any Barony of Arklow, constituted by the "recognitions" of 1642, 1661 and 1662, must be considered as having become extinct.

The decision of the House in 1791 (above referred to), in which the claim of "John Butler, Esq." to the title of Earl of Ormond and Ossory, Viscount of Thurles, Baron Butler and Baron of Arklow [I.] was allowed as to the Earldoms and Viscounty ONLY, is entirely in accordance with this view, and it was probably held by the Law officers of the Crown that no such Barony was vested in the family of Butler, when, ten years later, the title was granted as a Peerage [U.K.] to a s. of the reigning monarch.

<sup>(b)</sup> J.H.Round has collected evidence, in his paper on the baronies of Mowbray and Segrave, in Studies in Peerage and Family History, showing the worthlessness of such recognitions in Letters Patent. V.G.

At the same time it must be borne in mind that the Butler family was not promoted to an Earldom till 1328,<sup>(a)</sup> and that if there were, at that period, Baronies, in the sense of Peerage dignities, existing in Ireland, it is more than probable that some Barony<sup>(b)</sup> (whether under the name of "BUTLER," "LE BOTILLER," "ARKLOW" or "CARRICK") was vested in this leading House, and, if so, such Barony, according to Lynch would have been a prescriptive dignity descendible to heirs male. In this case such Barony (whatever its name) would be vested de jure in the Marquess of Ormonde [I.], but, in the present state of our knowledge of this intricate subject, the matter must remain only one of opinion.

I. SIR HENRY BENNET, of Euston, Suffolk, 2nd s. of Sir John B., of Dawley, Midx., by Dorothy, da. of Sir John CROFTS, of Saxham, Suffolk (which Henry was a yr. br. of Sir John Bennet, of Dawley, K.B., cr., in 1682, LORD OSSULSTON), was b. about 1620. Ed. at Westm. Matric. at Oxford (Ch. Ch.) 6 Nov. 1635, being then 15; was sometime a student there. M.A. 1642. Sec. to the Duke of York 1649-58. Knighted Mar. 1656/7. Envoy to Madrid 1658-61. #### EARLDOM.

I. 1672.

Keeper of the Privy Purse 1661. P.C. 15 Oct. 1662. Sec. of State

<sup>(a)</sup> i.e. the date of the Earldom of Ormonde. The question as to the Earldom of Carrick [I.], of which the creation charter was 1315 (the year before the Earldom of Kildare), is ably discussed by J.H.Round in his article on "the Earldoms of Ormond" (see previous p., note "a"), who comes to the well sustained conclusion that the Carrick charter "was simply inept."

<sup>(b)</sup> A full account of the holders of this Barony will be given under the name of "BUTLER;" beginning with Theobald Fitz Walter, who may be considered as the 1st Baron, as on him Henry II conferred the honourable office of Chief Butler, an office which of itself would probably confer, or imply, the rank of a BARON, and which henceforth gave the name to the family. Under the name of Butler or Le Botiller (without any territorial designation) these Barons appear in every roll of Parl. to which they were summoned, and under this name in like manner the grant of the Earldom of Carrick [I.] was made, in 1315, to the 7th Baron, as also that of the Earldom of Ormonde [I.] in 1328, to his son, the 8th Baron.

1662-74. Cr. D.C.L. Oxford 28 Sep. 1663; On 14 Mar. 1664/5, he was cr. BARON ARLINGTON of Arlington, Midx.,<sup>(a)</sup> with a spec. rem., failing his issue male, to the heirs of his body.<sup>(b)</sup> Postmaster Gen. 1665 till his death. In 1670 he was one of the five principal members of the Council for foreign affairs<sup>(c)</sup> to whom alone the King revealed his policy. He was also one of those sent to Holland to treat with Louis XIV concerning a peace with the States. On 22 Apr. 1672, he was cr. BARON ARLINGTON of Arlington, Midx., VISCOUNT THETFORD, Norfolk, and EARL OF ARLINGTON, with a similar spec. rem.,<sup>(d)</sup> and in default of heirs of his body, with a further rem. to his br., Sir John Bennet, K.B., abovenamed, and the heirs male of his body. El. K.G. 15, and installed (by proxy) 22 June 1672. Lord Chamberlain of the Household from 1674, and Grand Master of Freemasons from 1679, till death. Lord Lieut. of Suffolk 1681-84, during the minority of the Duke of Grafton. He <sup>(a)</sup> The arms of Bennet, Earl of Arlington, were Gules with a bezant between three demi-lions silver, bearings which were granted by Camden to Sir Thomas Bennet, the Lord Mayor. (ex inform. Oswald Barron.) V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> Dugdale, in his MS. additions to his Baronage, states that this patent was surrendered before the granting of that of 1672, but this is apparently a mistake, as he is styled Baron Arlington in the 2nd patent. G.E.C. For the curious reason alleged for his not caring to be called Lord Bennet, see Cal. State Papers Dom., 1664-65, pp. 247, 257. "Sec. Bennet will not have his own name in his title to avoid any appearance of evil in his future lady, Lady Bennet being of too famous reputation in the world." V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> What Macaulay calls "the whimsical coincidence" of the initial letters of their names, i.e. Clifford, Ashley, Buckingham, Arlington and Lauderdale, forming the Arabic word "Cabal" has led to its being inseparably associated with them. Though 1673 is the earliest date given for the use of the word in Murray's New Eng. Dict., it occurs as early as 27 Apr. 1660, and probably much earlier, being said to be derived from the Hebrew word "Kabbala." Of its members, says Hume (vol. vi, p. 9, edit. 1848), "Arlington was the least dangerous either by his vices or his talents. His judgment was sound, though his capacity was but moderate, and his intentions were good, though he wanted courage and integrity to persevere in them. Clifford and he were secretly Catholics." Lord Clarendon gives him a somewhat contemptible character as being "unversed in any business," one "who had not the faculties to get himself beloved," &c.

"Long with the royal wanderer he roved,
And firm in all the turns of fortune proved,
Such ancient service and desert so large
Well claimed the royal household for his charge."

(Absalom and Achitophel, pt. ii)

He figures as 'Eliab' in the poem, and the next lines refer to his daughter being allied "To David's stock, and made young Othniel's bride," 'David' being Charles II, and 'Othniel' Grafton.

"Lord Arlington speaks well and hath pretty slight superficial parts I believe," writes Pepys, on 24 Feb. 1666/7. V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> It is difficult to account for the extensive limitation in 1665. As to that in 1672, the King had probably in view the match of the little heiress (expectant) with his own son, which took place about three months later.

purchased the estate of Euston, Suffolk, from the family of Fielding, and the plot of land lying west of St. James's Park, Midx. ## ARRAN (in Scotland)

EARLDOM [S.] I. THOMAS BOYD, <sup>(c)</sup> styled MASTER OF BOYD, s. and h. ap. of Robert, 1st LORD BOYD OF KILMARNOCK [S.], Governor of Scotland 1466-69, by Mariot, da. of Sir Robert MAXWELL, of Calderwood, was, by his father's influence, m., before 26 Apr. 1467, to Mary, 1st da. of

<sup>(b)</sup> He was one of the 8 "Jubilee" Barons cr. that month. For a list of these see note sub CHEYLESMORE.

<sup>(c)</sup> John Paston writes of him as "the most corteys, gentylest, wysest, kyndest, most comenabyll, freest, largeest, most bowntesous, knyght... Herto he is one the lyghtest, delyverst, best spokyn, fayrest archer; devowghtest, most perfyghte and trewest to hys lady of all the knyghtys that ever I was aqweyntyd with." V.G.

JAMES II, and sister of the reigning monarch (then a minor) JAMES III. The island of Arran, within the Sheriffdom of Bute, was given as her dower, and by charter, 26 Apr. 1467, he was cr. EARL OF ARRAN [S.], and sat in Parl. as such 16 Oct. following. He proceeded to Denmark in 1469 to escort Margaret of Denmark to Scotland for her espousal to James III, but, during his absence, that King had become alienated from him, and he had to fly his country, and was attainted 22 Nov. 1469, as also were his father, and his uncle, Sir Alexander. He was in England at a later date, and is said to have d., about 1473, at Antwerp. M.I. (*) His wife, who was b. about 1450, m., 2ndly (she being still under 21, and her new husband about 70), in 1468, as his 2nd wife, by the King's wish, ("although her husband Thomas BOYD was neither dead nor divorced from her") (b) James (HAMILTON), 1ST LORD HAMILTON [S.], who d. 12 Nov. 1479, and whose s. by her was cr., in 1503, EARL OF ARRAN [S.] as below. She d. about May 1488.

II. 1503.

I. JAMES (HAMILTON), LORD HAMILTON [S.], s. and h. of James, LORD HAMILTON [S.], by his 2nd wife, Mary, previously wife of THOS. BOYD, EARL OF ARRAN [S.] abovenamed, and da. of JAMES II. He suc. his father 12 Nov. 1479, being then about four years old. In 1502 he was sent to Denmark to aid in a naval expedition against Sweden. He was P.C. in 1503, when he was sent to conclude a marriage between James IV and Margaret, da. of Henry VII; after which, by charter, 11 Aug. 1503, he was cr. EARL OF ARRAN [S.], his cousinship to the King being therein recited. (c) In 1513, before Flodden, he was in command of a Scottish fleet against England, but effected nothing. On the death of the King at Flodden, he yielded his claim to be appointed Regent, to Albany, by whom he was, in 1517, made one of the Lords of Regency. He commanded the army for the King against Lennox

(a) James Boyd, his only s. and h., was restored to the estates of the family on 14 Oct. 1482. He appears to have been recognized as Lord Boyd in 1482, though not as Earl of Arran, but d. young and unm. in 1484, leaving Margaret, his only sister and h., who m., 1stly, Alexander (Forbes), 4th Lord Forbes [S.], and 2ndly, David (Kennedy), 1st Earl of Cassillis [S.]. She was living 1516, but d. s.p.

(b) Gordon, Hist. of Sutherland, p. 76. The Dict. of Nat. Biog. gives the account, usual in peerages, that his widow m. Lord Hamilton in 1474. Scots Peerage also discredits the earlier date, and considers that she m. about 1473/4. V.G.

(c) The original limitation was to heirs male of the body of the grantee, but possibly it was altered on 13 Jan. 1512/3, when the limitation of the lands and Baronies of Hamilton, Machanshire, &c., was extended to several of his bastard sons and the heirs male of their bodies, with rem. to others therein specially named; with a final rem. to the nearest h. male whosoever of the grantee bearing the name and arms of Hamilton. Four days afterwards three of these bastard sons were legitimated on the ground that the Earl "had no heirs of his body lawfully procreated to succeed to him in his inheritance, and in consideration of his propinquity to the King, &c." See also another charter granted, 1540, to the 2nd Earl.

at Linlithgow, 4 Sep. 1526. He m., 1stly,<sup>(a)</sup> shortly before 28 Apr. 1490, when he was aged about 15, and she about 13, Elizabeth, widow of Sir Thomas HAY (s. and h. ap. of Lord HAY OF YESTER), da. of Alexander (HOME), 2nd LORD HOME, by his 2nd wife, Nichola, da. and h. of George KER, of Samuelstown.<sup>(b)</sup> From her he obtained a divorce in the Eccles. Court, Glasgow, 16 Nov. 1504, on the ground that her 1st husband, Sir Thomas HAY, though then dead, had been alive (though supposed to be dead) at the time of her 2nd marriage.<sup>(c)</sup> He m., 2ndly, between 11 and 23 Nov. 1516, Janet, widow of Sir Robert LIVINGSTON, of Easter Weemyss, da. of Sir David BEATON, of Creich, Comptroller of Scotland. She d. about 1522. He d. between 26 Mar. and 21 July 1529, at his place of Kinneil. Will dat. 26 Mar. 1529.

III. 1529. 2. JAMES (HAMILTON), EARL OF ARRAN, &c. [S.], s. and h. by 2nd wife. He accompanied James V into France in 1536. On 15 Sep. 1540, he had a new charter of the Earldom of Arran, &c. [S.], to him and the heirs male of his body, with rem. to his br. and other persons of the name of Hamilton, in like manner, successively, whom failing, to his nearest heirs bearing the arms and name of Hamilton. On the death of the King in 1542, he was chosen REGENT OF SCOTLAND, and, on 13 Mar. 1542/3, was declared SECOND PERSON of that realm and HEIR PRESUMPTIVE OF THE CROWN. As Regent he tried to trim between the two parties, but ultimately favoured the Reformers. In June 1548, when the Queen was sent to France, he was made, in that Kingdom, a Knight of the Order of St. Michael, and on 8 Feb. 1548/9 received from Henry II of France the grant of the Duchy of CHÂTELLERAULT, in Poitou, by reason of which he is supposed, by some, to have acquired a hereditary French title,<sup>(d)</sup> as DUC DE CHATELLERAULT. In 1554 he resigned the Regency to the Queen-mother. He opposed the match of the Queen with Darnley, and consequently had to leave the Kingdom 1565-69, but he returned to oppose the Regency of Moray and Lennox, though finally he submitted to the Regent Morton, 23 Feb. 1572/3. He m., shortly before 23 Sep. 1532, Margaret, 1st da. of James (DOUGLAS), EARL OF MORTON [S.], by Catharine, illegit. da. of James IV. He d. 22 Jan. 1574/5, <sup>(a)</sup> He is usually, but wrongly, said to have m., 1stly, Beatrice, da. of John (Drummond), 1st Lord Drummond [S.], by Elizabeth, da. of Alexander (Lindsay), Earl of Crawford, but she was his mistress, and by her he had a da., Margaret, who m. Andrew (Stewart), Lord Ochiltree. V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> She is, in Wood's Douglas, erroneously said to be sister (not da.) of this lord; but for proof that she was sister to Marion, Countess of Crawford [S.], to George Lord Home [S.], to John Home, the Abbot, &c., see Hist. MSS. Com., 12th Rep., App., part viii, pp. 157 (240-242) and 161 (255). V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> There seems to have been some doubt as to the validity of this divorce, possibly because the 1st marriage was never consummated. The decree was, however, confirmed 11 Mar. 1509/10. She d. in 1544. V.G.

at Hamilton. <sup>(a)</sup> Will pr. 16 June 1576 at Edinburgh. His widow was living 24 May 1579.

IV. 1575 to 1581,
1609. 3. JAMES (HAMILTON), EARL OF ARRAN &c. [S.], s. and h. <sup>(b)</sup> b. 1537 or 1538. In May 1543 negotiations were in progress for his marriage with the Princess Elizabeth. Being taken prisoner by the murderers of Cardinal Betoun, he was deprived, by Act. of Parl. 14 Aug.
1546, of all right of succession, until he was free. In 1554 he was commander of the Scots Guards in France. In 1560 he was again suggested by the Lords of the Congregation as a husband for the afsd.
Elizabeth, when Queen [E.], and, in 1561, he openly aspired to be husband of Mary, Queen of Scots. Soon afterwards, however, he was declared to be insane, notwithstanding which, he was imprisoned 9 Apr.
1562, and in 1579 was included in the attainder of his brothers, whereby his titles became forfeited, and so continued for six years, till the act of forfeiture was repealed, 10 Dec. 1585. During this period, however, he, in 1581, resigned the Earldom of Arran [S.] in favour of James Stewart (as mentioned below), which resignation was "reduced" by the Court of Session <sup>(c)</sup> in 1586 "as the act of a person incompetent in consequence of insanity," whereby he was restored to his honours. <sup>(d)</sup> He d. s.p., Mar.
1609, aged about 71.

V. 1581 I. JAMES STEWART, of Bothwellmuir, 2nd s. of Andrew, to 2nd LORD OCHILTREE [S.], by Agnes, da. of John CUNN-1585. INGHAM, of Caprington, and grandson of Andrew, 1st Lord Ochiltree [S.], by Margaret, da. (by Beatrice, his 1st wife) of James (HAMILTON), 1st EARL OF ARRAN [S.]. He served the States of Holland against the Spaniards, returned in 1579 to Scotland, and was made, by the King, a Gentleman of the Bedchamber, P.C., Capt. of the Guard, and tutor to the insane Earl of Arran [S.] above mentioned. Under pretence that he was the lawful h. of that family, and that the children of the abovenamed James (Hamilton), 1st Earl of Arran by his second wife (from whom sprang the succeeding Earls), were illegitimate, he obtained, 22 Apr.

<sup>(a)</sup> He is said to have been of gentle nature, but appears to have been fickle and vacillating, and without any convictions either in politics or religion. V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> According to Douglas, vol. i, p. 702, the French Dukedom of Châtellerauld did not descend to him, having been resumed by the Crown of France.

<sup>(c)</sup> See Hewlett's Jurisprudence, p. 24, where the absolute supremacy of the Court of Session in adjudicating on Scottish Peerages is recognized, and where it is stated that "There can be no doubt that, on sufficient cause, the Court of Session had jurisdiction to reduce a resignation, and, if a resignation were reduced, to reduce all titles flowing from, or grounded upon it."

<sup>(d)</sup> He is stated, in 1592, to be "married to this Lord Glamis' aunt," but nothing is known of any such match. He appears to have been "crackbrained and fantastic" rather than actually insane. V.G.

1581, a grant of the comitatus of Arran, the Baronies of Hamilton, &c., and on 28 Oct. 1581, was cr. EARL OF ARRAN, LORD OF AVANE and HAMILTON [S.], to him and his heirs male. His influence over the King having become supreme, he was appointed CHANCELLOR OF SCOTLAND, Sep. 1584, LIEUT. OF THE REALM, &c. He fled, however, after the taking of Stirling, was declared an enemy to his country, and was attainted in Nov. 1585. He m., 6 July 1581, <sup>(a)</sup> Elizabeth, recently wife of Robert (STEWART), EARL OF LENNOX, afterwards EARL OF MARCH [S.], against whom she had obtained a decree of nullity of marriage, 19 May 1581, and formerly widow of Hugh (FRASER), LORD LOVAT [S.], being 1st da. of John (STEWART), 4th EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], by his 1st wife, Elizabeth, da. of George (GORDON), 4th EARL OF HUNTLY [S.]. Her rapacity equalled that of her husband. She d. "miserable" in Sep. 1595. He, after his disgrace, lived (as Capt. Stewart) on his own estate in Ayrshire, but returned to Court in 1592, where he was well received by the King. He d. 5 Dec. 1595, being assassinated by Sir James Douglas, of Parkheid, at Symontown, co. Lanark, in revenge for the death of his uncle, the 4th Earl of Morton.

VI. 1609.

4. JAMES (HAMILTON), MARQUESS OF HAMILTON, EARL OF ARRAN, and LORD HAMILTON [S.], nephew and h. of the (ivth) 3rd Earl of Arran, being s. and h. of John Hamilton, 1st Marquess of Hamilton [S.], to whose peerage he had suc. in 1604, which John was next br. of James, the insane Earl of Arran [S.] abovenamed, and had been cr., v.f., 17 Apr. 1599, Marquess of Hamilton, Earl of Arran, &c. [S.]. He d. 2 Mar. 1624/5, aged 36.

For fuller particulars
see "HAMILTON,"
Dukedom of [S.]

<sup>(a)</sup> This is the date always given, and is doubtless correct. The Scots Peerage gives no place, particulars, or authority, but states that the marriage was 'hurriedly arranged,' the reason therefor being shown by the birth of a child, 8 Jan. 1581/2, for which premature event the parents had to do ecclesiastical penance. A letter, dated 25 Feb. [1587] mentions the Earl's approaching marriage with "Athole's sister," as also that of the Earl of Angus with "Jean Lyonne," which latter event took place in July 1587. The "approaching" ceremony must have been of a confirmatory character.

Fontenay, writing to the Queen of Scots, 15 Aug. 1584, describes him and his wife, and their influence over James VI as follows:—"D'argent et la grandeur sont les moyens de la gagner, estans propres instruments pour se servir de leur ambition et avarice. Et luy et elle également ont l'esprit vif pénétrant fin, convoiteux de bien et grandeurs, haultain, hardy à entreprendre et capable de beaucoup d'affaires, bref qui possèdent si avant le Roy que la plus part du people et des seigneurs estime véritablement qu'il a esté par eux ensorcelé."

Calderwood calls her "a meete matche for suche a spous, depending upon the response of witches, and enemie to all human societie." V.G.

In 1585 the Earl submitted a 'Protest' or 'Renunciation,' to Parl. bearing on the legitimacy of Walter Stewart of Morphie. (ex inform. M.J.Shaw Stewart).

VII. 1625. 6. JAMES (HAMILTON), MARQUESS OF HAMILTON, EARL OF ARRAN, &c. [S.], s. and h. On 12 Apr. 1643, he was cr. DUKE OF HAMILTON, MARQUESS OF CLYDESDALE, EARL OF ARRAN, <sup>(a)</sup> &c. [S.], with a spec. rem. He d. s.p.m., 9 Mar. 1649. <sup>(b)</sup>

[CHARLES HAMILTON, styled EARL OF ARRAN, s. and h. ap. He d. unm. v.p., and was bur. 30 Apr. 1640, in Westm. Abbey.]

VIII. 1649. 7. WILLIAM (HAMILTON), DUKE OF HAMILTON, MARQUESS OF CLYDESDALE, EARL OF ARRAN, &c. (under the above mentioned patent of 1643,) MARQUESS OF HAMILTON (1599) and EARL OF ARRAN (1503, under the charter of 1540), all in the Kingdom of Scotland, br. and h. male. He d. s.p.m., 12 Sep. 1651, when the Marquessate of Hamilton [S.], cr. 1559, became extinct; but the EARLDOM OF ARRAN [S.], cr. 1643, devolved, with the Dukedom of Hamilton and the other honours [S.] of that date, under the spec. rem., on his niece, while the ancient EARLDOM OF ARRAN [S.], cr. 1503, and regranted 1540, has since that time remained dormant. <sup>(c)</sup>

ARRAN AND CAMBRIDGE

i.e. "ARRAN AND CAMBRIDGE" Earldom [S.], conferred 12 Apr. 1643 with the DUKEDOM OF HAMILTON [S.] and again mentioned in the novodamus of that Dukedom, 10 Aug. 1698, under which it still (1909) exists. It was not, however, included in the life grant of the Dukedom, 20 Sep. 1660, to the husband of the suo jure Duchess, the only Earldoms granted therein being "ARRAN LANARK AND SELKIRK."

<sup>(a)</sup> It seems to have been very usual in Scotland to repeat all the minor titles in the patent whereby an Earl or Marquess was advanced to a higher title. This, if there were no resignation, would be a new creation. (ex inform. R.R.Stodart, sometime Lyon Clerk Depute.)

<sup>(c)</sup> The h. male of the body of the 2nd Earl of Arran [S.], to whom the regnant in 1540 had been made, was in 1651 his great grandson James (Hamilton), 2nd Earl of Abercorn [S.], but neither he nor any of the succeeding Earls took any steps towards establishing their claim to the ancient Earldom of Arran [S.]. See tabular pedigree shewing such descent and representation on p. 4.

ARRAN (IN IRELAND)

EARLDOM [I.] I. LORD RICHARD BUTLER, 5th s. of James, 1st DUKE OF ORMONDE, by Elizabeth, suo jure BARONESS DINGWALL [S.], was b. 15 June 1639, and was cr., 13 May 1662, BARON BUTLER OF CLOUGHGRENAN, VISCOUNT TULLOGH and EARL OF ARRAN [I.],<sup>(a)</sup> with a spec. rem., failing the heirs male of his body, to his younger br., John Butler. P.C. [I.] 26 Aug. 1663. Alnager of Ireland, 2 Sep. 1666 till his death. In 1673 he distinguished himself in the sea fight with the Dutch, for which he was cr., 27 Aug. 1673, BARON BUTLER of Weston, co. Huntingdon [E.]. D.C.L. Oxford 6 Aug. 1677. He was Custos Rot. of co. Carlow in 1682, and on 2 May 1682, was made Deputy to his father, then Lord Lieut. of Ireland, during his absence; and on 10 Sep. 1684, being Col. of a Regiment of Guards, he was made Marshal of Array [I.], and held that office till his death. He m., 1stly, before 16 Mar. 1666/7, Mary, de jure <sup>(b)</sup> suo jure (after 1660) BARONESS CLYFTON DE LAYTON BROMSWOLD, sister and h. of Esme, DUKE OF RICHMOND, and da. of James (STUART), DUKE OF RICHMOND [E.] and DUKE OF LENNOX [S.], by Mary, da. of George (VILLIERS), DUKE OF BUCKINGHAM. She, who was bap. 10 July 1651, at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, was h. to her only br., who d. a minor, and unm., 14 Aug. 1660. She d. s.p., 4 July, and was bur. 19 Aug. 1668, <sup>(c)</sup> at Kilkenny Cathedral, aged 16. He m., 2ndly, before 7 <sup>(d)</sup> June 1673, Dorothy, da. of John FERRERS, of Tamworth Castle, by Anne, da. of Sir Dudley CARLETON. He d. in London, s.p.m.s., 25, <sup>(e)</sup> and was bur. 27 Jan. 1685/6, in Westm. Abbey, aged 46, when (his abovenamed br., John, EARL OF GOWRAN [I.], having d. before him s.p.) all his peerage honours became extinct. Will dat. 7 Jan. 1677/8, "intending to embark for England," pr. 13 Jan. 1686/7. His widow d. 30 Nov. 1716. Will dat. 23 Mar. 1716, in which she directs to be bur. at Tamworth, near her father, pr. 7 Dec. 1716.

[JAMES BUTLER, styled LORD TULLOGH, s. and h. ap., bap. 19 Feb. 1673/4 at Westm. Abbey, bur. there 10 Oct. 1676.]

<sup>(c)</sup> His mother writes, in Sep. of that year, of finding him "in great sadness." The Duke writes, 16 Mar. 1666/7, "My son Arran's wife grows a lovely person.... I never saw so much discretion in so few years, nor so little humour or trouble in any of her sex of what age soever." V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> His mother writes in May 1673 of "the marriage near concluded of my son Arran to the daughter of one Ferrars, one of the best and ancientest families of England, formerly Earls of Essex. The portion is £12,000, and but one sickly young man between her and £3000 p.a. after his father's decease." This young man, her only br., Sir Humphrey Ferrers, d. s.p.m., being drowned in the Trent, Sep. 1678. V.G.

<sup>(e)</sup> "He had a singular address in all kinds of exercises, played well at tennis and on the guitar, and was pretty successful in gallantry." (Gramont, Memoirs). V.G.

[THOMAS BUTLER, styled LORD TULLOGH, 2nd, but 1st surv. s. and h. ap., b. before Nov. 1680, bur., an infant, 7 June 1881, at Christ Church, Dublin.]

[THOMAS BUTLER, styled LORD TULLOGH, 3rd, but 1st surv. s. and h. ap., bur., an infant, 24 Aug. 1685, at Kensington, Midx.]

1758. I. CHARLES BUTLER, nephew of Richard (BUTLER), EARL OF ARRAN [I.] abovenamed, being 2nd and yst. surv. s. of Thomas BUTLER, styled EARL OF OSSORY (the s. and h. ap. of James, 1st DUKE OF ORMONDE), by Amelia, 1st da. of Henry de NASSAU, BARON OF BEVERWAET AND AUVERQUERQUE, in Holland, was b. 4 Sep. 1671. On 8 Mar. 1693, he was cr. (*) BARON OF CLOUGHGRENAN, VISCOUNT OF TULLOGH and EARL OF ARRAN [I.]. On 23 Jan. 1693/4 he was cr. BARON BUTLER OF WESTON, co. Huntingdon [E.]. He was Lord of the Bedchamber to William III, 1699-1702. Col. of the 6th Horse (now 5th Dragoon Guards) 1697-1703; Col. of the 3rd Troop of Horse Guards 1703-15; Brig. Gen. 24 Jan. 1702; Major Gen. 1 Jan. 1704; Lieut. Gen. 22 Apr. 1708; Master of the Ordnance [I.], Nov. 1712-14; Chancellor of the Univ. of Oxford, 10 Sep. 1715; D.C.L. 14 Sep. 1715; and High Steward of Westminster, 28 Feb. 1715/6, holding both these offices till his death. By Act. of Parl. [E.] 1721, he was enabled to repurchase the family estates (forfeited by the attainder of his br., the Duke of Ormonde, in 1715), which were thus preserved in the family. On 2 Jan. 1721/2 he was cr. DUKE OF ARRAN [E.] by the titular James III of England. (b) Notwithstanding this titular creation, and that (some 23 years subsequently) by the death of his br., James, 2nd DUKE OF ORMONDE [I.], s.p.m., on 16 Nov. 1745, he became de jure DUKE OF ORMONDE, &c. [I.], he appears never to have styled himself otherwise than Earl of Arran [I.], (c) the popular idea at that time being that the Irish titles (as well as the English) of his said br. had been forfeited by the act of attainder of the English Parl., 20 Aug. 1715. He m., (Lic. Fac. Off. 26 May 1705) 3 June 1705, at Oatlands, Weybridge, Surrey, Elizabeth, 4th da. and coh. of Thomas (CREW), 2nd LORD CREW OF STENE, by his 2nd wife, Anne, da. and coh. of Sir William AIRMINE, Bart., of Osgodby. She d. 21 May 1756, in her 77th year, and was bur. (as Countess of Arran) at Stean, co. Northampton. M.I. Will dat. 6 June 1732, pr. with nine codicils 2 Feb. 1757. He d. s.p., in his 88th year, (d)

(a) See the preamble to this creation in Lodge, vol. iv, p. 64, note.

(b) For a list of Jacobite Peerages, see Appendix F at the end of this volume.

(c) On 20 Apr. 1750, by the death, unm., of his niece, Lady Elizabeth Butler (the only remaining issue of his br. the 2nd Duke), he became entitled to the BARONY OF DINGWALL [S.], which was at that time (like the Irish titles) considered (erroneously), to have been forfeited by the English attainder in 1715. The right to this Barony passed on his death (1758) to the heirs general, i.e. his sisters and their issue. See "DINGWALL," Barony [S.], cr. 1609.

(d) "An inoffensive old man, the last male of the illustrious house of Ormond ;

at his lodgings next the Tilt yard, Whitehall, 17, and was bur. 23 Dec. 1758, at St. Margaret's, Westm., when all the Honours [I. and E.] which had been conferred on him, as also the DUKEDOM AND MARQUESSATE OF ORMONDE [I.] (which had been conferred on his grandfather, whose sole remaining issue male he was) became extinct; while the right to the EARLDOM OF OSSORY AND ORMONDE, &c. [I.], devolved on the h. male of the body of the grantee. See "ORMONDE," Earldom of [I.]. Will dat. 19 Jan. 1757, pr. with two codicils 17 Jan. 1759. (<sup>a</sup>)

III. 1762.

I. SIR ARTHUR GORE, Bart. [I.], of Castle Gore, co. Mayo, s. and h. of Sir Arthur Gore, Bart. [I.], of the same, by Elizabeth, 1st da. of Maurice ANNESLEY, of Little Rath, co. EARLDOM. I. 1067. I. ROGER DE MONTGOMERY (who, in right of his 1st wife, Mabel de Bellême, da. of William TALVAS, was LORD OF ALENÇON, SEEZ, &c, in Normandy), having during the invasion of England, remained, as REGENT, in Normandy, came over thence, for the first time, with King William, in Dec. 1067, and, at the Christmas festival, was cr. an EARL, receiving, among other large

(*) The old Sussex tradition is that—“Since William rose and Harold fell,
There have been Earls of Arundel.”

(See N. & Q., 6th Ser., vol. ix, 341.) And such (unless, perhaps, for a year or so) is the case if only for “of” we read “at,” leaving it as an open question whether the earlier Earls were not (more properly) Earls of a greater territory, though styled as “of Arundel” from their chief residence.

In treating of these Earls the Editor has followed Vincent in considering Roger de Montgomery (to whom the Conqueror gave the Castle of Arundel) to have been the 1st Earl of Arundel. Whether or no he and his sons (undoubted possessors of Arundel) are numbered among such Earls, is not, however, very material.

A truly marvellous work entitled The early Genealogical History of the House of Arundel, has been written by “John Pym Yeatman, Esq., Barrister at Law, &c.” Herein is contained “An account of the origin of the families of Montgomery, Albini, Fitz Alan and Howard (sic) from the time of the Conquest of Normandy by Rollo the Great.” Such researches are beyond the scope of this publication, and so far as it concerns the actual Earls of Arundel the Editor has not generally seen his way to adopt the conclusions arrived at. The enormous amount of documents examined, as also the labour that must have been undergone by its author, is appalling, yet must it be said of this voluminous work (as was said of that of a still more eminent author eighteen centuries earlier), that therein are “things hard to be understood.” An accurate and lucid history of the great family of D’AUBIGNY is yet to be written, and it is to be regretted that it was not undertaken by Chester Waters, as belonging to that period in which his genealogical knowledge was so great.

grants from the Conqueror, about one third of the county of Sussex, including the city of Chichester and the CASTLE OF ARUNDEL. <sup>(a)</sup> By this last grant he may be considered to have become EARL OF ARUNDEL, according to the remarkable admission <sup>(b)</sup> in 1433 on the claim to that <sup>(a)</sup> This formed the Honour of Arundel, which consisted of the rapes of Arundel and Chichester, being two out of the six rapes into which Sussex is divided. It contained, besides the city of Chichester and the Castle of Arundel (as abovenamed), 84½ knights' fees, ten hundreds (with their forests, woods and chases), three lordships (Halnaker, Petworth and Midhurst), eighteen parks and seventy-seven manors. See Tierney's Hist. of Arundel, p. 12. G.E.C.

It is pointed out however to the Editor by J.H.Round that, according to the latest view of archæologists, the castle may have been erected by Roger of Montgomery himself, after obtaining possession of the Honour. V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> The claim to the Earldom as being one by tenure of the Castle of Arundel was made by John Arundel, who had been sum. to Parl. in 1429, the writ being directed "Johanni Arundell' de Arundell' Chivaler." In 1433 (11 Hen. VI) he petitioned [as Earl of Arundel] to be sum. to Parl. and considered as Earl of Arundel, a dignity or name united and annexed to the Castle and Lordship of Arundel, for time whereof memory of man was not to the contrary—a peculiar and distinct claim (as stated in the First Report on the Dignity of a Peer, p. 406), "not connected with any general, but asserting a special right, and which being founded on prescription, was to be supported by evidence of constant and immemorial enjoyment of the asserted right, which right if not shown to have been so constantly enjoyed, the title by prescription failed. This claim, though opposed by John (Mowbray), Duke of Norfolk, was admitted by the Crown, notwithstanding that the assertion of the constant annexation of the title to the Castle of Arundel could not have been sustained, had it been (which it was not) made the subject of an enquiry." (Courthope, p. 30.)

The claim then of 1433 was, as is stated above, "admitted by the Crown, or so far admitted as that the assertion in the petition is made the consideration (with others not connected with the question) for the King's acceding to it, with a saving, nevertheless, of the right of the King, of the Duke of Norfolk (who, being a coh. of the Earls of Arundel, had opposed the Earl's claim) and of every other person; which saving clause, as is remarked in the First Report on the Dignity of a Peer, 'was that species of saving which is deemed in law illusory, operating nothing.'" (Courthope, p. xx). See also Tierney's History of Arundel (vol. i, p. 106), where the judgment is set out, reciting "that Richard Fitz Alan was seized of the Castle, Honour and Lordship [of Arundel] in fee; that, by reason of his possession thereof, he was, without other reason or creation, EARL OF ARUNDEL, &c."; and stating also, that "the King, contemplating the person of the present claimant, now Earl of Arundel, &c., has, with the advice and assent of the Prelates, Dukes, Earls and Barons in this present Parl. assembled, admitted John, now Earl of Arundel, to the place and seat anciently belonging to the Earls of Arundel in Parl. and council."

Almost similar words are used in the Act of Parl. obtained in 1627, which, in form of a petition to the King recites that the Earldom of Arundel had been real and local from the time whereof the memory of man was not to be contrary, and had, from the time aforesaid, been used and enjoyed by the petitioner and such of his ancestors as had possessed the Castle of Arundel, &c. Now it is to be noted that the claimant of 1433 alleged that his ancestors, the possessors of Arundel, were Earls of Arundel, both before, as well as after, the Conquest. Fortunately, however, King Harold and his father, Earl Godwin, have not to be included, and still less a long shadowy race of

Earldom.<sup>(a)</sup> At all events he was frequently so styled, though, occasionally, he is styled EARL OF CHICHESTER. Dugdale and many later writers consider him to have been EARL OF SUSSEX.<sup>(b)</sup> On the dismemberment of Mercia, in 1070, another Earldom was conferred on him, by the grant of nearly the whole of Shropshire (with, apparently, Palatine authority), together with the Castles of Shrewsbury and Montgomery, and the Lordship of the West Marches.<sup>(c)</sup> He was thenceforth generally known as EARL OF SHREWSBURY, though occasionally (according to modern views, more correctly) as EARL OF SHROPSHIRE. He is the "COMES ROGERUS" of the Earls extending upwards towards (even if not including) primeval man. The words "memory of man" must, of course, be read in their strict legal significance, as indicating the reign of Richard I, so that the Act of 1627 (and, possibly, the admission of 1433 also) would not apply to any Earl of Arundel, prior to 1189.

The Redesdale Committee remarks on these proceedings that they "ought to be considered as an anomaly influenced by political views, and decided apparently without much discussion, and without the assistance of the Judges." Moreover the assertion of fact by the claimant as to the Earldom having always depended on possession of the Castle in the past "seems not to have been true, and not to have been made the subject of enquiry when the question was decided." For a similar case of a charter creating a peerage, and setting out, as facts, unfounded statements of the grantee, see the Barony of LISLE, cr. 1444, in the same reign.

<sup>(a)</sup> In the Berkeley Case (1861) it was argued for the petitioner that Arundel was and is an earldom by tenure. But this contention was discussed and rejected by Lord St. Leonards, Lord Chelmsford, and Lord Redesdale in their judgments on the Berkeley claim (VIII H.L.C. 52, 101-2, 104, 137-8, 144-5). They agreed that, whatever might have been the original status of the dignity, it has not been held by tenure since the Act of 3 Car. I has governed its descent. (ex inform. J.H.Round.) V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> In an article, in the Archæological Journal, on the "Earls of Sussex," by J.R. Planché (Somerset Herald, 1866-80), the writer (after stating that without the third penny of the pleas of the county "the greatest authorities have denied that a man could be an English Earl," argues that Earl Roger, having the custody of Chichester, may (as did the Earl in the time of King Edward) have had a third of the annual rental of the city of CHICHESTER, and might, therefore, with good reason, be considered EARL OF CHICHESTER. Planché states, however, that, on the other hand (to quote a parallel case) William de Warenne, who, in the Domesday survey, held the borough of Lewes and the Rape of Pevensey, receiving a third of the profits thereof, is never styled Earl (either of Lewes, or of Sussex) but simply William de Warenne.

The fact, however, appears to be that Roger de Montgomery was AN EARL (i.e. Earl of some one county or more) and that (as was usual in those early times) his Earldom was indifferently styled either from his county of Sussex, or of SHROPSHIRE, or from the Castles of ARUNDEL, CHICHESTER, SHREWSBURY, or MONTGOMERY, which were, respectively, the "caput" of the Earldom. (See J.H.Round's Geoffrey de Mandeville.)

A parallel case, in which the Earl of a county is indifferently styled either from the capital or from his stronghold therein, is that of William, Earl of Gloucester, who, on 29 Sep. 1155, attests a charter to Shrewsbury Abbey as Earl of Bristol (Eyton's Itin. of Henry II, p. 12). (ex inform. J.H.Round.)

<sup>(c)</sup> Aubigny is in the arrond. of Coutances, dept. of La Manche. It was confiscated in 1204 by Philip Augustus, who made known by his charter that "terra comitis de Harundel" (and that of many others) was "de dominico nostro" (Bibl. Nat., MS. 8408, 2, 2, B, f. 179 d). He gave it to the Count of Ponthieu, and in the Register of Philip Augustus it is stated that "Comes Pontivi tenet Albigni de domino Rege per servicium duorum militum et dimidii." Marie, Countess of Ponthieu, gave it back to Louis VIII, in July 1225. (Trésor des Chartes, Ponthieu, I, no. 46). (ex inform. G.W.Watson). V.G.

1138 or 1139, the Castle and Honour of Arundel, which had been settled on her in dower,<sup>(a)</sup> whereby it may be considered that, according to the admission of 1433,<sup>(b)</sup> he became EARL OF ARUNDEL.<sup>(c)</sup> There is conclusive evidence from various charters, that at, or about the time of, and probably soon after, his said marriage, he was recognised as EARL OF LINCOLN, and he may be assumed to have been so cr. in the summer of 1139. In this year he gave shelter to the Empress Maud, at Arundel Castle, but ever after adhered to Stephen. He can be shown to have very soon lost the Earldom of Lincoln, and in 1141 he attested a charter of Stephen as EARL OF SUSSEX,<sup>(d)</sup> (being from time to time thereafter so described, as, e.g. where he witnesses<sup>(e)</sup> a charter to the Abbey of Barking under that name) and may be assumed to have been so cr. by Stephen in 1141, after that King had regained his freedom. Early in 1142, the Earldom of Lincoln had already passed to another, viz. William de Roumare. In his own later charters he is styled, and in a charter, before 1150, of the Queen Dowager to the Abbey of Reading, she styles him EARL OF CHICHESTER.<sup>(f)</sup> He was influential in arranging the treaty of 1153, whereby the Crown continued with King Stephen for life, though the inheritance thereof was secured to Henry II. To this instrument he subscribed as “Comes Cicestrie.” Henry II, by a grant undated, but supposed to have been in 1155 (the year after his accession), confirms to him as “William, EARL OF ARUNDEL, the Castle of Arundel, with the whole honour of Arundel and all its appurtenances,” and, by the same instrument, bestows on him the third penny of the pleas of the county of

(c) “In the elaborate discussion of the title of Earl of Arundel by the Lords' committees in their Reports upon the Dignity of a Peer, it has been doubted whether even the Earldom of Arundel was ever possessed by the family of Albin, as a title of dignity. Historians and numerous contemporary evidences have, however, constantly styled the family of Albin by the title of Earls of Arundel, and they [i.e. these Earls] could not with propriety be omitted in this place; nevertheless, it must be observed that the assertion made, upon the claim of John, Earl of Arundel (temp. Hen. VI.), that the dignity of Earl of Arundel had been constantly and invariably enjoyed by the Lords of the Castle of Arundel, cannot, under any circumstances, be maintained.” (Courthope, p. 27). (f) For fuller details see Round's Geoffrey de Mandeville, and G.F. Warner's and H.J. Ellis's Facsimiles of Royal Charters &c., vol. i, 14, 27, which valuable works have been consulted and utilised in the rewriting of this article.

SUSSEX unde Comes est. (*) No doubt, however, he was more generally known as "EARL OF ARUNDEL," and as such (only) he is spoken of by his s. and h. (who styles himself Earl of Sussex) in a charter to the Priory of Wymondham; and as Earl of Arundel (only) he is described in the record of his death in the Annals of Waverley. He was justly held in great esteem by Henry II, and was one of the embassy to Rome in 1163/4, and to Saxony (on the espousal of the Princess to the Duke of Saxony) in 1168. He was also in command of the Royal army in Aug. 1173, in Normandy, against the King's rebellious sons, where he distinguished himself for his "swiftness and velocity," and, on 29 Sep. following he assisted at the defeat, near Bury St. Edmunds, of the Earl of Leicester, who, with his Flemings, had invaded Suffolk. He m., in 1138 (the 3rd year of her widowhood) Adeliz, QUEEN DOWAGER OF ENGLAND (widow of Henry I), 1st da. of Godefroy à la Barbe, DUKE OF LOTHIER (i.e. Lorraine Inférieure), COUNT OF BRABANT AND LOUVAIN, by his 1st wife, Ide, da. of Albert III, COUNT OF NAMUR. His wife, the Queen Dowager, retired in 1150 to a nunnery at Afflighem, in South Brabant, where she d., and was bur. 23 Apr. 1151, aged about 48. He survived her 25 years, and d. 12 Oct. 1176, (b) at Waverley Abbey, Surrey, and was bur., with his father, at Wymondham Priory, Norfolk.

V. 1189.

2. WILLIAM (D'AUBIGNY), EARL OF SUSSEX, (c) s. and h., in 1176/7, was confirmed in that dignity, but the Castle and Honour of Arundel having, in accordance with the policy of Henry II, been retained by the Crown, on the death of the last holder, (d)

(*) This was apparently but a confirmation to him of the Earldom of Sussex and its third penny (as well as of the Honour and Castle of Arundel) which he had enjoyed before, unless (indeed) the deed signed by him as Earl of Sussex, temp. Stephen (see p. 234, note "e,") is a forgery.

Dugdale, speaking of this Earl (vol. i, p. 119) says:—"After the death of King Stephen he did not only obtain [from King Henry II] the castle and honour of Arundel to himself and his heirs, but a confirmation of the Earldom of Sussex (for though the title of Earl was most known by Arundel and Chichester, at which places his chief residence used to be, yet it was of the county of Sussex that he was really Earl) by the tertium denarium of the Pleas of Sussex granted to him, which was the usual way of investing such great men (in ancient times) with the possession of any Earldom, after those ceremonies of girding with the sword and putting on the robes performed, which have ever, till of late, been thought essential to their creation." See also p. 232 of this work, note "b."

(b) For an account of this Earl and of his Earldom of Lincoln, see J.H.Round's Geoffrey de Mandeville.

(c) For references to him as Earl of Sussex before 1189, see Benedictus, vol. ii, p. 3, Christmas 1186, and Add. Charter 15688, before Mich. 1188. (ex inform. H.J.Ellis.) Richard I granted him the Honour after his coronation, 3 Sep. 1189, when he is styled Earl of Sussex, and before 18 Sep. 1189, when he is styled Earl of Arundel. V.G.

(d) It certainly was not because the successor was a minor (as suggested in the Lords' Reports on the Dignity of a Peer, vol. i, p. 410), if it be allowed (as in the text)

he did not obtain restoration of them till Richard I restored them to him, 27 June 1190, when (according to the admission<sup>(a)</sup> of 1433 abovenamed) he became EARL OF ARUNDEL. He was, however, styled Earl of Arundel before he received possession of the Castle and Honour, namely, on 18 Sep. 1189, and on 26 Nov. of the same year he witnessed King Richard's Charter as "Will. Earl of Arundel."<sup>(b)</sup> He received also at the same time, the third penny of the pleas of Sussex in the precise words of the grant made to his father. In 1191 he was made Custos of Windsor Castle, and in 1194 one of the Receivers of the money raised for the King's ransom. He m. Maud, widow of Roger (DE CLARE), EARL OF HERTFORD (who had d. 1173), da. and h. of James DE ST. HILAIRE DU HARCQUET, by Aveline, his wife. He d. 24 Dec. 1193,<sup>(c)</sup> and was bur. at Wymondham Priory.

VI. 1193.

3. WILLIAM (D'AUBIGNY), EARL OF SUSSEX, and EARL OF ARUNDEL, s. and h. He was a favourite of King John, whose concession of the Kingdom to the Pope, 15 May 1213, he witnessed, and whom he accompanied to Runnymede, 15 June 1215.<sup>(d)</sup> When, however, King John abandoned Winchester, 14 June 1216, to Louis (afterwards Louis VIII) of France, he joined that Prince, but (consistently taking the winning side) returned to his allegiance 14 July 1217, after the Royalist victory at Lincoln. Shortly afterwards he acted as JUSTICIAR, the young King, Henry III, having restored to him his forfeited possessions. He m. Mabel, 2nd da. of Hugh (LE MESCHIN, surnamed KEVELIOC), EARL OF CHESTER, by Bertrade, da. of Simon, COUNT OF EVREUX in Normandy. She, in her issue, was (1232) one of the four coheirs to her br. Ranulph (surnamed BLUNDEVILLE), EARL OF CHESTER. He embarked in the crusade of 1218, and was at the taking of Damietta in Nov. 1219, but d. at Cainell, near Rome, ("quoddam oppidulum Kainel nomine") shortly that such successor was s. of Adeliz, for, in that case, his (said) mother would have been dead above a quarter of a century. Moreover the Earl himself had been receiving, since 1180, the third penny of the county of Sussex. See Madox, Baronia Ang., p. 139. G.E.C.

At Mich. 1179, Walter de Coutances (afterwards Archbishop of Rouen) renders an account of the Honour of Arundel for the years since 1176, but from 1179 to 1189, when it was restored to the d'Aubignys, it was held, presumably for the Crown, by one of the family of Fitz Reinfred. There is evidence that Walter de Coutances was of the Fitz Reinfred family, being br., or possibly br.-in-law, of Roger Fitz R. (Notes on Facsimile Charters, Warner and Ellis, no. 54.) V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> His death is thus entered in the annals of Waverley Abbey:—"1193 anno 5 Ric. I. obiit Willelmus Comes junior de Arundel in vigilia natalis Domini." It is curious how generally the date is wrongly given as 1196. V.G.

This same Earl also performed the office of Pincerna at the King's nuptials (1236) on behalf of his said son-in-law, who was still a minor and, at that time, excommunicated.<sup>(h)</sup> Notwithstanding his minority he had, in 1234, obtained, for 2500 marks, possession not only of his paternal estates, but also of those which he inherited by the death of his maternal uncle, Ranulph, Earl of Chester. To him, by writ dat. 27 Nov. 1243, was awarded (in right of his deceased mother) the Castle and Honour of Arundel, whereby (according to the admission<sup>(d)</sup> of 1433 abovenamed) he must be regarded as de jure EARL OF ARUNDEL. He obtained possession, 26 May 1244, of his paternal estates in Salop on payment of £1000. By the title, however, of EARL OF ARUNDEL he never appears to have been known (either in his lifetime or afterwards), although he lived 24 years after the acquisition of that Castle and Honour. In an award dat. Friday after the Circumcision 1258, he is expressly called Dominus de Arundel (i.e. Lord of the Honour of Arundel), and in the Fine Roll, 10 Mar. 1261/2, he is called Baro noster, while in his Inq. p. m. he is described (merely) as Johannes filius Alani, and the endorsement says that he held a quarter of the Earldom of Arundel. He took part in the Welsh war 1258, and, though sometimes leagued with the Barons against the Crown, was, while fighting on the Royal side, taken prisoner at the battle of Lewes, in 1264, together with the King. He did homage for his estates 10 Dec. 1267. He, also (as Courthope remarks), though "22 years at his father's decease, was never known <sup>(c)</sup> as Earl of Arundel, and it is incredible that, if he had ever borne that title, as annexed to the Castle and Honour, the fact would have been omitted in the inquisition which finds him to have died seized (1272), 56 Hen. III, of that Castle and Honour held by the 4th part of a Barony." He m. Isabel, da. of Roger DE MORTIMER, of Wigmore, by Maud, da and coh. of William DE BRIOUZE, of Brecknock. <sup>(c)</sup> These words must, Planché says, be qualified, and should run "never known during his lifetime," as, in a patent of 35 Edw. I, in reference to Edmund Fitz Alan, s. of Richard, Earl of Arundel, we find the words sub nomine Johannis filii Alani, quondam Comitis Arundellie, antecessoris prefati Edmundi, which is certainly an acknowledgment, however late, that Edmund's grandfather, John Fitz Alan, was Earl of Arundel;—yet in 8 Edw. I (1280) (a few years only after the death of the said John) we find his widow Isabel, to whom the custody of the Castle and Honour of Arundel was committed, spoken of, not as the widow of the Earl of Arundel, but (merely) as 'que fuit uxor Johannis filii Alani.'

<sup>(f)</sup> "If Glover (a most careful and learned genealogist of the time of Elizabeth) has stated this upon good authority, which all who know his character will feel confident to be the case, it disproves Vincent's assertion that Richard Fitz Alan never had the county of Sussex." (Planché, Earls of Sussex.)

SUSSEX<sup>(a)</sup> in 1289, when (being just of age) he was knighted and "received the sword of the county of Sussex" from Edward I "ut vocatur [Qy? vocetur] Comes;" but it seems more probable that this creation was as EARL OF ARUNDEL.<sup>(b)</sup> At all events no more is heard of the former title (SUSSEX) as connected with this family, but only of the title of ARUNDEL. On 12 Feb. 1290/1 there is a grant to him as Richard de Arundel, Earl of Arundel.<sup>(c)</sup> In Oct. (1292) 20 Edw. I he was summoned by a writ directed to the Earl of Arundel,<sup>(d)</sup> and was sum. to Parl. 24 June (1295) 23 Edw. I, by a writ directed Ricardo filio Alani Comiti Arundell', ranking him as junior to all the other Earls. He fought in the Welsh wars 1288, in Gascony 1295-97, and in the Scottish wars 1298-1300, being present at the siege of Carlaverock in 1300. He signed the Barons' letter to the Pope, 12 Feb. 1300/1. He m., before 1285, (when he was but 18) Alasia,<sup>(e)</sup> da. of Tommaso I, MARQUIS OF SALUZZO in Piedmont [1244-1299], by Luisa, da. of Giorgio, MARQUIS OF CEVA. She d. 25 Sep. 1292, and was bur. at Todingham Priory. He d. 9 Mar. 1301/2, in his 36th year, and was bur. with his ancestors.

XII. 1302                    9 or 2. EDMUND (FITZ ALAN), EARL OF ARUNDEL, s. to                    and h., b. 1 May 1285, in the Castle of Marlborough.
1326.                    His wardship was obtained by John, EARL OF SURREY AND SUSSEX, whose granddaughter he m. He was knighted,

(<sup>a</sup>) "The Earldom of Sussex must at this period have been a subject of contention between the De Warrens and Fitz Alans, for John de Warren, Earl of Surrey, was receiving, at the very time that this investiture occurred, writs directed to him as Earl of Sussex. John de Warren was perhaps the greatest noble of the time in which he lived, and his power and influence may have operated to induce Fitz-Alan to abandon his claim upon the Earldom of Sussex and to adopt that [i.e. the Earldom of Arundel] by which his descendants have ever since been known." (Courthope, p. 29).

(<sup>b</sup>) It is worthy of remark, in connection with the very doubtful right, either of his father or grandfather, to the Earldom of Arundel, that it was not till 1282, viz. sometime after their death and during this Earl's minority, that Isabel, Countess of Arundel, * widow of Hugh (d'Aubigny), died. It would almost appear (possibly owing to the largeness of her dower) that the Earldom was not dealt with during her lifetime. A somewhat parallel case occurs, later on, in this same family, when Richard, Earl of Arundel, who, in 1347, had suc. his maternal uncle the Earl of Surrey, did not assume the Earldom of Surrey till the death of Joan, widow of the afsd. Earl, in 1361.

* Planché, in his Earls of Sussex, has hopelessly confused the abovenamed Isabel, the widow, with Isabel the sister and (in her issue) coh. of Earl Hugh. Had this last-named lady been alive, she (and not her son, grandson, and great-grandson), would (according to the decision of 1433) have been entitled to the Earldom of Arundel; but this lady died before her husband, who himself died three years before the said Earl Hugh.

On 25 Feb. 1307/8 he officiated as Pincerna <sup>(a)</sup> at the coronation of Edward II. In 1316 he was Captain Gen. north of the Trent. For a long time he was in opposition to the King, and was violent against Piers Gavaston, who had beaten him in a tournament. However, in 1321 he changed sides, and married his 1st s. to a da. of Hugh le Despenser, being thereafter one of the few nobles who adhered to the King. In 1323 he was Chief Justiciar of North and South Wales. Warden of the Welsh Marches 1325. <sup>(e)</sup> "It may not be presumed that the grant to the Earl of Kent made him Earl of Arundel, or that the restoration of the Castle and lands to Richard, s. and h. of Edmond, made him Earl of Arundel either; inasmuch as there was in the Act of Restoration a special provision applying to the title of Earl of Arundel as a name of dignity, which would have been unnecessary had the restitution of the Castle and Honour been considered as sufficient." (Courthope, p. 29). As to the latter part of this remark, it is however more probable that such "special provision" was only added ex abundantia cautelâ.

b. about 1313. He was in (1330-1) 4 Edw. III, fully restored in blood and honours (confirmed 1351 and again 1354), and in Dec. of that year obtained restitution of the Castle and Honour of Arundel from the widow of John, Earl of Kent. By such restorations he doubtless became EARL OF ARUNDEL<sup>(a)</sup>. He was made Justiciar of North Wales for life 1334; Gov. of Carnarvon Castle, 1339; Sheriff of Shropshire for life 1345. He took a distinguished part in the wars with France, was Admiral of the West 1340-41 and 1345-47, commanded the 2nd division<sup>(b)</sup> at the battle of Crécy, and was at the fall of Calais in 1347. He had shortly before, viz., on 30 June 1347, suc. to the vast estates of the family of WARRENNE, by the death, s.p. leg., of his mother's br., John, Earl of Surrey and Sussex. By fine levied (1349-50) 23 Edw. III, he settled the Castle, town, and manor of Arundel on himself and his (then) wife Eleanor, for their joint lives, with rem. to the heirs male of his body by his said wife. On the death of Joan, the widow of his said uncle, John, Earl of Surrey, in 1361, but not before,<sup>(c)</sup> he assumed the title of EARL OF SURREY, and in 1366 settled the Warrenne estates on his issue. He m., 1stly, 9 Feb. 1320/1, in the King's Chapel at Havering-atte-Bower (he about 7, she about 8), Isabel, da. of Sir Hugh LE DESPENSER the younger, [LORD LE DESPENSER], by Eleanor, da. and coh. of Gilbert (DE CLARE), EARL OF GLOUCESTER. (<sup>d</sup>) By his 1st wife he had a s. who was said to have been 20 in 1347, and who, if this be true, must have been begotten when his father was still very young, about 15, and 2 daughters. The grounds on which the divorce was obtained were that 'pre-fatus Ricardus cum eadem Isabella in eodem thoro per metum et verbera positus eandem cognovit carnaliter et filium ex ea etiam procreavit.' (Grandisson's Register, ed. Hingeston-Randolph, p. 988). The same story is told in the Papal Mandate.—'On the petition of Richard, Earl of Arundel and Isabel, daughter of Hugh Despencer, who at the respective ages of 7 and 8, not by mutual consent, but by fear of their relations, contracted espousals, and on coming to years of puberty expressly renounced them, but were forced by blows to cohabit, so that a son was born.—Mandate by canonical procedure to annul the marriage, they having constantly lived apart, and providing for their son, so that they may be free to intermarry with others.'

It is not very easy to accept all this indecent stuff as a satisfactory explanation of a son having been born to the parties, and though in none of the documents bearing on the case is there any mention of daughters, yet there appear to have been two (see note (<sup>b</sup>) next p.), and if so, the 'per metum et verbera' tale breaks down altogether, unless indeed, the boy and girls were triplets! Obviously, what really happened, was this. The powerful Earl desired to get rid of the woman to whom he had been married as a child, and who, since her father's attainder and execution, had ceased to be of any importance, that he might marry the woman with whom he was then living in

In Oct. 1400 his father's attainder was reversed, and he was restored in blood and in honours as EARL OF ARUNDEL AND SURREY, taking his seat, though still a minor. He also had livery of all his father's estates. K.G. 1400. He fought with moderate success against the Welsh 1401-5, and was victorious against the rebels under Archbp. <sup>(a)</sup> This summons was not till eight years after the admission (1433) which confirmed the Earldom of Arundel to the Fitz Alan family. The delay is accounted for by the absence in France of Earl John, and the minority of his successor. It is probable, also, that this William may have been sum. some two or three years earlier, but the lists of summonses from 1438 to 1441 are unfortunately lost.

In 1446, Thomas (Courtenay), Earl of Devon, challenged the precedence of the Earl of Arundel. The decision of the King, with consent of the Lords of Parl., was "that William, now Earl of Arundel, have, keep, and enjoy his seat, place and pre-eminence in the High Court of Parl., and in the King's Councils and elsewhere in the King's high presence, as Earl of Arundel, by reason of the Castle, Honour and Lordship of Arundel, as worshipfully as ever did any of his ancestors, Earls of Arundel, afore his time, above the said Earl of Devonshire and his heirs, without letting, challenge or interruption of the said Earl of Devonshire or of his heirs or of any other person." (Rot. Parl., vol. v, p. 140.) "Thus ended," adds Canon Tierney, "a controversy which, in its results, confirmed this Parliamentary decision of 1433 and established the Earldom in its original supremacy of honour above every other similar title of dignity." Tierney, Hist. of Arundel, vol. i, p. 138.

Ed. at Cambridge; page of honour to Henry VIII. He was sum. to Parl. (v.p.), 5 Feb. (1533/4) 25 Hen. VIII, &c., (<sup>d</sup>) in his father's Barony, as LORD MAUTRAVERS, and from 2 July 1540 to Feb. 1544, was Deputy Gov. of Calais. On 24 Apr. 1544, he was el. K.G., and was inst. 18 May following. In July of that year he was "Marshal of the Field" against the French, and distinguished himself at the taking of Boulogne. Lord Chamberlain July 1546 to Jan. 1549/50. P. C. July 1546. He was one of the Council of Twelve named by Henry VIII in 1547, and acted as HIGH CONSTABLE at the coronation of Edward VI. He was however, fined, and imprisoned in the Tower, for more than a year, 8 Nov. 1551 to 3 Dec. 1552, through the hostility of the Duke of Northumberland, on whom, however, he took ample revenge by pretending to join him in setting up Lady Jane Grey as Queen, and then betraying him to Queen Mary, and arresting him at Cambridge. He was not only among the 26 peers<sup>(a)</sup> who signed the letters patent settling the Crown on Lady Jane Grey, (having done so, together with the Marquess of Winchester with a deliberate intention of deserting)<sup>(b)</sup> but was actually one of the 4 peers (with the Marquess of Northampton, the Earl of Huntingdon, and the Earl of Pembroke) who, together with the Duke of Northumberland, did homage to her as Queen, 9 July 1553.<sup>(c)</sup> The Queen made him Lord Steward of the Household in Sep. 1553, and he acted as HIGH CONSTABLE at her coronation; Lord High Steward at the trial of the Duke of Suffolk, 17 Feb. 1553/4. His offices were continued to him by Queen Elizabeth. That Queen indeed he aspired to marry, but being rejected, he resigned all his offices in 1564. High Steward of Oxford Univ. 1555-59, and Chancellor thereof 6 Feb. to 12 June 1559. In 1568 he was on the Commission for the trial of the Queen of Scots, and aided in the design of his son-in-law, the Duke of Norfolk, for obtaining her in marriage. For this he was again imprisoned, and was not finally released till after Norfolk's execution in 1572.<sup>(d)</sup> He m., 1stly, Catharine, da. of Thomas (GREY), 2nd MARQUESS OF DORSET, by his 2nd wife, Margaret, da. of Sir Robert WOTTON, which Catharine was aunt of the unfortunate Queen, Jane Grey, abovenamed. (<sup>c</sup>) He was "of the middle size, well proportioned in limb, 'stronge in bone, furnished with cleane and firme flesh, voide of fogines and fatnes.' His countenance was regular and expressive, his voice powerful and pleasing; but the rapidity of his utterance often made his meaning 'somewhat harde to the unskilfull.'" (Dict. of Nat. Biog.) He was leader of the old nobility and catholics, was constantly conspiring, and apparently always ready to play the part of Judas, at short notice. See a masterly character of him in Froude's Elizabeth, vol. i, pp. 43-4. "A piercing apprehension, a strong memory, a large and capacious judgment, a dexterous prudence, a discerning wisdom was the least of his happiness." (Lloyd, 1665.) V.G.

(<sup>d</sup>) He was probably the earliest patron of Thomas Vautrollier (or Vautroullier), the learned printer, who dedicates his first printed work to him in 1570. See N. & Q., 2nd Ser., vol. iv, p. 84. He was the purchaser (for £41. 6s. 6d.) of what was afterwards known as ARUNDEL HOUSE, in the Strand, which, having been originally the old town house of the Bishops of Bath, had passed, temp. Edward VI, "without recompence," into the hands of the King's uncle, Thomas, Lord Seymour of Sudeley, after whose death and attainder in 1549, it was sold as above. Here were stored the statues and other rarities collected by the Earl's great grandson, Thomas (Howard), Earl of Arundel, and here Hollar drew his well known view of London. Here also the meetings of the Royal Society were held, after the fire of London. The house was taken down in 1678, when Arundel street, Surrey street, Norfolk street, and Howard street were erected on its site, which still (1910) belongs to the Earl's descendant, Henry (Fitz Alan Howard), Duke of Norfolk, Earl of Arundel, Surrey, and Norfolk, &c.

2 June 1572) and only child, by (his first wife) Mary, 2nd da. (by 1st wife) and only child that had issue, of Henry (FITZ ALAN), EARL OF ARUNDEL (*) abovenamed. He was b. 28 June 1557, at Arundel House, Strand, and bap. 2 July following at the Chapel Royal, Whitehall, the King, Philip, after whom he was named, being in person one of his Godfathers. On 25 Aug. following, his mother d. in her 17th year. He was ed. at the Univ. of Cambridge. M.A. Nov. 1576. On 24 Feb. 1579/80 he suc. his maternal grandfather and, on the same day, Lord Lumley, on whom (jointly with Joan his wife, who had d. s.p. some four years previously, being the elder of the two daughters of the late Earl of Arundel) the Arundel estates had in 1570 been settled, conveyed his life interest in the Castle and Honour of Arundel to him, whereby (according to the admission (*) of 1433) he became EARL OF ARUNDEL. On 28 May 1580, he took the arms of Fitz Alan only. He was sum. to Parl. as "Earl of Arundel" 16 Jan. (1580/1) 23 Eliz., and took his seat as such 11 Apr. following. By Act. of Parl. 23 Eliz., he was, on 15 Mar. 1580/1, restored in blood. In Sep. 1584 he became (as his wife had previously become) a Roman Catholic, and, having endeavoured to escape from England without licence, was taken prisoner 25 Apr. 1585, and lodged in the Tower of London, of Arundel, on Philip Howard, styled Earl of Surrey, (being s. and h. ap. of Thomas, Duke of Norfolk), the said Earl of Arundel, "after reciting that forasmuch as the said Earldom was the most ancient Earldom of this Realm, and that, in a certain event, the same was to descend to the Earl of Surrey or to the heirs of his body, covenanted with the said Duke of Nortolk, that after such time as the same honour or dignity of Duke of Norfolk shall descend to the said Earl of Surrey, or to the heirs of his body, then the son and heir apparent of the said Earl of Surrey and the heirs of his body, in all writings and in all common appellations and callings shall be written, named, and called the EARL OF ARUNDEL AND SURREY. Although this covenant is since annulled by the resettlement of the estates (Act of Parl., 3 Car. I), the Duke of Norfolk, on his accession in 1842, styled his eldest son EARL OF ARUNDEL AND SURREY, and to evince a further regard for the House of Fitz Alan, was desirous that the name of Fitz Alan should be borne by his issue."—MS. note by T.W.King, York Herald (1848-72), in his copy of Nicolas.

On 1 Aug. 1622 his power to act as such, independently of the High Constable, was declared by patent. In 1627 (3 Car. 1) he obtained an Act. of Parl. "For the annexing of the Castle, honour, manor and lordship of Arundel, &c., with the titles and dignities of the BARONIES OF FITZ ALAN, CLUN AND OSWALDESTRE AND MALTRAVERS,<sup>(b)</sup> and with divers other lands, &c., being now parcels of the possessions of [him the said] Thomas, Earl of Arundel and Surrey, Earl Marshal of England, to the same title, name and dignity of EARL OF ARUNDEL,"<sup>(c)</sup> settling the same on him and the heirs male of his body, with rem. to the heirs of his body, with rem. to his uncle Lord William Howard<sup>(d)</sup> and his issue (male and general) in like way, with rem. to the said Earl and his heirs for ever. Both these Earls, (i.e. Suffolk and Carlisle) though not descended from the heiress of the last Earl of Arundel of the family of Fitz Alan, have a descent from Richard (Fitz Alan), Earl of Arundel and Surrey (who d. 1397) through his 1st da. In Feb. 1642 he embarked with the Princess Mary to conduct her to her husband, the Prince of Orange, and never returned to England. In answer to a petition (which he had presented in 1641), signed by sixteen Peers, praying to be restored to the Dukedom of his grandfather, the King, by patent, dated at Oxford 6 June 1644, cr. him EARL OF NORFOLK, with rem., failing the heirs male of his body, to those of his uncle Thomas, late Earl of Suffolk, rem. to his uncle, Lord William Howard, with like remainder. He m., in Sep. 1606, Alathea, 3rd da. and coh., but eventually sole h., of Gilbert (TALBOT), 7th EARL OF SHREWSBURY, by Mary, da. of Sir William CAVENDISH. He d. 4 Oct. 1646, at Padua, (M.I. there) aged 61, and was bur. at Arundel. Admon. 13 Nov. 1646. One will is dat. 28 Mar. 1617; another, dat. 3 Sep. 1641, pr. at York 23 July 1647. <sup>(b)</sup> His widow, who on 7 Dec. 1651 (on the death of her surv. sister s.p.) inherited the BARONIES OF FURNIVAL (1295), STRANGE OF BLACKMERE (1308), and TALBOT (1331), d. 24 May/3 June 1654, at Amsterdam, and was bur. at Rotherham, co. York. <sup>(c)</sup> Admon. 1659, in Court of Delegates, to William (Howard), Viscount Stafford, yr. s. of deceased. Further admon. 8 Jan. 1714/5 to Henry (Stafford-Howard), Earl of Stafford, grandson and next of kin.

<sup>(b)</sup> See notes concerning him in N. & Q., 3rd Ser., vol. ii, p. 403. The unflattering character given of him by Clarendon suggests over-weening pride and incompetence—e.g., that he went to court but seldom "because there, only, was a greater man than himself"—that "He was willing to be thought a scholar" because of his purchase of statues and collection of medals, but "as to all parts of learning he was most illiterate"—that his dress was "very different from that of the time, such as men had only beheld in the pictures of the most considerable men, all which drew the eyes of most and the reverence of many towards him"—that he was "not much concerned for religion," nor "inclined to this or that party," but "had little other affection for the nation than as he had a share in it, in which, like the great Leviathan, he might sport himself; from which he withdrew as soon as he discerned the repose thereof was likely to be disturbed and died in Italy under the same doubtful character of religion in which he lived." A 17th century poem says of his life in that country:—

"Remaining in that calm delightful air Till death removed him thence, the Lord knows where."

Evelyn, however, speaks of him very differently as "the magnificent Earl of Arundel, my noble friend while he lived."

[SIR JAMES HOWARD, styled LORD MALTRAVERS, s. and h. ap., bap. 17 July 1607, at the Chapel Royal, Whitehall, the King, James I, being his Godfather. On 4 Nov. 1616 he was cr. K.B. at the creation of the Prince of Wales. He d. (of the small pox), aged 17, and unm., July 1624, at Ghent in Flanders, and was bur. at Arundel.]

XXVII. 1646. 22 OF 15. HENRY FREDERICK (HOWARD), EARL OF ARUNDEL, &c., 2nd, but 1st surv. s. and h., b. 15 Aug. 1608. He, together with his eldest br., was cr. K.B. 4 Nov. 1616. M.P. for Arundel 1628-29, for Callan [I.] 1634, for Arundel again, 1640. P.C. [I.] 10 Aug. 1634. On 21 Mar. 1639/40 he was sum. to Parl. (in his father's Barony) as LORD MOWBRAY,<sup>(a)</sup> and placed at the upper end of the Barons' Bench on 16 Apr. following. He was a zealous Royalist, was present at the battle of Edgehill, and was with the Court at Oxford, by which University, on 1 Nov. 1642, he was made M.A. In 1648 he was fined by Parl. £6,000, but allowed to compound for his estates. He appears to have contested his father's will, and to have behaved very undutifully to his mother, who had brought an annual revenue of more than £30,000 to the family, and to whom he allowed but a paltry sum. She, however, outlived him. He m., 7 Mar. 1625/6, (a marriage for which his father suffered fine and imprisonment) Elizabeth, da. of Esme (STUART), 3rd DUKE OF LENNOX [S.], by Katharine, only da. and h. of Gervase (CLIFTON), LORD CLIFTON DE LAYTON BROMSWOLD. He d. 17 Apr. 1652, at Arundel House, Strand, in his 44th year, and was bur. at Arundel. His widow d. 23 Jan. 1673/4. Will (in which she directs to be bur. by her husband) dat. 3 Nov. 1673, pr. 30 Mar. 1674.

XXVIII. 1652. 23 OF 16. THOMAS (HOWARD), EARL OF ARUNDEL, EARL OF SURREY, EARL OF NORFOLK, &c., s. and h., b. 9 Mar. 1627/8, at Arundel House, Strand. Ed. at Utrecht. While with his grandfather in 1645, at Padua, he had a fever, from which his mental faculties never recovered. On 29 Dec. 1660 he was restored (together with the heirs male of the body of the 1st Duke of Norfolk) to the DUKEDOM OF NORFOLK. He d. unm. 13 Dec. 1677, at Padua, and was bur. at Arundel. See fuller account under "NORFOLK," Dukedom of.

<sup>(a)</sup> The entirety of the Barony of MOWBRAY (and not a moiety only, as till recently has been generally supposed) was vested in his father, the abeyance of it (as well as that of the Barony of SEGRAVE) having (doubtless) been terminated by Richard III in favour of the Howard family (who, with the Berkeley family, were coheirs to a moiety of it), inasmuch as it is certain that that King addressed the Duke of Norfolk (John Howard) as "Lord Mowbray and Segrave." The House of Lords, (when the Barony of Mowbray was assigned, on 27 July 1877, to Lord Stourton (the senior coh. of the Barony thus [by Richard III] terminated), though they did not expressly state that the abeyance had been terminated by Richard III, came to the resolution that at some period subsequent to 1481 but before the time of Elizabeth, it was terminated in favour of the Howard family, a resolution which (coupled with the recognition of the Barony above quoted and the fact that no other such recognition took place in the 16th century) amounts (practically) to the same thing.

The Earldom of Arundel and the other honours entailed therewith by the Act. of Parl. of 1627, have been, since 1660, merged in the Dukedom of Norfolk; the Duke of Norfolk in 1660 and each of his successors being heir male of the body of Thomas (Howard), xxvith (21st or 14th), Earl of Arundel, on which class of heirs the first limitation is made. If, however, such heirs male were to become extinct, the Earldom of Arundel, &c., would pass (under the next rem. in the entail of 1627) to the heirs general of the body of the said Thomas (which are numerous), and would consequently become separated from the Dukedom of Norfolk, and could only become re-united therewith on the failure of such heirs general, when the subsequent limitation would take effect.

ARUNDEL

BARONY
BY WRIT.

I. 1377. I. JOHN D'ARUNDEL,<sup>(a)</sup> yr. s. of Richard (FITZ ALAN) xivth (10th or 3rd) EARL OF ARUNDEL, by his 2nd wife, Eleanor, da. of Henry,<sup>(b)</sup> EARL OF LANCASTER, m., 17 Feb. 1358/9, Eleanor, 2nd and yst. da. of Sir John MAUTRAVERS, by Gwenthlian, his wife, which Eleanor was found granddaughter and coh. (she eventually was sole h.) of Sir John Mautravers [Lord Mautravers] on 16 Feb. 1364/5, at which date she was aged 19. In consequence, probably, of such marriage, he was sum. to Parl., from 4 Aug. (1377) 1 Ric. II to 20 Oct. (1379) 3 Ric. II by writs directed "Johanni de Arundell," whereby he may be <sup>(c)</sup> held to have become LORD ARUNDEL.<sup>(d)</sup> He was MARSHAL OF ENGLAND in that same year, 1377, and also 9 Apr. 1378. Being in command of a naval expedition in aid of the Duke of Brittany, he defeated the French fleet off the coast of Cornwall, but was later, 15 or 16 Dec. 1379,<sup>(e)</sup> wrecked and drowned in

ARUNDELL OF TRERICE

BARONY. I. RICHARD ARUNDELL, of Trerice, Cornwall, s. and h. of John A.,<sup>(b)</sup> of the same (M.P. for Cornwall 1601, and 1621-22, who d. 5 Dec. 1654), by Mary, da. of George CARY, of Clovelly, Devon, was M.P. for Lostwithiel 1640-44, and a Col. in the King's army. Gov. of Pendennis 1662 till his death. Having

(<sup>b</sup>) This John was known as "Jack for the King," and the following epitaph is said to be, or to have been, in Llanidolawre churchyard.

Lies 'John for the King'
Who in truth and verement
Did hate the Parliament,
But as for the Blud Ryall
He was trew as a Sundryall."

V.G.

He (as also his four sons, of whom two lost their lives in the Royal service) was most zealous in the cause of Charles I. His gallant defence of Pendennis Castle, of which he was Governor, is well known. It was, however, surrendered on 31 Aug. 1646. Lord Clarendon's account thereof is as follows—"This Castle was defended by the Governor thereof, John Arundel of Trerice in Cornwall, an old Gentleman, of near four-score years of age, and of one of the best estates and interest in that County, who, with the assistance of his son, Richard Arundel (who was then a Col. in the Army, a stout and diligent officer, and was by the King, after his return, made a Baron, LORD ARUNDEL OF TRERICE, in memory of his father's service and his own eminent behaviour throughout the war) maintained and defended the same to the last extremity."

fought for the King at the battle of Edgehill, and been despoiled of nearly all his estates by the Parl., he was, in reward for his own and his father's loyalty, cr., 23 Mar. 1663/4, BARON ARUNDELL OF TRERICE, <sup>(a)</sup> Cornwall. A Tory in politics. He m., before 1648, at St. James's, Westm., Gertrude, widow of (his friend and companion in arms) Sir Nicholas SLANNING, of Bickley, Governor of Pendennis Castle (who d. of his wounds at the taking of Bristol, 1643, aged 25), and da. of Sir James BAGGE, of Saltram, Devon, by Grace, da. of John FORTESCUE, of Buckland Filleigh, Devon. He was bur. 10 Oct. 1687, at St. James's, Westm. Admon. 26 June 1688, and again 23 Aug. 1692. His widow, who was aged 6 in 1620, was bur. there 28 Nov. 1691.

s. and h. of Sir Matthew A., of the same, by Margaret,
I. 1605.                    da. of Sir Henry WILLOUGHBY, of Wollaton, Notts., was
b. about 1560. He was imprisoned in the summer of 1580 for his zeal in the cause of his communion. He subscribed £100 towards repelling the Spanish Armada in 1588. He was known as 'the Valiant,' and served in 1588 with the Imperialists, against the Turks, and, having taken a standard from the enemy at Gran, in Hungary, was cr. by the Emperor Rudolph II, on 14 Dec. 1595 (by patent dat. at Prague), a COUNT OF THE HOLY ROMAN EMPIRE. <sup>(c)</sup> Any precedence, however, as such, in England was never acknowledged by Queen Elizabeth, though the title was recognised by her successor. In Dec. 1598, being then a knight, and aged 36, he suc. his father, and on 4 May 1605, <sup>(d)</sup> was cr. BARON ARUNDELL OF WARDOUR, <sup>(e)</sup> Wilts. He m., 1stly (lic. Lond. <sup>(f)</sup>

II. 1639. 2. THOMAS (ARUNDELL), BARON ARUNDELL OF WARDOUR, s. and h. by 1st wife, b. about 1586. He was a devoted Royalist, and raised a Regiment of Horse for the King. He m. (settl. after marriage, 11 May 1607) Blanche, 6th da. of Edward (SOMERSET), 4th EARL OF WORCESTER, by Elizabeth, da. of Francis (HASTINGS), 2nd EARL OF HUNTINGDON. She gallantly defended Wardour Castle against the Parliamentary forces under Sir Edward Hungerford, but was finally forced to surrender on honourable terms, which, however, were not observed, and the castle was sacked, and the lady removed as a prisoner to Dorchester. He d. at Oxford, 19 May, of wounds received at the battle of Stratton, 16 May 1643, aged about 57, and was bur. at Tisbury. M.I. Will dat. 7 Jan. 1641/2 to 14 May 1643, pr. 27 Nov. 1648. His widow d. 28 Oct. 1649, at Winchester, in her 66th year, and was also bur. at Tisbury. M.I. Will dat. 28 Sep., pr. 2 Nov. 1649.

III. 1643. 3. HENRY (ARUNDELL), BARON ARUNDELL OF WARDOUR, s. and h., hap. 23 Feb. 1607/8, at St. Andrew's, Holborn. Master of the Horse to Queen Henrietta Maria. He also was very active for the King, and in Mar. 1644 re-took Wardour Castle from the rebels, and destroyed it to prevent its being used by them as a fortress. Having been second to his br. in law, Col. Henry Compton, when he was killed by Lord Chandos in a duel, 13 May 1652, they were found guilty of manslaughter, 17 May 1653, and sentenced to be burned in the hand.<sup>(b)</sup> From Oct. 1678 to Feb. 1683/4, he was, with other "popish" Peers, imprisoned in the Tower, on the accusation of Titus Oates.<sup>(c)</sup> P.C.

<sup>(b)</sup> "Lord Chandos and my Lord Arundel of Wardour were this day upon their trial in the Upper Bench upon the indictment for killing Mr. Compton which had been found at Kingston but manslaughter. They pleaded their peerage that so according to the statute they might not be put to read, but the house of peers being taken away, that plea would not be allowed; so they read but the burning in the hand was respited till Monday." (Letter of T. Harley, 21 May 1653. Hist. MSS. Com., 14th Rep., App., Pt. 2, p. 201.) "The Lord Arundell of Wardour, and the Lord Shandoys were indicted at sessions and found guilty of manslaughter, and had sentence to be burned in the hand (a strange doom for noblemen)." (Newsletter, 21 May 1653.) V.G.

17 July 1686 till Feb. 1688/9 ; LORD PRIVY SEAL 11 Mar. 1686/7-88. He was one of the five Lords to whom James II committed the administration of his affairs in 1688 ; and on the expulsion of that King he retired to Breamore, Hants. <sup>(a)</sup> He m. Cicely, widow of Sir John FERMOR, of Somerton, Oxon, da. of the Hon. Sir Henry COMPTON, K.B., of Brambletye, Sussex, by Cicely, da. of Robert (SACKVILLE), EARL OF DORSET. She d. 24 Mar. 1675/6, and was bur. 1 Apr. 1676, at Tisbury, aged 66. M.I. <sup>(a)</sup> This is one of the twelve families given in Drummond's Noble British Families. See p. 118, note "b."

"The common account [writes a correspondent] of the descent of this family given by Fuller and others is mythical. The true descent is probably from Criol, to which name belongs the oldest quartering. Hence also the name Bertram."

<sup>(b)</sup> This William was s. and h. ap. of John A., of Ashburnham, Groom of the Bedchamber to Charles I, and well known for his close relations with that King, who d. 15 June 1671. It seems remarkable that this John Ashburnham, who had done so much for the House of Stuart, should not have been raised to the Peerage immediately after the Restoration of that House, while his grandson (whose chief claim to distinction appears to have been that he was such grandson) should have been cr. a Baron by the very King who had driven the House of Stuart into banishment. Clarendon explains the neglect of John the elder by the general opinion (not shared by him) that John A. had been outwitted, if not corrupted, by Cromwell at the time of Charles I leaving Hampton Court.

<sup>(f)</sup> Among the sixteen "delinquents" of co. Bedford, whose estates were "decimated" in 1655, the amount (£90) levied on "Richard Taylor of Clopham Esq." was only exceeded by two others, viz. Conquest of Houghton Conquest (£120) and Leigh of Leighton Buzzard (£135). 2 and 4. JOHN (ASHBURNHAM), EARL OF ASHBURNHAM, &c. only s. and h. by 3rd wife, b. 30 Oct. 1724. A Lord of the Bedchamber 1748-62. LL.D. of Cambridge 3 July 1749; L. Lieut. of Sussex 1754-7. Keeper of Hyde Park and of St. James's Park, 1753-62. P.C. 12 July 1765, Master of the Great Wardrobe family of Ashburnham, by whom it is still held, the Manor House having long been used as a farm. The ped. of Taylor is recorded in the Visit. of Beds, 1634.

He m., 2ndly, 25 July 1795, at Orwell Park, near Ipswich, Charlotte, <sup>(d)</sup> 1st da. of Algernon (PERCY), 1st EARL OF BEVERLEY, by Isabella Susanna, 2nd da.

<sup>(a)</sup> Through this lady the estate of Barking in Suffolk came to the family of Ashburnham, her mother, Anne, being da. and h. of Sir Francis THEOBALD, of Barking. This Theodosia Crowley survived all her children, and d. 17 May 1782, aged 89, when Barking devolved on her grandson, George Ashburnham, afterwards the 5th Earl.

<sup>(b)</sup> "A most decent, reserved and servile courtier. He did not want sense, but it all centred in self interest." (Horace Walpole). George Selwyn writes of him in 1782.—"I have the greatest opinion of his judgment in the conductive part of life. I really believe, if any man ever went through life with consummate discretion, it has been himself, and he has preserved his reputation at the same time." He m., 8 Jan. 1840, Katherine Charlotte, sister to George, 10th EARL OF HADDINGTON [S.], 4th da. of George BAILLIE, of Jerviswood, by Mary, da. of Sir James PRINGLE, Bart. [S.]. He d. 22 June 1878, at Ashburnham, and was bur. there, aged 80. <sup>(b)</sup> His widow, who was b. 10 May 1819, d. 6 Feb. 1894.

<sup>(b)</sup> He was the Collector of an extensive library of early and rare books, both English and Foreign, and of a vast assemblage of MSS. It comprised four divisions—viz. (i) the LIBRI collection, purchased in 1848, containing numerous ancient codices, illuminated MSS., works of mediæval literature, literary and scientific correspondence, &c. (ii) The BARROIS collection, rich in old French poetry and romances. (iii) The STOWE collection, purchased, at the sale of the Duke of Buckingham's effects, in 1849, containing many early charters, monastic registers, state papers, and antiquarian gatherings concerning England [including the MSS. of the well-known Thomas Astle, Keeper of the Records], as well as many valuable Irish MSS. (iv) A portion known as the "appendix," comprising Lord Ashburnham's miscellaneous collections. These four portions, containing nearly 4000 MSS., were, in 1883, offered to Government for £160,000. The French Government, however, claiming between 160 and 170 of the MSS. in the Libri and Barrois collections as having been stolen (which MSS. were valued at £24,000), the trustees of the British Museum recommended (17 Mar. 1883) the purchase of the remainder at £136,000, but the Treasury declined the proposal. (ex inform. H.Gough).

Finally, however, in July 1883, the Government purchased the Stowe collection (which in 1849 was sold for £8000) for £45,000, presenting the English portion to the British Museum, and the Irish (on loan) to the Royal Irish Academy, Dublin; while in May 1884, the Italian Government bought for £23,000, for the Laurenzian library at Florence, the larger portion of the Libri collection (the whole of which, some 1923 MSS. had, in 1846, been sold for £8000), as also the Dante MSS. (some dozen or so) from the "Appendix;" while the Barrois collection, some 704 MSS. (which had been offered in 1848 to the British Museum for £6000), and the "Appendix" (except as above stated), were returned to Lord Ashburnham.

VII. 1889. 5. FRANCIS DENZIL EDWARD (BARING), BARON ASHBURTON [1835], 1st s. and h.; b. 20 July 1866. A Conservative in politics. He m., 25 July 1889 (seven days after his father's death), at St. Geo., Han. Sq., Mabel Edith, 1st da. of Francis Wheler (HOOD), 4th VISCOUNT HOOD OF WHITLEY, by Edith, da. of Arthur W. WARD. She, who was b. 26 May 1866, d. 18 Jan. 1904. He m., 2ndly, 19 Feb. 1906, at the Mairie, Paris, and afterwards in the Rue d'Aguesseau there, Frances, da. of J. C. DONNELLY, of New York, an American actress, known as "Frances Belmont." (b)

Family Estates.—These, in 1883, consisted of about 15,500 acres in Hants, 10,000 in Wilts, 6,500 in co. Hereford, 4,000 in Essex and 1,000 in Somerset. Total about 37,000 worth about £47,000 a year. Besides this, in 1883, Louisa, the Dowager Baroness, had about 2,500 acres in Devon, about 2,000 in Cornwall and about 200 in Hants, as also about 28,500 in co. Ross, which last named estate, though "of the nominal value of £1,885, practically produces no income." Total (for this lady) about 33,000 acres worth about £6,000 a year. (c) Principal Residence.—The Grange, near Alresford, Hants.

(a) He sat as a Whig 1830-31, but thereafter joined the Tories, changing his politics precisely as his two predecessors in title had done. V.G.

(b) For a list of peers who have m. Singers, Dancers, or Actresses, see note sub Charles, EARL OF PETERBOROUGH [1697]. V.G.

(c) The whole of the estates near Taunton were offered at auction in May 1894, the portion sold amounting to £70,000. Fitzhead Court was withdrawn. V.G.

ASHCOMBE OF DORKING AND OF BODIAM CASTLE

BARONY.

I. GEORGE CUBITT, 1st s. and h. of Thomas CUBITT, of Denbies, the eminent builder<sup>(a)</sup> (who d. 20 Dec. 1855, in his 68th year), by Mary Anne, da. of Samuel WARNER, was b. 4 June 1828, at Clapham Common; ed. at Trin. Coll. Cambridge; B.A., 1851; M.A., 1854; was M.P. (Conservative) for West Surrey 1860-85, and for Mid Surrey, 1885-92; Second Church-Estates Commissr., 1874-79; P.C. 24 Mar. 1880; Member of the Council of Selwyn College, 1887. On 22 Aug. 1892, he was cr. <sup>(b)</sup> BARON ASHCOMBE OF DORKING, Surrey, AND OF BODIAM CASTLE, <sup>(c)</sup> Sussex. He m., 14 June 1853, at Dorking, Laura, yst. da. of the Rev. James JOYCE, Vicar of Dorking, by Sarah, da. of (—) Brakspear, of Henley on Thames. She, who was b. 13 Aug. 1826, d. 7 July 1904, at 17 Prince's Gate, Midx, and was bur. at Ranmore, Surrey.

[HENRY CUBITT, 3rd, <sup>(d)</sup> but 1st surv. s. and h. ap., b. at 17 Prince's Gate afsd., 14 Mar., and bap. 1 May 1867, at All Saints, Ennismore Gardens, Midx; ed. at Eton, and at Trin. Coll. Cambridge; B.A. 1889; M.A. 1891. M.P. (Conservative) South East Surrey 1892-1906; Lord Lieut. and Custos Rotulorum, Surrey, 1905. He m., 21 Aug. 1890, at Ockley, Surrey, Maud Marianne, yr. of the 2 daughters of Archibald Motteux CALVERT, Col. R.A., of Ockley Court, Surrey, by Constance, da. of Henry PETERS, of Betchworth Park. She was b. in 1865, at Charlton, near Woolwich.]

Family Estates.—These, in 1883, consisted of 3,989 acres in Surrey; 2,200 in Devon, and 600 in Sussex. Total.—6,789 acres; worth £8,509 a year. Principal Residence.—Denbies, near Dorking, Surrey. Note. In 1909 the Surrey property, consisting of 4,200 acres, had become the property of his Lordship's h. ap.

<sup>(a)</sup> The buildings on the Westminster and Lowndes estates, (including Belgrave Sq., Lowndes Sq., Chesham Place, and the vast district known as South Belgravia, between Eaton Sq. and the Thames) as also those erected at an earlier date in Tavistock Sq., Gordon Sq. and Woburn Place, on the estates of the Duke of Bedford and Lord Southampton, form the chief part of his undertakings. His yr. br., William Cubitt, for two years (1860-62) L. Mayor of London (d. 1863), was sometime in the same business.

ASHTON

BARONY.

1. JAMES WILLIAMSON, of Ashton, co. Lancaster, 2nd s. of James WILLIAMSON, of Parkfield in Scotforth, co. Lancaster, sometime Mayor of Lancaster (d. 3 Jan. 1879), by Eleanor, da. of Leonard MILLER, of Lancaster, was b. 31 Dec., 1842; ed. at the Lancaster Grammar School; became a successful manufacturer of linoleum<sup>(a)</sup> at Ashton, afsd.; High Sheriff for co. Lancaster, 1885; M.P. (Liberal) for the Lancaster div. of N. Lancashire, 1886-95, and was cr. 25 July 1895,<sup>(b)</sup> BARON ASHTON<sup>(c)</sup> of Ashton, co. Lancaster. He was not, however, introduced into the House of Lords till (nearly two years later) 25 Mar. 1897. He m., 1stly, 23 Sep. 1869, Margaret, 1st da.

<sup>(b)</sup> This was one of the four Baronies conferred on the retirement of the Earl of Rosebery from the Premiership. There would seem at first sight little to justify two out of these four creations, viz. this and 'Wandsworth,' but as the bad days of jobbery are long gone by, and it is impossible that a Minister desirous of mending the House of Lords should recommend anyone for a peerage except on the ground of merit and public service, it is clear that the grantees must have privately advanced solid reasons for their promotion, though these have not been, and are not likely to be, revealed to the outside world. See also note sub WANDSWORTH. V.G.

of Joseph GATEY, of Keswick, Cumberland. She d. s.p.m., 10 Apr. 1877. He m., 2ndly, 23 Nov. 1880, Jessy Henrietta, 2nd and yst. da. of James STEWART, of Clapham, in the West Riding of co. York. She d. s.p., of apoplexy, at Ryelands, 5, and was bur. there 10 Oct. 1904. He m., 3rdly, 30 July 1909, at Trinity Church, Sloane Str., Florence Maude, widow of Col. J. LAWSON WHALLEY, of Richmond House, Lancaster, da. of the Rev. Robert DANIEL, Vicar of Osbaldwick, co. York.

ASHTOWN

BARONY [I.] I. FREDERIC TRENCH, of Woodlawn (formerly called Moate), in Kilconnel, co. Galway, s. and h. of Frederic T., of Moate, afsd., by Mary, 1st da. and coh. of Francis SADLEIR, of Sopwell Hall, co. Tipperary, b. 17 Sep. 1755, suc. his father 27 Nov. 1797, was M.P. for Maryborough 1785-90, and for Portarlington, 1798-1800, [I.] and 1800 [U.K.]<sup>(a)</sup> when, having been bribed thereby to support the Union with Ireland, to which he had formerly been opposed, he was, on 27 Dec. 1800, cr. BARON ASHTOWN<sup>(b)</sup> of Moate, co. Galway<sup>(c)</sup> [I.], such creation being with a spec. rem. (very unusual in the case of a Commoner when raised to Peerage rank)<sup>(d)</sup> to the heirs male of the body of his father (who were numerous), failing those of his own body, who did not exist. He m., 25 May 1785, Elizabeth, only da. and h. of Robert ROBINSON, M.D., by Elizabeth, da. of Thomas LYSTER, of Lysterfield, co. Roscommon, and niece of Christopher Robinson, a Judge of the King's Bench [I.]. He d. s.p., aged 84, at Bath, 1, and was bur. 13 May 1840, at Kilconnel afsd. Will pr. May 1840. His widow d. June 1844, at Dublin, aged 77. Will pr. July 1844.

II. 1840. 2. FREDERIC MASON (TRENCH), BARON ASHTOWN [I.], nephew and h., according to the spec. lim. in the patent, <sup>(a)</sup> He was elected by lot for this place in the 1st Parl. [U.K.], but his creation as an Irish peer of course prevented his taking his seat, though he would have been eligible for an English or Scottish constituency. (ex inform. G.D. Burtchaell.) V.G.

being 2nd, but 1st surv., s. and h. of Francis TRENCH, of Sopwell Hall, afsd. (by Mary, (°) 2nd da. and coh. of Henry MASON, of Shrewsbury), which Francis was next br. to the 1st Lord Ashtown [I.], but d. before him, Nov. 1829, aged 72. He was b. 25 Dec. 1804; was Sheriff of co. Galway 1840. Claim to Peerage allowed 12 July 1855. He m., 1stly, 29 Aug. 1831, Harriet Georgiana, yst. da. of Thomas COSBY, of Stradbally Hall, Queen's County, by Charlotte Elizabeth, da. of the Rt. Hon. Thomas KELLY, 2nd Justice of the Common Pleas [I.]. She d. 25 Feb. 1845, at Woodlawn, aged 34, and was bur. there. He m., 2ndly, 10 Feb. 1852, at Aberford, co. York, Elizabeth, 2nd da. and coh. of Richard Oliver GASCOIGNE, of Castle Oliver, co. Limerick, and of Parlington, co. York, by Mary, da. of Sir Charles TURNER, of Kirkleatham, Bart. He d. at Clonodfoy, co. Limerick, in his 76th year, 12, and was bur. 17 Sep. 1880, at Woodlawn. Will dat. 10 July 1879, pr. 29 Nov. 1880. His widow d. at the Hôtel National, Montreux, Switzerland, 23, and was bur. 25 Feb. 1893, at Territet, Switzerland. Will dat. 2 Nov. 1890 to 24 Sep. 1892, pr. 25 May 1893.

III. 1880. 3. FREDERIC OLIVER (TRENCH), BARON ASHTOWN [I.], grandson and h., being s. and h. of the Hon. Frederic Sidney Charles TRENCH (by Anne, 1st da. of William Thomas (LE POER TRENCH), 3rd EARL OF CLANCARTY [I.]), which Frederic was s. and h. ap. of the last Lord by his 1st wife, but d. v.p., 2 Mar. 1879, in his 40th year. He was b. at the Villa, Galway, 2 Feb., and bap. 5 Apr. 1868, at Kilconnell. Ed. at Eton. Matric. Oxford (Magd. Coll.) 22 Oct. 1887. Rep. Peer [I.], (Conservative) Nov. 1908. He m., 11 Jan. 1894, at Stradbally afsd., his 2nd cousin, Violet Grace, yst. da. of Col. Robert Ashworth Godolphin COSBY, by his 1st wife, Alice Sophia Elizabeth, only da. of Sir George Edward Pocock, Bart.

[FREDERICK SYDNEY TRENCH, 1st s. and h. ap., b. 9 Dec. 1894, at Woodlawn, and bap. there 20 Jan. 1895.]

Family Estates.—These, in 1883, consisted of about 6,400 acres in co. York, worth about £7,700 a year, and of about 37,200 acres in Ireland (chiefly in the counties of Limerick, Galway, Tipperary, and Waterford), worth about £27,000 a year. Total about 43,600 acres, worth about £34,700 a year. But query if the Yorkshire estates were not those of the family of Gascoigne, belonging to the Dowager Baroness? Principal Residence.—Woodlawn, co. Galway.

ASTLEY or ESTLEIGH

BARONY.

I. 1295. I. ANDREW OF ASTLEY, <sup>(a)</sup> of Astley and Bentley, co. Warwick, s. and h. of Sir Thomas of A., of the same, <sup>(b)</sup> by his 1st wife, Joan, da. of Ernald DU BOIS, of co. Leicester, suc. his father (who was slain at Evesham) 4 Aug. 1265, and was by the composition called the dictum de Kenilworth, on payment of a fine, put into possession of his father's estates, which had been confiscated. He was in the Scottish wars and at the Battle of Falkirk. He m. Sibyl. He was sum. to attend the King at Shrewsbury 28 June (1283) 11 Edw. I <sup>(c)</sup> by writ directed Andree de Estleye. From 24 June (1295) 23 Edw. I, to 3 Nov. (1306) 34 Edw. I, he was sum. to Parl. by writs directed Andree de Estlegh', whereby he may be held to have become LORD ASTLEY. <sup>(d)</sup> He d. however shortly before 18 Jan. (1300/1) 29 Edw. I, <sup>(e)</sup> so that the later summons must have been in error.

II. 1301. 2. NICHOLAS OF ASTLEY, s. and h., aged 24 at his father's death. He was sum. to Parl. 4 July (1302) 30 Edw. I, 11 June (1309) 2 Edw. II, and 26 Oct. (1309) 2 Edw. II. He was taken prisoner, not as some say, slain, at Bannockburn in 1314. He d. s.p., 1325.

III. 1325. 3. THOMAS OF ASTLEY, nephew and h., being s. and h. of Sir Giles of A. (d. before 1316), br. of the last Lord, by Alice, (living 1344-5), <sup>(f)</sup> 2nd da. and coh. of Sir Thomas WOLVEY. He had seizin 27 Mar. 1326, having proved his age. He was sum. to Parl. from 25 Feb. (1342/3) 17 Edw. III, to 10 Mar. (1349/50) 23 Edw. III. He founded a chantry in the parish church of Astley. He m., before

IV. 1370?

4. WILLIAM (OF ASTLEY), LORD ASTLEY, s. and h., b. before 1344-5. (c) He was never sum. to Parl., though included in several commissions by Henry IV and Henry VI. He m. Joan, da. of John WILLOUGHBY, [LORD WILLOUGHBY OF ERESBY]. He d. s.p.m.

After his death, the Barony of Astley, if an hereditary Peerage (there being no proof of any sitting) would have devolved on his only da. and h., Joan, and the heirs of her body. She m., 1stly, Thomas RALEIGH, of Farnborough, co. Warwick, by whom she had no surv. male issue. She m., 2ndly (as his 2nd wife), Reynold (GREY), 3rd LORD GREY OF RUTHIN, who d. 1440, leaving, by his said wife, Edward Grey (s. and h. to his mother), who was sum. to Parl. in 1446 as LORD FERRERS OF GROBY. The Barony of Astley (if then existing) would thenceforth have followed the course of that of Ferrers of Groby, and have been forfeited therewith on the attainder of Henry (GREY), DUKE OF SUFFOLK, &c., in 1554.—See “FERRERS OF GROBY,” Barony of.

ASTLEY OF READING

BARONY.

ASTON OF FORFAR

BARONY [S.]. I. SIR WALTER ASTON, Bart., of Tixall, co. Stafford, 1st surv. s. and h. of Sir Edward A., of the same (whose estates exceeded the annual value of £10,000), by his 2nd wife, Anne, da. of Sir Thomas LUCY, of Charlecote, co. Warwick, was bap. 9 July 1584, at Charlecote, suc. his father 1 Feb. 1596/7, was cr. K.B. (25 July 1603) at the coronation of James I, and was cr. a Bart., 22 May 1611, on the institution of that order. He was a Statesman of distinction and served on several missions, where his princely magnificence greatly injured his private fortune. Ambassador to Spain 1620-25, and again 1635-38. While in that country he became a Rom. Cath. On 28 Nov. 1627, he was cr. (*) LORD ASTON OF FORFAR [S.], with rem. to him and his heirs male for ever bearing the name and arms of Aston. (b) He m., about 1607, Gertrude, only da. of Sir Thomas SADLEIR, (c) of Standon, he rather collected the ends of the debates, and what he was himself to do, than enlarged them by his own discourses, though he forbore not to deliver his own mind."

(*) "Creavimus, facimus et constituimus præfatum Dominum Walterum Aston Dominum Aston de Forfar infra vicecomitatum nostrum de Forfar in dicto regno nostro, ac dedimus, &c., eidem suisque heredibus masculis in perpetuum, cognomen et insignia de Aston gerentibus, titulum, honorem, ordinem et dignitatem Dominorum Baranum parliamenti dicti Regni, &c. Tenen. et Haben. dict. titulum, &c., dicti Domini Baronis de Forfar cum suffragio in parlamento, &c." (ex inform. R. R. Stodart, sometime Lyon Clerk Depute.) See, as to the rare use of the word 'Baron' in Scottish creations, note sub Elizabeth, BARONESS CRAMOND [1628].

(b) This was as a reward for his services in negotiating for the marriage of Charles Prince of Wales with the Infanta of Spain. V.G.

(c) He was s. of the well-known diplomat and statesman Sir Ralph Sadleir. V.G.

Herts, by his 2nd wife, Gertrude, da. of Robert MARKHAM, of Cotham, Notts. She, who was confirmed by the Bp. of Chalcedon, 1 Apr. 1627, and had a pension of £50 p.a. from the King in 1628, was living 3 June 1635, and, in her issue, was h. to her br. Ralph Sadleir, of Standon, who d. s.p. 12 Feb. 1660. He d. 13 Aug. 1639, and was bur. at St. Mary's, Stafford. (a) Will dat. 3 June 1635, pr. 31 Oct. 1639.

II. 1639. 2. WALTER (ASTON), LORD ASTON OF FORFAR [S.], 1st surv. s. and h., b. 1609. He was a gallant adherent of Charles I, and was at the siege of Lichfield, 1646, and at the surrender of Oxford, after which he had to compound for his estates and live in retirement. In 1660 he inherited the estate of Standon, Herts., from his maternal uncle, Ralph Sadleir, abovenamed. He m., in 1629, Mary, 2nd da. of Richard (WESTON), 1ST EARL OF PORTLAND, by his 1st wife, Elizabeth, da. of William PINCHEON, of Writtle, Essex. He d. 23 Apr. 1678, aged 69, at Tixall, and was bur. at St. Mary's, Stafford, above 1000 people accompanying his corpse. (b) His widow, who was bap. 2 Jan. 1602/3, at Roxwell, Essex, was living Aug. 1678. (c)

III. 1678. 3. WALTER (ASTON), LORD ASTON OF FORFAR [S.], s. and h., b. 1633 at Tixall. Along with other 'Popish Lords' (d) he was strictly imprisoned in the Tower in 1679, being charged with misprision of treason, May 1680, for his supposed share in the plot fabricated by Titus Oates. He was not released until June 1685. He was Lord Lieut. co. Stafford 1687-89, and remained loyal to James II on the landing of William of Orange. At the election of Scottish Rep. Peers, 8 Oct. 1713, a protest was made by him that the patent granted to his grandfather in 1627 should be read, and his name enrolled according to the date thereof. (e) He m., 1stly, about 1657, Eleanor, widow of Robert KNIGHTLEY, of Offchurch, co. Warwick, da. of Sir Walter BLOUNT, of Sodington, 1st Bart., by Elizabeth, da. of George WYLDE, of Droitwich. She d. 3 Dec. 1674. He m., 2ndly, apparently after 1680, Catherine, da.

(b) "The munificent Lord Aston" removed from Tixall to Standon. His table was daily served with 20 dishes at a course, 3 courses the year about, and 4 servants waited behind his own chair—his gentleman, his house Steward, his chief park-keeper, and his footman. For his services at Lichfield the King wrote him a special letter, 6 June 1646, in which he said, "The greatest of my misfortunes is, that I cannot reward such gallant and loyal subjects as you are, as I ought or would." (e) His predecessors, having been Roman Catholics, were precluded from sitting in the Scottish Parl. It is probably owing to this fact that the title is not on the Union Roll (1707), nor in the return made by the Lords of Session to the House of Lords in 1740.

IV. 1714. 4. WALTER (ASTON), LORD ASTON OF FORFAR [S.], 3rd<sup>(a)</sup> but 1st surv., s. and h. by 1st wife, b. 1660. He m., about 1 Oct. 1698, Mary, sister of Thomas and Edward, 8th and 9th DUKES OF NORFOLK, only da. of Lord Thomas HOWARD, of Worksop, Notts., by Mary Elizabeth, da. and h. of Sir John SAVILE, of Copley, Bart. She d. 23 May 1723, in childbed of her 11th child, and was bur. at Standon. M.I. He d. at Tixall, 4, and was bur. 8 Apr. 1748, at Standon, aged 88. M.I. Will dat. 4 July 1746, pr. 15 Aug. 1748.

V. 1748. 5. JAMES (ASTON), LORD ASTON OF FORFAR [S.], 5th<sup>(b)</sup> but 1st surv., s. and h., b. 23 May 1723. He lived in retirement at Standon Lordship, owing to the severity of the penal laws. He m., 30 June 1742, at Twickenham, Midx., Barbara, sister of George, 14th EARL OF SHREWSBURY, 1st da. of George TALBOT, by Mary, da. of Thomas (FITZ WILLIAM), 4th VISCOUNT FITZ WILLIAM [I.]. He d. s.p.m., 24 Aug. 1751, of the small pox, at Tixall, aged 28, and with him expired the issue male of the first Peer, when the Baronetcy became extinct. Will dat. 11 Aug., pr. 5 Dec. 1751. His widow d. 9 Nov. 1759, at Paris. (c) Admon. 26 July 1760, and again 3 July 1766.

Note.—On the death of the 5th lord, the peerage, in accordance with the terms of the patent, devolved upon the h. male general of the grantee; this appears to have been William Aston of Beaulieu, whose descent is given below. It should be noted, however, that H.W.F. Harwood, in his excellent article on 'Aston' in The Scots Peerage, is unable to prove the extinction of the lines of Herbert A. or of John A., brothers of the 2nd Lord, or of Thomas A., his uncle, and that the heir of anyone of these three, if such existed, would have taken precedence of the afsd. William A.

(d. 1640), of Tean, co. Stafford, by Margery, da. of James Walton, of Fole, in that co., which John was 4th and yst. s. of Robert A. (d. 1623), of Park Hall, co. Stafford, by Joyce, 2nd da. of William Dalison, a Judge of the King's Bench, which Robert (d. 1623) was next br. of Sir Edward A., father of Walter, the 1st Lord. He was b. 8 Apr. 1747, and bap. the same day in St. Anne's, Dublin. He never claimed the title, and d. unm., Feb. 1769 Will dat. 5, pr. 10 Feb. 1769. (<sup>a</sup>)

Note.—On or shortly after the death of the 5th Lord, the peerage was assumed as below. Of these claimants it is obvious that the first two were not entitled to it, as their descent was from the 4th s. of Sir Walter A. (grandfather of the 1st Lord), while the above named William A. (their distant relative in Ireland, of whose existence they were probably unaware), descended from the 2nd s. As regards the 3rd claimant to this title, however, viz. Walter A., the watchmaker, the succession must have opened to him on the death of William A. in 1769, (assuming that the issue male of Robert A. of Park Hall then became extinct) subject only to the remote possibility of the uncle or one of the 2 brothers of the 2nd lord having then a surviving h. male.

PHILIP ASTON, styling himself LORD ASTON OF FORFAR [S.], cousin, and wrongly supposing himself to be h. male, being s. and h. of Walter A. Stafford, who was s. and h. of William A., of the same, the 4th s. of Sir Walter Aston, of Tixall, co. Stafford, which Sir Walter Aston (who d. 1589) was ancestor of the first Lord, being father of Sir Edward A., of Tixall (who d. 1597), leaving Walter his s. and h., who was cr. LORD

VII? 1769. 7. WALTER ASTON, styling himself LORD ASTON OF FORFAR [S.], cousin and h., being s. and h. of Edward A. (by Anne, da. of Thomas BAYLEY, of Stafford), who was uncle of Philip, the supposed 6th Lord. He was b. 10 Oct. 1732, and was sometime in trade as a watchmaker. His vote at the election of Scottish Rep. Peers was objected to in 1768, on the grounds of the Peerage of Aston not being on the Union roll. In 1769, however, George III granted him a pension of £300 p.a. on the Scottish establishment under the name of "Walter, Lord Aston, Baron of Forfar." <sup>(b)</sup> He m., 28 May 1766, at Hampstead, Midx., Anne, da. of Peter HUTCHINSON, of Gales, co. ### ATHENRY, anciently ATHNERY [Observations.—The origin of this Peerage is obscure, but its position is undoubted, and has been acknowledged in almost every Parl. during its existence. Its possessor in 1489 was ranked third of the eleven Irish Barons who (with two Earls) obeyed the summons by Henry VII to Greenwich in that year, <sup>(c)</sup> the fourth of such Barons being Kingsale, while the fifth was Gormanston].

<sup>(d)</sup> The name of the Founder is uncertain, by some it is said to be Piers or Peter, and by others William, although neither of these names appears in any Irish document of this date. The family were called Mac Feorais (or Phioris), which is the Erse equivalent for Fitz Piers, after Piers B., temp. Henry III., so no inference can first, or at anyrate a very early member, of this family to settle in Ireland.<sup>(a)</sup> Under the name of Robert de Bermyngeham he was witness to important Irish charters, 1175-79. The statements that he accompanied Henry II in his invasion of Ireland in 1172, and that he obtained the status of a Peer as LORD ATHENRY [I.], rest on no discoverable satisfactory evidence. He d. before 1218.

PIERS BERMINGHAM, s. and h., received in 1234 twenty marks a year from Henry III. In 28 Hen. III (1243-44) he and nine other of the Anglo-Irish Feudal nobility (together with 22 of the native chiefs) were specially thanked by the King for their zeal in his service. He is by some regarded as having obtained or inherited the status of a Peer, as LORD ATHENRY [I.]. He d. 1254.<sup>(b)</sup>

MEILER MAC PHIORIS,<sup>(b)</sup> or BERMINGHAM, of Athenry, co. Galway, s. and h., is said to have taken an important part in the Conquest of Connaught, and to have been known as 'Mor' (i.e. the Great), being styled (by Ware) Dynast (or Petty Prince) of Athenry. On 10 June 1244 he was granted a market at Athenry. He founded the monastery for Dominicans at Athenry. He is by some regarded as having obtained or inherited the status of a Peer as LORD ATHENRY [I.]. He m. Basile,<sup>(c)</sup> sister and h. of Ralph of WORCESTER, and da. of William of W., who brought him a large territory in co. Tipperary, which he exchanged for other lands. He d. 1263, near Cashel, and was bur. in the Priory at Athenry, aged 50.<sup>(d)</sup> His widow was living 1275.

be drawn therefrom, as to the name of the first of the Berminghams to settle in Connaught. G.E.C. writing in 1887, denounced the early part of the pedigree as most untrustworthy, and unfortunately the charge still holds good down to the middle of the 16th century. Documentary evidence is scarce, and the stories of Lodge, Betham, and O'Ferrall are vague, contradictory, and in places demonstrably inaccurate. G.D.Burtchaell, Athlone Pursuivant, has spent much time in collating the different accounts and endeavouring to improve this article, which, maugre his kind efforts, still leaves much to be desired. V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> The Bermingham family were lords of Dunmore; and according to The Annals of Lough Ke, (ed. by William Hennessy M.R.I.A., 1871) Piers Pramister, lord of Conmaicne of Dunmore, d. in 1254. This doubtless is the abovenamed Piers Bermingham, who was ancestor of all the various septs of the family of Bermingham who settled in Ireland, and who, from him, usually styled themselves Mac Phioris, or Mac Feorais, i.e. sons of Piers, or Peter. His 2nd s., James, was Lord of Thetmoy, and grandfather of John (Bermingham), the celebrated Earl of Louth [I.], so cr. 1319. See pedigree, p. 298, and Appendix A. in this volume.

1. PIERS (MAC PHIORIS, <sup>(a)</sup> or BERMINGHAM), LORD ATHENRY [I.], s. and h. He was fined 100s. for non-attendance in Parl. (1284), 12 Edw. I, and was placed as 7th Baron <sup>(b)</sup> in the Parl. of 1295. On 23 Feb. 1321/2 he was sum. to the Scottish expedition. He may be regarded as the first of his family to obtain recognition as LORD <sup>(c)</sup> ATHENRY [I.], although any date given for the origin of early prescriptive Irish titles such as this must be of the nature of guess work. On 2 Dec. 1302, he presented a petition to the Parl. at Kilkenny, mentioning the death of his s. Meiler, and the minority of that son's 2 daughters. <sup>(d)</sup> He distinguished himself against the native Irish. He m., 1stly, (—). He assisted in the victories gained over Edward Bruce and the tribe of O'Connor in 1316, <sup>(g)</sup> and is said to have been a Lord of the Great Council [I.] 1317. He m. Finola. 3. THOMAS (MAC PHIORIS, <sup>(a)</sup> or BERMINGHAM), LORD ATHENRY [I.], s. and h. He was a minor in 1334. On 30 Jan. 1346 he was made King's Chief Sergeant of co. Connaught. On 4 Aug. 1356 he received a writ from the King (directed to him as "his beloved Thomas de Birmingham, Lord of Athenry") to restrain him from making war with the Clanricardes. <sup>(a)</sup> See note "b" on previous page.

6. THOMAS (BERMINGHAM), LORD ATHENRY [I.], <sup>(d)</sup> s. and h. He was called "Oge" or junior. His succession to the Peerage was disputed by Richard MacFeorais called "of the wine" or "old Richard," <sup>(e)</sup> apparently his uncle, being 2nd s. of Walter the 4th Lord, which Richard was presumably the chieftain elected by the native Irish. He was one of the 15 Irish Barons who obeyed the sum. of Hen. VII in 1489 to Greenwich, being ranked as "L. Bretingham de Athenrie," next below "L. Roche de Fermoye" and "L. Barre de Buttevant," which last was next below the Earl of Ormond. <sup>(f)</sup> He m. Annabel DE BURGH OR BOURKE. He d. 1489?

<sup>(a)</sup> According to W.F. Carter, editor of The Midland Antiquary, in his continuation of Dugdale's Warwickshire (so far as that work relates to Birmingham), this Walter's exact relationship to his predecessor is unknown, and he further remarks that "thenceforward up to the middle of the 16th cent. the ped. of the family and the descent of the Barony are quite uncertain." V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> This was the fine of a Peer of Parl., being greater than that of a Commoner. It continued in force till 70 years later, when, by Act 28 Hen. VI, the fines of Peers and Commoners were made equal.

<sup>(e)</sup> It was his descendant who succeeded to the peerage on the death of John the 11th Lord about 1547. If it be true as stated in the Annals of the Four Masters that Richard "of the wine" established his claim to the title, then he and his successors as set out under the 9th Lord should take the place of the 6th, 7th, and 8th Lords of the text. In 1568, having surrendered all his "manors, castells, lordshippes, &c.," he received a regrant thereof to him and the heirs male of his body by letters patent enrolled in the Exchequer [I.]. In 1572 he attended the Lord Deputy Sidney in his progress through Galway, who writes of him that he was "as poore a Baron as lyveth and yet agreed on to be the aunientest Baron in this lande." (<sup>a</sup>) Up to this time the history and succession of these Lords, as far back as Meiler, who in the 13th century founded the Monastery of Athenry, is taken from a copy of the "Registry of Athenry" in the British Museum (Sloane MSS., no. 4784). This, however, ends in 1526, neither must it be implicitly relied upon, for the Annals of the four Masters (sub. 1473) shew that the succession to the Peerage of Thomas the 6th lord in the text was disputed. There is also a good deal of uncertainty as to the succession between 1473 and the reign of Elizabeth. The authorities for the 34 years from 1526 to 1560 are mostly the statements given in "the case of Edward Birmingham of Dalgan, co. Galway, claiming to be Lord Birmingham, Baron of Athenry and Premier Baron of Ireland."

(<sup>b</sup>) Anne, his only da. and h., is said to have m. William Legge, and to have been mother of Edward Legge, b. 1543, ancestor of the Earls of Dartmouth.

Premier<sup>(a)</sup> Baron in 1634. He m., 1stly (—), da. of William LALLY, Archbishop of Tuam. He m., 2ndly, Gille, widow of Dermot O'SHAUGHNESSY, da. of Ulick Bourke McHUBERT, of Dysert Kelly, co. Galway. She d. 20 Nov. 1635, and was bur. in the Abbey of Athenry. Fun. Cert. He d. 1645, at Turlovaughane, and was bur. at Athenry.

XII. 1645? 12. EDMOND BERMINGHAM, de jure hereditario LORD ATHENRY [I.], grandson and h., being s. and h. of Edward B. (by Mary, da. of Feagh BOURKE, of Dunamon, co. Galway), who was s. and h. ap., by his 1st wife, of the last Lord, and d. v.p. before 1641. He was a Dominican Friar, and, accordingly, by deed dat. 3 May 1641, stating that he was grandchild and next h. to "Richard, Lord Birmingham, Lord Baron of Athenry," conveys "as much as in him lieth, all his birthright and title and possibility of descent to the honour and estate of LORD BIRMINGHAM, BARON OF ATHENRY,<sup>(b)</sup> to his dearest br. Francis Birmingham, &c., that after the death of his said grandfather, the name, title, honour and estate of Lord Birmingham, Baron of Athenry, be and remain to his said br. Francis and his heirs male."<sup>(c)</sup> He d. s.p. The date of his death is unknown.

XII. 1645? 12. FRANCIS (BERMINGHAM), LORD ATHENRY [I.], grandson, and de facto h. of Richard, Lord Athenry abovenamed, being next br. to Edmond, de jure, Lord, abovenamed. By virtue of the resignation of his elder br., he appears to have suc. to the Peerage in 1645, immediately on the death of his grandfather, and to have been in possession thereof during the Civil Wars. The exercise of Martial Law in Connaught was granted to him in 1649. He maintained the King's cause in Ireland to the last, and was excepted from the pardon of 12 Aug. 1652. He, as "Francis Lord Baron of Athenree," and "Mary Bermingham, widow," his mother, appear, under date 4 Sep. 1655, among the transplanted Irish in Connaught. On 9 May 1661 (when, not improbably, his elder br. was dead) he took his seat in the House of Lords [I.]. In 1667 he filed a bill in Chancery against the Portreeve of Athenry, referred to above.<sup>(d)</sup> He m. Bridget, da. of Sir Lucas DILLON, of Lough Glyn, co. Roscommon, by Jane, da. of Garret MOORE, of Ball, co. Mayo. He d. 12 Apr. 1677, and was bur. at Athenry. His widow d. 2 Jan. 1687, and was bur. at Turlovaughane.

<sup>(b)</sup> A somewhat similar case occurs in the Viscounty of Buttevant [I.], where Richard, de jure Viscount, 1581-1622 (being deaf and dumb, though of sound understanding), was passed over in favour of his yr. br. David Barry—the de facto Viscount 1581-1617, as also in that of Slane, 1629. See that title.

<sup>(c)</sup> The original deed (price 60s.) was for sale in Dec. 1883, by J. Coleman, Bookseller, Tottenham, Midx. It is stated that he is therein styled "Sir Edmond Birmingham, of the Blessed Order of St. Dominick, &c."

13. EDWARD (BERMINGHAM), LORD ATHENRY [I.], s. and h. Lord Lieut. of co. Mayo. He served as Capt. in the army of James II in Ireland, 1689, (Earl of Clanricarde's Reg. of Infantry)<sup>(a)</sup> and was outlawed 11 May 1691, but the attainder was reversed 25 Nov. 1698, and full pardon granted by patent 5 June 1700. He m., 1stly, Mary, widow of Sir John BURKE, of Derrymaclaghntny, co. Galway, 1st da. of Richard (DE BURGH), 6th EARL OF CLANRICARDE [I.], by Elizabeth, da. of Walter (BUTLER), EARL OF ORMONDE [I.]. By her he had no surv. issue. She d. of small pox, at Merchant's Key, Dublin, 13, and was bur. 14 Aug. 1685, at Christ Church, Dublin. Fun. ent. He m., 2ndly, Bridget, 1st da. of Col. John BROWNE, of Westport, co. Mayo, by his 2nd wife, Maud, da. of Theobald (BOURKE), 3rd VISCOUNT MAYO [I.]. She d. 13 Jan. 1702, and was bur. at Athenry. He d. 3, and was bur. 9 May 1709, at Athenry. Fun. Entry [I.] signed Athunry by his successor.

14. FRANCIS (BERMINGHAM), LORD ATHENRY [I.], only surv. s. and h. by 2nd wife, b. 1692. Conformed to the Established Church [I.] 19 June 1709. Took his seat in the House of Lords [I.] 25 Nov. 1713. He m., 1stly, 22 Sep. 1716, Mary, 1st da. and, in her issue, coh. of Thomas (NUGENT), 4th EARL OF WESTMEATH [I.], by Margaret, da. of John (BELLEW), 1st LORD BELLEW [I.]. She was b. 1694, and d. at Galway, July 1725. He m., 2ndly, 17 Aug. 1745, Ellis, widow of Theobald (BOURKE), VISCOUNT MAYO [I.], da. of James AGAR, of Gowran, co. Kilkenny, by his 2nd wife, Mary, da. of Sir Henry WEMYSS. He d. in Dublin, 4 Mar. 1749/50. His widow, who on 1 Aug. 1758, was cr. COUNTESS OF BRANDON [I.], d. s.p., 11 Mar. 1789, in Merrion Sq., Dublin. See "BRANDON," Countess of [I.], cr. 1758; extinct 1789.

(2) The four daughters and coheirs of Mary, styled Viscountess St. Lawrence, his 2nd da. (who d. v.p. 24 July 1793), viz.—Harriet (the petitioner of 1827), Isabella, Mary, and Matilda; (3) Louisa Catherine Mary, his 3rd and yst. da., b. 20 July 1764, m., 1stly, Joseph Henry (Blake), 1st Lord Wallscourt [I.], 2ndly, 21 Apr. 1804, James Daly, and d. 28 May 1827.

The petition of “Thomas Bermingham Daly Henry SEWELL, Esq.,” b. 13 Feb. 1774, only s. of Lady Elizabeth DUFFIELD, by her former husband “Thomas Baily Heath Sewell, Esq.,” deceased, “to put an end to the abeyance of the said Barony of Athenry in behalf of his said mother, 1st of the three daughters and coheirs of Thomas, late Earl of Louth and Baron of Athenry [I.], deceased,” was reported upon, 3 Nov. 1800, * by the Law officers [I.] of the Crown, viz., John Toler (Attorney Gen.), John Stewart (Solicitor Gen.), and St. George Daly (Prime Serjeant), who pronounced as their opinion “that the Barony of Athenry, appearing to be the most ancient on the list of Barons and being of so great antiquity and consequently [sic] a Barony in fee, is now, as stated in the petition, in abeyance between (1) the said Lady Elizabeth, the mother of the Petitioner, (2) the said daughters of Lady St. LAWRENCE and (3) the said Lady WALLSCOURT.” These learned gentlemen also state “that it belongs now to His Majesty alone to determine whether the said Barony shall vest in any of the said coheirresses, or whether he “shall vouchsafe to bestow his consideration and favour” [to the exclusion of all of them, and in favour of one who was not a coheir] “on the Petitioner, as the son of the eldest daughter, &c.” Many years afterwards, another petition, alleging (as a fact) the Barony of Athenry to be a Barony in fee and consequently in abeyance between the heirs gen. of the late Earl of Louth [I.], was presented, in 1827, by Lady Harriet St. GEORGE, da. of William (St. Lawrence), Earl of Howth [I.], by his 1st wife, Mary (styled Viscountess St. Lawrence), who was 2nd da. and, in her issue, coh. of the abovenamed Earl of Louth. A report was made thereon by the Attorney Gen. (Scarlett), but in this petition, also, there was the same fatal defect as in the one of 1800, viz. that “no attempt was made on the part of the Petitioner to prove herself to be an heir gen. of the first Baron.” The case was referred to the House together with that of Edward Birmingham, who claimed as h. male. Lady Harriet d. 2 Feb. 1830.

* On the same date they reported the BARONY OF DELVIN [I.] “to be an antient Barony in fee,” and now in abeyance between (1) “John NUGENT, Lieut. Gov. of Tortola” and (2) the coheirs of Lady Mary Nugent, i.e. the three (abovenamed) daughters of the late Earl of Louth [I.] (who was s. and h. of the said Lady Mary, by Francis, Lord Athenry abovenamed), or their representatives.

XVIII. ? 1811. 18. ? EDWARD BIRMINGHAM, of Dalgan, afsd., br. and h. In 1827 he petitioned that, as heir male, he should be declared "to be entitled to the honours and dignities of LORD BIRMINGHAM, BARON OF ATHENRY and Premier Baron of Ireland as a prescriptive dignity which had been enjoyed by his ancestors from time immemorial." (b) The Attorney Gen. (Denman) reported to the King thereon that in his opinion "the petitioner has proved himself to be the h. male of Richard, LORD ATHENRY, who sat in Parl. in the reign of Queen Eliz." The petition was referred to the House, and the minutes of evidence before the Committee of Privileges were ordered to be printed 10 Mar. 1836. (c) See tabular pedigree at p. 298.

(b) On like grounds, 4 Oct. 1721, the Irish House of Lords resolved in favour of Gerald de Courcy, who, being h. male, had claimed the Barony of Kingsale [I.] as a Barony by Prescription for "that his ancestors have been, time out of mind, Peers of this Realm and sitting members of this House." The h. gen. (female) was passed over in this resolution of 1721, as was also the case, 38 years later, on the death of this same Lord Kingsale, s.p.m., 1759, when John de Courcy, the then h. male, was declared h. to the Peerage, and took his seat, in 1762, accordingly.

[This Earldom, with GOWRY (now together forming the north and east part of Perthshire), was one of the Seven original Mormaerships of Scotland<sup>(b)</sup> the Rulers of which were styled Mormaers in the 10th century, and early in the 12th were known as Earls.]

EARLDOM [S.] I. MADACH, s. (d) of Melmare (br. of Malcolm III, KING OF SCOTLAND, 1057-98) was witness to the charter of Scone dat. 1115 as 'Madach Comes,' i.e. Madach EARL OF ATHOLL or ATHOLE<sup>(e)</sup> [S.]. He m., about 1133, (probably as a 2nd wife) Margaret, (f) da. of Haco, JARL OF ORKNEY, which island was then part of the Kingdom of Norway, and d. between 1142 and 1152. His widow m. Erland Ugni, JARL OF ORKNEY, who was killed 1156.

II. 1150? 2. MALCOLM, EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], s. of Malcolm, who was probably s. of Madach by a prior marriage. He made a donation to the Priory of St. Andrews at some date before 1174, and to Dunfermline between 1183 and 1186. He m., as his 2nd wife, Hextild, da. of Waltheof, or Uchtred, and widow of Richard COMYN. He d. between 1186 and Aug. 1198.

He d. 1231. She seems to have m., 2ndly, Alan DE LUNDIN, "Ostiarius Regis," who is designated EARL OF ATHOLL in 1233 and 1235, but as his signature appears afterwards without that designation, he probably held the Earldom in wardship (only) during the minority of his step-son.

V. 1231 ?

5. PATRICK (OF GALLOWAY), EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], only s. and h. Having been successful at a tournament against Walter Bisset, he was burnt to death by him at Haddington, 1242. He d. unm.<sup>(b)</sup>

6. FERNELITH, suo jure COUNTESS OF ATHOLL [S.], aunt and h., being the yr. of the two daughters and coheirs of Earl Henry abovenamed. She m., before 1242, David HASTINGS, who, in her right, became EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], and, as such, was one of the guarantors of a treaty of peace with Henry III, in 1244. She surv. him.

VII. 1250 ?

7. ADA, suo jure COUNTESS OF ATHOLL [S.], da. and h. She m. John OF STRATHBOGIE, s. and h. of David, who was 3rd s. of Duncan, EARL OF FIFE [S.]. By this match her husband became, in her right, EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], and, as such, he, with his Countess, in 1254, confirmed a donation made by the father of the latter to the monastery of Coupar.

9. JOHN (OF STRATHBOGIE), EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], s. and h. by 2nd wife. He was one of the Nobles who, 5 Feb. 1283/4, acknowledged Margaret, Maid of Norway, as their Sovereign. In 1292 he swore fealty to Edward I, but fought on the side of the Scots in their defeat at Dunbar, 28 Apr. 1296, and was taken prisoner to London, the order for his release from the Tower being dated 31 July 1297. Having m. Margaret, <sup>(b)</sup> da. of Donald, EARL OF MAR, by Helen, da. of Llewellyn, PRINCE OF NORTH WALES, and sister to the 1st wife of King Robert Bruce, he became a staunch adherent of Bruce, at whose coronation he assisted, 27 Mar. 1306. In the English invasion of Scotland that followed, the Earl was taken prisoner to London, executed 7 Nov. 1306 (his body burnt and his head fixed on London Bridge), and his title forfeited.

10. DAVID OF STRATHBOGIE, of Chilham, Kent, s. and h. of John, 9th Earl, was restored by Edward II as EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], between 21 Aug. 1307, and 20 May 1308. On 23 Dec. 1300, he was a prisoner in England. On 16 Nov. 1316 he had pardon as "David Earl of Ascelles." <sup>(c)</sup> Before Feb. 1311/2 he had been constituted High Constable [S.] by King Robert Bruce, but, rebelling against him in 1314, his lands, office and title were forfeited by that monarch. In 1332 he accompanied Balliol into Scotland, and was at the victory over the Scots, 12 Aug., at Dupplin, after which he was restored by Balliol to his title [S.] and estates. He, however, rebelled in 1334, but was pardoned at the treaty of peace, 18 Aug. 1335. Edward de Baliol, King of Scotland, was sum. in 1348 as an English Baron, though the writ was addressed Magnifico Principi Regi Scotiæ; Henry, Lord Bouchier, was also sum. by his Norman title of Earl of Ewe (1435), 13 Hen. <sup>(a)</sup> Three inquisitions state her age. (1) "Adomarus Comyn." Writ of diem cl. ext. 25 Oct. 10 Edw. II. Inq., Northumberland, 15 Nov. 1316. "Johanna uxor David Comitiss Adtholie et Elizabetha soror predicte Johanne sorores Johannis Comyn patris predicti Adomari Comyn sunt amite et propinquoires heredes predicti Adomari. Et predicta Johanna est etatis viginti et quatuor annorum. Et Elizabetha est etatis sexdecim annorum." (2) "Johannes Comyn de Badenoch." Writ—May 19 Edw. II. Inq., same co., 8 June 1326. "Johanna Comitissa Athollie est de etate xxx annorum x die Maii ultimo preterito. (3) Idem. Writ 9 July 20 Edw. II. Inq., same co., 24 July 1326. "dicta Johanna quondam Comitissa Athollie die obitus dicti Johannis Comyn fratris sui videlicet die lune in festo Nativitatis Sancti Johannis Baptiste anno r. r. E. nunc viij [sic] fuit de etate xvij annorum et supervixit post mortem dicti Johannis fratris sui per xj annos et amplius." (Ch. Inq. p. m., Edw. II, file 53, no. 10, file 97, no. 86). Bain, Cal. Doc. Scot., vol. iii, preface, p. lxxvii, argues from nos. 2 and 3 that Joan was thus under 12 at the birth of her son [1 Feb. 1308/9], "a fact scarcely credible." It will be seen that the earlier inquisition makes her some 4 years older. The truth is that inquisitions cannot be treated as arithmetically exact, least of all when they disagree, or lead to an absurdity. (ex inform. G.W. Watson). V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> As in the somewhat similar case of ANGUS, the real fact appears to have been that the Earldom was a Scottish Dignity and was forfeited, according to the view of the Scottish King; but was extant according to the view of the King of England.

Inq., Northumberland, 18, 20 Jan. 1369/70. (Ch. Inq. p. m., Edw. III, file 241, no. 4). Dugdale gives the date of the Earl's death, incorrectly, as 10 Oct. 49 Edw. ROBERT STEWART, HIGH STEWARD OF SCOTLAND, s. to and h. of Walter S., also High Steward, by Marjory (who 1371. d. 1316), 1st da. of ROBERT I, King of Scotland, was b. 2 Mar. 1316, suc. his father 9 Apr. 1327, and was in command at Halidon hill, 19 July 1333, in consequence of which his estates were forfeited and conferred, by Balliol, on David (of Strathbogie), Earl of Atholl. From 1338 to 1341 he was REGENT OF SCOTLAND, and, on 16 Feb. 1341/2, was cr. EARL OF ATHOLL [S.] on the resignation of William Douglas, Earl of Atholl [S.], as mentioned above. From 1346 to 1357, during the imprisonment of David II in England, he was again REGENT [S.]. In 1358 he was cr. EARL OF STRATHERN [S.]. On 22 Feb. 1370/1 he suc. his uncle, David II, as KING OF SCOTLAND, under the name of ROBERT II, when his Dignities became (apparently)

She d. before 1 Aug. 1404, when he had dispensation to m. Elizabeth, da. of Sir William GRAHAME, of Kincardine, (possibly 1st LORD GRAHAM [S.]) but there is no evidence that the marriage took place, and on 3 Feb. 1407/8, this Elizabeth m. the Earl's half br., Sir John STEWART, of Dundonald, illegit. s. of Robert III. Though greatly trusted by his nephew, James I, he long cherished a design to supplant him on the throne, to which, as representative of the 2nd marriage of his father, he conceived himself to have a better right than the doubtfully legitimate issue of his father's 1st wife. Accordingly he and his grandson and h. ap. (as mentioned below), were among the chief contrivers of the murder of James I, 20 Feb. 1436/7. They were both put to death, the Earl being executed at Edinburgh 26 Mar. 1437, when his titles and extensive estates became forfeited.

[SIR ROBERT STEWART, undoubtedly<sup>(c)</sup> styled MASTER OF ATHOLL, s. and h. of the above David, on 29 Jan. 1428/9 had dispensation to marry Margaret OGILVY. He joined in the conspiracy of his grandfather, and was executed a few days before him, in Mar. 1437.]

the late King James II. He took an active part in suppressing the rebellion of John, Earl of Ross [S.], the last "Lord of the Isles."<sup>(a)</sup> He was AMBASSADOR TO ENGLAND 1484, and commanded in the army of King James III against the rebel Lords. He m., 1stly, in 1459/60, Margaret, Dowager COUNTESS OF DOUGLAS [S.] (widow of William, 8th Earl, who d. Feb. 1451/2, and the divorced wife of his br. James, 9th Earl), only da. of Archibald, 5th EARL OF DOUGLAS, [S.] by Eupheme GRAHAM, da. of Eupheme, suo jure COUNTESS OF STRATHERN [S.]. She, who was called "the fair maid of Galloway," was h. to her br. William, 6th EARL OF DOUGLAS [S.], who d. s.p., 24 Nov. 1440. On this marriage the King bestowed on them the Lordship of Balveny <sup>(b)</sup> (one of the forfeited possessions of the family of Douglas) and other large estates. She was living 21 Jan. 1472/3, but d. in or before 1475. He m., 2ndly, before 19 Apr. 1475, Eleanor, da. of William (SINCLAIR), EARL OF ORKNEY AND CAITHNESS [S.], by his 2nd wife, Marjory, da. of Alexander SUTHERLAND, of Dunbeath. By her he had eleven children. He d. 15 Sep. 1512, at the Laighwood, and was bur. in Dunkeld Cathedral. His widow d. 21 Mar. 1518, and was bur. with him.

XXI. 1512. 2. JOHN (STEWART), EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], s. and h. by 2nd wife. He m. Janet, 3rd da. of Archibald (CAMPBELL), 2nd EARL OF ARGYLL [S.], by Elizabeth, 1st da. of John (STEWART), 1st EARL OF LENNOX [S.]. He is usually said to have been slain 9 Sep. 1513, at the battle of Flodden, but he did not die till 1521. His widow d. about 2 Feb. 1545/6.

XXII. 1521. 3. JOHN (STEWART), EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], only s. and h., b. 6 Oct. 1507; enfeoffed 3 May 1522. He was celebrated for his magnificent hospitality. In 1529 he entertained James V, the Pope's nuncio, &c. He m., 1stly, before Oct. 1533, Grizel, da. of Sir John RATTRAY, of that ilk, which lady was living 1537. He m., 2ndly, less than 6 months before his death, Jean, yst. da. of John (FORBES), 6th LORD FORBES [S.], by his 3rd wife, Elizabeth BARLOW, widow of Alexander, 1st LORD ELPHINSTONE [S.]. He d. 1542, about Nov., aged 35. His widow m., after 17 Nov. 1545, Alexander HAY, of Dalgety, and 3rdly, before 17 Jan. 1549/50, as his 1st wife, William LESLIE, of Balquhain. She had a charter (wherein she is called "Jonet Forbes, Countess of Atholl"), dat. 9 Jan. 1546/7, of part of Balquhain.

<sup>(a)</sup> On this occasion it is reported that his nephew, King James III, said to him—"Furth fortune and fill the fetters," the motto assumed by the succeeding Earls of Atholl.

<sup>(b)</sup> Though the Castle of Balveny came to the Earl by his 1st wife, he did not leave it to her issue (two daughters) by him (she had none by her former husbands), but to his own s. and h. by his second wife. It was sold in 1610 (soon after the death of the 5th Earl in 1595, s.p.m.) to John (Abernethy), 8th Lord Saltoun [S.], whose issue became extinct in 1669. In 1687 Alexander Duff, of Braco, agent to Arthur Forbes, got possession of it, and succeeded, after many law suits (all of which were settled in 1743), in retaining it.

XXIII. 1542. 4. JOHN (STEWART), EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], s. and h. by 1st wife. He was a zealous Roman Catholic. P.C. [S.] 1561. In 1576 he opposed the Regent Morton, but on 29 Mar. 1578 was made CHANCELLOR [S.], and so remained till his death. Being reconciled to the Regent, he was feasted by him in Apr. 1579, at Stirling, but d. a few days afterwards, not without suspicion of poison. He m., 1stly, before 26 May 1547, Elizabeth, 1st da. of George (GORDON), 4th EARL OF HUNTLY [S.], by Elizabeth, 1st da. of Robert KEITH, styled LORD KEITH. She d. s.p.m., before 1557. He m., 2ndly, (cont. dat. 1 Apr. 1557) Margaret, widow of Robert GRAHAM, styled LORD GRAHAM, and later of Thomas ERSKINE (styled MASTER OF ERSKINE), da. of Malcolm (FLEMING), 3rd LORD FLEMING [S.], by Joan STEWART, illegit. da. of James IV. She was thought to possess powers of incantation. The Earl d. as above related, at "Kincorne" [? Kincardine], the house of the Earl of Montrose, 24 Apr., and was bur. 4 July 1579, in St. Giles's Church, Edinburgh. M.I. Will pr. 26 Dec. 1580, at Edinburgh. His widow was living 15 Aug. 1584.

XXIV. 1579 5. JOHN (STEWART), EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], only s. and to h. by 2nd wife, b. 22 May 1563, at Dunkeld, served h. 1595. to his father 5 May 1579. P.C. [S.] 1590. He m., 24 Jan. 1579/80, at Perth, Mary, 1st da. of William (RUTHVEN), 1st EARL OF GOWRIE [S.], by Dorothea, 2nd da. of Henry (STEWART), LORD METHVEN [S.]. He d. s.p.m., and in embarrassed circumstances, 25 Aug. 1595, at Perth, aged 32, when the Earldom (according to the charter of 1480/1) reverted to the Crown. His widow m. John (STEWART), cr. EARL OF ATHOLL [S.] in 1596, as below.

XXV. 1596. 1. JOHN (STEWART), LORD INNERMEATH [S.], s. and h. of James S.<sup>(a)</sup> 5th LORD I., by Helen, da. of James (OGILVY), 3rd LORD OGILVY OF AIRLIE [S.], was b. about 1566, suc. his father in or before May 1579, and was cr., 6 Mar. 1595/6, EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], with rem. to the heirs male of his body. He m., 1stly, (cont. dat. 6 Oct. 1580) Margaret (dowry 9500 marks), 2nd da. of David (LINDSAY), 9th EARL OF CRAWFORD [S.], by his 2nd wife, Catharine, da. of Sir John CAMPBELL, of Lorn. She was living 16 June 1589. He m., 2ndly, (cont. dat. 31 Mar. 1596) Mary, DOWAGER COUNTESS OF ATHOLL [S.] abovenamed, but by her had no issue. He d. at Kincardine, in Strathern, 1603, between Aug. and Oct., aged about 37. His widow m., before 30 Aug. 1613, James STEWART, son of James, MASTER OF BUCHAN.

XXVI. 1603 2. JOHN (STEWART), EARL OF ATHOLL and LORD to INNERMEATH [S.], only s. and h., by 1st wife, served h. to 1625. his father 29 July 1609. He m. (cont. dat. 12 Sep. 1603)

Mary, 2nd da. and coh. of John (STEWART), xxivth (5th) EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], by his own step-mother (2nd wife of his father), Mary, 2nd da. of William (RUTHVEN), 1st EARL OF GOWRIE [S.] abovenamed. He d. s.p., 1625, when the Earldom of 1596 conferred on his father, as also, apparently, the Barony of Inermeath, became extinct. His widow m. Capt. Peter ROLLOCK.

XXVII. 1629. 1 or 6. JOHN MURRAY, only s. and h. of William MURRAY, sometime (1609-26) EARL OF TULLIBARDINE [S.], by his 2nd wife, Dorothea, 1st da. and coh. of John (STEWART), xxivth (5th) EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], suc. his father in or shortly after 1626, but his said father had previously resigned (1 Apr. 1626) the Barony of Murray and the Earldom of Tullibardine [S.], as also, apparently, the Barony of Innermeath [S.], in favour of Sir Patrick Murray, having obtained the Royal promise that the Earldom of Atholl [S.] should be revived in the person and descendants of his wife, who was the h. of line. Accordingly, on 6 Aug. 1628, the said John Murray was served "nearest and lawful eldest h." to John (STEWART) [XX] EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], "br. uterine of King James." By patent 17 Feb. 1628/9, the service was confirmed, and the title of EARL OF ATHOLL [S.] acknowledged, (*) the grant containing a novodamus of the title and dignity without prejudice to the Earl's right as h. gen. In the Civil wars the Earl raised 1800 men to support the King, but was taken prisoner by Argyll in 1640. He m., 6 June 1630, (tocher 40,000 marks) Jean, yst. da. of Sir Duncan CAMPBELL, of Glenorchy, by his 2nd wife, Elizabeth, da. of Henry (SINCLAIR), 3rd LORD SINCLAIR [S.]. He d. June 1642.

XXVIII. 1642. 2 or 7, and 1. JOHN (MURRAY), EARL OF MARQUESSATE [S.] ATHOLL [S.], s. and h., b. 2 May 1631. He joined the King's Standard with 2000 men in 1653, and was excepted from Cromwell's act of indemnity in 1654. At the Restoration, in 1660, he was made P.C., Hereditary Sheriff of Fife, &c. JUSTICE GEN. [S.] 1663 to 1676. In Jan. 1670 he suc. his cousin James (Murray), EARL OF TULLIBARDINE and LORD MURRAY OF GASK [S.] in those titles. Capt. Gen. of the Royal Company of Archers 1670 till death. Col. of the 4th troop of Horse Guards 1671-78. KEEPER OF THE PRIVY SEAL [S.] 1672-89. An extraordinary Lord of Session 14 Jan. 1673 till

(*) There can be little doubt but that this was an entirely new creation, and such appears to have been Lord Hailes' view, though it is stated in Riddell (p. 178) that it was confirmed 17 Feb. 1629 "with the original precedence." Charles I in his patent of 1629 (misinformed as to the facts) expressed himself bound in honour and conscience to ratify the dignity to the h. of line; but the Earl of Tullibardine, doubting the legal efficacy of such ratification, obtained a new patent of the honour of Atholl. The Earldom of 1457 appears, however, under the charter of Novodamus in 1481, to have lapsed in 1595 by failure of the heirs therein named.

1689. On 17 Feb. 1676 <sup>(a)</sup> he was cr. (to him and the heirs male of his body) MARQUESS OF ATHOLE <sup>(b)</sup> EARL OF TULLIBARDIN, VISCOUNT OF BALQUHIDDER, LORD MURRAY, BALVANY AND GASK [S.]. He was instrumental in opposing Argyll's invasion in 1685. K.T. 29 May 1687, being one of the original Knights on the revival of that order <sup>(c)</sup> by James II. In the Revolution, shortly afterwards, he played a trimming and shuffling part. <sup>(d)</sup> He m., 5 May 1659, Amelia Sophia, da. and, in her issue, sole h. of James (STANLEY), 7th EARL OF DERBY and 1st LORD STRANGE, by Charlotte, da. of Claude DE LA TRÉMOILLE, DUKE OF THOUARS, in Poitou. She d. 22 Feb. 1702/3, and was bur. at Dunkeld, co. Perth. He d. 6, and was bur. 17 May 1703, also at Dunkeld, afsd., aged 72. Fun. entry at Lyon office.

1. James (Drummond), 4th EARL OF PERTH.
2. George (Gordon), 1st DUKE OF GORDON.
3. John (Murray), 1st MARQUESS OF ATHOLL, d. before Dec. 1703.
4. James (Hamilton), styled EARL OF ARRAN, afterwards (1698) DUKE OF HAMILTON.
5. Kenneth (Mackenzie), 4th EARL OF SEAFORTH, d. before 1703.
6. John (Drummond), 1st EARL OF MELFORT.
7. George (Douglas), 1st EARL OF DUNBARTON, d. before 1703.
8. Alexander (Stewart), 5th EARL OF MORAY, d. before 1703.

No additions were made to the order till 31 Dec. 1703 (2 Anne), at which time, out of the above eight Knights, only two, viz. the Duke of Gordon and the Duke of Hamilton, were recognised as such. Perth and Melfort, the only others who were then living, were passed over, having (as had Seaforth and Dunbarton) adhered to their founder, and gone with him in exile to St. Germain.

<sup>(d)</sup> If Lord Macaulay's superlatives are to be accepted, he was "the falsest, the most fickle, the most pusillanimous of mankind." Had he been more actively disloyal to James, no doubt this unfavourable opinion would have been modified. V.G.

VISCOUNT GLENALMOND, and LORD MURRAY [S.] for life. He was HIGH COMMISSIONER to the Parl. [S.] 1696-98. Chanc. of St. Andrew's Univ. 1697-1724. Having been P.C. In 1781 he presented a petition praying for a bill to amend the provisions of the Act of 1765, as having been unjust to his family in the inadequate allowance granted for the sale of the Isle of Man. This bill, though it passed the Commons, was lost in the House of Lords. In 1790 he renewed the same, but it was postponed. In 1805 however, on a third petition, it was carried, after great opposition, and one fourth of the customs of the island was settled on him and on the heirs general of James (Stanley), 7th Earl of Derby. <sup>(a)</sup> This fourth, however, he appears to have resigned subsequently for £409,000. <sup>(a)</sup> He thus became the representative of both of the claimants of the High Chamberlainship mentioned ante, in note "c," p. 320. He is, moreover, coheir of five other baronies." Of course the above list takes no account of the shadowy Jacobite Dukedom of Rannoch and other peerage titles conferred on his collateral ancestor in 1717, of which he is the heir. In the Edinburgh Gazette, 26 Sep. 1893, appeared a notice to the effect that the Duke would in future revert to the original spelling and use the title of Atholl. ATON <sup>(a)</sup>

SIR GILBERT ATON, <sup>(b)</sup> of West Ayton, etc., co. York, <sup>(c)</sup> s. and h. of William A. of the same, by Isabel, <sup>(d)</sup> da. of Sir Simon DE VEER, of Goxhill, co. Lincoln, and Sproatley in Holderness. He was knighted, with the Prince of Wales, 22 May 1306, <sup>(e)</sup> and had a grant of free warren in his demesne lands in Barlby, the Holmes, Welham, and Knapton, 7 Aug. 1308. <sup>(f)</sup> He established his claim to the lands of William de Vescy of Kildare [Lord de Vescy] in 1316 and 1317, <sup>(g)</sup> did homage 7 Nov. 1317, and had livery of Langton and Wintringham, co. York, 22 Jan 1317/8, and of Malton, 26 Nov. 1318. <sup>(h)</sup> In (1323-24)

100,000 acres in the United Kingdom, and he stood sixth in point of acreage, though by no means in rental. See a list of these in a note sub BUCCLEUCH.

<sup>(a)</sup> The re-writing of this article has been kindly undertaken by G.W. Watson.

<sup>(b)</sup> The arms of Aton, as quartered by their descendants, were, Barry of six Or and Azure, on a canton Gules a cross flory Argent. Gilbert assumed the arms of Vescy, Or a cross Sable. (Boroughbridge Roll, no. 131). His s., William, added, for some time, 5 bull's heads Argent to the cross, thereby occasioning a dispute with Sir Robert de Boveton (Boulton or Bolton), which was arranged by indenture dated 5 Apr. 1375. (Bodleian Charters, Yorkshire, no. 335).

<sup>(c)</sup> He was a sub-tenant of the Earl of Lancaster in West Ayton (wapentake of Pickering Lythe): of the Bishop of Durham in Barlby and Menthorpe (liberty of Howden): of the fief of Vescy in Knapton, and that of Moubray in Welham (wapentake of Buckrose).

<sup>(d)</sup> She was h. of her mother, Ada, 4th sister and in her issue coh. of Roger Bertram of Mitford; but not of her father, Simon, who, by his 1st marriage, had Sir Simon de Veer, his s. and h. The younger Simon gave the manor of Bottesford, co. Lincoln, to his uncle, Roger de Veer, prior of the knights Hospitallers, 3 Sep. 1270. (Charter Roll, 55 Hen. III, m. 3).

<sup>(e)</sup> It was he who was knighted at this date, and not, as has hitherto been stated, his uncle, who was dead in 1303. (Knights' fees in Yorkshire 31 Edw. I, Surtees Soc., p. 242).

17 Edw. II, he confirmed, for 700 marks, to Henry de Percy, the grant which Anthony, Bishop of Durham, had made him of the castle of Alnwick. (a) He was sum. to three Councils, 30 Dec. (1324) and 20 Feb. (1324/5) 18 Edw. II, and 25 Feb. (1341/2) 16 Edw. III, by writs directed Gilberto de Aton. Will dat. 10 Apr. 1350. (b)

BARONY
BY WRIT

I. 1371. I. SIR WILLIAM ATON, of Malton, Ayton, &c., s. and h., b. about 1299. (c) He was sum. to a Council, 10 Oct. (1359) 33 Edw. III, and to Parl. 8 Jan. (1370/1) 44 Edw. III, by writs directed Willelmo de Aton, by which latter summons he may be held to have become LORD ATON. (d) He was Sheriff of co. York 27 Nov. 1368-70 and 12 Dec. 1372-73. On 22 Feb. 1376/7 he obtained an exemption for life from being put on assizes, juries, etc., and from being made a justice of the peace, mayor, sheriff, etc. (e) He m., before Jan. 1326/7, (f) Isabel, da. of Sir Henry PERCY [2ND LORD PERCY], by Idoine, (g) da. of Sir Robert CLIFFORD [1ST LORD CLIFFORD]. She d. before 25 May 1368. He d. s. p. m. s. (h) before Mar. 1388/9. (i)

(a) The story, related by Dugdale and others, that the Bishop appropriated Alnwick, when holding it in trust for the bastard William de Vescy, is disproved by the deeds to lead the uses of the fines, dated Saturday before All Saints 23 Edw. I [29 Oct. 1295], whereby William de Vescy gave, in the event of his dying s. p. legit., Malton, Langton, Wintringham, and Brompton, co. York, and Caythorpe, co. Lincoln, to William de Vescy of Kildare, and Alnwick and Tughall, Northumberland, to the Bishop and his heirs for ever. These deeds are printed in Collins, ed. 1779, vol. ii, p. 489.

(b) Test. Ebor., vol. i, no. 47. He mentions in it "William mon fitz." There appears to be no inquisition extant. But it is evident from a deed dated Saturday in the 1st week of Lent 1349 [20 Feb. 1349/50] (Monasticon, vol. iii, p. 504) that he had before that date enfeoffed his s. William of some, if not all, of his property.

(c) He deposed in 1386 that he was "de age de iii<sup>xx</sup> et vij anz armez de lxvj ans" (Scrope and Grosvenor Controversy, vol. i, p. 142), whence Nicolas (ibid., vol. ii, p. 347) concludes that the dates prove that he must have been brother of Gilbert, and not son. The dates do not prove this, nor is it true. On the feast of St. Bartholomew 1384, and the morrow thereof, he executed two charters at Malton and Aton in Pickering Lythe, respectively, styling himself Sir William d'Aton knt. s. and h. of Sir Gilbert d'Aton knt. (Bodleian Charters, Yorkshire, nos. 200, 199). The erroneous statement by Nicolas has been copied in Tate's Alnwick, and elsewhere.

(d) As to how far these early writs of summons did in fact cr. any peerage title, see Appendix A in the last volume. V.G.

(e) This exemption, with exemplification and confirmations thereof, dated 20 July and 12 Nov. 1377, and 28 Oct. 1379, are on the Patent Rolls, 51 Edw. III, m. 35; 1 Ric. II, pars i, m. 19, pars ii, m. 32; 3 Ric. II, pars i, m. 17.

(f) Feet of Fines, case 272, file 102, nos. 10, 11.

(g) For some discussion on mediaeval English names see vol. iii, Appendix C. V.G.

(h) His son, William, d. s. p., v. p. The seal to a charter of Margaret, "nuper uxor Willelmi Aton militis filii Willelmi de Aton militis," dated a° 7 Ric. II, gives her arms, barry of 6, over all a bend. (Harl. MSS., no. 245, f. 123 d).

(i) On Michaelmas day 9 Ric. II, he gave his manor of Barlby to Sir Ralph

He left 3 daughters and coheirs. (1) Anastasia, wife of Sir Edward St. John. He d. 7 Mar. 1388/9. <sup>(a)</sup> (2) Katherine, 2nd wife of Sir Ralph Eure, of Witton Castle, co. Durham. He d. 10 Mar. 1421/2. <sup>(b)</sup> (3) Elizabeth, formerly wife of Sir William Playce, but then wife of Sir John Conyers, of Sockburn, co. Durham, who d. shortly before 6 Mar. 1395/6. <sup>(c)</sup> She d. shortly before 8 May 1402. <sup>(c)</sup> They made partition of their inheritance, 22 July 1389, and among their representatives any hereditary Barony, that may be held to have existed, is in abeyance. <sup>(d)</sup>

AUBIGNY <sup>(e)</sup>

Aubigny-sur-Nerre was a French seigneurie situated in Berry. From the 15th to the 17th century, however, the style of "Lord Aubigny" was frequently used both in England and Scotland by its different possessors. Accordingly, an account of the various persons (all being members of the House of Stewart) who held it is subjoined.

1. SIR JOHN STEWART, of Darnley, co. Renfrew, s. and h. of SIR ALEXANDER STEWART, of the same (who d. before 5 May 1404), by his 1st wife, whose name is unknown. (a) He was knighted before May 1387. He entered the service of France in Oct. 1419, and was soon afterwards appointed Constable of the Army of Scotland. Having distinguished himself at the battle of Baugé in Anjou, 22 Mar. 1420/1, he received from the Dauphin Charles, 23 Apr. 1421, the Seigneurie of Concessault in Berry, (b) and from the same (after he had become King), 26 Mar. 1422/3, the Seigneurie of Aubigny, also in Berry, (c) and in Jan. 1426/7 the Comté of Evreux in Normandy. (d) To reward his further services, 4 Feb. 1427/8, Charles VII granted him the privilege of bearing the arms of France in the 1st and 4th quarters of his shield. (e) He m. (disp. 23 Sep. 1406) Elizabeth, 2nd or 3rd da. and coh. of Duncan, EARL OF LENNOX [S.], by Ellen, da. of Gillespie CAMPBELL, of Lochawe. He d. 12 Feb. 1428/9, (f) being slain at the battle "of Herrings" at Rouvray-Saint-Denis, and was bur. in the Cathedral of Orléans. His widow was bur. with him in Nov. 1429.

2. SIR JOHN STUART, 2nd s., inherited the Seigneuries of Concessault and Aubigny, for which he did homage to Louis XI, 2 Sep. 1461. He was Chamberlain of the King of France, a knight of the Order of St. Michael, and Capt. of the 100 Scottish Men-at-Arms. He m., in 1446, Beatrix, da. of Béraud d'APCHIER, SEIGNEUR D'APCHIER in Languedoc, by Anne, da. and h. of Géraud DE LA GORCE, SEIGNEUR DE LA GORCE. He d. in 1482.

(c) Anselme, vol. v, pp. 921-2: Andrew Stuart, History of the Stewarts, pp. 393-5. The grant is to him "et a ses hoirs masles descendans de son corps et de ses hoirs masles en droite ligne."

(d) Le Brasseur, Histoire d'Evreux, 1722, pp. 119-20: Anselme, vol. iii, pp. 98-9: A. Stuart, pp. 141-3. The grant is to him and the heirs male of his body. On 15 Mar. 1426/7, he promised, for himself and his heirs, to resign the comté at any time for 50,000 écus d'or. Whether he did so or not is unknown, but after his death the title disappears till Evreux was made a duché in Oct. 1569.

(e) Thaumass de la Thaumassiere, Histoire de Berry, 1689, p. 697.

(f) It may be that, as La Thaumassiere states, he was suc. in the seigneurie of Aubigny by his eldest s., Alan, but there are no aveux nor homages before 1461 in evidence, to decide the question. This Alan was in Scotland, Nov. 1429 and Feb. 1433, and does not appear in France till 1435, when he is described as "Connestable de l'armee d'Ecosse." In a protection against creditors, 4 Aug. 1437, from the French King, he is not described as Seigneur d'Aubigny. (A. Stuart, pp. 162-5: Fraser, The Lennox, vol. ii, p. 65).

3. BÉRAUD or BERNARD, STUART, SEIGNEUR D'AUBIGNY, Chamberlain of the King of France, knight of the Order of St. Michael, only s. and h., b. about 1447. He did homage for the Seigneurie of Aubigny to Charles VIII, 22 Nov. 1483. He commanded the French contingent at the battle of Bosworth, 22 Aug. 1485, and was appointed Capt. of the Scottish Archers of the Guard, Dec. 1493. He accompanied Charles VIII and Louis XII in their Italian campaigns, held the office of Grand Constable of Sicily and Jerusalem (i.e. of Naples), and was made Gov. of Calabria in 1495, with the title of Marquis of Squilazzo. Having defeated the Spaniards at Terranuova, 25 Dec. 1502, and again at Girace, he was cr., by Louis XII, Duke of Terranuova and Marquis of Girace. He m., 1stly, Guillemette DE BOUCARD. He m., 2ndly, Anne, only da. and h. of Guy DE MAUMONT, SEIGNEUR DE SAINT QUENTIN in La Marche, by Jeanne, suo jure COUNTESS OF BEAUMONT-LE-ROGER, illegit. da. of Jean II, DUKE OF ALENCON. He d. s.p.m. <sup>(a)</sup> in 1508, on or shortly after 8 June, <sup>(b)</sup> at Corstorphine, when on an embassy to Scotland. Will, directing that he should be bur. in the Church of the Black Friars, Edinburgh, dat. 8 June 1508. <sup>(c)</sup> His widow m., in 1510, Aubert DES AGES.

4. ROBERT STUART, SEIGNEUR D'AUBIGNY, Capt. of the Scottish Archers of the Guard and of the 100 Scottish Men-at-Arms, cousin of the above, being 4th s. (but 2nd surv. s. in 1508) of John, 1st Earl of Lennox [S.], who was s. and h. of Sir Alan S. of Darnley, s. and h. of Sir John S. of Darnley above-named. He did homage for the Seigneurie of Aubigny to Louis XII, 21 Aug. 1508, and was cr. a Marshal of France in 1515. He m., 1stly, his 2nd cousin, Anne, da. and coh. of Béraud STUART, SEIGNEUR D'AUBIGNY, by his 2nd wife, Anne DE MAUMONT, both above-named. She d. before 1527. He m., 2ndly, Jacqueline, da. and coh. of François DE LA QUEUILLE, SEIGNEUR DE LA QUEUILLE in Auvergne, by his 1st wife, Marguerite, da. of Jean DE CASTELNAU, SEIGNEUR DE CASTELNAU DE BRÉTENOUX ET DE SAINT SENTIN DE CAUMONT in Quercy. He received a grant, 15 June 1527, to him and his 2nd wife, of the Comté of Beaumont-le-Roger, his 1st wife's inheritance. He d. s.p. in 1543. His wife surv. him.

<sup>(b)</sup> In the Scots Peerage, vol. v, p. 347, he is said to have d. 15 June. The authority cited is Treasurer's Accounts [S.], vol. iv, p. 42. But the entry there runs "Item the xv day of Junij to the Kingis offerand at my Lord of Owbigneis saule mes, xiiij s.," and shows, on the contrary, that he d. some time before that date.

5. JOHN STUART, SEIGNEUR D'AUBIGNY, grand-nephew of the above, being 3rd s. of John, 3rd Earl of Lennox [S.], s. and h. of Matthew, the 2nd Earl, who was s. and h. of John, the 1st Earl, above-named. He was b. about 1519, and was naturalised as a French subject by Francis I in Jan. 1536/7. He did homage for the Seigneurie of Aubigny to Charles IX, 14 July 1560. He was Capt. of the Scottish Archers of the Guard, 1536-60. He m., about 1542, Anne (the half-sister of the 2nd wife of his grand-uncle above-named), da. and coh. of François DE LA QUEUILLE, SEIGNEUR DE LA QUEUILLE, by his 2nd wife, Anne, da. of Jacques D'ESPINAY, SEIGNEUR D'USSÉ ET DE SAINT MICHEL-SUR-LOIRE. (<sup>a</sup>) He d. 31 May 1567. His widow's will was dat. 4 Dec. 1579.

6. ESMÉ STUART, SEIGNEUR D'AUBIGNY, only s. and h. He was b. about 1543, and was brought up in France, but went to Scotland in Sep. 1579. On 5 Mar. 1579/80, he was cr. EARL OF LENNOX, &c. [S.], and, 5 Aug. 1581, DUKE OF LENNOX, &c. [S.]. He d. 26 May 1583. See "LENNOX," Dukedom of, under the 1st Duke.

7. ESMÉ STUART, SEIGNEUR D'AUBIGNY, 2nd s. He was b. about 1579, and was brought up in France. He did homage for the Seigneurie of Aubigny to Henry IV, 8 Apr. 1600. On 7 June 1619 (<sup>b</sup>) he was cr. EARL OF MARCH, &c. [E.]. On 16 Feb. 1623/4 he suc. his elder br. as

(<sup>b</sup>) This is the date always given, but there is no enrolment of the creation. (D.K. Reports, no. 47, Appendix, p. 105). He appears, however, as Lord Aubigny, 10 June 1619. (Cal. of State Papers, Domestic, 1619-23, p. 52).

DUKE OF LENNOX, &c. [S.]. He d. 30 July 1624. See "LENNOX," Dukedom of, under the 3rd Duke.

8. HENRY STUART, SEIGNEUR D'AUBIGNY, 2nd s., b. Jan. 1615/6, and hap. at the Chapel Royal, Whitehall, 2 Apr. 1616, Queen Anne being his godmother. His father resigned the Seigneurie of Aubigny in his favour in 1619, and he was sent with his two next brothers to Aubigny, where they were brought up as Roman Catholics and naturalised as French subjects.<sup>(a)</sup> He was ed. at Bourges and at Paris. He d. in 1632, at Venice, and was bur. there in the Church of SS. Giovanni e Paolo.

9. GEORGE STUART, SEIGNEUR D'AUBIGNY, next br., b. 17 July 1618, at Bath House, Holborn. Ed. at Paris. He did homage for the Seigneurie of Aubigny to Louis XIII, 5 Aug. 1636. He m., secretly, in 1638, Katherine,<sup>(b)</sup> da. of Theophilus (HOWARD), 2nd EARL OF SUFFOLK, by Elizabeth, 2nd da. and coh. of George (HOME), EARL OF DUNBAR [S.]. He d. 23 Oct. 1642, being slain, ex parte Regis, at the battle of Edgehill, and was bur. in Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford.<sup>(c)</sup> Admon., as "of the city of Westm.," 8 June 1647 to the widow, "Katherine Lady Aubigny," and again, on behalf of his children alone, 6 June 1650 and 24 Sep. 1660. His widow m., in or shortly before 1649, Sir James LEVINGSTON, who was cr. EARL OF NEWBURGH, &c. [S.], 31 Dec. 1660. She d. in exile, in 1650, at the Hague. He was bur. 6 Dec. 1670.

<sup>(a)</sup> "They wer naturalized in France that therby they might be capable to inherit the lordship of Aubignay and the rest of [their father's] lands in that kingdome, which otherwise they culd not doe, being borne in England and therefore aliens in France." (Sir Robert Gordon, Earldom of Sutherland, p. 127).

<sup>(b)</sup> "Lady Katherine Howard... unknown to her father, the Earl of Suffolk, she is or will be married to the Lord d'Aubigny." (Garrard to Wentworth, 10 May 1638—Strafford Letters, vol. ii, p. 165).

<sup>(c)</sup> He is included in The Loyalists' Bloody Roll, for which see vol. ii, Appendix A. He was "a gentleman of great hopes, of a gentle and winning disposition, and of a very clear courage." Evelyn, in his Diary, 11 Jan. 1661/2, says that he was "a person of good sense, but wholly abandoned to ease and effeminacy." V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> He was able to succeed to the Seigneurie, to the prejudice of his nephew (and successor), Charles, as he was a naturalised French subject. Charles, in a petition to the House of Lords (which was reported on, 6 Apr. 1647), stated that "his uncle Lodowick now liveth in France, and most wrongfully detaineth the estate of your petitioner there," and the Lords, 23 July 1647, excluded Ludovic from his share of the property of his brothers, John and Bernard, "in regard that the said Lord Lodowicke receiveth a great part of the Lord Aubignie's estate, which he converteth to his own use." (Lords' Journals, vol. ix, pp. 210, 351). Charles I, 24 Oct. 1646, wrote hoping that Lord Aubigny's children would not be put by from succeeding their father by "the omission of some formalities." (Letters, Camden Soc., p. 73).

1619, at March House, Drury Lane. He was ed. at Port-Royal des Champs and took Orders, being appointed Abbé of Haute Fontaine and a canon of Nôtre Dame at Paris. He did homage for the Seigneurie of Aubigny to Louis XIV, 5 Aug. or 20 Nov. 1656. (a) He was Chief Almoner to the Queen Dowager of England. He d. 11 [not 3] Nov. 1665, a few days after he was nom. a Cardinal, at Paris, and was bur. there in the Church of the Chartreux. M.I. Admon. 3 Apr. 1666, to Charles, Duke of Richmond and Lennox, the nephew by the br. This was revoked, and will pr. May 1666.

II. CHARLES STUART, SEIGNEUR D'AUBIGNY, nephew of the above, being only s. and h. of George, Seigneur d'Aubigny above-named. He was b. 7 Mar. 1638/9, in London. On 10 Dec. 1645 he was cr. EARL OF LICHFIELD, &c., (b) and, 10 Aug. 1660, suc. his cousin as DUKE OF RICHMOND, &c. [E.], and DUKE OF LENNOX, &c. [S.]. After much negotiation he was recognised as Seigneur d'Aubigny by decree dat. 31 Dec. 1668, and did homage, by proxy, for that Seigneurie, to Louis XIV, 11 May 1670. (c) He d. s.p. 12 Dec. 1672. See "RICHMOND," Dukedom of, cr. 1641, under the 3rd Duke.

[On the death, 12 Dec. 1672, of the Duke of Richmond, above-named, Charles II and his br. James were the only remaining descendants in the male line of Sir John Stewart, the grantee of Aubigny in 1422/3. Charles II claimed the seigneurie, but Louis XIV declined to admit that a King of England could hold land in France. As a compromise, he made

(a) In the instrument of homage (according to A. Stuart, p. 277, who dates it 20 Nov. 1656) he is stated to have suc. to Aubigny by the decease of his brothers, Henry, George, John, and Bernard. The two latter were junior to him, being b. in 1621, and 1622 or 3, respectively. The date of the homage, according to the subsequent aveu (which was signed by Ludovic, 26 Sep./6 Oct. 1661), was 5 Aug. 1656. (Addit. MSS., no. 21949, f. 8). There is a charter, dated 16 Sep. 1634, of "George Stuart Seigneur d'Aubigny etc. tant en nostre nom que comme ayant attraict le bail de Ludovic, Jean, et Bernard Stuart nos freres coheritiers de feu messire Henry Stuart nostre frere vivant chivallier seigneur dudict Aubigny etc." Signed, "Ge. d'Aubigny. Ludovic Stuart." (Addit. Charter, no. 13335).

(b) He was styled "Lord Stuart, Lord Aubigny" in the letters of admon. to his father and to his uncles, John and Bernard, all bearing date 6 June 1650, his title of Earl of Lichfield, etc., not being recognised either then or in the letters of admon. of 1647; Parl. having declared, on 11 Nov. 1643, that all patents and grants passed since 22 May 1642 were void. A subsequent Act of Parl., 4 Feb. 1651, enacted that all the honours granted by Charles I since 4 Jan. 1641/2 were void. These enactments are the cause of great confusion in the nomenclature of several of the Royalists during the Commonwealth period, many Peerages, Baronetcies, and Knighthoods, having been conferred by the King subsequent to these two dates. G.E.C.

(c) A. Stuart, p. 280. Not 11 Mar., the date given in The Stuarts of Aubigny, and elsewhere. This homage was registered at the Chambre des Comptes at Paris by the Duke's agent 17 May 1670. (See this agent's letters (originals) in Addit. MSS., no. 21949, ff. 146-148).

a grant of " le fonds et propriété de ladite terre d'Aubigny " to Louise Renée de Penancoët de Keroualle, Duchess of Portsmouth, with remainder to any natural s. of Charles whom the latter might appoint, in tail male. In this grant he affected to believe that the male line of the original grantee was extinct.<sup>(a)</sup> In Jan. 1683/4, Aubigny was erected into a duché-pairie, in favour of the Duchess and her son, Charles.<sup>(b)</sup> She did homage to Louis XIV for Aubigny in 1692, and was suc. therein on her death, 14 Nov. 1734, by her grandson, Charles, Duke of Richmond. I. WILLIAM EDEN, 3rd s. of Sir Robert Eden, 3rd Bart. of West Auckland, by Mary, yst. da. of William DAVISON, of Beamish, co. Durham, b. 1744, was ed. at Eton, and at Ch. Ch. Oxford; B.A., 1765; M.A., 1768; Barrister (Mid. Temple) 1769. Auditor, and a Director, of Greenwich Hospital 1771 till death. Under Sec. of State for the North 1772-78. M.P. for Woodstock, 1774-84; for Heytesbury, 1784-93; and for Dungannon [I.], dame duchesse de Portsmouth et ledit sieur duc de Richemont et ses enfans masles tiendront à foy et hommage de nous et de nostre couronne..... Donné à Versailles au mois de janvier l'an de grace mil six cent quatrevingt quatre et de nostre regne le quarante uniesme. Signé LOUIS. (Anselme, vol. v, p. 924).

1781-83. A Lord of Trade 1776-82. He accompanied the Earl of Carlisle, as a Commissioner, to North America in 1778, and, as Chief Secretary, to Ireland 1780-82. P.C. [I.] 23 Dec. 1780, and [G.B.] 7 Apr. 1783. Joint Vice Treas. [I.] 1783-84. Envoy to France, on a special mission relating to commerce, 1785-87; F.R.S. 23 Mar. 1786. AMBASSADOR to Spain, 1787-89, and to the United Provinces, or Netherlands, 1789-93. On 18 Nov. 1789, he was cr. BARON AUCKLAND [I.], <sup>(a)</sup> and (within four years) on 22 May 1793, he was cr. BARON AUCKLAND of West Auckland, co. Durham. [G.B.] <sup>(b)</sup> Chanc. of Marischall Coll. Aberdeen, 1796-1814. Joint Postmaster Gen., 1798-1804; Pres. of Board of Trade 1806-7. He m., 26 Sep. 1776, Eleanor, sister of Gilbert, 1st EARL of MINTO, and yst. da. of the Rt. Hon. Sir Gilbert ELLIOT, 3rd Bart. [S.], by Agnes, da. and h. of Hugh DALRYMPLE MURRAY KYNYNMOUND, of Melgund, co. Forfar. He d. 28 May 1814, <sup>(c)</sup> suddenly, of spasms, at Eden Farm, Beckenham, Kent, aged 70. Will dat. 14 Mar. 1814, pr.

<sup>(c)</sup> "He had been called to the Bar, but being a bad orator had made no figure there. . . . He possessed a most insinuating gentle manner, which cover'd a deeply intriguing and ambitious spirit." (William Knox, 1 June 1779, in Hist. MSS. Com., Various MSS., vol. vi, pp. 265-6).

"In person he rose above the ordinary height, his figure was elegant and wanted not grace. His countenance was thin and pale, his features regular and full of intelligence, his manners calm, polite and conciliating. There equally existed in Eden's physiognomy, even in his manner and deportment, something which did not convey the impression of plain dealing, or inspire confidence." (Wraxall's Memoirs). He was a shifty politician, originally a Tory, but supported the Coalition Govt., 1783-85, then deserted the Whigs and joined Pitt, who made him a member of the Council for affairs of trade, and (with a salary of £6000 p.a.) Envoy for concluding a commercial treaty with France. When he apologised to Lord North, saying that it was not a political change, but only a temporary affair of negotiation of trade, the reply was that his Lordship "always considered the whole transaction as a mere affair of trade"! He was attacked by the authors of the Rolliad for his conduct at this time, one couplet running:

"Will you give a place? my dearest Billy Pitt, o!

If I can't have a whole one, o give a little bit, o!"

and another quatrain being—

"To all you young men who are famous for changing,

From party to party continually ranging,

I tell you the place of all places to breed in

For maggots of corruption's the heart of Billy Eden."

"From his proficiency in the science of corruption, he was known in England by the name of the 'man-monger.'" (Lord Charlemont's Memoirs.) He held office in the Ministry of All the Talents (1806-7) and thereafter till his death acted with the Whigs, so that he was successively Tory, Whig, Tory again, Whig again! In private life he was an agreeable companion and amiable man. His 2nd br. was Governor of Maryland, and the 8th and yst. was cr. Baron Henley [I.]. V.G.

Auditor of Greenwich Hospital 1814-29, and Commissioner thereof 1829-34. President of the Board of Trade and Master of the Mint (with a seat in the cabinet) Nov. 1830-34. P.C. 22 Nov. 1830. Auditor of the Exchequer, Jan. to Oct. 1834. First Lord of the Admiralty, June to Nov. 1834, Apr. to Sep. 1835, and 1846-49. G.C.B., (Civil) 29 Aug. 1835. GOVERNOR GEN. OF INDIA, 1835-41, during the disastrous Afghan war. <sup>(b)</sup> On 21 Dec. 1839 he was cr. BARON EDEN of Norwood, Surrey, and EARL OF AUCKLAND. Pres. of the Roy. <sup>(a)</sup> His elder br., William Frederick Elliot Eden, M.P. for Woodstock, and Teller of the Exchequer, drowned himself in the Thames, 19 Jan. 1810. V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> "He was a man without shining qualities or showy accomplishments, austere and almost forbidding in his manner, silent and reserved in society, unpretending in public and in private life, and in the H. of Lords taking a rare and modest part in debate. Nevertheless he was universally popular. . . . His understanding was excellent, his temper placid, his taste and tact exquisite; his disposition, notwithstanding his apparent gravity, cheerful, and under his cold exterior there was a heart overflowing with human kindness, and with the deepest feelings of affection, charity and benevolence. . . . He closed a useful, honourable and prosperous life, with his faculties unimpaired, leaving behind him a memory universally honoured and regretted." (Greville's Memoirs, 2 Jan. 1849). V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> A grandson of his informs me that he was offered and refused to be placed in remainder to the Earldom at the time of its creation. Such "Tales of a Grandson" should as a rule be received with caution, but as this is the case of a bishop, it is reasonable to suppose that "such outward things dwelt not in his desires." V.G.

MAN, 1847-54, BISHOP OF BATH AND WELLS, 1854 to 1869, when he resigned that see. His signature during that period was "Auckland, Bath and Wells." In politics he was a Liberal. He m., 15 Sep. 1825, Mary, 1st da. of Francis Edward HURT, of Alderwasley, co. Derby, by Elizabeth, da. of Richard ARKWRIGHT, of Willesley, in that co. He m., 3rdly, 20 July 1875, at Merrington, his cousin, Edith, yst. da. of Sir William EDEN, 9th Bart., by Elfrida Susannah Harriet, 3rd and yst. da. of William IREMONGER, of Wherwell, Hants. He d. 17 Feb. 1890, at Edenthorpe, co. York, aged 61. Personalty £114,212. His widow m., 10 June 1897, at St. James's, Dover, Philip SYMONS, of the Grange, in Seal, Kent.

V. 1890. 5. WILLIAM MORTON (EDEN), BARON AUCKLAND [1793], also BARON AUCKLAND [I. 1789], 1st s. and h., by 1st wife, b. 27 Mar. 1859, at Frankfort-on-the-Maine; sometime, 1880-91, an officer in the army, retiring as Captain. In politics he is a Conservative. He m., 2 Apr. 1891, at Gate Burton, co. Lincoln, Sybil Constance, 1st da. of George Morland HUTTON, C.B., of Gate Burton, afsd., by Eustace Emma Millicent, only child of Eustace ARKWRIGHT.

Family Estates.—The Edenthorpe property near Doncaster, between 3000 and 4000 acres, was sold in 1897 for £75,000.

AUDLEY or ALDITHLEY (of Heleigh) (b)

[The following short notice of the earlier members of this family, who may have been feudal Barons, is subjoined.]

(a) He remained an Unionist at the break up of the Liberal party on the Home Rule question in 1886. V.G.

(b) The description given in Courthope and in other Peerages of this family is

1. HENRY OF ALDITHLEY, <sup>(a)</sup> 2nd <sup>(b)</sup> s. of Adam <sup>(c)</sup> of A., (who d. between 1203 and 1211) by Emma, da. of Ralf fitz Orm; was b. about 1175; with his father, he was witness to a charter of Harvey Bagot in 1194. He bought large estates from Eleanor Malbank in 1214; in 1227 he acquired the manors of Edmund and Newport, and in 1230 that of Ford, all in Salop, and all held by him direct from the Crown, though not by military or knight service. <sup>(d)</sup> He was Under Sheriff of Salop and co. Stafford 1217-20, and Sheriff 1227-32; was in command of the Welsh Marches 1223-46. He built the castle of Heleigh, co. Stafford; and Red Castle, Salop. In 1223 he founded Hulton Abbey. He was appointed Custodian of Chester and Beeston Castle, 22 June 1237, on the extinction of the then earldom of Chester. He m., in 1217, Bertred, da. of Ralf MAINWARING, Seneschal of Chester. He d. in 1246, shortly before Nov. His widow was living in 1249.

2. JAMES OF ALDITHLEY, 1st or 2nd <sup>(e)</sup> s. and h., b. about 1220. Keeper of the castle of Newcastle-under-Lyme, 30 Oct. 1250. He joined in a letter of the Barons to the Pope in 1258. Witnessed, as one of the King's sworn Council, the confirmation by Henry III of the Provisions of Oxford, 1258; Lord Marcher; Sheriff of Salop, and co. Staff., very erroneous. This article has been re-written with the kind help of Josiah Wedgwood M.P. For further information on the Audleys see his valuable account in Hist. Coll. Staff. vol. ix, N.S., pp. 245-68. See also Order of the Garter, by G.F.Beltz, Lancaster Herald, 1841, p. 81; Nichols' Herald and Genealogist, 1870, vol. v, p. 63; J.H.Round's Peerage and Pedigree; and Genealogist, O.S., vol. vi, pp. 16-19, in connection with the Lords Martin. V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> This Adam appears to have been s. of Liulf, s. of Liulf, who had a grant of the manors of Aldithley (or Audley), Talke, &c. co. Staff. temp. Stephen, from Nicholas de Verdun. See Charter Roll of 1227, which disproves the allegation that this grant was made by Henry I to Adam, the supposed father of the last named Liulf. See J.H.Round's Peerage and Pedigree, where the matter is discussed. V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> There does not seem to be any evidence as to when, if ever, he became a Baron by tenure, and his ancestors of the 3 previous generations did not even hold any lands in capite, and were not Barons by tenure, though sometimes so described. V.G.

1261-62 and 1270-71; Justiciar of Ireland 1270-72. He took an active part on the King's side against the Barons, being in arms for the King on the Welsh Marches in 1264, and engaging in the Evesham campaign in 1265. He m. <sup>(a)</sup>, in 1244, Ela, da. of William LONGESPÉE, often spoken of as Earl of Salisbury (who d. 1250), by Idoine, <sup>(b)</sup> da. and h. of Richard DE CAMVILLE. She brought him the manors of Stratton, afterwards called Stratton Audley, and Wretchwick, Oxon, in frank marriage. He d. about 11 June (1272) 56 Hen. III, in Ireland, <sup>(c)</sup> by 'breaking his neck.' Writ for his Inq. p. m. 16 July 1272. His widow d. apparently shortly before 22 Nov. 1299. <sup>(d)</sup> Inq. p. m. (1325-26) 19 Edw. II.

3. JAMES OF ALDITHLEY, s. and h., b. 1250. He m. Maud, but d. s.p., in 1273. His widow had Inq. for dower 16 Jan. 1273/4. She m., in 1274, John DEIVILL [LORD DEIVILL], and d. in 1276, a few days after her br.-in-law, Henry (next below), and before 22 Apr. 1276.

4. HENRY OF ALDITHLEY, br. and h., b. 1251. He m. Lucy, but d. s.p., in 1276. Writ for Inq. p. m. 22 Apr. (1276), 4 Edw. I. His widow m., before 1281, Sir William RITHRE [LORD RITHRE]. She was living in 1303.

5. WILLIAM OF ALDITHLEY, br. and h., b. 18 Oct. 1253. He d. s.p., being slain in 1282, 11 Edw. I, in the Welsh expedition. Writ for Inq. p. m. 25 Dec. 1282.

6. NICHOLAS OF ALDITHLEY OF AUDLEY, br. and h., b. before 1258. On 26 Jan. (1296/7) 25 Edw. I, he was sum. to attend the King at Salisbury, but such summons cannot be considered as a regular writ of summons to Parl. <sup>(e)</sup> He m. Catherine, <sup>(f)</sup> da. of John GIFFARD, [1ST LORD GIFFARD OF BRIMPSFIELD], by his 1st wife, Maud, widow of WILLIAM LONGESPÉE, (sometimes regarded as Earl of Salisbury), da. and h. of WALTER DE CLIFFORD. He d. 28 Aug. 1299. Inq. p. m.

<sup>(a)</sup> The grounds for the supposition that he m. a lady of unknown name, before Ela, which lady was mother of his 4 elder sons, a supposition which G.E.C., following Beltz, entertained, are that it would have been illegal for Ela to have enfeoffed his 5th s. Hugh in her manor of Stratton, which she did immediately after her husband's death, unless Hugh had been her eldest s. However it is clear that she did act in the way which Beltz regarded as illegal, and the apocryphal anonymous 1st wife may be disregarded, for the date of James' marriage to Ela is now known, and various Audley Inqs. show that none of his sons were b. before 1249. V.G.

27 Edw. I. His widow, who was b. 1272, had dower 23 Oct. 1299; she was living in 1322, as a nun at Ledbury.

7. THOMAS OF ALDITHLEY OF AUDLEY, s. and h., b. 1288, was aged over 10 at his father's death. He m. Eve, da. and h. of John of CLAVERING [2ND LORD CLAVERING], by Hawise, da. of Robert DE TIBETOT. He d. s.p., while still a minor, between 8 July and 14 Dec. 1307. Writ for Inq. p. m. 16 Jan. 1307/8. His widow m., 2ndly, before 2 Dec. 1308, Sir Thomas DE UFFORD, who was slain at Bannockburn 24 June 1314. After his death she lived with, but did not marry, (possibly owing to some difficulty in obtaining a dispensation; or to avoid the fine which she would have had to pay on marriage) Sir James Audley, <sup>(a)</sup> (who d. 1333/4) 1st cousin of her 1st husband. She m., finally, Robert of BENHALE, [LORD BENHALE].

BARONY
BY WRIT

I. 1313. 1. NICHOLAS AUDLEY OF ALDITHLEY, of Heleigh, co. Stafford, br. and h., b. 11 Nov. 1289. He had seizin of his brother's lands, having proved his age 27 Mar. 1313/4. He was sum. to Parl. by writs directed Nicholao de Audele, 8 Jan. (1312/3) 6 Edw. II to 25 Aug. (1318) 12 Edw. II <sup>(b)</sup> whereby he may be held to have become LORD AUDLEY. He m., in 1312, without lic., Joan, widow of Henry, EARL OF LINCOLN, the only child that had issue of William MARTIN [LORD MARTIN], by Eleanor, widow of John DE MOHUN, of Dunster, da. of Sir Reynold FITZ PIERS. He d. in 1316, shortly before 9 Dec., aged 27. Inq. p. m. 1317, 10 Edw. II. His widow d. between Feb. 1319/20 and 1 Aug. 1322.

II. 1316. 2. JAMES (AUDLEY OF ALDITHLEY), LORD AUDLEY, s. and h., b. 8 Jan. 1312/3, at Knesale, co. Notts, and bap. there; aged 3 at his father's death, and 14 in 1326, at the death of his maternal uncle, William Martin, to whose vast estates in cos. Pembroke and Devon he was coh., and eventually (by the death, in 1343, of his mother's sister, Eleanor, widow of Philip, Lord Columbers) sole heir, and would then apparently have been entitled to any Peerage which his afsd. uncle may be held to have possessed. He had seisin, though not of age, 25 May 1329. Though still a minor, 21 Mar. 1333/4, he was sum. to Parl. as early as 25 Jan. 1329/30 to 8 Aug. 1386. An order for his arrest issued on 28 July 1348 because he had not attended the King and Council when summoned. He had exemption for life from attending Parl. 20 Apr. 1353. He m., 1stly, before 13 June 1330, Joan, da. of Roger (MORTIMER), 1ST EARL OF MARCH, by Joan, da. of PIERS DE JOINVILLE, which Earl had been his guardian. She d. between 1337 and 1351. He m., 2ndly, before Dec. 1351, Isabel, said to have been da. of Roger (LE STRANGE) 5th BARON

STRANGE OF KNOKYN. <sup>(a)</sup> She was living in 1366. He d. 1 Apr. 1386, at Heleigh, and was bur. at Hulton Abbey, aged 73. Will, in which he styles himself "Lord of Rouge Chastel [i.e. Red Castle, Salop] and of Heleigh," dat. (1385) 9 Ric. II.

III. 1386                    3. NICHOLAS (AUDLEY OF ALDITHLEY), LORD AUDLEY to                            [and, as some may consider, LORD MARTIN], s. and h.
1391.                        by 1st wife, b. about 1328. He was knighted before 1352, and in 1352 was in arms, with his next br. Roger, against their father, when they sacked Castle Heleigh. He was in the wars with France (v.p.), 1359 and 1372, and was afterwards Chief Justice of South Wales, 1 Feb. 1381/2. He was sum. to Parl. 17 Dec. 1387 to 12 Dec. 1390. He m. (settl. (1329/30-1330/1) 5 Edw. III, both being then under 12) <sup>(b)</sup> Elizabeth, da. of Henry (BEAUMONT), LORD BEAUMONT, by Alice, suo jure COUNTESS OF BUCHAN [S.]. He d. s.p., 22 July 1391, (Writ for Inq. p. m. 30 July 1391) when the BARONY OF AUDLEY, together, apparently, with the BARONY OF MARTIN, fell (in accordance with modern doctrine) into abeyance between his sisters or their descendants. <sup>(c)</sup> Will
dat. the year of his death. His widow d. 27 Oct. 1400. Inq. p. m.
1400-1. Her will, in which she directs to be bur. in Hulton Abbey, with my very honourable husband Lord D'Audeley, dat. 30 Sep. and pr.
2 Nov. of the same year.

IV. 1405.                    4. JOHN TUCHET, great nephew and coh., being s. and
h. of John T., who was s. and h. of Sir John Tuchet of Markeaton, co. Derby, (slain at Rochelle, 1371), by Joan, sister of the whole blood of Nicholas, 3rd Lord Audley. He was b. 23 Apr. 1371, and was 20 years old at the death of his said great uncle, in 1391, to whom he was found one of his next heirs. He was in the Welsh wars against Glendower, and was sum. to Parl. as a Baron [LORD AUDLEY] 21 Dec.
1405 to 26 Aug. 1408, <sup>(d)</sup> whereby the abeyance of the Barony of Audley was probably terminated in his favour; the writ was, however, directed

V. 1408.

5. JAMES (TUCHET), LORD AUDLEY, s. and h., aged ten years in 1408. He was sum. to Parl. 26 Feb. 1420/1 to 26 May 1455, <sup>(a)</sup> the writs being directed Jacobo de Audley. Chief Justice of South Wales 17 Nov. 1423. Chamberlain of S. Wales 11 Feb. 1438/9, and again 24 Oct. 1441. He distinguished himself in the wars with France, having the chief command of some forces in 1430. On 26 Oct. 1447, he had exemption for life, as James Tuchete, Lord of Audley, from attendance in Parl. <sup>(b)</sup> Having raised 10,000 men on behalf of Henry VI, he was defeated and slain by the Yorkists at the battle of Blore Heath, Salop. <sup>(c)</sup> He m., 1stly, Margaret, da. of William (Roos), LORD Roos, by Margaret, da. of John (ARUNDEL), LORD ARUNDEL (Papal Disp. 6 Kal. Mar. 1415, to him to remain in marriage contracted but not consummated). She was living 15 Kal. Sep. 1423. He m., 2ndly, (Papal Disp. to remain in marriage contracted but not consummated, though related in the 3rd degree, dat. 16 Kal. Mar. 1429/30) Eleanor, illegit. da. of Thomas (HOLAND), EARL OF KENT, by Constance, da. of Edmund, <sup>(d)</sup> DUKE OF YORK, but, according to Mills' Catalogue of Honour (1610), she was da. of Edmund HOLAND, by Elizabeth, widow of Edward (LE DESPENSER), LORD DESPENSER, da. and h. of Bartholomew (BURGHESH), LORD BURGHESH. <sup>(e)</sup> He d. (as afsd.) 23 Sep. 1459, aged about 61. <sup>(f)</sup>

VI. 1459.

6. JOHN (TUCHET), LORD AUDLEY, s. and h. by 1st wife, who, in consideration of his father's services, had a spec. livery of his lands (1459-60), 38 Hen. VI, without proof of age. He was taken prisoner at Calais next year, where he joined the party of

But see, also, Sandford's Genealogical History, 1707, p. 379, wherein it is stated that Constance of York "was the paramour of Edmond Holand, Earl of Kent, by whom she had been so long courted that at last she brought him a da. named Eleanor, m. to James Touchet, Lord Audley, of which family the Audleys of Norfolk were descended. Which Eleanor would fain have made herself legitimate, but the right heirs preferred their bill in Parl. thereby proving her to be a bastard, as you may see in Polton's printed statutes, anno 9 Hen. VI, cap. xi."

<sup>(f)</sup> His sons by his 2nd wife took the name of Audley. These were (1) Sir Humphrey A., slain at Tewkesbury 1471, said to be ancestor of the Audley family of Norfolk; and (2) Edmund Audley, Bishop of Rochester 1480, of Hereford 1493, and of Salisbury 1502, who d. 23 Aug. 1524.

Edward IV, with whom he was in great esteem. He was sum. to Parl. 26 May 1461 to 9 Dec. 1483, <sup>(a)</sup> the writs being directed to Johanni de Audley. Master of the King's Dogs, 5 July 1471. P.C. 1471, obtaining a grant of £100 a year, and being joint Commander of the army. He was sent into Brittany, 1475, and was one of the 35 peers <sup>(b)</sup> at the Coronation of Ric. III, who made him LORD TREASURER, 1484. He m., before 1456, Anne, widow of John ROGERS, of Bryanston, Dorset, (who d. Aug. 1450) da. and coh. <sup>(c)</sup> of Sir Thomas ECHINGHAM, probably by his 2nd wife, Margaret, da. of John KNYVETT (senior). He d. 26 Sep. 1490. Inq. p. m. 26 Oct. 1490. His widow d. 7 May 1498, and was bur. in Bermondsey monastery. Will dat. 11 Nov. 1497, pr. 24 June 1498 by Henry Rogers, s. and executor.

VII. 1490            7. JAMES (TUCHET), LORD AUDLEY, s. and h., K.B., to                    having been so cr. at the creation of the Prince of Wales, 1497.            18 Apr. 1475, aged 27 at his father's death. He was sum. to Parl. 12 Aug. 1492 to 16 Jan. 1496/7. <sup>(a)</sup> He, however, joined in the Cornish insurrection, was taken prisoner, 24, and beheaded 28 June 1497, on Tower Hill, being bur. in the Blackfriars; when his peerage became forfeited. He m., 1stly, in or before 1483, Margaret, da. of Sir Richard DAYRELL, of Lillingstone Dayrell, Bucks, by Margaret, widow of Humphrey STAFFORD, styled EARL OF STAFFORD, da. and coh. of Edmund (BEAUFORT), DUKE OF SOMERSET. He m., 2ndly, at or before Mich. 1488, Joan, da. of Fulk (BOURCHIER), LORD FITZ-WARINE, by Elizabeth, da. of Sir John DYNHAM. His widow d. 3 Mar. 1532. <sup>(d)</sup>

VIII. 1512.            8. JOHN TUCHET, s. and h. by 1st wife, Margaret, aged 6 years and no more, 6 Aug. 1489, when he was h.
to his maternal grandfather. He was restored in blood and honours, 1512
(as LORD AUDLEY), and attended the King next year in the French war. He was sum. to Parl. 23 Nov. 1514 to 21 Oct. 1556. <sup>(e)</sup> He m.
Mary, da. of John GRIFFIN, of Braybroke, Northants, by Emmote, da. of

9. GEORGE (TUCHET), LORD AUDLEY, s. and h., sum. to Parl. and took his seat the same day, 20 Jan. 1557/8. <sup>(a)</sup> He m., 1stly, Elizabeth, da. of Sir Brian TUKE, Treasurer of the Chamber to Henry VIII, by Grizel, da. of Nicholas BOUGHTON, of Woolwich. <sup>(b)</sup> He m., 2ndly, 23 Jan. 1559/60, at his Oratory in Chester, (Lic. Bp. of London, 22 Jan. 1559/60) Joan PLATT, of St. Andrew's, Eastcheap, London, widow. He was bur. 3 July 1560, at St. Margaret's, Westm. Admon. 9 Sep. 1560 to Joan, the relict.

X. 1560.

10. HENRY (TUCHET), LORD AUDLEY, s. and h. by 1st wife. He was never sum. to Parl. He m. Elizabeth, da. of Sir William SNEYD, of Bradwell, co. Stafford, by his 1st wife, Anne, da. and h. of Thomas BARROWE, of Flookersbrooke, co. Chester. He d. 30 Dec. 1563, and was bur. 5 Jan. 1563/4, at Betley. His widow d. at Thelwall, co. Chester, Dec. 1609, and was bur. 4 Jan. 1609/10, at Grappenhall, in that co.

XI. 1563.

11. GEORGE (TUCHET), LORD AUDLEY, s. and h., sum. to Parl. 30 Sep. 1566 to 5 Apr. 1614. On 6 Sep. 1616 he was cr. BARON AUDLEY OF ORIER, co. Armagh, and EARL OF CASTLEHAVEN, co. Cork [I.]. He d. 1617.

12. MERVIN (TUCHET), EARL OF CASTLEHAVEN, &c. [I.]; also LORD AUDLEY [E.], s. and h. He was attainted of felony and beheaded, 14 May 1631, when his English Peerage (being descendible to heirs gen.) became forfeited, and the Irish titles (though in tail) appear (in error) to have been likewise so considered. <sup>(c)</sup>

AUDLEY or ALDITHLEY

BARONY BY WRIT.

I. 1317.

1. HUGH AUDLEY or ALDITHLEY (junior), 2nd s. of Hugh A., who, afterwards (viz. in 1321), was also sum. to Parl., by Isolt,<sup>(b)</sup> da. of Edmund DE MORTIMER, of Wigmore, was b. c. 1289. He was sum. v.p., to Parl. 20 Nov. (1317) 11 Edw. II to 15 May (1321) 14 Edw. II, by writs directed Hugoni Daudele juniori. He was with his father in the insurrection of 1321/2,<sup>(c)</sup> but was pardoned. He was also sum. to Parl. 3 Dec. 1326 to 24 Aug. 1336, by writs directed Hugoni de Audele (only), his father having died in 1325, or early in 1326. In 1336 he was in the King's service in Scotland, and on 16 Mar. 1336/7 he was cr. EARL OF GLOUCESTER, his wife having, in 1313, become coh. to her br. Gilbert, Earl of Gloucester and Hertford. In 1341 he was AMBASSADOR to France. He m., 28 Apr. 1317, at Windsor, Margaret,<sup>(d)</sup> widow of Piers (GAVASTON), EARL OF CORNWALL, 2nd da. of Gilbert (DE CLARE), EARL OF GLOUCESTER and HERTFORD, by Joan, da. of King EDWARD I. She, who was found to be aged 22 in her brother's Inq. p. m. of 12 Oct. (1314) 8 Edw. II, d. Apr. 1342, before Easter. Inq. p. m. 1342-3. He himself d. s.p.m., 10 Nov. 1347, and was bur. in the priory of Tunbridge, when, "although the dignity [of the Earldom of Gloucester] was to him and his heirs, the title appears to have been considered as extinct." <sup>(e)</sup>

<sup>(a)</sup> Viz., Mary, b. 13 Aug. 1858, and Emily, b. 29 Nov. 1859, both (1910) unmarried.

II. 1347. 2. MARGARET, de jure, apparently suo jure BARON-ESS AUDLEY, da. and h., m., probably in 1335/6,
Ralph STAFFORD, afterwards LORD STAFFORD and EARL OF STAFFORD.
She d. between 1347/8 and 1350/1. He d. 31 Aug. 1372.

III. 1350. 3. SIR RALPH STAFFORD, de jure LORD AUDLEY,
s. and h. of his mother. He d. s.p., v.p., about

IV. 1358? 4. HUGH (STAFFORD), de jure LORD AUDLEY, br. and h. On 31 Aug. 1372, being then aged 28 years, he suc. his father as EARL OF STAFFORD, &c., with which titles the BARONY OF AUDLEY is presumed to have been merged, till, on the attainder in 1483 of Henry (Stafford), 2nd Duke of Buckingham (and 7th Earl Stafford), it was forfeited, and though his son, in 1486, was restored to all his father's honours, they were again forfeited, in 1521, on the attainder of that Nobleman.

AUDLEY (of Stratton Audley)

BARONY BY WRIT.

to 1325 or 1326.

1. HUGH AUDLEY, of Stratton Audley, Oxon, yst. s. of James Audley or Aldithley, of Heleigh, co. Stafford, (<sup>a</sup>) by Ela, da. of William LONGESPÉE; was b. c. 1267, and obtained from his mother, soon after her husband's death, a reversionary grant, (1272-73) 1 Edw. I, of Stratton Audley, afsd., which had been her inheritance. (<sup>b</sup>) He was in the French wars, 1294, &c.; a prisoner in France 2 Apr.
1299; in the Scottish wars, 1299-1302, and again 1313;
he was in Gascony in 1304/5; Justice of North Wales 1306; and was Governor of Montgomery Castle, 1309. He was sum. to Parl. 15 May (1321) 14 Edw. II, the writ being directed Hugoni de Audele seniori, to distinguish him from his 2nd s., Hugh Audley, Junior, who had been so sum. in 1317. (<sup>c</sup>) In 1321/2 he joined the insurrection of the Earl of Lancaster, but surrendered before the battle of Boroughbridge, 16 Mar.
1321/2, (<sup>d</sup>) and was confined in Wallingford Castle. He m., before 7 Jan.
1293, and probably in 1288, Isolt, widow of Sir Walter DE BALUN, of Much Marcle, co. Hereford (who was living and m. to her in 1286/7), da. of Sir
of Sir William DE FIENNES. She brought him the manors of Eastington, (<sup>d</sup>) For an account of the battle of Boroughbridge, 16 Mar. 1321/2, see

vol. ii, Appendix C. V.G.

to her and Walter de Balun, her husband, the manor of Arley, co. Stafford, for life.
(Addit. MSS., no 5485, f. 160). On 12 Apr. 1326, she (again) had livery of this manor. (Close Roll, 19 Edw. II, m. 8). (ex inform. G.W. Watson). V.G.

co. Gloucester, and of Thornbury, co. Hereford. He d. between Nov. 1325, and Mar. 1325/6, probably while still a prisoner. No trace can be found of the pardon which he is sometimes said to have received, and any peerage which he may be held to have possessed, may be treated as having been forfeited by attainder. (*) His widow was living 1336.

AUDLEY OR ALDITHLEY

JAMES AUDLEY, or ALDITHLEY, is asserted by Dugdale<sup>(b)</sup> to have been "of this family also" and to have "had summons to Parl., after the eldest branch went off with daughters and heirs, from 8 Hen. V (1420-21) until 33 Hen. VI (1454-55) inclusive." There can, however, be no doubt that this is the same person as "James (TUCHET), vth LORD AUDLEY," above named, who was sum. from 8 Hen. V to 33 Hen. VI by writs directed "Jacobo de Audley."

AUDLEY OF WALDEN

BARONY.

I. 1538
I. THOMAS AUDLEY, s. of Geoffrey A., of Earls Colne, Essex, was b. there 1488, is presumed to have been ed. at Magd. Coll., Cambridge, and was admitted in 1516 a Burgess of Colchester, where he became Town Clerk. Barrister (Inner Temple) and Autumn Reader, 1526; M.P. for Essex, 1529-32; Speaker of the House of Commons, Nov. 1529, when the first attack was made on the Papal power<sup>(c)</sup>; Attorney for the Duchy of Lancaster, 1530; King's Sergeant, 14 Nov. 1531; Chancellor of the Court of Augmentations; LORD KEEPER, 30 May 1532, when he (*) Sir James Audley, of Stratton Audley, his s. and h., naturally never took any steps to obtain a sum. to Parl., being quite unaware that future ages would ascribe to a writ of summons the virtue of conferring an hereditary peerage. He was styled "of Gloucestershire," and served in Gascony in 1324, and in Scotland in 1327. He d. s.p. legit., shortly before 1 Mar. 1333/4. By his mistress Eve, formerly wife of his cousin, Thomas Audley (see ante, page 339) he was father of two illegit. sons, viz., Sir Peter Audley, who d. s.p. 1359, and the celebrated Sir James Audley, K.G. 1344, Governor of Aquitaine and Seneschal of Poitou; one of the Founders of that most noble Order. (See Beltz's Memorials of the Garter, p. 83, and Coll. Top. et Gen., vol. vii, p. 51, and p. 52 note "z.") The latter was the hero of the battle of Poitiers (1356). He d. s.p. 1369, at his estate of Fontenay le Comte in Poitou, and was bur. at Poitiers, when the issue of Sir James, the elder (his father), appears to have become extinct, as the family estates in Oxon and co. Gloucester passed to the family of Stafford in right of descent from Hugh Audley, the younger (Earl of Gloucester), br. of the elder, and uncle of the younger, Sir James. See "AUDLEY," Barony, 1317. V.G.

(b) Vol. i, p. 751.

(c) The statement in Dict. Nat. Biog. that Audley succeeded Sir Thomas More in 1529 as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, is altogether erroneous. William Fitzwilliam was More's successor in that office, which Audley never held. V.G.

was knighted; LORD CHANCELLOR, 24 Jan. 1532/3, till just before his death 11 years later. <sup>(a)</sup> Being a zealous promotor of the King's various schemes (whether just or otherwise) he obtained a large share of Abbey lands, particularly in 1531 those of the Holy Trinity, or Christchurch, Aldgate (subsequently called "Duke's Place"), and of the rich monastery of Walden, in Essex, in (1538-39) 30 Hen. VIII. On 29 Nov. 1538, he was cr. BARON AUDLEY OF WALDEN, Essex. <sup>(b)</sup> El. K.G. 23 Apr. and inst. 19 May 1540. He resigned the Great Seal (nine days before his death) 21 Apr. 1544. He m., 1stly, (? Margaret), da. of Sir Thomas BARNARDISTON, <sup>(c)</sup> of Ketton, Suffolk, by Elizabeth, da. of John (or Roger) NEWPORT, of Pelham, Herts. She d. s.p., 23 Jan. 1537/8. He m., 2ndly, 22 Apr. 1538, Elizabeth, da. of Thomas (GREY), 2ND MARQUESS OF DORSET, by his 2nd wife, Margaret, da. of Sir Robert WOTTON. <sup>(d)</sup> He d. s.p.m., 30 Apr. 1544, aged 56, at his resid-

<sup>(a)</sup> These years were "a period more disgraceful in the annals of England than any of a similar extent. Within it were comprehended the King's divorce from one Queen, after a union of 22 years, under pretence of a scruple of conscience; the repudiation of another after a few day's intercourse, on the mere ground of personal antipathy; the execution of two others, one of them sacrificed to obtain a new partner; and innumerable judicial and remorseless murders, those of Sir Thomas More and Bishop Fisher leading the dreadful array." "Audley has acquired the character of undoubtedly equalling, if he did not exceed, all his contemporaries in servility." "His interpretations of the law on the various criminal trials at which he presided are a disgrace not only to him, but to every member of the bench associated with him, while both branches of the legislature are equally chargeable with the ignominy of passing the acts he introduced, perilling every man's life by the new reasons they invented, and every man's conscience by the contradictory oaths they imposed." (Judges of England, by E. Foss, F. S. A.) He "has always been considered as the founder of Magdalene Coll. Cambridge, which he endowed with large estates, and ordained that his heirs, the possessors of the late monastery of Walden, should be Visitors of the College in perpetuum and enjoy the exclusive right of nominating the master, which appointment is still vested in the owner of Audley End." (History of Audley End, by Richard, Lord Braybrooke, London, 1836, p. 332.) In this work is an engraving of the Lord Audley from a picture by Holbein at that mansion. G.E.C. Lloyd remarks of him, "The King might very well trust him with his conscience when he trusted the King with his." V.G.

AUMALE <sup>(b)</sup>

Observations.—The town of Aumale,<sup>(c)</sup> on the Bréle, in Normandy, was formerly the chief place of a small comté, to which it gave its name. The comté probably became such owing to the fact that the first Count thereof, Stephen, was already of comital rank, being son of the disinherited Count of Champagne: or because his mother, the first Countess, was of the ducal house of Normandy. Being already Counts, the acquirement of an English Earldom did not alter the status of the family, and consequently the title of Earl of Yorkshire, bestowed on one of them by Stephen, was soon discontinued. "It may be presumed that the Norman Counts who accompanied the Conqueror to England would not deem their dignity augmented by the acquisition of a title taken from the Saxon Ealdormen or Earls." (Courthope, p. 19).

After the capture of Aumale by Philip Augustus in 1204, the "Counts of Aumale," of the family of Forz, still retained that title, though their connection with Aumale had wholly ceased. The English Kings, in

The plate seems to have been made on the marriage. Its height is rather more than 6in. and its width rather less than 5. The armory of this family of Audley is a curious subject. The arms of Harper, Lord Mayor of London 1561, and founder of Bedford School, must be in some way connected with the later coat of Audley, but it is not easy to see how. (ex inform. H.Gough, who has a tracing of the plate referred to.) The later and well-known coat is on the Garter plate, 1540, and was probably conferred, or confirmed, in 1538, on the creation of the Peerage.

(<sup>a</sup>) He had two daughters and coheirs by his 2nd wife, viz. (1) Mary, who d. unm. (2) Margaret, who m., 1stly, Lord Henry Dudley, who d. s.p. 1557. She m., 2ndly, as his 2nd wife, Thomas (Howard), 4th Duke of Norfolk, by whom she had a s. (who was h. to his mother), viz., Thomas Howard, sum. in 1597 as Lord Howard de Walden, and cr. in 1600 Earl of Suffolk.—See HOWARD DE WALDEN, Barony, cr. 1597. He appears to have had two brothers, both also named Thomas, who inherited the manors of Berechurch and Gosbecks, near Colchester.

(<sup>c</sup>) Aumale (Alba Marla, Albemarla, or Aumakum) was usually written in French, till about the end of the 13th century, Aubemarle or Albemalle: in the 14th and 15th centuries, Aubemalle, Aubmalle, Aubmale, Aumalle, or Aumale: and in the 16th and 17th centuries, Aumalle or Aumale. In England, the title of Edward (afterwards Duke of York) was always spelt Aumarle, both in English and in Norman-French, by contemporary writers. The quaint form "Aumâle" is to be found only in English works of recent date.

fact, did not recognise the forfeiture made by the French King, though it was absolute. The case appears to be exactly parallel with those of the Umfrevilles and Strathbogies, who, after they had totally lost their Scottish Earldoms of Angus and Atholl respectively, were still accorded these titles by the Kings of England.

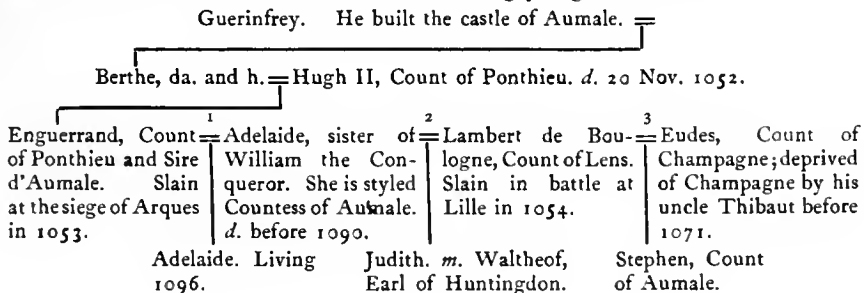

I. ADELAIDE<sup>(a)</sup> or ADELIZ, sister of William the Conqueror,<sup>(b)</sup> being illeg. da. of Robert, Duke of the Normans, by Herleve or Harlotte, da. of Fulbert or Robert, a pelliparius of Falaise, is mentioned in Domesday as Comitissa de Albamarla, and as holding some manors in Essex and Suffolk. In 1082, William, King of the English, and Maud, his wife, gave to the Abbey of La Trinité at Caen the bourg of Le Homme (de Hulmo) in the Côtentin, "sed et Comitissa A. de Albamarla concedente eo videlicet pacto ut ipsa teneret in vita sua." <sup>(c)</sup> Adelaide m., 1stly, Enguerrand II, COUNT OF PONTHEU, who d. s.p.m., being slain in 1053.<sup>(d)</sup>

<sup>(b)</sup> The pedigree of the earlier possessors of Aumale has been investigated by T. Stapleton in Archæologia, vol. xxvi, pp. 349-360. There he supposed he had proved that Orderic was wrong in stating that the wife of Count Eudes of Champagne was da. of Duke Robert, and, that she was really the Duke's grand-daughter. Later on, he discovered his own error. His amended conclusions are in Coll. Top. et Gen., vol. vi, p. 265, and, at greater length, in Rot. Scacc. Norm., vol. ii, pp. xxix-xxxi. He had, however, in the meantime misled Poulson (Holderness, vol. i, p. 24 sqq.).

2. STEPHEN, COUNT OF AUMALE, Lord of Holderness, s. and h. of the said Adelaide, by her 3rd husband. He was b. before 1070. In 1090 he took part with William II, and fortified his castle of Aumale against Duke Robert. By reason of his descent from the ducal house of Normandy he was chosen by Robert de Mowbray and his confederates as the person on whom to bestow the Crown, had they succeeded in their attempt to dethrone William II in 1094. He went on Crusade in 1096 with Duke Robert, before which, 14 July 1096, as Comes de Albamarla, he gave the Church of St. Martin at Auchy to the Abbey of St. Lucien at Beauvais. <sup>(f)</sup> He took the part of Henry I against Duke Robert in 1104, but in 1118 supported Baldwin à la Hache, Count of Flanders, and the French King, in their invasion of Normandy on behalf of William Cliton, son of Duke Robert. He persisted in his rebellion, but was reduced to submission in 1119. He often occurs, but only once as Comes de Albamara, in the Lindsey Survey. He m. Hawise, da. of Ralph DE MORTEMER, of Wigmore, co. Hereford, Seigneur de

<sup>(d)</sup> It is here assumed that it was the sister of the Conqueror, and not her da. of the same name, who is mentioned in Domesday. Stapleton says of the former that "she did not long survive her br., King William," but there is nothing definite known beyond that she was living in 1082 and dead in 1090. There seems to be no charter in which the younger Adelaide is called Countess. The charter of her half-brother, Stephen, dated 14 July 1096, is "consensu simul et corroboracione sororis mee Adelidis," showing she had some rights on Aumale. It is not very clear what they were, though she is said in the charter quoted above to have succeeded "in imperio." Nothing further seems to be known about her, but Count Stephen had eventually the whole inheritance.

3. WILLIAM, le Gros, COUNT OF AUMALE, Lord of Holderness, s. and h. He witnessed two charters of King Stephen in 1136 as Willelmus de Albamarla, not being placed among the comites. He distinguished himself at the battle of the Standard in 1138, and was made Earl of Yorkshire as his reward. <sup>(b)</sup> He was with King Stephen in his defeat at Lincoln, 2 Feb. 1140/1. He founded the Abbey of Meaux in 1150. <sup>(c)</sup> He m. Cicely, Lady of Skipton, da. and coh. of William FITZ DUNCAN, by Alice, Lady of Skipton, da. and coh. of William LE MESCHIN, Lord of Copeland. <sup>(d)</sup> He d. s.p.m., 20 Aug. 1179, <sup>(e)</sup> and was bur. in the Abbey of Thornton, co. Lincoln, which he had founded in 1139.

4. HAWISE, 1st (or, more probably, only) da. and h., suc. her father in the Comité of Aumale and the Lordship of Holderness. She m., 1stly, 14 Jan. 1179/80, at Pleshy, Essex, <sup>(f)</sup> William (DE MANDEVILLE), EARL OF ESSEX, <sup>(g)</sup> who thereby became COUNT OF AUMALE. He d. s.p., 14 Nov. 1189. <sup>(h)</sup> She m., 2ndly, after 3 July 1190, William DE FORZ, <sup>(i)</sup>

<sup>(b)</sup> Comitem in Eboraci sciria, according to John, Prior of Hexham (p. 295). This can only mean Yorkshire excluding Richmondshire. As Round points out, he was not recognised as Count of Aumale till after this date (Geoffrey de Mandeville, p. 264). He occasionally attested charters as comes Ebor' (see, e.g., Round's Cal. of Documents, no. 804), but the title was soon dropped for that of comes Albemarle. A very similar case is that of the Count of Meulan, who was cr. Earl of Worcester by Stephen. He, on his seal, has SIGILLVM GVALERANNI COMITIS MELLENTI, and on the counterseal, SIGILLVM GVALERANNI COMITIS WIGORNIE. (Douët d'Arcq, Collection de Sceaux, vol. i, no. 715). Here again the English title was soon dropped.

<sup>(c)</sup> He had rashly made a vow to go on crusade, an adventure which his bulk rendered so perilous, that he founded this Abbey instead, to absolve himself.

He thereby became COUNT OF AUMALE.<sup>(a)</sup> His castle of Aumale was captured by the King of France in 1196.<sup>(b)</sup> He d. 13 or 14 Oct. 1212 [not 1211 nor 1213],<sup>(c)</sup> and was bur. in the Abbey of Meaux. His widow gave, 3 Nov. 1212, 5000 marks, to possess her of Niort, dept. of Deux Sèvres, in Poitou, as is evident [sic] from the following charter, copied in the Register of Philip Augustus, at the Bibl. du Roi, no. 8408 [the original is at the Trésor des Chartes, J 473, no. 5]. Ego A. comitissa Augi notum... quod ego terram de Forz quam habebam... dinisi in manu karissimi domini mei Ludovici Regis Francie illustris ad cujus manum devenerat ex eschaeta Guillelmi quondam domini de Forz et comitis Aubemarle... MCC tricesimo tertio mense februarii. [The correct text has here been substituted for Stapleton's]. It is difficult to see how this charter indicates any locality whatever for Fors. Hoveden, vol. iii, p. 36, calls the Count, Willelmus de Forz de Ulerum (Oléron). Beauchet-Filleau, Dict. des Familles du Poitou, mentions a seal of a "de Fors," bearing a cross patonce with 2 roundels in chief, arms cognate to those of the Counts of Aumale.

<sup>(b)</sup> The comté of Aumale remained to Richard I by the treaty of Jan. 1195/6. (Trésor des Chartes, J 628, no. 2). Six months afterwards, Philip Augustus "cepit per vim castellum de Albemarlia et subvertit illud, et rex Anglie dedit ei tria millia marcarum argenti pro redemptione militum et servientum suorum qui capti fuerunt in Albemarlia." (Hoveden, vol. iv, p. 5). In May 1200, King John promised (in the event of his dying s.p.) "feodum comitis Albemarle citra mare Anglie," etc., to Louis, s. of the King of France, in marriage "cum filia regis Castelle nepte nostra." (Trésor des Chartes, J 628, no. 4). After the conquest of Normandy, Philip gave "comitatum Albemalle cum feodis et dominiis" to Renaud de Dammartin, Count of Boulogne, in Dec. 1204: Renaud gave the comté in marriage with his only child, Mahaut, to Philip Hurepel, s. of the King of France, in May 1210. (Idem, J 238, nos. 4, 8). The later Counts of Aumale were descended, but not in the male line, from Simon de Dammartin, br. of Renaud. After 1204 the connection of the Lords of Holderness with Aumale was merely nominal.

<sup>(c)</sup> The writ to the escheator was issued about Oct. 1212. (Close Roll, 14 John, m. 4). He d. "iij idus Octobris," according to the Obituary of Béthune, or " prid. idus Octobris," and his wife "v idus Martii," according to that of the Abbey of Choques. (Du Chesne, Maison de Bethune, 1639, preuves, p. 66.) The seal attached to a charter of William de Forz Comes Albemarli bore [Gu.] a cross patonce Vair, and that to a charter of Baldwin de Béthune Comes Albemarli a shield charged with a chief bendy [Bendy, Or and Azure, was the ancient arms of Béthune] (Harl. MSS., no. 245, ff. 117 d, 118). Baldwin's seal to a charter of 1199 bore the same arms, and his wife's seal bore a shield with a border compony of 16 pieces, or, as it may otherwise be described, Gyronny of 16 and an escutcheon. (Du Chesne, ibid., preuves, p. 61: see also Addit. Charter, no. 20559, for the latter seal). He had a s. (who may have been by a former wife), "Baldevinus filius Comitissae de Albe-

On the same roll, m. 7, are two inspeximus charters, dated 24 July, of deeds of 21 July 1269, between the Queen, Edmund, and Amice, Countess of Devon (also styled Countess of the Isle), relating to the settlements on the marriage of Aveline.

7. THOMAS DE FORZ, s. and h. by 2nd wife, b. 9 Sep. 1253. <sup>(b)</sup> He d. s.p., before 6 Apr. 1269, and was bur. in the Church of the Black Friars at Stamford, co. Lincoln.

8. AVELINE DE FORZ, occasionally, but not often, styled COUNTESS OF AUMALE, sister and h. <sup>(c)</sup> She was b. 20 Jan. 1258/9, at Burstwick, co. York. <sup>(d)</sup> She m. (cont. 6 Apr. <sup>(e)</sup>) 8 or 9 Apr. 1269, at Westm. Abbey, as 1st wife, Edmund, afterwards EARL OF LANCASTER, 2nd s. of Henry III. She d. s.p., 10 Nov. 1274 <sup>(f)</sup>, and was bur. in Westm. Abbey. <sup>(g)</sup>

<sup>(a)</sup> By deed, dated Monday before St. Martin [9 Nov.] 1293, she gave the King the Isle of Wight, etc., for 6000 marks. The quittance for the subsequent payment of this sum is guilelessly dated Wednesday before St. Martin [4 Nov.], showing that these deeds (Liber Rubeus, pp. 1020-2) were forged some years afterwards.

<sup>(b)</sup> He was aged 7 on the morrow of the Nativity of the Virgin, 1260, according to the Inq. p. m. on his father, to whom he was found h. (Ch. Inq. p. m., Hen. III, file 24, no. 6). According to a petition by Thomas de Multon and Anthony de Lucy (Coram Rege, Easter, 9 Edw. II, m. 112) for the manors of Cockermouth, Skipton, etc., the Count had 5 children, John, Thomas, William, Avice, and Aveline. John must have d. before 11 Aug. 1260, when Thomas and William, "filii et heredes Willelmi de Fortibus comitis Albemarle," were in their mother's keeping (Close Roll, 44 Hen. III, m. 8d). William d. at Oxford, and was bur. there in the Church of the Black Friars; whether he survived Thomas or not is unknown.

<sup>(c)</sup> Her sister Avice d. before 6 Apr. 1269. She was bur. (it would seem) in the Abbey of Meaux (Chron. de Melsa, vol. i, p. 92, vol. ii, p. 106). In Coll. Top. et Gen., vol. vi, p. 264, Courthope, etc., she is said to have m. Ingram de Percy [of Levington, co. York, who d.s.p., being poisoned, in 1262]. It is true that the "maritagium filie primogenite et unius heredum Willelmi de Fortibus que fuit uxor Ingrami de Percy" was given to the Queen, 10 Oct. 1262 (Patent Roll, 46 Hen. III, pars 2, m. 2). But, as the marriage of the daughters of William Le Fort was given to this Ingram and two others, 2 Aug. 1259 (Fine Roll, 43 Hen. III, m. 4), it is clear that Ingram m. the 1st da. and coh., not of the Count, but of William Le Fort de Vivonne, of Chewton, Somerset, viz., Joan, afterwards wife of Reynold fitz Piers.

<sup>(d)</sup> She was aged 14 on the feast of SS. Fabian and Sebastian last past, according to her proof of age, undated, but taken between 20 Jan. and 2 Feb. 1272/3. This Inq. states that the Count, her father, had been dead 12 years at Whitsunday last, i.e., he d. on Whitsunday [23 May] 1260. (Ch. Inq. p. m., Edw. I, file 4, no. 4).

<sup>(g)</sup> On the death of Aveline, one John d'Eston [Eshton, co. York] claimed to be her heir, as descended from Avice, da., as he averred, of William le Gros. This was denied by Philip de Wyvelesby (who claimed to descend from Simon, yr. br. of William), the heirs of Peter de Brus, and those of Amabel, wife of Reynold

THOMAS of Woodstock, DUKE OF GLOUCESTER (so cr. 6 Aug. 1385), 6th s. of Edward III, was, on 3 Sep. 1385, sum. to Parl. by writ (enrolled as) directed "Carissimo Avunculo Regis Thome Duci Albemarle." <sup>(a)</sup> He d. 8 or 9 Sep. 1397, being murdered at Calais. On 24 Sep. following he was declared in Parl. to have been guilty of treason, whereby all his honours were forfeited. See "GLOUCESTER," Dukedom of, cr. 1385.

DUKEDOM. I. EDWARD, EARL OF RUTLAND (so cr., by charter, 25 Feb. 1389/90), s. and h. ap. of Edmund, DUKE OF YORK, 5th s. of Edward III, was, on 29 Sep. 1397, cr., in Parl., DUKE OF AUMALE. <sup>(b)</sup> He, the Duke of Surrey, and the Duke of Exeter, were adjudged by the Lords in Parl., with the King's assent, 3 Nov. 1399, to "lese and forgo de Lucy (see p. 353, note "d"). A jury found in John's favour (Misc. Inq., file 35, no. 28). Sir C.G. Young, in Coll. Top. et Gen., vol. vi, p. 261, suspects "that the claim of Aston was a mere fiction, to give the King a colourable pretence for retaining the honour in his own hands, as by admitting the fictitious claim and then purchasing it from him, he shut out all real claim that might have been justly made by Wivelby, who afterwards proved his descent from Stephen, Earl of Albemarle, only one generation further back than the pretended descent of Aston." The truth is that neither the English nor the French Kings at this period were over scrupulous as to the means they employed to get the great fiefs into their own hands. John d'Eston surrendered his right to the comté of Aumale and to all the lands in England and Normandy which had belonged to Aveline, John, Thomas, and William, de Forz, to William le Gros sometime Count of Aumale, and to Hawise his da. (Deed enrolled on Close Roll, 6 Edw. I, m. 2d), and on 7 Nov. 1278 he received in return 4 [or 4½] knights' fees in Thornton by Pickering [Thornton Dale] and elsewhere, valued at 100*l.* a year, to hold by the service of 1 knight (Charter Roll, 6 Edw. I, m. 3).

The heirs to the lands, in Essex, Bucks, and Surrey, which Aveline had inherited from the family of Montfichet, were:—(1) the 4 daughters of Hugh de Bolebec (s. of another Hugh who had m. her grandmother's elder sister Margery), viz., Philippe, wife of Roger de Lancaster, Margery, wife of Nicholas Corbet, Alice, wife of Walter de Huntercombe, and Maud, wife of Hugh de Laval. (2) Ralph de Playz, s. of Richard, s. of Hugh (which Hugh had m. her grandmother's yr. sister, Philippe). (Ch. Inq. p.m., Edw. I, file 10, no. 8).

<sup>(a)</sup> Close Roll, 9 Ric. II, m. 45d, where the word is certainly Albemarle: but it is an error for Gloucestrie, as Thomas of Woodstock could never have possessed the former title. Four weeks before, as "Buk' et Essex' comes," he had been cr. Duke of Gloucester (Charter Roll, m. 15, no. 27), yet this undoubted title is omitted in the writ: he was invested with the Dukedom of Gloucester, and that Dukedom only, in full Parl. (Parl. Roll, m. 5, no. 15): in the orders, Nov. 1385, that divers rents granted him "pro statu suo ducali decencius sustinendo" should be paid him, "quem in ducem ereximus eidem ducatus Glouc' titulum assignantes et nomen" (Close Roll, m. 35), no dukedom of Aumale is mentioned, nor is this title ever again attributed to him. His full style (1394) is on his seal:—"Sigillu thome filii regis ducis glouc coitis essex buk constabular anglie." (Brit. Mus., lxxxix, no. 37). He did not obtain Holderness till 7 June 1394.

The author's views, as against the Irish Union, are well known. At the end of the sketch he adds—"This distinguished man, at the critical period of Ireland's emancipation, burst forth as a meteor in the Irish Senate," but "after having with zeal and sincerity laboured to attain independence for his country in 1782, he became one of its Sale-Masters in 1800" and, through the influence of the Duke of Portland, "and the absolute necessity of a family provision, on the question of the Union, the radiance of his public character was obscured for ever." cloudy, his setting obscure," yet "few men possessed so much talent, so much heart, or so much weakness." G.E.C. "Mr Yelverton is said to have been born of obscure and poor parentage, being the son of a weaver in Newmarket in the county of Cork... [a story without foundation]. The leading feature of his eloquence is energetic force. His voice is full and deep, his pronunciation slow and solemn; his arrangement masterly; his knowledge great and diversified; his manner animated and impressive. He is allowed to be a good and a learned judge; but he has one fault... he is extremely irritable." (Sketches of Irish political Character 1799.) "One of the most accomplished and merciful men on the Irish Bench. After his death Curran finely said of him, that he could on his death bed have had no more selfish wish than that justice should be administered to him, in the world to come, in the same spirit with which he distributed it in this." (Lecky, Hist. of England in the Eighteenth Cent., vol. vii, p. 53). "He was a great lawyer, an admirable speaker, a statesman of sound and moderate judgment, a man of eminent accomplishments, and of a singularly sweet, simple, and even childlike nature, but... his character had been broken down by extravagance and debt." <sup>(a)</sup> This was owing to the scandal occasioned by the trial, which lasted ten days (21 Feb. to 4 Mar. 1861) in the Court of Common Pleas [I.], of "Thelwall v. Yelverton," wherein the actual cause of action was for £259 supplied by the plaintiff for the use of the wife of the defendant, but the real question at issue was whether or no the lady in question was legally such wife. Her maiden name was Maria Theresa LONGWORTH, of Smedley, co. Lancaster, she being the yst. da. of a silk merchant in Manchester, deceased. She was b. at Chetwood, in that co., ed. at a convent in France, and brought up as a Roman Catholic. Having joined the French Sisters of Charity to attend the sick at the Hospital of Galata, during the Russian war, she there received an offer of marriage from Major Yelverton (early in 1857), and shortly afterwards he "performed the ceremony" by reading the marriage service of the Church of England at Edinburgh. On 15 Aug. 1857 the marriage was celebrated by a Roman Catholic Priest at Rostrevor in the north of Ireland, after which they travelled on the Continent together as husband and wife. Though by act of Parl. (19 Geo. II, cap. 13) it is enacted "that a marriage between a Roman Catholic and a Protestant, if celebrated by a Roman Catholic priest, shall be deemed null and void," the jury found not only that the Scotch marriage was valid, but that the one in Ireland was good also, finding that Major Yelverton was a Roman Catholic. This decision was received by the populace with the greatest applause.— See an interesting account of the celebrated trial in the Annual Register for 1861. See also N. & Q., 5th Ser., vol. ii, p. 466, and 9th Ser., vol. vi, p. 229. On appeal, however, this decision was not sustained, and, on 28 July 1864, and finally, 30 July 1867, the illegality of these marriages was decided by the House of Lords, whereby the validity of this scoundrel's marriage in 1858 (as in the text) became established. ### EARLDOM

I. 1714. I. HENEAGE FINCH, <sup>(b)</sup> 2nd s. of Heneage (FINCH), 1st EARL OF NOTTINGHAM, by Elizabeth, da. of William HARVEY, matric. at Oxford (Ch. Ch.) 18 Nov. 1664, being then aged 15; became a Barrister of the Inner Temple (being popularly known as "silvertongued Finch"); K.C. 1677, and was made Solicitor Gen. 13 Jan. 1678/9, <sup>(c)</sup> from which office he was removed by James II, 21 Apr. 1686. In Trinity term 1688 he was one of the counsel for the seven Bishops against the Crown. M.P. (Tory) for Oxford Univ. 1679, 1689-98, 1701-3; and for Guildford 1685-87. Was chosen by the Univ. to receive Queen Anne, in Aug. 1702, on her coming to Oxford.

On 15 Mar. 1702/3, "in consideration of his great merits and abilities," he was cr. <sup>(a)</sup> BARON OF GERNSEY (sic). <sup>(b)</sup> P.C. 20 Mar. 1702/3 till May 1708, and 13 Dec. 1711. He was again sworn P.C. 14 Oct. 1714, and appointed Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, which office he resigned 29 Feb. 1715/6. On 19 Oct. 1714, he was cr. EARL OF AYLESFORD, Kent. <sup>(c)</sup> He m., 16 May 1678, at St. Giles's-in-the-Fields, Elizabeth, da. and coh. of Sir John BANKS, of London, Bart. (so cr. Aug. 1661), by Elizabeth, da. of Sir John DETHICK, Knt., sometime Lord Mayor of London. By her (on the death of her father), in Oct. 1699, he acquired the estate of Aylesford, Kent. He d. at Albury, Surrey, 22 July, and was bur. 8 Aug. 1719, at Aylesford. Will pr. Oct. 1719. His widow d. 1 Sep. 1743. Will pr. Oct. 1743.

II. 1719.                    2. HENEAGE (FINCH), EARL OF AYLESFORD, &c., s. and h., b. at Albury, Surrey. Matric. at Oxford (Ch. Ch.) 27 June 1700, aged 17. M.P. (Tory) for Maidstone 1704-05; and for Surrey 1710-19. Master of the Jewel office, 1711-16. He m., 9 Dec. 1712, at Great Packington, Mary, da. and h. of Sir Clement FISHER, of Packington, co. Warwick, 3rd Bart., by Ann, da. of Humphrey JENNENS, of Erdington, in that co. With her he acquired the estate of Packington. She d. 28 May 1740, at Bath. Admon. 20 Feb. 1740/1 to her husband. He d. 29 June 1757. Will pr. July 1757.

III. 1757.                    3. HENEAGE (FINCH), EARL OF AYLESFORD, &c., only s. and h., b. and bap. 6 Nov. 1715. <sup>(d)</sup> Matric. at Oxford (Univ. Coll.) 31 July 1732. Created M.A. 13 Dec. 1735, and D.C.L. 14 Apr. 1761. M.P. <sup>(e)</sup> for co. Leicester 1739-41; for Maidstone 1741-47, and 1754-57. He m., 6 Oct. 1750, at St. Geo., Han. Sq., Charlotte, (a fortune of £50,000) yst. da. of Charles (SEYMOUR), 6th DUKE OF SOMERSET, by his 2nd wife, Charlotte, da. of Daniel (FINCH), EARL OF WINCHILSEA AND NOTTINGHAM. He d. 9 May 1777, in Grosvenor Sq., and was bur. at Packington, aged 61. Will pr. May 1777. His widow, who was b. 21 Sep. 1730, d. 15 Feb. 1805, at Aylesford, and was bur. at Packington. Will pr. May 1805.

IV. 1777. 4. HENEAGE (FINCH), EARL OF AYLESFORD, &c., s. and h., b. at Sion House, 4, and bap. 15 July 1751 at Isleworth, Midx. <sup>(a)</sup> Matric. at Oxford (Ch. Ch.) 13 Nov. 1767. <sup>(a)</sup> It appeared that the Countess gave birth to a son, on 4 Nov. 1881, at No. 8 Avenue Friedland, Paris, who was registered (the parents being not named) as "GUY BERTRAND," and who appears, sometimes, to have been styled "LORD GUERNSEY." His reputed father was George Charles Spencer-Churchill, then styled Marquess of Blandford, afterwards (1883), 8th Duke of Marlborough. Nearly two years afterwards this child was, 29 June 1883, bap., under the same names, at St. Mary-le-Strand, Midx., but as son of Heneage, Earl of Aylesford, and Edith, which paternity was however subsequently disallowed by the House of Lords.

<sup>(b)</sup> The old legal doctrine of "Pater est quem nuptiæ demonstrant" has been overruled by the House of Lords in the following instances:—(1) In 1692/3 and (again) in 1813, in the case of the Earldom of BANBURY, in which the legitimacy of Nicholas Knollys, b. 3 Jan. 1630/1, was disallowed by their Lordships, notwithstanding it had been allowed by the King's Bench in 1694. (2) In 1824, in the case of the Barony of GARDNER, as against the claim of Henry Fenton Gardner (better known as Henry Fenton Jadis), b. 8 Dec. 1802 in wedlock, but at a date which precluded the possibility of his legitimacy. (3) On 16 May 1848, in the case of the Barony of SAY AND SELE, in which the right of Charles Twisleton (whose putative father "John Stein, Esq.," gave evidence as to such his paternity) was passed over, though the said Charles was b. 30 Mar. 1797, before the dissolution [1798] of his mother's marriage with the Hon. Thomas James Twisleton, whose son (by a subsequent wife) Frederick Benjamin Twisleton (b. 4 July 1799) was declared to have established his claim to the Peerage. (4) In July 1885, in the case of the Earldom of AYLESFORD, as against the legitimacy of a child b. 4 Nov. 1881 in wedlock, of parties who were residing respectively in Chapel Place (Oxford Str.) and in Portugal Str. (South Audley Str.) Midx., in the months of Jan., Feb., Mar. and Apr. previous to the birth. ## B

BACON

No Peerage dignity ever existed of this name, yet the celebrated Sir Francis Bacon (Lord Keeper 1616-17, Lord Chancellor 1617-18, who was, in 1618, cr. BARON VERULAM, and, in 1621, VISCOUNT ST. ALBANS), is very generally, though erroneously, spoken of as LORD BACON. (a) See "ST. ALBANS," Viscounty, cr. 1621, extinct 1626.

BADENOCH

i.e. "LORD OF BADENOCH" [S.], Alexander (STEWART), EARL OF BUCHAN [S.], &c., (4th son of Robert II [S.]), is so styled. See "BUCHAN," Earldom of [S.], cr. 1374.

i.e. "BADENOCH OF GORDON OF BADENOCH" Barony [S.] (Gordon), cr. apparently 1599, with the MARQUESSATE OF HUNTLY [S.] (which see), but not allowed therewith in 1838.

BADLESMERE

BARONY
BY WRIT.

I. BARTHOLOMEW OF BADLESMERE, of Badlesmere and Chilham Castle, Kent, s. and h. of Guncelin or Gun-

(a) He is styled "Lord Bacon" in works published as early as 1658, 1661, 1671, &c. See N. & Q., 6th Ser., vol. x, p. 502. But see also N. & Q., 3rd Ser., vol. ii, p. 200, where it is stated "that persons holding the inferior offices [i.e. inferior to the office of Chancellor] of Chief Judges in the Courts of Common Law were then called Lords, though not Peers, as Lord Coke, Lord Hailes and Lord Holt." "Lord Hailes," however, is not a case in point; Sir David Dalrymple, Bart. [S.], being a Senator of the College of Justice, and having assumed that style in accordance with Scottish custom. The titles of all these, whom the Scotch call "Paper Lords," will be found in Brunton and Haig's Historical Account of the Senators of the College of Justice. (ex inform. H.Gough.)

- I. 1309 selm B., of Badlesmere afsd., (*) Justice of Chester, by to Joan, da. of Ralph FITZ BERNARD, of Kingsdown, Kent 1322. (aunt and, in her issue, h. to Thomas [LORD] FITZ BERNARD), attended the war in Gascony (1294) 22
Edw. I; suc. his father in 1301, being then aged 26; was in the Scottish wars 1303 and 1304; Governor of Bristol Castle 1307; had a grant of the Castle and Manor of Chilham, Kent, 1309, and from 26 Oct. (1309)
3 Edw. II, to 15 May (1321) 14 Edw. II, was sum. (b) to Parl. by writs directed Bartholomeo de Badlesmere, whereby he may be held to have become LORD BADLESMERE. (c) He obtained a grant of the Castle of Leeds in Kent, and in (1314-15) 8 Edw. II, was made Governor of Skipton Castle, and of all the castles in Yorkshire and Westmorland whereof Robert de Clifford had d. seized. He was also Steward of the King's Household. Notwithstanding the many favours he had received, he joined the Earl of Lancaster in his rebellion, and was defeated with him at Boroughbridge, 16 Mar. 1322, captured at Stow Park, attainted, and hung as a traitor at Canterbury, 14 Apr. 1322. He is described in the contemporary Boroughbridge Roll as a Banneret. (d) He m., before 30 June 1308, Margaret, widow of Gilbert DE UMFREVILLE (e) (who d. before 23 May 1303,
s. and h. ap. of Gilbert vii EARL OF ANGUS), aunt and coh. of Thomas DE CLARE, Steward of the Forest of Essex, da. of Thomas DE C. (yr. s. of Richard, EARL OF GLOUCESTER AND HERTFORD), by Julian, (not Amy), da. of Sir
Maurice FITZ MAURICE, Lord Justice of Ireland. He d. as afsd, 1322. (f)
His widow, notorious for having refused the Queen admission to the Royal Castle of Leeds in the summer of 1321, was besieged therein by Edward II, and being captured with the Castle on 11 Nov. following, was imprisoned in the Tower of London, but was released 3 Nov. 1322, and after staying some time at the Minorites without Aldgate, at the King's charge (2s. a day), had leave to go to her friends, 1 July 1324. She, who was aged 40 in Mar.
1326/7, had dower on lands at Castlecombe, Wilts, &c., and d. late in 1333.
- II. 1328 2. GILES OF BADLESMERE, s. and h., b. 18 Oct. 1314, at to Hambleton, Rutland, and hap. at St. Andrew's Church 1338. there, was 14 years old in Nov. 1328, when he obtained the reversal of his father's attainder, and though a minor, had livery of his father's lands (1333) 7 Edw. III. He was sum. to Parl.

(*) The Lords Badlesmere bore arms of Silver a fesse and two gimels gules.
(ex inform. Oswald Barron). V.G.

(b) There is proof in the rolls of Parl. of his sitting.

(c) As to how far these early writs of summons did in fact create any peerage title, see Appendix A in the last volume. V.G.

(d) For an account of the battle of Boroughbridge and list of the nobles who fought on either side, see vol. ii, Appendix C. V.G.

(e) She figures as "Margaret Dumfravill, Lady of Badlesmere" 19 June 1325, and on the seal of a grant to Master Richard de Clare, 23 June 1328; also as "Margaret de Umframville late the wife of Bartholomew de Badlesmere," in Patent Roll, 13 Dec. 1329. V.G.

by writs directed Egidio de Badlismere, 22 Jan. (1335/6) 9 Edw. III to 20 Dec. (1337) 11 Edw. III. He m., after Feb. 1327/8, Elizabeth, <sup>(a)</sup> da. of William (MONTAGU), 1ST EARL OF SALISBURY, by Catherine, da. of William [LORD] GRANSON. <sup>(b)</sup> He d. s.p., between 7 Apr. and 22 June 1338, aged 24, since which time any Barony, that may be supposed to have existed, has been in abeyance. <sup>(c)</sup> His widow m., before May 1341, Hugh [LORD] LE DESPENSER, who d. s.p. 8 Feb. 1348/9. She m., 3rdly, before 10 July 1350, Guy [LORD] BRYAN, who d. 17 Aug. 1390. She d. 31 May 1359, at Ashley, Hants, and was bur. in Tewkesbury Abbey. <sup>(d)</sup>

Note.—The Barony of Badlesmere was assumed by John (de Vere), 7th Earl of Oxford in right of his wife, who (though she was not the eldest of the sisters and coheirs of the last Lord) had suc. to the Lordship of Badlesmere, Kent. The succeeding Earls likewise assumed the style of Lords Badlesmere, and that, too, even after the death of John, the 14th Earl, in 1526, s.p.m., on whose sisters and coheirs the representation of any Barony in fee which might have been vested in the issue of the 7th Earl would (according to the now received law in Peerage descent) have devolved. This their assumption was on the principle (then generally believed) that when a Barony once became united with an Earldom it continued attendant thereon. At length on the death s.p. of Henry, the 18th Earl, in 1625, when this Barony together with other honours was claimed by Robert de Vere, his cousin and h. male, the House, on 5 Apr. 1626 (without enquiring into the origin or nature of these dignities, or even into the fact of their actual existence in the person of the said John, the 14th Earl), resolved that the Baronies of Bolebec, Sandford and Badlesmere were in abeyance between the heirs gen. of the said John, Earl of Oxford. But in the

<sup>(c)</sup> On his death his four sisters were found his coheirs, and in their issue rests the representation of the Barony. They were (1) Margery, then aged 32, and wife of William de Ros, by whom she was ancestress of the Lords de Ros, &c. (2) Maud, then aged 28, and Countess of Oxford. She d. (1366) 40 Edw. III, being ancestress of John, the 14th Earl of Oxford, on whose death s.p. in 1526, his three sisters became coheirs. (3) Elizabeth, then aged 25, and Countess of Northampton, who by her 1st husband, Edmund de Mortimer, had a s. and h., Roger, Earl of March, through whom her share in the Barony became vested in the Crown in the person of Edward IV. (4) Margaret, then 23 years old, and wife of John, [2nd Lord] Tiptoft or Tibetot, whose s. and h., Robert, d. s.p.m. 1372, leaving three daughters and coheirs. The coheirs of the Barony of Badlesmere (1855) are given in Courthope, p. 38, and somewhat more fully (1822) in Coll. Top. et Gen., vol. viii, p. 181.

<sup>(d)</sup> "1359, apud Assteley in comitatu Hamptonie, ultimo die mensis Maii" (Chron. of Tewkesbury, in Monasticon, vol. ii, p. 62), i.e., Ashley, Hants, a manor of the Despensers. It has been stated that there is an Inq. p. m. on her of date 15 Edw. III, but there is, of course, no such Inq. On the tomb of Guy de Brian at Tewkesbury, the arms of Montagu are impaled with his own: but the lady is buried hard by, under a magnificent tomb on the North side of the High Altar, with her 2nd husband, Hugh le Despenser. (ex inform. G. W. Watson.) V.G.

Lords' Reports (3rd) it is added that the Committee apprehend that if enquiry had been made "it would have appeared that the Barony of Badlesmere had been in abeyance between four coheirs, one of whom m. John, then Earl of Oxford; and unless the Crown had done some act, calling the dignity out of abeyance in favour of some Earl of Oxford, of which the committee have not found any trace, that dignity was never vested in any Earl of Oxford, and must have remained in abeyance between the four coheirs of Giles de Badlesmere and not between the coheirs of John, Earl of Oxford." Notwithstanding this decision, Aubrey (de Vere), Earl of Oxford, in the Court of Claims for the Coronation of Charles II, in 1661, styled himself "Seigneur Bolebeck Stanford [i.e. Sandford] Badlesmere et Scales"; while, by writ of Privy Seal, 8 June 1588, Queen Elizabeth granted Earls Colne Priory to "Edwardo de Veere Comiti Oxon Vicecomiti Bulbeck Domino de Badlesmere et de Scales." See note sub BEDFORD Barony and note sub BOLEBEC.

2 and 1. ALEXANDER (LINDSAY), LORD LINDSAY OF BALCARRES [S.], s. and h. He was b. at Balcarres, 6 July, and bap. 4 Aug. 1618. Ed. at school at Haddington, and at the University of St. Andrews. Unlike his father, he took the part of the Covenanters against the King, but, notwithstanding, was made P.C. [S.] 16 Nov. 1641. He was at the battle of Marston Moor, 2 July 1644, and commanded a troop of horse at the battle of Alford, 2 July 1645, where, however, he was defeated by the Royalists under Montrose, after a hard fight. On 29 Dec. 1645, he was one of the Commissioners [S.] to the King at Newcastle, whom he urged (though to no purpose) to adopt measures so as to avoid his being surrendered to the English. After this he appears to have stood high in favour with the King, who appointed him Governor of Edinburgh Castle. On the arrival of Charles II in Scotland, he persuaded many of his relations and friends to espouse the Royal cause. On 9 Jan. 1650/1, by patent dat. at Perth, he was cr. LORD LINDSAY AND BALNEIL, and EARL OF BALCARRES [S.], <sup>(d)</sup> "sibi, ejusque heredibus masculis

<sup>(a)</sup> In 1586 Lord Menmuir "purchased the lands of Balcarres, Balniell, Pitcorthie and others in Fifeshire and obtained a Royal Charter uniting them into a free Barony in his favour [10 June 1592], an estate which, with the lands of Balmakin and Innerdoral in Angus, formed the original patrimony of the Balcarres family."

He was Hereditary Governor of the Castle of Edinburgh (an office afterwards surrendered by his widow), and High Commissioner to the Gen. Assembly of the Kirk, 16 July 1651. He was in command of the troops north of the Forth, and by mortgage and by sale of his plate raised £8,000 for the Royal cause. After the King's defeat at Worcester in Sep. 1651, he capitulated to Cromwell. He again took arms for Charles II in 1653, and his estate being sequestered, joined his King on the Continent in that year. He was considered the head of the Presbyterians or Scottish Constitutionalists, and was the King's Secretary of State for Scotland. He m., in Apr. 1640 (cont. 22 and 23 Apr.), his 1st cousin Anne, 1st of the two daughters and coheirs of Colin (MACKENZIE), 1st EARL OF SEAFORTH, by (his mother's sister) Margaret, da. of Alexander (SETON), 1st EARL OF DUNFERMLINE [S.] afsd. He d. in exile, at Breda, 30 Aug. 1659, and was bur. 12 June 1660, aged 41, at Balcarres. His widow, who was an intimate friend of Richard Baxter, the well-known divine, m. (as his 2nd wife), 28 Jan. 1670, Archibald (CAMPBELL), 9th EARL OF ARGYLL [S.], who was beheaded 30 June 1685. ## BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH

BARONY [S.]

I. 1607.

1. MICHAEL BALFOUR, of Burleigh Castle, in Orwell, co. Kinross, s. and h. of Sir James B., of Pittendreich, co. Fife, President of the Court of Session [S.], who d. 1583, by Margaret, da. and h. of Michael BALFOUR, of Burleigh afsd., obtained charters (v.p.) of lands in co. Fife and co. Banff in 1569 and 1577. He was knighted before 1592 ; sat in convention 1599, and had charter of the Barony of Burleigh 29 Nov. 1606, in which year he is stated to have been AMBASSADOR both to the Grand Duke of Tuscany and to the Duke of Lorraine. On 16 July 1607, he was cr. LORD BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH, co. Kinross [S.], without mention of heirs in the patent of creation. <sup>(a)</sup> P.C. He appears to have been one of the Scots peers sum. to the Irish House of Lords by writ 11 Mar. 1613/4. <sup>(b)</sup> On 7 Sep. 1614, he obtained a charter of the Barony of Kilwinning "with the title of LORD OF KILWINNING," to him and his heirs and assigns whatever. <sup>(c)</sup> He m. Margaret, <sup>(d)</sup> da. of (—) LUNDIN of that ilk. He d. 15 Mar. 1619. Will confirmed 10 July 1620, at St. Andrews. His widow d. at Kilmany, co. Fife. Will confirmed 26 Apr. 1626, at St. Andrews.

<sup>(a)</sup> His da. Anne describes him as "an accomplished gentleman, a reasoning philosopher, a judicious farmer, and a warm partisan." Of her mother she writes:—"She was fair, blooming, and lively; her beauty and embonpoint charmed my dear, tall, lean, majestic father.... She had worth, honour, activity, good sense, good spirits, economy, justice, friendship, generosity—everything but softness." V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> Of their eleven children, the eldest, Anne, b. 8 Dec. 1750, m., 31 Oct. 1793, Andrew Barnard, Secretary to the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, who d. there 27 Oct. 1807, s.p. This was the celebrated Lady Anne Barnard, the authoress (1772) of "Auld Robin Gray," &c. She d. 6 May 1825, in her 75th year. Her youngest sister, Elizabeth, Countess of Hardwicke (b. 11 Oct 1763, d. 26 May 1858), outlived the birth of her grandfather, Earl Colin (abovenamed) by no less a period than 207 years.

II. 1619.            2. MARGARET, suo jure BARONESS BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH [S.], da. and sole h. She m. (settl. Sep. 1606) Robert ARNOT, of Fernie, co. Fife, who assumed the name of BALFOUR. By virtue of a letter from the King, he sat as a peer (LORD BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH) in the Parl. [S.], 25 Jan. 1621, and on 11 June 1640 was chosen President of the Session. P.C. He was defeated by Montrose at Aberdeen, 12 Sep. 1644, and again at Kilsyth, 15 Aug. 1645. He opposed the "Engagement" to march into England for the rescue of the King. In 1649 he was one of the Colonels for co. Fife, and one of the Commissioners of the Treasury and Exchequer. The Baroness d. June 1639, at Edinburgh, and was bur. at Orwell. He d. at Burleigh, 10, and was bur. 12 Aug. 1663, "in his parish church."

III. 1639            3. JOHN (BALFOUR), LORD BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH [S.], or                    only s. and h. He m., early in 1649, in London, Isabel, 1663.                da. of Sir William BALFOUR, of Pitcullo, Lieut. of the Tower of London. Settl. (post nuptial) 24 Nov. 1666.
This marriage his father endeavoured to get set aside. He was living 10 Dec. 1696, but d. before Feb. 1696/7.

IV. 1696            4. ROBERT (BALFOUR), LORD BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH [S.], or                    s. and h., sat in the Parl. of 1698. He m. Margaret, 1st 1697                da. of George (MELVILLE), 1st EARL OF MELVILLE [S.], by Catharine, da. of Alexander LESLIE, Master of Leven, styled LORD BALGONIE. He d. July 1713. She was b. 28 Oct. 1658.

<sup>(c)</sup> The abbey lands of Kilwinning, erected into a Lordship, were granted, 5 Jan. 1603/4, to Hugh (Montgomerie) Earl of Eglintoun, who settled them in 1611 on his cousin and successor in title, from whom they were taken. They were, however, re-conveyed to him by Lord Balfour of Burleigh for 8000 marks. V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> Mariot Adamson, sometimes attributed to him as a first wife, was the wife of another Michael Balfour, of Montquhany. V.G.

John B. who had been found guilty of high treason at Carlisle in 1716) was referred, May 1861, to the committee of the House of Lords.

<sup>(b)</sup> "No claim for this peerage was ever made by my family till 1861. No attainder at all was reversed, I believe, until after the accession of George IV, anyhow not till the late years of George III, and then only to direct heirs. Reversing the attainder in favour of collaterals was a later process. Though my family knew their right they could not prove it till the accidental discovery of the patent in an oak chest here [Kennet, Alloa] in 1858." (Lord Balfour to V.G., Mar 1897.)

<sup>(c)</sup> He is one of the numerous peers who are or have been directors of public companies. For a list of these (in 1896) see vol. v, Appendix C. V.G.

BALFOUR [of Glenawley]

BARONY [I.] I. 1619. 1. Sir James Balfour of Glenawley [rectius Clanawley], co. Fermanagh, yr. br. of Michael, 1st Lord Balfour of Burleigh [S.], 2nd s. of Sir James B., of Pittendreich, co. Fife, by Margaret, da. and h. of Michael BALFOUR, of Burleigh, co. Kinross, received by charter from his parents, 28 Mar. 1587, lands at Costertoun, co. Edinburgh, and (having risen high in favour with James I, and obtained several grants of lands in Ireland), was, on 8 Nov. 1619, cr. LORD BALFOUR, BARON OF GLENAWLEY, co. Fermanagh [I.]. He m., 1stly, Grisold, da. and h. of Patrick BALFOUR, of Pitcullo, co. Fife, by whom he had three sons and three daughters.<sup>(a)</sup> He m., 2ndly, Elizabeth, formerly wife of Sir John LESLIE, of Balquhain (whom she had divorced for adultery, 9 Mar. 1597/8), da. of George (HAY), 6th EARL OF ERROLL [S.], and only child by his 2nd wife, Helen, da. of Walter BRUCE, of Pitcullen, co. Perth. He m., 3rdly, before 1627, Anne, da. of Edward (BLAYNEY) 1ST LORD BLAYNEY [I.], by Anne, da. of Adam LOFTUS, Archbishop of Dublin and Chancellor [I.]. She was living Aug. 1628. He d. in London, 18, and was bur. 24 Oct. 1634, at St. Anne's, Blackfriars. Fun. cert. in Ulster's office, 29 July 1635.<sup>(b)</sup> Will. dat. 16 Oct. 1634, pr. 5 Mar. 1634/5 at Dublin. Admon. 15 May 1635, pending a suit between Alexander and James Balfour, the sons of deceased. Will pr. (again) 2 June 1636.

II. 1634. 2. JAMES (BALFOUR), LORD BALFOUR, BARON OF GLEN-AWLEY [I.], s. and h., by 1st wife. He m., before 1623, Ann, widow of William WARREN, da. of Sir Francis GOULDSMITH, of Crayford, Kent, by Catherine, da. of Edward OUNDLEY, of Catesby, co. Northampton. He d. s.p., 26 Feb. 1635/6. BALLIOL, <sup>(a)</sup> or BALIOL

JOHN BALLIOL <sup>(b)</sup> 3rd, but 1st surv. s. of John B. (sometime Regent of Scotland), by Devorgild, 2nd da. and coh. of Alan, Lord of Galloway, was b. about 1240, being aged 40, 29 Nov. 1280, and was sum. to attend the King at Shrewsbury, 28 June (1283) 11 Edw. I, by writ directed <sup>(c)</sup> Johanni de Balliolo. He possessed the Barony of Bywell, Northumberland, and Barnard's Castle, co. Durham. <sup>(d)</sup> In right of his descent, through his mother Devorgild, from David I, he was crowned KING of SCOTLAND at Scone, 30 Nov. 1292, having been awarded the Crown by Edward I. In 1295 he lost his English Barony of Bywell, which was given to John of Brittany, Earl of Richmond, nephew of Edward I. He abdicated 10 July 1296. After being detained for some three years as a prisoner in England, he went to France. He m., before Feb. 1280/1, Isabel, da. of John (WARENNE) EARL OF SURREY. He d. between 4 Mar. 1313/4 and 4 Jan. 1314/5, <sup>(e)</sup> in France.

BARONY
BY WRIT <sup>(f)</sup>

I. 1349
1363 or 1365.

I. EDWARD BALLIOL, s. and h., was a prisoner in the Tower at his father's death. He did not succeed to the Barony of Bywell which had been forfeited, but, by the English interest, was crowned KING OF SCOTLAND 24 Sep. 1332, and having fled from that Kingdom in the Dec. following, was sixteen years afterwards sum. to the English <sup>(a)</sup> The locality from which this family derived its name was generally presumed to be in Normandy, until it was shown by J.H.Round from a charter of Bernard de Balliol (Calendar of Documents in France, p. 513) that the family was of Picard origin, and sprang from Bailleul in the modern department of the Somme. V.G.

Though many genealogists, English and French, have supposed he took his name from Bailleul in Normandy, and have even pointed out his tomb at Bailleul-sur-Eaune, near Rouen, the place in question was, on the contrary, Bailleul-en-Vimeu (canton of Hallencourt, Somme), Vimeu being a district in Picardy (cf. Genealogist, N.S., vol. viii, p. 217). In 3 charters, of dates from 1304 to 4 Mar. 1313/4, he styles himself "Jehans rois d'Escoce et sires de Bailleul en Vimeu" (R. de Belleval, Jean de Bailleul, Roi d'Ecosse, 1866, appendix, nos. 4, 5, 7). In betrothing his s., Edward, 23 Oct. 1295, to a da. of Charles, Count of Valois [the marriage did not take place], he gave her dower in his seigneuries of Bailleul, Hornoy, and Hélicourt, all in Vimeu. (ex inform. G.W.Watson.) V.G.

<sup>(f)</sup> "It seems clear that the writ of 22 Edw. III must be regarded as having cr. a Barony and that the title of this Barony is BALLIOL." (ex inform. H. Gough.)

Parl., 1 Jan. and again 10 Mar. (1348/9) 22 Edw. III, by writs beginning "Rex Magnifico Principi et fideli suo Edwardo de Balliolo Regi Scotie consanguineo suo charissimo salutem." He d. s.p. (<sup>a</sup>) between May 1363 and Sep. 1365, (<sup>b</sup>) when any Peerage dignity that may be supposed (<sup>c</sup>) to have been cr. by these writs became extinct. (<sup>d</sup>)

BALLIOL, or BALIOL (of Cavers)

BARONY BY WRIT. I. SIR ALEXANDER BALLIOL (<sup>e</sup>) of Cavers, co. Roxburgh, s. of Sir Henry B., of the same, by Lora, (m. before 1233) one of the three daughters and coheirs of William DE VALOIGNES, (<sup>f</sup>) Chamberlain of Scotland, was a younger br. of Guy Balliol (standard bearer to de Montfort at the battle of Evesham (<sup>a</sup>) It is erroneously stated by Summonte, Hist. di Napoli, and those following him, that he m. Margherita, da. of Filippo, Prince of Taranto. She m., in 1348, Francesco del Balzo, Duke of Andria. See Genealogist, N.S., vol. xii, pp. 247-8, and the authorities there cited. (ex inform. G.W.Watson.) V.G.

(<sup>d</sup>) His 4 sisters were (i) Margaret, who d. unm. (ii) Ada, wife of William de Lindsay. (iii) Cicely, wife of John de Burgh. (iv) Mary, wife of John Comyn of Badenoch. Some genealogists add (but in error) a fifth sister, Anne, wife of Brian Fitz Alan of Bedale; see under "FITZ ALAN (of Bedale)." Christian, sole da. and h. of Ada (the 1st da. who left issue), m. Enguerrand de Guines, Sire de Coucy, whose great-grandson, Enguerrand, Sire de Coucy (Earl of Bedford), left 3 das. and coheirs: the 1st of whom, Marie, m. Henri de Bar. Their grand-daughter and h., Jeanne de Bar, m. Louis de Luxembourg, Count of St. Pol and Brienne, whose s. and h., Pierre, left 2 daughters and coheirs, the elder of whom, Marie, m. François de Bourbon, Count of Vendôme, great-grandfather of Henry IV of France. Thus the heir of line to David I is in the House of Bourbon. (ex inform. G.W.Watson.) V.G.

(<sup>e</sup>) An able paper by J.A.C.Vincent in "The Genealogist" N.S., vol. vi, p. 1, fully proves the parentage of this Alexander, and that the commonly received notion that he was a younger br. of John Balliol, King of Scotland, is erroneous. See also Surtees' Durham, vol. iv, p. 58, note "f," where (as also in Hodgson's Northumberland, part 2, vol. ii, p. 42) an elaborate pedigree of Balliol will be found.

(<sup>f</sup>) A pedigree shewing the extinction of the Barony of Valoignes is contributed by James Greenstreet to N. & Q., 6th Ser., vol. v, p. 142. See p. 290 of the same vol., for an amplification thereof by J.A.C.Vincent, as also pp. 61 and 389 of the same. See also J.H.Round's "Comyn and Valoignes" (The Ancestor, no. xi, p. 133).

and there slain, in 1265), was in possession of his paternal estate before 6 Apr. 1272, and was sometime (between 1287 and 1294) Chamberlain of Scotland. He fought in Flanders in 1297, at Falkirk in 1298, and at Carlaverock in 1300. Having m., about 1270, after 7 Nov. 1270, Isabel, widow of David (OF STRATHBOGIE), EARL OF ATHOLL [S.], sister and coh. of Richard CHILHAM, or DOVER, da. of Richard Fitz Roy (a natural s. of King John), by Roesse, da. and h. of Fulbert of DOVER, all of Chilham, Kent, he acquired that Lordship in her right, and was sum. to attend the King at Shrewsbury 28 June (1283) 11 Edw. I, <sup>(a)</sup> by writ addressed Alexandro de Balliolo de Chileham, and to Parl. by writs addressed Alexandro de Balliolo, from 26 Sep. (1300) 28 Edw. I, to 22 Feb. (1306/7) 35 Edw. I. <sup>(b)</sup> His wife d. 1292, (before 1 May) and was bur. in Canterbury Cathedral. <sup>(c)</sup> He was living 19 Apr. 1310, but d. before June 1311. <sup>(d)</sup> He was suc. in the lordship of Cavers by his s., Sir Thomas BALLIOL, who was living 7 Feb. 1312/3, but ‘soon disappears from record.’ <sup>(e)</sup>

BALLYANE

LIFE [I.]

I. 1554
to 1555.

I. CAHIR (i.e. CHARLES) MC ART CAVANAGH, “Chief of his Sept” (whose ancestors at the time of the English invasion of Ireland were Kings of Leinster), was by patent, 8 Feb. (1553/4), <sup>(f)</sup> 1 Mary, cr. BARON OF BALLYANE, co. Wexford [I.], “with seat and place in all Parliaments and Councils like all other Barons of Ireland” [but merely] for life. For the better support of this dignity he had a grant of the office of Captain over his kindred and others, &c., also

<sup>(d)</sup> His s. Alexander was a prisoner at Berkhamsted, 12 Oct. 1301. On 28 Mar. 1310 he was released from the Tower, his father having become surety for his loyalty [Close Rolls]. Alexander B. was living 1316 [Feudal Aids]. Alexander B. was living 1346 [Feudal Aids]. V.G.

the death of Maurice (his br.) abovenamed, and was assigned the twelve kernes which the said Maurice had enjoyed during the life of his said father. By this patent he was cr. BARON OF BALLYANE [I.], for

BALMERINOCHE

BARONY [S.] I. SIR JAMES ELPHINSTONE, of Barntoun, 3rd s. of Robert, 3rd LORD ELPHINSTONE [S.], by Margaret, da. of Sir John DRUMMOND, was b. 19 Aug. 1557. He was appointed a Lord of Session, under the designation of "Lord Innernoctie," 4 Mar. 1586/7; one of the eight Commissioners of the Treasury in 1595/6, known as "Octavians;" Secretary of State <sup>(a)</sup> in 1598, P.C. [E.] 4 May 1603, and on 1 Mar. 1605 President of the Court of Session. He acquired many grants of lands, of which those belonging to the Cistercian Abbey of Balmerinoc, co Fife, <sup>(b)</sup> were erected into a Barony in favour of him, his heirs male, and heirs of tailzie and provision, <sup>(a)</sup> "Secretary Elphinstone was as wise a man as was in England or Scotland." (Ant. Welldon, James I, p. 328.) V.G.

by charter 20 Feb. 1603/4, and on 11 July 1606 he obtained a charter including the honour of a Lord of Parl., whereby he was cr. LORD BALMERINOCHE [S.], and took his place in Parl. accordingly. He was however found guilty of the fabrication of a letter (in 1599) purporting to be from James VI to Pope Clement VIII, and was on 10 Mar. 1608/9 sentenced to death and attainted.<sup>(a)</sup> He m., 1stly, 21 Mar. 1588, Sarah, da. of Sir John MENTETH, of Carse. She was living 14 Dec. 1592. He m., 2ndly, before 23 Dec. 1597, Marjory, da. of Hugh MAXWELL, of Tealing.<sup>(b)</sup> She was living 12 Aug. 1601. He d., 21 June 1612, at Balmerinoch, "of a weakness in the stomach," while under attainder.<sup>(c)</sup>

II. 1613.

2. JOHN (ELPHINSTONE), LORD BALMERINOCHE [S.], s. and h. by 1st wife, was restored in blood, and to the peerage, by Royal letters 4 Aug. 1613. He was a leading Covenanter, taking a most active part against the King, being one of those who implored the assistance of Louis XIII of France against him. His trial and conviction (by a majority of one) 3 Dec. 1634 to 20 Mar. 1634/5, for joining in a petition to the Crown against grievances, greatly exasperated the feelings of the Scots towards the Monarchy. He was President of the Parl. [S.] 1641, Extraord. Lord of Session 1641-49, and was one of those who were against rescuing the King from his imprisonment in 1648. He sat in the Parl. 4 Jan. 1648/9, where those who were concerned in the "Engagement" were proscribed. He m., shortly after 30 Aug. 1613, Ann, sister of Robert, EARL OF SOMERSET, da. of Sir Thomas KER, of Fernihirst, co. Jedburgh, by his 2nd wife, Janet, da. of William SCOTT, of Buccleuch. He d. suddenly, 28 Feb. 1648/9, of apoplexy, at Edinburgh, and was bur. in the Logan cemetery at Restalrig.<sup>(d)</sup> His widow d. at Leith, 15 Feb. 1649/50, and was bur. with him.

III. 1649.

3. JOHN (ELPHINSTONE), LORD BALMERINOCHE [S.], s. and h., b. 18 Feb. 1623, at Edinburgh. By reason of the heavy debts of his father and of several law suits, he was forced to sell nearly all his estate. In 1662 he was fined by Parl. £6000 (Scots) for his compliance with Cromwell's Government. By the death of his uncle James (Elphinstone), Lord Coupar [S.], in 1669, he suc. (under the spec. rem. of that Peerage, 20 Dec. 1607) to the title of LORD COUPAR [S.] and to the estate of Coupar in Angus. He m., 30 Oct. 1649, in the chapel of Holyrood House, Edinburgh, Margaret, 2nd and yst. da. of John (CAMPBELL), 1ST EARL OF LOUDOUN [S.], by Margaret, suo jure BARONESS LOUDOUN [S.]. She d. Dec. 1665. He d. 10 June 1704, in his 82nd year. Both were bur. at Restalrig. Fun. entry for both at Lyon office.

IV. 1704. JOHN (ELPHINSTONE), LORD BALMERINOCHE and LORD COUPAR [S.], s. and h., b. 26 Dec. 1652, at Edinburgh, "a man of excellent parts, being perhaps one of the best lawyers in the Kingdom." P.C. [S.] 16 Aug. 1687. A steadfast opposer of the Union, but elected a REP. PEER [S.] (Tory) 1710 and 1713. Governor of the Mint, and Sheriff of co. Edinburgh, 1710. A Commissioner of the Office of Lord Chamberlain, 1711. On the accession of George I he was, however, removed (for no apparent reason except his politics) from all his places. He m., 1stly, 16 Feb. 1672, at Cramond, Christian, da. of Hugh (MONTGOMERIE), 7th EARL OF EGLINTOUN [S.], by his 2nd wife, Mary, da. of John (LESLIE), 6th EARL OF ROTHES. He m., 2ndly, 7 June 1687, at Edinburgh, Ann, da. of Arthur Ross, Archbishop of St. Andrew's. She d. at her lodging in the Mint, and was bur. 8 Nov. 1712, at Restalrig. Fun. entry in Lyon office. He d. at his house in Leith, 13, and was bur. 17 May 1736, at Restalrig, in his 84th year.

V. 1736. 5. JAMES (ELPHINSTONE), LORD BALMERINOCHE and LORD COUPAR [S.], 3rd and yst., but 1st surv., s. and h. by 1st wife, b. 24 Nov. 1675, at Edinburgh. Barrister, 1703. One of the Lords of Session, 5 June 1714, assuming the designation of "Lord Coupar." He m. (cont. 28 Apr. and 17 May 1718) Elizabeth, 2nd da. of David (CARNEGIE), 4th EARL OF NORTHESK, by Margaret, suo jure COUNTESS OF WEMYSS [S.]. He d. s.p. 5 Jan. 1746, at Leith, in his 71st year. His widow, who was b. and hap. 2 Jan. 1699, in Edinburgh, d. 21 Sep. 1767, aged 68, and was bur. at Restalrig.

VI. 1746. 6. ARTHUR (ELPHINSTONE), LORD BALMERINOCHE and LORD COUPAR [S.], br. (of the half blood) and h., being 1st s. of the 4th Lord, by his 2nd wife. He was b. 1688. In the time of Queen Anne he commanded a company of Foot, but joined in the Rising of 1715, escaping afterwards to France, where he continued nearly 20 years in the French service. In 1744 he was one of the first to join the party of the Young Chevalier in Scotland, and was made Col. of the 2nd troop of Horse Guards. He was at the taking of Carlisle, and in the march to Derby, but was taken prisoner at the battle of Culloden (16 Apr. 1746), having suc. to the Peerage some 3 months before. He was confined in the Tower of London, tried for high treason 29 July (together with the Earls of Kilmarnock and of Cromarty [S.], both of whom pleaded "guilty"), pleaded "not guilty," but was unanimously found guilty by the Peers, <sup>(a)</sup>

<sup>(a)</sup> He remained firm in his allegiance to the Stuarts, in contrast to his fellow sufferer, Lord Kilmarnock, who, in sight of death, acknowledged his "only rightful sovereign King George." See State Trials, vol. xviii, p. 441. Horace Walpole writes of his trial:—"He is the most natural brave old fellow I ever saw; of the highest intrepidity, even to indifference. At the bar he behaved like a soldier and a man: in the intervals of form, with carelessness and humour. He pressed extremely to have his wife, the pretty Peggy, with him in the Tower." Another zealous Hanoverian contemporary is constrained to even warmer praise:—"Thus fell Lord Balmerino, a man of the most incredible courage, the most commendable sincerity, and the most engaging simplicity, who was an honour to the worst cause, and would have been an ornament to the best." His dying speech on the scaffold ran:—"I am afraid there are some here who may think my behaviour bold: it arises from a just confidence in God, and from a clear conscience." It seems pitiful to have shed the blood of this truly noble loyalist, especially after the absolute failure of the Rising; but neither generosity nor mercy were to be looked for from the "unco wee bit Garman thing" then on the throne. ## BALTIMORE (a)

BARONY [I.] I. GEORGE CALVERT, of Danbywiske, co. York, s. and h. of Leonard C., by Alice, da. of John CROSSLAND, of Crossland in that co., b. at Kipling, in the chapelry of Bolton, co. York, in 1578 or 1579; matric. at Oxford (Trin. Coll.) as a Gent. Commoner, 12 July 1594, then aged 14. B.A. Feb. 1597; Under Secretary of State; Clerk of the Privy Council, 1605; was on a special diplomatic mission to France 1611, and to the Elector Palatine, 1615; Knighted 29 Sep. 1617; Secretary of State, Feb. 1618/9-25; P.C. 16 Feb. 1618/9; a Lord of the Treasury Jan. to Dec. 1620. He received a life pension of £1000 a year, and obtained a grant of the province of Avalon, in Newfoundland, with most extensive privileges, which province, after expending £25,000 thereon, he had to abandon owing to the severity of the winter climate; was M.P. for Bossiney 1609-11; co. York 1620-22; and for Oxford Univ. 1624-25. He resigned his preferments Feb. 1624/5, having become a Roman Catholic, but inasmuch as he had received large grants of land in Ireland, was, on 16 Feb. 1624/5, cr. BARON BALTIMORE of Baltimore (b) [I.]. He obtained from Charles I a grant of Maryland (c) (on broader terms than he had held that of Avalon), (d) which grant was made out to his s. and h., under the great seal, 20 June 1632, a few weeks after his death. He m., 1stly, 22 Nov. 1604, at St. Peter's, Cornhill, Anne, da. of George MYNNE, of Hertingfordbury, Herts., by Elizabeth, da. of Sir Thomas WROTH. She d. 8 Aug. 1622, and was bur. at Hertingfordbury. M.I. He m., 2ndly, in or before 1627, Joan, who went with him to Avalon, but d. before him. He d. 15 Apr. 1632, and was bur. at St. Dunstan's-in-the-West, London. Will dat. 14, pr. 21 Apr. 1632. Inq. p.m. 13 Sep. 1633, at York.

II. 1632. 2. CECIL (e) (CALVERT), BARON BALTIMORE [I.], s. and h., bap. 2 Mar. 1605/6, at Bexley, Kent. He was heavily mulcted by the Parliamentary party, though he is not known to have actually fought for the King. He m. (settlement 20 Mar. 1627/8) Anne, da. of Thomas (ARUNDELL), 1st LORD ARUNDELL OF WARDOUR, by his 2nd wife, Anne, 3rd da. of Miles PHILIPSON, of Crook, Westmorland. She d. in

III. 1675. 3. CHARLES (CALVERT), BARON BALTIMORE [I.], 2nd, but 1st surv. <sup>(b)</sup> s. and h., b. 27 Aug. 1637. He was Governor of Maryland for his father, 1661-75, and for himself 1676, and again 1679-84; he was deprived of the Province at the Revolution of 1689. He was not present in James II's Parl. in that year. <sup>(c)</sup> He was outlawed by the Wexford Grand Jury in 1691, but this was reversed by the King 25 Jan. 1691/2. He was named as in the fabricated plot of Titus Oates, and in the Lancashire plot of 1694, but was not arrested. Brig. Gen. 1696, Major Gen. 1704. He inherited the estate of Woodcote Park in Epsom, and Horton, under the will (pr. 3 Aug. 1692) of Elizabeth Evelyn, widow, a relative of his grandmother, Anne Mynne. He m., 1stly, about 1660, (—) sister of Sir John DARNALL, da. of Ralph D., of Loughton (or Loughton's Hope), co. Hereford. She d. in childbed, in Maryland. VISCOUNTCY [I.] I. SIR THOMAS EUSTACE, of Harristown, s. of Richard E., by Anne, da. of Robert EUSTACE, of Ballyloughrane, nephew and h. male of Rowland (EUSTACE OF FITZ EUSTACE), LORD PORTLESTER [I.], b. about 1480, suc. his said uncle in the family estates 14 Dec. 1496, was cr. BARON KILCUL-

<sup>(a)</sup> King George II said of him—"There is my Lord Baltimore, who thinks he understands everything, and understands nothing: who wants to be well with both Courts and is well with neither, and who, entre nous, is a little mad." (Lord Hervey, Memoirs, vol. ii.) Mrs. Delaney, with whose affections he had trifled, and with whom he had been on the point of marriage, who is therefore a tainted witness as to his wife, writes of him as "very handsome, genteel and unaffected," and of her, at a ball, as looking "like a frightened owl, her locks strutted out, and most furiously greased or rather gummed and powdered." There are many more references to him in her memoirs. V.G.

LEN, co. Kildare [I.], in Sep. 1535,<sup>(a)</sup> and subsequently, 29 June 1541, was cr. VISCOUNT BALTINGLASS, co. Wicklow [I.]. He is said to have possessed one half of the co. of Wicklow. He m. Margaret, da. of Peter TALBOT, of Malahide, co. Dublin, by Catharine, illegit. da. of Gerald (FITZ GERALD), EARL OF KILDARE [I.]. He d. 31 July 1549.

II. 1549.                   2. ROWLAND (EUSTACE), VISCOUNT BALTINGLASS, ſc. [I.], s. and h. Aged 35 in 1540. On 26 Oct. 1549 he had livery of the family estates. On 11 June 1567, he was ordered to be sent a prisoner to London. He m. Joan, da. of James (BUTLER), LORD DUNBOYNE [I.], by Joan, da. of Piers (BUTLER), 8th EARL OF ORMONDE [I.]. He d. 31 Mar. 1578. His widow was living Sep. 1585.

III. 1578                   3. JAMES (EUSTACE), VISCOUNT BALTINGLASS and BARON to                   KILCULLEN [I.], s. and h. In 1576 he joined with other 1581.               " Lords of the Pale " in a complaint as to taxes being levied without sanction of Parl., and subsequently joined the Earl of Desmond in a conspiracy to place the Queen of Scots on the English and Irish throne, which failing, he fled from his country in 1581. For this he was outlawed, and his title forfeited, he being described as " James Eustace late Viscount Baltinglass " in the Act of Parl. for the attainder of the family honours, and forfeiture of the entailed estates, passed May 1585, some six months before his death. All his brothers took part in the same rebellion and were likewise attainted. He m. Mary, da. and coh. of Henry TRAVERS, of Monkstown Castle, co. Dublin, by Genet, da. of Jenico (PRESTON), VISCOUNT GORMANSTON [I.]. He d. s.p., 25 Nov. 1585, in Spain. His widow m. (as his 1st wife) Gerald AYLMER (who was cr. a Bart. <sup>(c)</sup> A letter, dat. Jan. 1594/5, printed in State Papers, [I.], states that " my lord of Baltinglass is now in Madrid ; " and a pilot of a fleet, which left Lisbon in Oct.

After his death nothing very definite is known as to any assumption of the title. He had 4 yr. brothers of whom one or possibly two surv. him. They all took part in the rebellion of 1581, and were attainted, and all apparently d. unm. They were (1) Thomas, 3rd s. of the 2nd Viscount, executed 1582. (2) William, <sup>(a)</sup> 4th s., slain in rebellion, 21 Apr. 1581. <sup>(b)</sup> (3) Walter, taken prisoner 1583, and, as some say, then executed, <sup>(c)</sup> although in a list of those slain by the Earl of Kildare's troops 1 Mar. 1599/1600, appears the name of "Walter Eustace, pretended to be Viscount Baltinglass." <sup>(d)</sup> (4) Richard, 6th and yst. s., was living in Paris 1580, and was a Priest in Rome in Jan. 1595/6.

I. THOMAS ROPER, <sup>(e)</sup> Knighted at Christchurch, Dublin, 16 Sep. 1603, a member of the Privy Council [I.], and a distinguished commander in that Kingdom during the reigns of Elizabeth and James I, obtained, 10 Nov. 1626, a grant of the monastery and Lordship of Baltinglass, and was, on 27 June 1627, cr. BARON OF 1596, reports—"In an Irish ship called The Sunday, cast away, were lost 14 Irish of name, capital rebels. Among the Irish lost is Edmund Eustace, called the Lord Baltinglass." The above two entries show either that the report of Edmund's death in 1594, as in the text, was incorrect, or that they refer to another Edmund, possibly his s., who assumed the title after his death. V.G.

<sup>(a)</sup> The petition, in 1839, of the Rev. Charles Eustace (d. 5 Jan. 1856, at a great age) claiming to be the h. male of the body of this William, who, he alleged, was living in London and styling himself "Viscount Baltinglass" in 1610, (a statement which, though possibly true of some William Eustace, was not true of this William, who, moreover, was not as alleged in the petition, next surv. br. of the 3rd Viscount) seeking for the acknowledgement of his right to the title, was favourably reported upon by the law officers of Ireland and England, subject to the reversal of the attainer. See an account of these proceedings as also of the then state of the family in Burke's Extinct Peerage, 1883, p. 191.

<sup>(c)</sup> G.D. Burtchaell writes to G.E.C. in May 1907,—“There can be no doubt, I think, that Walter, 4th s. of the 2nd Viscount was executed in 1583. He was apprehended in that year, and the Government would never have let him escape. Had he done so, there would surely have been some reference to it. Walter Eustace, slain 1599/1600, is evidently the Viscount referred to by the Lord Deputy, 19 Aug. 1596, as “set up” by the O’Neills, and does not appear to have been a son of any of the attainted brethren. He was probably a grandson of the 1st Viscount, who had, besides his successor, Richard E., of Little Bouley, Alexander E., of Colbins-town, and Robert E., of Tulloghgowrey.” V.G.

(<sup>a</sup>) Lands of the value of £700 a year, on either side, were at her marriage settled upon the issue thereof, by indenture, 22 June (1614), 12 James I. This was the subject of a long lawsuit, and of a Bill being preferred in Parl., being "The Case and Narrative of the Sufferings of the Lord and Lady Baltinglasse, &c.," wherein it is stated that Sir Peter Temple, on his death bed in 1653, advised his eldest son (by another marriage) thus: "Dick, your sister is poor and sickly, if you do but enter upon her estate, the profits will maintain the suit; you may soon weary her out, or if she dyes before the end of it, you are next heir." Lord B. also states that he is "in great extremity of want," having lost £10,000 by the Irish Rebellion "and 16 years suit in Chancery," and that too "after at least £25,000 received out of the Lady Baltinglasse her estate, betwixt Sir Peter Temple and his son Sir Richard."

(<sup>b</sup>) She, "a heap of flesh and brandy," is said, in the memoirs of Thomas, Earl of Ailesbury, to have m., 2ndly, when in prison, the infamous Titus Oates. He, however, had lic. from the Vic. Gen., 10 Aug. 1693, as a bachelor, to m. Rebecca Weld. V.G.

(<sup>c</sup>) The King, 1 Oct. 1672, granted his estate to the Earl of Arlington, but this grant proved, apparently, to be "a mere compliment, for neither he nor his brother, that was lord before him, had £100 a year clear these 20 years past." (Robt. Leigh to the Earl of Arlington, State Papers [I.]). V.G.

BANBURY

EARLDOM. I. WILLIAM KNOLLYS, of Rotherfield Greys, Éc., Oxon, and of Cholcey, Caversham, Éc., Berks, 2nd s. but h. I. 1626. male of Sir Francis Knollys, <sup>(a)</sup> K.G., by Mary, sister of Henry, LORD HUNSDON, da. of William CARY (by Mary, sister of Anne BOLEYN, Queen of Henry VIII), was b. about 1547. Ed. at Magd. Coll., Oxford; M.A. 27 Sep. 1592. M.P. for Tregony 1572-83, for Oxon, 1584-86, 1592-93, 1597-98, and 1601; knighted 7 Oct. 1586, in Holland, by Robert, Earl of Leicester. P.C. 30 Aug. 1596; Lord Lieut. of Berks from that year till his death; Comptroller of the Household 1596-1600; suc. his father in the family estates abovenamed, 19 July 1596. He was delegate to the States of Holland, 1599; Treasurer of the Household 1600-16; and was cr., by James I, 13 May 1603, BARON KNOLLYS OF GREYS, co. Oxford; Master of the Wards, 1614-18; elected K.G. 24 Apr. and inst. 22 May 1615. On 7 Nov. 1616 he was cr. VISCOUNT WALLINGFORD, Berks; High Steward of Oxford 1620; and finally, on 18 Aug. 1626, he was cr. EARL OF BANBURY, co. Oxford, with a clause "that he shall have precedency as if he had been created the first Earle after his Majestys accesse to the Crowne." <sup>(b)</sup> This precedency was disputed in Parl., but the King, sending "a gracious message" to the House of Lords, in which he "desires this may pass for once in this particular, considering how old a man this Lord is, and childless, <sup>(c)</sup> Éc.," the Lords resolved, on 9 Apr. 1628, that though "the Act of Parl., 31 Hen. VIII, is most strong and plain for the settling of the Precedency of the Peers, according to their ancients and times of creation," yet that they are contented that "the said Earl [of Banbury] may hold the same place, as he now stands entered, for his life only and that place of precedency not to go to his heirs;" accordingly on the 15th, he took his seat and was "placed next to the Earl of Berks." <sup>(d)</sup> The Earl seems to have been latterly in embarrassed circumstances, and to have alienated much of the <sup>(c)</sup> He was childless at the date of the patent of precedency (18 Aug. 1626), though the Countess had given birth to a son some 10 or 11 months before the date of this Royal message: a fact probably unknown to the Court. It is probable that the King, to support his Royal prerogative, made a point of Lord Banbury's precedence, which, at his age of 82, and as being only over six Earls, could not have been of much importance to his Lordship.

family property.<sup>(a)</sup> He m., 1stly, Dorothy, widow of BARON CHANDOS (who d. 11 Sep. 1573), and da. of Edmund (BRAYE), 1ST LORD BRAYE, by Jane, da. and h. of Sir Richard HALLIWELL. She d. 31 Oct. 1605, at Minty, and was bur. at Rotherfield Greys. The Earl m., 2ndly, (settlement dated 23 Dec., in the same year, 1605), being then aged about 58, Elizabeth, a girl of 19, da. of Thomas (HOWARD), EARL OF SUFFOLK, by his 2nd wife, Katharine, 1st. da. and coh. of Sir Henry KNYVETT, of Charlton, Suffolk. Besides a da. who died young, sometime before 1610<sup>(b)</sup> (and possibly other issue), the Countess was mother of two sons (b. 1627 and 1630/1) whose paternity has been frequently called in question. The Earl d. 25 May 1632, at the house of Dr. Grant, his physician, in Paternoster Row,<sup>(c)</sup> London, aged about 85, and was bur. at Rotherfield Greys. Will (no mention being therein made of any children) leaving all, but a few legacies, to his wife, dat. 19 May 1630, and pr. by her 2 July 1632. Fun. certif. at Coll. of Arms, stating that he d. s.p.<sup>(d)</sup> Inq. p. m. taken at Burford, Oxon, 11 Apr. 1633 (about 11 months after his death), finding that he d. at Caversham<sup>(e)</sup> and without issue, his next heirs being the (female) issue of Henry Knollys, his 1st br. By a subsequent Inq. at Abingdon, 1 Apr. 1641 (by direction of the Court of Wards, on behalf of the infant Earl), it was found that the late Earl d. in London, leaving "Edward, now Earl of Banbury, his s. and next h.," who was then aged 5 years, 1 month and 15 days. His widow, who was hap. 11 Aug. 1586, at Saffron Walden, m., (within 5 weeks of her husband's death) before 2 July 1632, Edward (VAUX), 4th LORD VAUX OF HARROWDEN, who d. s.p. (or, at all events, s.p. legit.), 8 Apr. 1661, aged 74, and was bur. at Dorking, Surrey. The Countess, "a professed Papist" (who appears to have been an object of constant suspicion to the Parl.), d. 17 Apr. 1658, in her 72nd year, and was also bur. there. M.I.<sup>(f)</sup>

(a) On 1 Mar. 1630/1, he sold the manor of Rotherfield Greys to Sir Robert Knollys, who (with his eldest s. William K.) sold it again, in May 1642, to Sir John Evelyn and Arthur Evelyn.

(b) The fact of issue born previous to 1627 is here mentioned, as it confutes the argument based on the absence of any such between 1606 and 1627. See Milles' Catalogue of Honour (1610), p. 546, as to this da.; and see Brooke's Catalogue of Nobility (1619), where it is stated that the Earl "had issue," which issue, according to Vincent, who corrected Brooke (with a vengeance) in 1622, "died young."

(c) Deposition of his servant Robert Lloyd, present at his death. This agrees with the finding in the second Inq. p. m., wherein it is stated that the Earl d. in London, leaving Edward his s. and h.

(d) It is stated in Dugdale (vol. ii, p. 413), that this certificate was signed by his widow. Such, however, is not the fact.

(e) The place of his death was undoubtedly wrong, and both it and the statement as to want of issue are contradicted by the finding in the subsequent inquisition. Neither did his nieces, who were found heirs herein, inherit any of the Earl's lands which were heritable, whereas the s. and h. named in the subsequent inquisition did so inherit.

(f) Her age on the M.I. is erroneously given as in her 75th year.

II. 1632.                    2. EDWARD (KNOLLYS), EARL OF BANBURY, &c., s. and h., b. 10 Apr. 1627, at Rotherfield Greys, where the Earl (his father) was then residing. Under the description of "Earl of Banbury" he was party to a chancery suit, 9 Feb. 1640/1, as "an infant, by William, Earl of Salisbury, his prochein amy and guardian." (<sup>a</sup>) He d. unm., and under age, in or before June 1645, being slain in a quarrel on the road between Calais and Gravelines, and was bur. in the church of the Friars Minims, at Calais.

III. 1646.                    3. NICHOLAS (KNOLLYS, "heretofore VAUX"), EARL OF BANBURY, &c., only br. and h., b. 3 Jan. 1630/1, at (Lord Vaux's House) Harrowden, Northants. As heir to his br. he inherited a small property (called the Bowling Place) at Henley-upon-Thames (being part of the heritable lands of his late father which had passed under the Inq. p. m. of 1641), and immediately assumed the peerage, as appears by a deed dat. 19 Oct. 1646, whereby his step father, Lord Vaux, settles the manors of Harrowden, &c., Northants, on his (Lord Vaux's) wife, the Dowager Countess of Banbury, for her life, with rem. to Nicholas, her son, the said Earl. He sat repeatedly (<sup>a</sup>) Depositions as to his birth were then made. The best account of the claim to the Earldom of Banbury is A treatise on the Law of Adulterine Bastardy, with a report of the Banbury case, &c., by Sir N. Harris Nicolas, 1836, p. 588, from which work most of the facts mentioned in the text are taken. The learned writer is not merely content with ably demonstrating the legitimacy in law of the 2nd and 3rd Earls, but brings forth many arguments to prove that they were in fact children of the 1st Earl. There certainly seems no proof to the contrary. The fact of the childless Lord Vaux settling his estates on his young step son, who consequently took his name, though suspicious, is not without precedent; at p. 369 of Nicolas' treatise a similar instance (Agsborough, alias Townshend) is mentioned. It seems also certain, that the Earl must have been aware of the birth of the elder of the two sons, as according to the evidence of "Francis Delavall, Esq.," (1641) he "did come into the chamber where the Countess was, a little before her delivery, and desired to have persons sent for to give her ease, and shortly after the birth desired witness' wife to take care of his boy." The birth of the second boy, being at Lord Vaux's house, is in more suspicious circumstances, but, even then, there is the testimony of Anne Delavall (1661), that the lying in was publicly known in the house, "that he [Lord Banbury] knew shee lay in" and that "he [Nicholas] was owned by the E. of Banbury as his son." The general impression however doubtless was (as is noticed by Peter Le Neve, Norroy, in an elaborate ped. of Knollys, about 1693, now in the Hari. MSS. 5808) that the two sons were begotten by Lord Vaux. Their maternity is quite clear, and the singular and probably unique hypothesis of Beltz (Lancaster Herald, 1822-41) that they were the sons of Lord Vaux, but by another woman [or women] than the Countess, appears to be opposed to all evidence and probability. Anyhow, whatever may have been their actual, their legal paternity (not having been upset by Act of Parl.) appears indisputable and has been acknowledged by the law of the land, though unacknowledged by the House of Lords. See also post, p. 404, note "a."

in the House of Lords from June to Nov. 1660, in the "Convention Parl." and was twice appointed a member of a Committee, though on 13 July of that year it was moved "that there being a person who, as is conceived, hath no title to be a Peer, viz. the Earl of Banbury, it is ordered that this business shall be heard at the bar" on the 23rd. No proceedings, however, appear to have taken place. On 21 Nov. 1660 he obtained leave of absence, a permission frequently granted to other Lords, and one which was certainly a tacit admission of his right to be present. On 29 Dec. following, the Convention Parl. was prorogued. Although the Earl had thus sat in Parl. and exercised all the functions of a Peer for six months, yet, when the next Parl. was sum. in May 1661, no writ was issued to him. On this he presented a petition to the King, which was referred to the Committee for Privileges, who reported thereon on 1 July 1661, "that Nicholas, Earl of Banbury, is a legitimate person." The Lords, however, not adopting this report, it was referred to the Committee, as also was the matter of "the Right of Precedence, between the said Earl of Banbury and several Peers of this Realm." On this the Report, 19 July 1661, was, that the Earl was "in the eye of the lawe, sonne of the late William Earle of Banbury," and that "the house of Peeres should therefore advise the King to send him a writ to come to Parl.;" but that, as to the question of his precedency, they were of opinion that he "ought to have place in the House of Peeres according to the date of his patent." The House resolved to take this report into consideration, but never, apparently, did so, and on 9 Dec. following a bill was read for the first time entitled "An act for declaring Nicholas, called Earl of Banbury, to be illegitimate," inasmuch as "the illegitimation of children born in wedlock can noerway be declared but by Act. of Parl." This attempt to obtain an ex post facto law to divest a man of rights (publicly acknowledged and long enjoyed) was abandoned after the first reading of the Bill, and the Earl was left in possession of his former status, viz. legal legitimacy, for, as was said in the "Purbeck" case in 1678, "By bringing in a bill to bar him, his right to the title is confessed, for he cannot be barred of anything which he hath not right to." On 26 Oct. 1669 it was again referred to the Committee for Privileges to examine why the Earl's name was omitted from "the list by which the Lords were called," "he having formerly sat as a Peer in this House." The report thereon, 25 Nov. 1669, recited all the proceedings against the Earl, as also the statement of Garter King of Arms, that in the two Parliaments of 1640 no mention<sup>(a)</sup> is made of an Earl of Banbury, and left "the business to the consideration of the House." On the 23 Feb. 1670, the Earl presented a petition (not to the King but) to the House of Lords, stating "that he had the honour to be a Peer of this Realm," and praying his writ accordingly. No proceedings thereon took place, and within four years thereof the Earl died. IV. 1674.

(<sup>a</sup>) This is accounted for by his having been then a minor, "it not being usual to insert the names of Peers who were under age in such lists. The Earls of Oxford and Winchelsea, Lords Delawarr, Chandos, Petre and Teynham were also minors and their names are likewise omitted."—See Nicolas' Treatise, &c., p. 395.

4. CHARLES (KNOLLYS), EARL OF BANBURY, &c., s. and h. by 2nd wife, hap. 3 June 1662, at Boughton afsd., as "Viscount Wallingford, s. and h. ap. of the Rt. Hon. Nicholas, Earl of Banbury." About a year after attaining his majority, he, on 10 June 1685, petitioned the House for his writ of summons, which was reported on by the Lords' Committee, and a day fixed for hearing counsel thereon, but no further proceedings were taken. The Earl, however, having killed in a duel his br.-in-law, Capt. Philip Lawson, was indicted 7 Dec. 1692 as "Charles Knollys, Esq.," on which, on the 13th, he presented his petition to the House, praying, as a Peer, to be tried by his Peers. This being a legal question, it was moved that the Judges be heard as "to the points of law in this case," which equitable motion, however, was rejected by a majority of 38 Peers to 29; after which it was carried, 17 Jan. 1692/3, that the Petitioner had no right to the Earldom of Banbury, and his petition was dismissed accordingly. Against this resolution no less than 20 Peers "protested," the majority being (probably) only eight.<sup>(a)</sup> The indictment had been removed, from Midx., by certiorari, in Hilary term 1692/3, to the King's Bench, where the prisoner pleaded a misnomer, which plea (after about a year's delay, caused by the Attorney Gen. insisting that the resolution of the House was a proof of the non-existence of the Peerage, and by "demurrers" and "counter demurrers" on either side) was confirmed in Trin. term 1694 by the unanimous judgment of Lord Chief Justice Holt and the three other Judges of the King's Bench, who adjudged "the replication [of the Attorney Gen. against the peerage] bad, and the Resolution of the Lords invalid."<sup>(b)</sup> Four years afterwards the Earl again petitioned for his writ, which on 18 Jan. 1698 was again referred to the Lords, who referred the King to their former resolution, taking the opportunity, however (somewhat to the detriment of the dignity of their house), to endeavour to browbeat the Judges for their official judgment. On 19 Mar. 1712 the Earl again petitioned the Crown, who referred it to the Privy Council, but the death of the Queen stopped further proceedings; again, on the accession of George II, he presented a like petition to that King, but Sir Philip Yorke, the Attorney Gen. (to whom it had been referred), pointed out in his report thereon, Jan. 1727/8, the inadvisability in this case, of referring the matter to the House of Lords (as was the usual course) considering the disagreement as to the law governing this claim between that House and the King's Bench. Accordingly no such reference was made and nothing more was done in the matter till the lapse of some 80 years. In 1806, by the style of "William, Earl of Banbury," he petitioned the Crown for his writ, which was referred to the Attorney Gen. (Sir Vicary Gibbs), whose report thereon, 17 Jan. 1808, was that, in his opinion, the resolution of the House of Lords in 1692/3 was "not a conclusive judgment" against the Peerage; that no steps had been taken to upset the judgment of the King's Bench, which if erroneous "might have been removed by a writ of error to the House of Lords and there reversed," but that, though the birth during marriage is proved, "the legitimacy of Nicholas is left in a considerable degree of doubt." The petition was referred to the House. After five years' discussion, the Committee for Privileges, on a division, of 21 to 13, reported "that the Petitioner hath not made out his claim to the title, honour, and dignity of Earl of Banbury." Whereupon, on 15 Mar. 1813, the House resolved <sup>(a)</sup> (a much more comprehensive resolution) "that the Petitioner is not entitled to the title, &c., of Earl of Banbury." A "forcible and eloquent" protest <sup>(b)</sup> drawn up by Lord Erskine, and signed by himself and ten other Peers, was entered on the Lords' Journal. After this decision the Petitioner discontinued the usage of the title. He m., 23 June 1795, (Lic. 22 June, at Winchester, he 21, she 18, both of St. Thomas's, in that city) Charlotte Martha, da. of Ebenezer BLACKWELL, of Lombard Str., London, Banker, by Mary, his wife. <sup>(a)</sup> "How far this Resolution is a conclusive judgment, and whether it does or does not bar the heir of the Petitioner from prosecuting his claim are grave constitutional questions." See Nicolas' Treatise, &c., p. 530. See also ante, p. 404, note "a."

<sup>(b)</sup> "Upon this protest Lord Erskine observed, in a letter to Gen. Knollys, the late [1836] Claimant, dated 21 July 1813—The protest gives them every fact and all their arguments, but, giving them both, leaves them without a single voice in Westm. Hall, from one end to the other." See Nicolas' Treatise, &c., p. 530, note 2. The "Protest" itself is printed pp. 531 to 551 of that work. It was signed by three Royal Dukes, Kent, Sussex, and Gloucester.

<sup>(c)</sup> Letter signed "William Wallingford Knollys, Lieut. Col. H. P., claiming to be Earl of Banbury, &c.," in The Times newspaper, 25 Aug. 1883. In this the writer makes "a public protest against the decision [of 1692/3] by no means final" and recites a passage in a letter of his father to the Morning Post, dat. 7 Mar. 1863, as follows—"But the law of the land cannot be changed, or constituted, by such a vote of one branch of the Legislature, and the voice of Westm. Hall, from Lord Coke and Chief Justice Holt, to the present day, has repudiated, with some rare exceptions, being governed by the law as thus laid down."

unm., 4 June 1803, at Forglen, when the issue male of the 1st Lord became extinct, and the Peerage (if not extinct) became dormant. (<sup>b</sup>)

The Peerage was claimed by petition in June 1812, and again in June 1819, (<sup>c</sup>) by Sir William Ogilvy of Boyne (d. at Edinburgh, 8 June 1825) as the descendant and h. male of George O. of Boyne, elder br. of Sir Walter O. of Dunlugus, the great grandfather of the first Lord Banff [S.]. See Lords' Journals, vol. 48, p. 920; vol. 52, p. 790. In Burke's Extinct Peerage for 1866 it was stated to be then "claimed" by Alexander Ogilvie, M.D., Dep. Inspector Gen. Royal Artillery, as "male descendant and representative of George Ogilvy, 2nd Baron Boyne, and as heir male of George, 1st Baron Ogilvy of Banff." This claimant, who was b. 9 May 1789, left an only child, Alexander Walter Armstrong Ogilvie, Capt. R.A. (b. 20 Jan. 1834, m. 5 June 1860, d. 21 June 1865), who left an only child Alexander Ogilvie.

OF WIRMEGAY OR WORMEGAY (a)

WILLIAM BARDOLF, s. of William B., (b) (who d. 1275) of Wormegay, Norfolk, and Shelford, Notts, &c., was sum. to attend the King at Shrewsbury 28 June (1283) 11 Edw. I, (c) by writ directed Willelmo Bardolf'. He m. Julian, da. and h. of Hugh DE GOURNAY, of Mapledurham, Oxon. He d. 1 Dec. 1289. His widow d. in 1295.

BARONY
BY WRIT.

I. HUGH BARDOLF, (d) of Wormegay, and Shelford, afsd., s. and h., b. about 29 Sep. 1259. He had seizin of his mother's lands 29 Nov. 1295. He took an active part in the French and Scottish wars, and was among the retainers of Henry (de Lacy), Earl of Lincoln, at Carlaverock. He was knighted. In addition to the irregular sum. of 8 June 1294, which would not serve to cr. a Barony, (e) he was sum. to Parl. from 6 Feb. (1298/9) 27 Edw. I, to 2 June (1302) 30 Edw. I, by writs directed Hugoni Bardolf', whereby he may be held to have become LORD BARDOLF. (f) He m., before 1282, Isabel, da. and (15 Feb. 1285/6) sole h. of Sir Robert AGUILLON, of Addington, (g) Surrey, Watton at Stone, Herts., &c., by his 1st wife, Joan, one of the seven daughters (and coheirs of the 1st wife) of William (DE FERRERS), EARL OF DERBY. He d. Sep. 1304. His widow, who was

(a) See Stapleton's preface to Liber de Antiquis Legibus, Camden Soc., 1846.

(b) This William was s. and h. of Doun B., by Beatrice, da. and h. of William de Warenne, of Wormegay afsd., which Doun or Dodo B. was s. and h. of Thomas B., by Rose, da. of Ralph Hauselyn. V.G.

(c) As to this supposed Parl. see Preface.

(d) The Bardolfs of Wormegay bore arms of Azure three cinquefoils gold. The stall-plate of Sir William Phelipp, knight of the Garter, shows his shield of Quarterly gules and silver with an eagle gold in the quarter. (ex inform. Oswald Barron.) V.G.

(e) There is proof in the Rolls of Parl. of his sitting, before the record of Writs of Summons began: if the Lords had to adjudicate on the question and were to follow the precedent set in 1841 as to the Barony of Hastings, the date of such sitting and not that of the first writ, 1298/9, would determine the precedency of this Barony. As to the summons of 1294, see Preface. V.G.

(f) As to how far these early writs of summons did in fact create any peerage title, see Appendix A in the last volume. V.G.

(g) He held a manor, afterwards called Bardolf's manor, in the parish of Addington, by Grand Serjeantry, by the service of making a mess called "gerout" for the King's table. The manor had been held at the time of Domesday by Tezelin, the King's Cook, which accounts for the origin of a culinary service. This service was performed for George III by Mr. Spencer, Lord of the manor of Addington (both manors being then united), but in 1807 the property was sold to the See of Canterbury. See Taylor's Glory of Regality, 1820, p. 147, and Stapleton's Liber de Antiquis Legibus, p. lxxxviii, note *.

b. 25 Mar. 1257/8, had livery of Ruskington, co. Lincoln, 15 Oct. 1304, and was of Addington afsd, in 1316. She d. shortly before 28 May 1323.

II. 1304. 2. THOMAS (BARDOLF), LORD BARDOLF, s. and h., b. 4 Oct. 1282, at Watton at Stone, Herts. Knighted 22 May 1306. He was sum. to Parl. from 26 Aug. (1307) 1 Edw. II, to 23 Oct. (1330) 4 Edw. III. He m. Agnes, perhaps da. of William DE GRANDSON, SEIGNEUR DE GRANDSON, on the Lake of Neuchâtel in Switzerland, by Blanche, da. of LOUIS DE SAVOIE, BARON DE VAUD. <sup>(a)</sup> He d. 15 Dec. 1328, and was bur. at Shelford Priory, Notts, aged 46. Writ for Inq. p. m. 30 Dec. 1328. His widow, who had a protection, Aug. 1337, as being "by birth of the parts of Almain," d. 11 Dec. 1357, at Ruskington, co. Lincoln. <sup>(b)</sup>

III. 1328. 3. JOHN (BARDOLF), LORD BARDOLF, s. and h., b. 13 Jan. 1311/2. He had seizin of his lands 26 Mar. 1335. He served in Scotland, Germany, and Brittany, and in (1345) 19 Edw. III, was a Knight Banneret. He was sum. to Parl. 22 Jan. (1335/6) 9 Edw. III, to 1 June (1363), 37 Edw. III, the last two writs being directed Johanni Bardolf' de Wirmegey. <sup>(c)</sup> He m., 1326, Elizabeth, only da. and h. of Roger <sup>(a)</sup> Stapleton, in his so-called "Preface" to the Liber de Antiquis Legibus, after remarking that the continuator of Blomfield's Norfolk states that the wife of Thomas Lord Bardolf was Agnes, da. of the Lord Grandisson, proceeds to prove that "Agnes, da. of William de Grandisson a Baron of Parl.," m. someone else [as indeed she did]. In an appendix he adds "hence [no sufficient reason is advanced] it may be assumed, as an unquestionable fact, that Agnes, wife of Thomas Lord Bardolf, was the seventh da. of Thomas Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick ... According to the pedigree of this family, compiled by John Rous, this earl had a da., Agnes, who is described to have been the wife of—Cokesey, and afterwards of—Bardolf... Hence we may infer that Agnes was the wife, first of Thomas Lord Bardolf, whose eldest son John was b. 13 Jan. 1312; and that after his decease on the 15th day of Feb. [sic] 2 Edw. III 1328 she re-married Sir Walter de Cokesey, of Cokesey, com. Worc." (p. ccxxxv). As Thomas Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, was not m. till 1337, his seventh da. was not likely to have a son b. in 1312, and the above "unquestionable fact" is a gross mistake. Agnes was perhaps, as above stated, da. of William, Seigneur de Grandson, which would explain her having been b. in the parts of Almain, as mentioned in the text. (ex inform. G.W.Watson). V.G.

and in all probability the Peerage itself, became extinct. <sup>(b)</sup>

BARHAM

BARONY.                    I. CHARLES MIDDLETON, 2nd s. of Robert M., <sup>(c)</sup> Col-
I. 1805.                    lector of the Customs at Bo'ness, co. Linlithgow, by Helen, da. of Charles DUNDAS, of Arniston, co. Midlothian, b. at Leith 14 Oct. 1726; Lieut. R.N. 1745, Post Capt. 22 May 1758; distinguished himself, in 1761, when in command of the Emerald frigate, in the West Indies; Comptroller of the Navy 1778-90; Elder Brother of the Trinity House 1781-1813. He, being of Barham Court, and Teston, Kent, was cr. a Baronet on 23 Oct. 1781 (with a spec. rem., <sup>(d)</sup> failing his issue male, to his s.-in-law, Gerard Noel EDWARDES);
M.P. (Tory) for Rochester 1784-90; Rear Adm. 1787; Vice Adm. 1793;
a Lord of the Admiralty 1794-95; Adm. of the Blue 1795; First commissioner for revising the civil affairs of the navy; and 1st Lord of the Admiralty <sup>(e)</sup> 30 Apr. 1805-06. P.C. 1 May 1805. On 1 May 1805, he

whom Heaven made good and social, tho' a Lord."

(Epitaph, by Hamilton of Bangour). V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> The Lords of Session [S.] in their return, 1740, report that as they cannot discover from the records the limitation of the dignity "they cannot take upon them to say whether it is extinct or not." (See Robertson, p. 213.) The Peerage must have been a male fief, as the succession of the 3rd Lord, the h. male was allowed, instead of that of the h. gen. And even supposing the patent to have been to heirs male whomsoever, these, the grantee being illegitimate, would have ended with the heirs male of his body.

<sup>(d)</sup> A rare instance at that date of a rem. to one whose relationship was not in the male line. See, however, the Barony of Basset of Stratton, in 1797, as also the Dukedom of Marlborough, for a yet more extended rem. in 1706. See also vol. iii, Appendix F.

<sup>(e)</sup> This appointment led to a quarrel between Pitt and Sidmouth, the latter desiring to appoint the Earl of Buckinghamshire, and to the two last leaving the Ministry. V.G.

was cr. BARON BARHAM of Barham Court and Teston, Kent, with a spec. rem. of that dignity, in default of issue male, to his only da. and the heirs male of her body. Adm. of the Red, 9 Nov. 1805. He m., 21 Dec. 1761, at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, Margaret, <sup>(a)</sup> da. of James GAMBIER, Barrister at Law and Warden of the Fleet Prison, by Mary, da. of (—) MEAD. II. 1813.                    2. DIANA, suo jure, BARONESS BARHAM, only child and h., b. 18 Sep. 1762, suc. to the Peerage under the spec. rem. in the patent thereof. She m., (as 1st wife) 21 Dec. 1780, at St. Geo., Han. Sq., Gerard Noel EDWARDES, afterwards Sir Gerard Noel NOEL, Bart., of Exton Park, Rutland. She d. 12 Apr. 1823, at her seat, Fairy Hill, near Swansea, aged 60, and was bur. at Teston, afsd. Admon. May 1823. Her husband, who was b. 17 July 1759, at Tickencote, Rutland, and who, by royal lic., 5 May 1798, took the name of NOEL in compliance with the will of Henry (Noel), 6th Earl of Gainsborough, suc. in 1813 to the Baronetcy conferred (1781) on his wife's father, under the spec. rem. in the patent thereof, and d. 25 Feb. 1838, aged 78, at Exton Park, and was bur. at Exton afsd. Will pr. Apr. 1838.

III. 1823.                    3. CHARLES NOEL (NOEL), BARON BARHAM, s. and h., b. 2 Oct. 1781. On 16 Aug. 1841 he was cr. BARON NOEL, VISCOUNT CAMPDEN AND EARL OF GAINSBOROUGH. See "GAINSBOROUGH," Earldom of; cr. 1841.

<sup>(a)</sup> An accomplished woman, and the friend of Samuel Johnson and Hannah More. She was one of the first actively to oppose the slave trade. V.G.

<sup>(b)</sup> He was an early member of the Evangelical party, whose chances for distinction at sea were small, although, "As a naval administrator and reformer he has had few equals in the whole history of the Navy; as a naval thinker, the inspirer of thought in others and the confidential sharer of the best thoughts of his best contemporaries, he stands not less indisputably in the front rank; and that on the one occasion which called his strategic faculties into play he displayed a sureness of insight and a rapidity of decision which were not unworthy of NELSON himself." (The Times, 3 May 1910.) The explanation of his receiving a peerage with a spec. rem. (an honour always very sparingly conferred except during Lord Salisbury's administration, and which his public services hardly justified) is perhaps to be sought in the fact that through his mother he was a near relative of Henry (Dundas), Lord Melville. V.G.

BARNARD

BARONY.

I. 1698. 1. CHRISTOPHER VANE, 7th and yst. s. of the well-known Sir Henry VANE, of Raby Castle, co. Durham, (executed for high treason 14 June 1662) by Frances, da. of Sir Christopher WRAY, Bart., was b. 21 May 1653, and suc. his elder and only surv. br., Thomas Vane, 1673, in the family estates. M.P. (Whig) for co. Durham 1675-79.<sup>(a)</sup> P.C. 6 July 1688 till Feb. 1688/9. Finally, "probably as a reward for his father's sufferings in the cause of liberty,"<sup>(b)</sup> he was cr., 25 July 1698,<sup>(c)</sup> BARON BARNARD OF BARNARD'S CASTLE in the Bishopric of Durham.<sup>(d)</sup> He m. (lic. <sup>(c)</sup> Not 1699, as in Dict. Nat. Biog. V.G.

<sup>(d)</sup> "It is a curious fact that the attainder of his father has never been reversed, notwithstanding the evidence which the elevation of his son to the Peerage and the still higher honours [sic] conferred upon his descendants afford of the estimation in which they have been held by their Sovereign. By an attainder the right to armorial ensigns, as well as to other honours, is destroyed, and upon the creation [sic] of Christopher Vane to the Peerage, the then Garter King of Arms, finding himself in a dilemma as to what arms he should assign to the Peer, applied to the Crown for instructions, when a licence was granted authorising him to allow to Christopher, Lord Barnard, and his descendants the arms and quarterings of his father, notwithstanding his attainder; the legality of this exercise of the Royal Prerogative is not free from doubt, for it is held that nothing but an express legislative enactment can relieve an individual from any of the penalties of an attainder. The Crown may, however, assign to a subject whatever armorial ensigns it pleases de novo, and, in this construction of the licence, it was, of course, valid." (Courthope, p. 41.)

VISCOUNTCY [I.]. I. NICHOLAS BARNEWALL, s. and h. of Sir Patrick I. 1646. B., of Turvey, Gracedieu, and Fieldston, co. Dublin, by Mary, da. of Sir Nicholas BAGNALL, Knight Marechal [I.], b. 1592, was 30 years old at the time of his father's death, 11 Jan. 1621/2. He was ed. at Douay, Dec. 1600. M.P. for co. Dublin

<sup>(a)</sup> The claim was resisted by Capt. Francis Forester, of Croom, co. Limerick, great nephew of the late Duke, to some of whose estates he would have suc. if the right to the Peerage had been disallowed. The grounds were the illegitimacy of claimant's father, who was b. 29 Nov. 1808, at Brigg, co. Lincoln, but it was proved (by the evidence of Miss Nicholson, maternal aunt of the said child) that the parents 'who had previously misconducted themselves,' were married at Louth, the 13th of June previous to such birth.

1634-35, and 1639-46. Having, though a Rom. Cath., adhered to the English interest, for his own loyalty and that of his then eldest surv. s., Col. Patrick B., Col. of a troop of Horse in the English service (who is specially named in the patent, but who d. v.p., and s.p.), he was cr. 29 June 1646 (the privy seal dat. 12 Sep. 1645 at Ragland), BARON OF TURVEY and VISCOUNT BARNEWALL OF KINGSLAND [in the parish of Donabate] co. Dublin [I.].<sup>(a)</sup> In June 1654 he was in prison, being charged with complicity in a plot against the Lord Protector, by whom his property had been sequestrated, it being afterwards restored to him in 1660. He m., in 1617, before 7 July, Bridget, widow of Roderick (O'DONNELL), 1ST EARL OF TYRCONNELL [I.], 1st da. and coh. of Henry (FITZ GERALD), EARL OF KILDARE [I.], by Frances, 2nd da. of Charles (HOWARD), EARL OF NOTTINGHAM. She was living in 1661. He d. at Turvey, 20 Aug., and was bur. 3 Sep. 1663, in the church of Luske, aged 91. Will, without date, pr. 11 Sep. 1663, Prerog. Court [I.].

II. 1663. 2. HENRY (BARNEWALL), VISCOUNT BARNEWALL OF KINGSLAND, &c. [I.], 3rd, but 1st surv. s. and h. On 17 May 1671, he had a release of the quit rents which had been imposed by the acts of settlement, and in 1685 had a grant of lands under the Act of Grace. 6. MATTHEW (BARNEWALL), VISCOUNT BARNEWALL OF KINGSLAND and BARON OF TURVEY [I.], 3rd cousin and h. male, being yst. but only surv. s. and h. of Matthew B., of Stoney Batter, in Dublin, by Anne, da. of Thomas McCAN, his 2nd wife, which Matthew (who d. 1773) was s. and h. of Nicholas B., of Woodpark, co. Meath

(d. 1735), who was s. and h. of the Hon. Francis B., of Woodpark afsd. and of Beggstown, co. Meath, who was 4th, but 2nd surv. s. of the 1st Viscount, and who d. 1697. He was b. in Dublin, and is said to have been in a very humble position. <sup>(c)</sup> His claim to the Peerage was allowed <sup>(d)</sup> in 1814, and he subsequently received a small pension. He m., 1stly, in Richard Barnewall, 3rd s. of John, 11th Lord Trimlestown [I.]. On the death of their grandson Thomas, 16th Lord Trimlestown, on 4 Aug. 1879, that peerage also became dormant.

<sup>(c)</sup> See an amusing account of him in Sir B. Burke's Vicissitudes, 3rd series, 1863, pp. 16-21.

<sup>(d)</sup> His claim was opposed by Thomas Barnewall, who stated that he was h. male of the body of Christopher B., alleged to have been the 2nd s. of Henry, the 2nd Viscount. <sup>(a)</sup> In 1835 a petition claiming this title was presented by Thomas Barnewall, Capt. in the Longford militia, s. and h. of Christopher B., who was s. and h. of George B., both of Wimbleton, co. Dublin, which George was s. and h. of Col. James B., alleged to have been the 6th and yst. s. of the 1st Viscount. This James was in fact son in law of the 1st Viscount, being the 2nd husband of his da. Mabel, Countess of Fingall. No further proceedings were taken in this matter. In the two deeds of settlement of the estates on the heirs male of the Barnewall family, dat. 31 Dec. 1661 and 21 July 1698, no mention is made of such a 6th s. (James), or of his issue, who (had they existed) would doubtless have been placed in remainder before the very distant branches of the Barnewall family mentioned therein. The extinction of the title was acted upon in the creation, 4 May 1836, of the Barony of Oranmore [I.], according to the Act of Union [I.].

BARRETT OF NEWBURGH

BARONY [I.] I. EDWARD BARRETT, s. and h. of Charles B. (who d. v.p., 8 Aug. 1584), by Christian, da. of Sir Walter MILD-MAY, was b. 21 June 1581, and bap. at Aveley; suc. his grandfather Edward Barrett, of Belhouse, or Belhus, in the parish of Aveley, Essex, 31 Jan. 1585/6; Matric. Oxford (Queen's Coll.), aged 16, 17 Mar. 1597/8; Adm. Lincoln's Inn, 1602; he had livery of his lands 27 Nov. 1602; went with the Earl of Nottingham, in 1605, to conclude peace with Spain; knighted by James I, 17 Apr. 1608; M.P. for Whitchurch 1614, and for Newport (Cornwall) 1621-22. He had lic. to empark Belhus 23 Dec. 1618; AMBASSADOR to France, 1625; was cr. (to him and the heirs male of his body), 17 Oct. 1627, LORD BARRETT OF NEWBURGH, co. Fife [S.]; P.C. 10 July 1628, and Chancellor of the Exchequer 15 Aug. 1628-29.<sup>(a)</sup> On 2 Oct 1628, being already a Peer [S.], he was cr. "a baronet of Nova Scotia, and received a grant of, presumably, 16,000 acres in that region, whereof he obtained seizin in the following January." <sup>(b)</sup> Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, 1629-44; a Lord of the Treasury, 1641-43. He was a staunch supporter of the Stuarts. BARRINGTON OF ARDGLASS, AND BARRINGTON OF NEWCASTLE

VISCOUNTCY [I.] 1. JOHN BARRINGTON, of Becket, in the parish of BARONY [I.] Shrevenham, Berks., formerly John SHUTE, being 3rd
I. 1720. and yst. s. of Benjamin SHUTE,<sup>(a)</sup> by Elizabeth, da. of the Rev. Joseph CARYL, was b. in 1678, at Theobald's, Herts; ed. at Utrecht. He became a Barrister of the Inner Temple, London; was Commissioner of the Customs, 1708 to 1711; inherited in 1710 the estate of Becket, and considerable property in Berkshire, by devise of John Wildman, of Becket afsd., and soon afterwards inherited the estate of Tofts, in Little Baddow, Essex, by settlement of Francis Barrington, Merchant, whose wife, Elizabeth, (by whom he had no issue), was Shute's cousin german, being da. of his uncle, Samuel Shute.<sup>(b)</sup> By Act of Parl. 1716, he took the name of BARRINGTON. He was M.P.
(Whig) for Berwick upon Tweed, 1715 until expelled the House of Commons, 15 Feb. 1722/3, for having promoted "an infamous fraudulent project," the lottery of Harbourg.<sup>(c)</sup> On 5 July 1717 he had the reversion of the office of Master of the Rolls [I.], which, however, he surrendered 10 Dec. 1731. On 1 July 1720 was cr. BARON BARR-INGTON OF NEWCASTLE, co. Limerick, and VISCOUNT BARR-INGTON OF ARDGLASS, co. Down [I.].<sup>(d)</sup> He m., 23 June 1713, at St. Benet's, Paul's Wharf, (settl. dat. 26 June 1713) Anne, da. and coh. of Sir William DAINES, sometime Mayor of, and M.P. for, Bristol. He d. at Becket, 14, and was bur. 27 Dec. 1734, at Shrevenham, in his 56th year.<sup>(e)</sup> Will dat. 2 Mar. 1726, pr. 13 June 1738. His widow d. 8 Feb.
1763. Admon. 10 Mar. 1763.

<sup>(b)</sup> He was no relation to either of his benefactors, of whom (1) J. Wildman adopted him more Romano as "most worthy," though, it seems, after "one fortnight's acquaintance." (Le Neve's Mem.) (2) F. Barrington adopted him as being a cousin of his wife, devising to him the estate of the ancient family of Barrington, though he had no descent whatever therefrom.

<sup>(e)</sup> He is described by Swift, in 1708, as "the shrewdest head in England." Horace Walpole writes of him to the Rev. Mr. Cole, 18 Sep. 1778, "I believe was a very dirty fellow, for besides being expelled the H. of C. on the affair of the lottery, he was reckoned to have twice sold the dissenters to the Court." 2. WILLIAM WILDMAN (BARRINGTON-SHUTE), (<sup>a</sup>) VISCOUNT BARRINGTON OF ARDGLASS, &c. [I.], s. and h., b. 15 Jan. 1717, and ed. at Geneva. M.P. (<sup>b</sup>) for Berwick, 1740-54; for Plymouth, 1754 to 1778. Took his seat in the House of Lords [I.], 8 Oct. 1745. A Lord of the Admiralty, 1746-54; Master of the Great Wardrobe, 1754-55; P.C. 11 Mar. 1755, and Secretary at War, 1755-61; Chancellor of the Exchequer, (<sup>c</sup>) Mar. 1761 to June 1762; Treasurer of the Navy, 1762-65; Secretary at War, (2nd time), July 1765 to Dec. 1778; Joint Postmaster Gen., Jan. to Apr. 1782, when he retired from public life. He m., 16 Sep. 1740, at Harleston, Northants, Mary, ("with £5000 p.a.") widow of the Hon. Samuel GRIMSTON, da. and h. of Henry LOVELL, of Northampton, Merchant, by Mary, da. and coh. of Thomas COLE, of London. She d. 24 Sep. 1764, at Becket House, Berks, and was bur. at Shrivenham. Will, dat. 2 Nov. 1761 to 19 May 1764, pr. 3 Nov. 1764. He d. s.p.s., 1 Feb. 1793, in Cavendish Sq., and was bur. at Shrivenham, aged 76. (<sup>d</sup>) M.I. Will dat. 21 Apr. 1787 to 9 Dec. 1792, pr. 8 Feb. 1793.

III. 1793.

3. WILLIAM (BARRINGTON), VISCOUNT BARRINGTON OF ARDGLASS, &c. [I.], nephew and h., being s. and h. of Major Gen. the Hon. John BARRINGTON, Deputy Governor of Berwick, by Elizabeth, da. of Florentius VASSAL, of Jamaica, which John was 3rd s. of

(<sup>b</sup>) He entered Parl. as an opponent of Walpole, and was for a long time classed as a Whig, but acted with the Tories after Lord North became Premier. He was one of "The King's friends." His steady hold on office in spite of changes of administration is commented on in some satirical lines, for which see Appendix H in this volume. Horace Walpole, in the same letter as that in which he refers to his father (see note "e" previous p.), speaks of his "forty years of servility which even in this age makes him a proverb;" and in his George II (vol. ii, p. 142) he says that he "had a lisp and a tedious precision that prejudiced me against him, yet he did not want a sort of vivacity." Lecky calls him "one of the most servile politicians of the time." He figures, in 1771, ("The Hostile Scribe and the Stable-yard Messalina") among the notorious tête-à-tête portraits, in the Town and Country Mag., vol. iii, p. 9, the lady to whom allusion is made being Lady Harrington. See Appendix B, in the last volume. V.G.

(<sup>d</sup>) Both he and 3 of his brothers were of sufficient note in their day to find a place in the Dict. Nat. Biog. Daines B., 4th s. of the 1st Viscount, is still remembered as an antiquary, lawyer, and naturalist. Samuel, the 5th s., was a distinguished Admiral, and Shute, the 6th and yet s., was Bishop of Llandaff 1769, Bishop of Salisbury 1782, and Bishop of Durham 1791 till his death, s.p., 25 Mar. 1826. V. 1814. 5. GEORGE (BARRINGTON), VISCOUNT BARRINGTON OF ARDGLASS, &c. [I.], br. and h., b. 16 July 1761, in London. King's scholar, Westm., 1774. Matric. at Oxford (Ch. Ch.), 17 June 1778. B.A. 1782. M.A. 1785. In Holy Orders. Rector of Sedgfield, co. Durham. Prebendary of Durham 1796 till his death. He m., 12 Feb. 1788, Elizabeth, 2nd da. of Robert ADAIR, of Stratford Place, Marylebone, Midx., by Caroline, 2nd da. of William Anne (KEPPEL), 2nd EARL OF ALBEMARLE. He d. 4 Mar. 1829, at Rome. Will pr. Sep. 1829. His widow d. 2 Mar. 1841, at Shrivenham, aged 72. Will pr. June 1841.

VI. 1829. 6. WILLIAM KEPPEL (BARRINGTON), VISCOUNT BARRINGTON OF ARDGLASS, &c. [I.], s. and h., b. 1 Oct. 1793, in London. Ed. at Westm. school. Matric. at Oxford (Ch. Ch.), 28 May 1811. B.A. 1813. M.P. (Conservative) for Berkshire, 1837-57. Chairman Great Western Railway 1856-57. He m., 21 Apr. 1823, (spec. lic.) in Portland Place, Marylebone, Jane Elizabeth, 4th da. of Thomas Henry (LIDDELL), 1st LORD RAVENSWORTH, by Isabella Horatia, da. of Lord George SEYMOUR. He d. 9 Feb. 1867, at Becket House, aged 73. His widow, who was b. 29 Sep. 1804, and who was Lady of the Bedchamber to Adelaide, the Queen Dowager, d. 22 Mar. 1883, at 20 Cavendish Sq. Both were bur. at Shrivenham.

Peerages which were recognised in 1489 by Henry VII<sup>(a)</sup> but of the date or mode of whose creation nothing certain is known. Its existence as the premier Barony [I.] was acknowledged in 1489, 1490, 1541, 1560, and 1585.<sup>(b)</sup>

E. Barry, P.P., M.R.I.A., Vice Pres. R.S.A. Ireland, in a series of papers entitled "Barrymore," published in the Journal of the Cork Historical and Archaeological Soc., 2nd Ser., vols. v, vi, vii, viii (1899-1902). The succession which, as attempted by Lodge, is in hopeless confusion, was unravell'd to a certain extent by Sir William Betham, Ulster (Betham's MSS., Ulster's Office), and somewhat more fully by Denis O'Callaghan Fisher (Fisher's MSS., Ulster's Office), but their efforts fall very far short of the extensive work and research of the said Rev. E. Barry, upon which the following account is founded." G.D.Burtchaell adds that though following him generally, he has not "in all cases accepted his identification of the various parties," and states that the Rev. E. Barry "makes no suggestion as to the origin of the peerage." V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> Camden in his Britannia states that "the name is derived from the island of Barry, co. Glamorgan, and from their great riches and large estates the family have been called Barry-more, or Barry the Great." J.H.Round, however, points out that Philip's father, William, was of Manorbier Castle on the coast, west of Tenby, and adds that Philip joined his uncle in Ireland at the end of February, 1183, and that his father-in-law, Richard Fitz Tancard, of Tankarston in Brawey, was Constable of Haverfordwest.

1234, a weekly market and a yearly fair at his manor of Botavant [i.e. Buttevant, co. Cork].<sup>(a)</sup> In 1235 he enlarged the friary of Ballybeg. It was probably he who was styled Barrach Mor [i.e. the great Barry] by the Irish, and who was slain at the battle of Callan, in Desmond, in 1261.<sup>(b)</sup>

- I. 1261?                    1. DAVID DE BARRY, of Olethan, Éc., s. and h., called David Oge [junior] and Anbuille [i.e. of the blows]. He was Lord Justiciar of Ireland 1267. According to a grotesquely untrue statement in Lodge he “was styled the 1st Viscount of Buttevant.”<sup>(c)</sup> He may perhaps be regarded as the first of his family to obtain the status of a Peer as LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE, or BUTTEVANT [I.], although any date given for the origin of early prescriptive Irish titles such as this must be in the nature of guess work. He d. in 1278.
- II. 1278.                    2. JOHN (BARRY), LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE or BUTTEVANT [I.], s. and h. On 1 July 1283 a distraint was served on him by the Lord Justiciar [I.] to compel him to receive knight-hood. In 1284 he surrendered Olethan, and in 1285 Muscry-Donnegan, to his brother David, as below.<sup>(d)</sup>
- III. 1285.                    3. DAVID FITZ DAVID (BARRY), LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE or BUTTEVANT [I.], br. and h., of Olethan in 1284, <sup>(a)</sup> The name of Buttevant is said to have been derived from the war cry “Boutez en avant,” used in a victory over the MacCarthyes near that place, about 1267, gained by David de Barry, and ever after adopted as a motto by his descendants. Although as an Irish chieftain he was much more likely to be acquainted with Norman French than with English, it is not easy to accept this derivation. V. G.

<sup>(b)</sup> The Rev. E. Barry suggests that this David may have been succeeded at an earlier date than 1261 by a brother, John, who was slain at Callan in 1261. But the introduction of a John Barry into one of the Carew Pedigrees (where he is made grandfather of the 1st so-called Viscount Buttevant) appears to be a mistake. V. G.

<sup>(c)</sup> In the dateless pedigrees of these Lords drawn up in the latter half of the 16th Century (Carew MSS., Lambeth Library), the Viscounty of Buttevant is ascribed to them as early as the 13th century, i.e. at least 150 years before the style of “Viscount” as a Peerage dignity was known in England! Of course, none of these Lords is ever styled “Viscount” in any existing contemporary document. There is, indeed, a deed enrolled 26 Nov. (1614) 12 Jac. I, on the Patent Roll [I.], on the petition of one John Barry Esq., but this must be received with the gravest suspicion as to its genuineness. It purports to be a grant by “Jacobus Dñus Vic. de Buttevant” dated Monday before the Epiphany (4 Jan. 1405/6) 7 Hen. IV. At that date, however, the Lord of Buttevant was John Barry, who never in any official document of his own time was styled Dominus, but who may then (as he undoubtedly was in 1401 and 1413-15) have been “Viccomes” [i.e. Sheriff, not Viscount] of county Cork. See Appendix A in this volume. V.G.

and of Muscry-Donnegan in 1285, on the surrender of his brother as afsd. He is said to have m. Maud de Boulltron,<sup>(a)</sup> of Wales. He d. about 1290.

IV. 1290? 4. JOHN (BARRY), LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE OR BUTTEVANT [I.], s. and h. He had lic. (1301) 29 Edw. I to alienate land to the value of £20 a year in Muscry, Olethan and Obawne [i.e. Ibwane], and appears accordingly to have alienated Ibwane to his younger brother<sup>(b)</sup> William.<sup>(c)</sup> He was sum. to the Parl. [I.] at Kilkenny, 8 Jan. (1309/10) 3 Edw. II, and was present in the Parl. [I.] at Dublin, Easter (1324/5) 17 Edw. II. He seems to have d. s.p., about 1330.<sup>(d)</sup>

V. 1330? 5. DAVID (BARRY), LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE OR BUTTEVANT [I.], next br. and h. He was sum. to Parl. [I.] in 1339, and was Sheriff of co. Cork 1344. He d. 12 May 1347.

VI. 1347. 6. DAVID (BARRY), LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE OR BUTTEVANT [I.], s. and h., a minor at the time of his father's death. He was sum. to Parl. [I.] 22 Nov. (1374) 48 Edw. III, to 25 Apr. (1382) 5 Ric. II, being on this last occasion fined 100s. for absence, for which he pleaded a pardon. He d. 6 Sep. 1392.

VII. 1392. 7. JOHN (BARRY), LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE OR BUTTEVANT [I.], called kittagh [i.e. left handed], s. and h. Sheriff of Cork 1401, and 1403-15. He m. Ellice, da. of Gerald Fitz Maurice (FITZ GERALD), EARL OF DESMOND [I.]. He d. about 1420.

VIII. 1420? 8. WILLIAM (BARRY),<sup>(e)</sup> LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE OR BUTTEVANT [I.], s. and h.<sup>(f)</sup> He was Sheriff of co. Cork 1433, 1451, and 1461; a Commissioner for the peace of that co. 1434.

(<sup>a</sup>) So also in Lodge, though it is there added "but we find that the wife of David de Barry, living 1298, was named Joan; that she afterwards m. Eustace le Poer, and assigned to her son John de Barry, for all her dower in Olethan, &c., the moiety of the cantred of Muskery, except 2 parts of the marriage of Philip, son and heir to Philip de Barry." This seems as if this Joan (not mentioned in the text, following the Carew MSS) was the mother of John, the 1st s. and successor of this David and of his 2 younger brothers.

(<sup>e</sup>) These three Lords are all omitted (as such) in the claim of J. R. Barry to the Viscounty of Buttevant in 1825. The Lords Barry, as well as the Lords Athenry, Lords Kingsale and Lords Kerry became, during most of that period, mere Irish Chieftains, many of them assuming Irish names, and being entirely hostile to the English Government.

(<sup>f</sup>) He had three younger brothers, Richard, David, and James, from all of whom there were male descendants living in 1600, and consequently nearer heirs male to the Viscount who d. in 1557/8 than James Barry, who succeeded him.

He apparently it was who, as "William Lord Barry, Esquire" signed a public testimonial dat. 9 Jan. (1442/3) 21 Hen. VI.<sup>(a)</sup> He had a grant from Edward IV, 8 Nov. 1461, of 20 marks a year for life out of the customs of Cork, under the style of Dominus de Barry. He m. Ellen, da. of LORD ROCHE [I.]. He d. about 1480.

IX. 1480? 9. JOHN (BARRY),<sup>(b)</sup> LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE, or BUTTEVANT [I.], called baccagh, [i.e. the lame], s. and h. He m., 1stly, (—), by whom he had an only s. He m., 2ndly, Sheely, da. of MacCartie REAGH, by whom he had seven sons. He was slain on Christmas day 1486, by Donogh oge MacCartie, lord of Ealla, against whom he had gone on a predatory expedition.<sup>(c)</sup>

X. 1486. 10. THOMAS (BARRY),<sup>(b)</sup> LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE, or BUTTEVANT [I.], s. and h. by 1st wife. On 27 June 1488, he took the oath of allegiance to the King's Commissioner in Ireland. He d. s.p. soon after.

XI. 1488? 11. WILLIAM (BARRY), LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE, or BUTTEVANT [I.], br. and h., being 1st s. and h. of John baccagh, by his 2nd wife. He was one of the fifteen Irish Peers sum. to Greenwich by Henry VII in 1489, being ranked as Premier Baron, "Lord Barre de Buttevant," next immediately after the Earls.<sup>(d)</sup> He also sat in the Parl. [I.] in 1491. He m. Sheely, da. of Cormac Mac-Teig MACCARTIE, of Muskerry. He d. 1500, being slain by his br. David, Archdeacon of Cork.

XII. 1500. 12. JOHN (BARRY), LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE, or BUTTEVANT [I.], s. and h. In 1520 he took the oath of allegiance as Lord Barry before the King's Commissioners. He d. s.p., circa 1530, being slain at Ballynecranagh, by Thomas, Earl of Desmond.

XIII. 1530? 13. JOHN FITZ JOHN (BARRY), LORD BARRY, BARRYMORE, or BUTTEVANT, [I.], called reogh [i.e. the striped], uncle and h., being 2nd s. of John baccagh, by his 2nd wife. He m. Ellen, da. of FITZ GIBBON, the White Knight. He d. circa 1534.

XIV. 1534? 14 and 1. JOHN FITZ JOHN (BARRY), LORD BARRY, VISCOUNTCY [I.] BARRYMORE, or BUTTEVANT, [I.], called Bowleragh,<sup>(e)</sup> s. and h., b. 1517 or 1518.<sup>(f)</sup> He sat in the Parl.

To secure the lordship of Ibane and make himself Barry roe he is said to have murdered his cousins Redmond and John. Their brothers Richard and David fled to the Earl of Desmond, and were apparently living at the date of the entail of 1557; but he is said to have procured them also to be made away with. On 28 Apr. 1558 he had a pardon as James Barry of Barrescourt Viscount Barrymore otherwise James called Barrymore and Barryroe. He was sum. to the Parl. [I.] which met 12 Jan. 1559/60, where he sat next after the Earls as Jacobus le Barry Dns. de Buttevant. By indenture dated 18 Mar. 1560/1, he, as "James Barrie Lord Barrie mor and Barrie roe," obtained from Edmond Barry of Rathgobbane, the rightful heir to the Peerage <sup>(d)</sup> a surrender of the estates to him and his heirs for ever. <sup>(a)</sup> See his character in Sir Egerton Brydges' Biographical Peerage (1817), vol. iv, p. 37. Also a vast amount of information as to the character, position, &c., of various members of this family is given in "N. & Q.," 5th Ser., vol. xi, p. 276, et ante. In 1790 he and a lady figure as "The theatrical peer of Berks and Antonietta" in the scandalous tête-à-tête portraits in the Town and Country Mag., vol. xxii, p. 59. (See Appendix B in the last volume of this work). He and his family received, from their friend the Prince Regent, the following nicknames—he himself, "Hellgate;" his br. and successor Henry, who had a club foot, "Cripplegate;" his yst br. Augustus, "Newgate;" and his sister, owing to the flow and vigour of her language, "Billingsgate." A caricature by Gillray, entitled Les trois Magots, shows the three men as "A Hellgate blackguard," "A Cripplegate Monster," and "A Newgate Scrub." The last Earls of Barrymore, by John Robert Robinson, 1894, contains much gossip of the period. Sir Herbert Croft, in the Abbey of Kilkhampton, p. 101, ed. 1788, mentions his fondness for racing, "his courage, his fickleness, his merriment," and calls him "a comely youth, son of a comely mother." In 1797 the annual rental from his estates was said to be £7500. For a list of the largest resident Irish landlords at that date see vol. iv, Appendix C. V.G. He sold the Barrymore estates, including Castle Lyons and Buttevant, to John Anderson, of Fermoy, reserving £4,000 a year for himself and £1,000 for his widow, for life. Castle Lyons was burnt down about 1775.

BARRY OF SANTRY <sup>(d)</sup>

BARONY [I.] I. SIR JAMES BARRY, of Santry, co. Dublin, s. and h. of Richard B., Alderman and sometime (1610) Mayor of Dublin, by Anne, da. and h., or coh., of James CUSACK, was b. 1603, ed. at Trin. Coll. Dublin. B.A. 27 Apr. 1621; M.A. June 1624; incorporated, Oxford, 10 July 1627, and Cambridge, same year. Admitted Linc. Inn., 11 July 1621; barrister 1628, and King's Inns, 15 Apr. 1630. He was made Prime Serjeant [I.] 6 Oct. 1629; second Baron of the Exchequer [I.] 5 Aug. 1634; M.P. for Lismore 1634; was Knighted [I.] Aug. 1640; was Chairman of the Royalist Convention which met at Dublin, 7 July 1659, in defiance of the then Government, and, in reward of his services, was, at the Restoration, made P.C. [I.] and Chief Justice of the King's Bench [I.] in Nov. 1660, and was cr., 18 Feb. 1660/1, BARON BARRY OF SANTRY, co. Dublin [I.], taking his seat 8 May 1661. He m., Catharine, 1st da. of Sir William PARSONS, Bart. [I.], uncle in the proceedings as to her husband's administration, which her mother, and guardian, Phillis Chapman, formerly Goulding, wife of William Chapman, renounced. The notorious "Lady Barrymore" (mentioned in N. & Q. as above), who d. of drink, in poverty, 30 Oct. 1832, in Charles Court, Drury Lane, was (probably) mistress (not wife) of this (the 7th) Earl.

<sup>(b)</sup> The extinction of the Earldom of Barrymore was acted upon as one of the three used, in accordance with the Act of Union [I.], for the creation of the Viscounty of Guillamore. Had the Viscounty of Buttevant (or any other peerage [I.] which was held at the time of the Union by the then Earl) continued, the Earldom would not have been such an extinction as could have been used for a new creation. This point was decided (as regarding the Earldom of Mountrath and the Barony of Castle Coote [I.] which, at the time of the Union, were united) at the creation of the Barony of Fermoy [I.] in 1856.

<sup>(c)</sup> The Viscounty of Buttevant was assumed by James Redmond Barry, of Donoughmore, co. Cork, as h. male of the body of James, 4th Viscount. His claim to vote at the election of an Irish Rep. Peer was before the House of Lords in 1825. He was only s. and h. of James B. (d. v.p. 1800), the only s. who had issue of James B., of Mount Barry, co. Cork (d. 1802), said to be s. and h. of William Fitz James B., of Ballymacraheen, co. Cork (d. about 1760), s. and h. of James B. of the same, said to be only s. and h. of William B. of Lisle, co. Cork (living 1656), s. and h. of James B., who was s. and h. of William B., both of the same, which William (who d. before 1594) was said to be the same as William Barry, 3rd s. of James, 4th Viscount, who d. 1581.

<sup>(d)</sup> A full account of this branch of the family of Barry, with an engraving of the tomb of Richard, the 2nd Lord, is in the History of Santry and Clogran parishes, co. Dublin, by B. W. Adams, D.D., 1883.

He did not sit in James II's Irish Parl., May 1689, (*) by which he was provisionally attainted, but took his seat in Oct. 1692. He m. (lic. Vic. (a) For a list of peers present in, and absent from this Parl., see volume iii, Appendix D.

(b) His signature (together with those of the 2nd Duke of Bolton, the 1st Baron Middleton, and other notables) appears on a document, dated 17 Aug. 1719, seriously recommending the castration of all unregistered priests and friars, with a view to making the common Irish protestants. V.G.

(c) J. H. Round points out that by the attainder for felony the Barony was forfeited for life, though preserved for the heirs by the statute De Donis, as now interpreted (see Palmer's Peerage Law in England, 1909, p. 199). The peculiarity of this case is that he survived his attainder. V.G.

At the time Lord Santry's peerage was supposed to have been forfeited absolutely, and the same view was entertained in the case of Mervin (Tuchet), Earl of Castlehaven [I.] (see under that title), though, in both cases, the peerages being in tail would not have been forfeited by the heirs according to the now received opinion, and to the precedent afforded by the Stourton case (1557) and confirmed (1760) in that of Ferrers. In the former case Charles, Lord Stourton, was attainted for felony and hanged for murder, as also, in the latter case, was Earl Ferrers, but in neither was there any forfeiture by the heirs, and consequently no act of restoration. <sup>(c)</sup> It is generally considered that the Barony of St. John, cr. in 1539, and held by the family of Paulet, was "St. John of Basing." Such, however, is not the case; see that title.

It was the Editor's original intention to give here a list of the Irish peerage before the 16th century, but he has deemed it advisable to postpone it to vol. xi. This Appendix is therefore confined to some observations on the early Irish Baronies, (which may, and probably will, require to be supplemented when the work has proceeded further) and to transcripts of the Rankings of the Peers at various dates.

Fabulously early dates are often assigned to the early Irish Baronies. This apparently arises from the date of origin of the feudal barony being regarded as if it were that of the peerage.

All peerages in Ireland, except three Baronies, cr. by James II in 1689<sup>(b)</sup> and those of which the origin is unknown, but which have become such by prescription, were created by charter or patent, the unreasonable theory of hereditary dignities being created by writ of summons to Parliament (as now held in England) being unknown there either before or after 1689.<sup>(c)</sup> Charters or patents of creation of Irish peerages before 1500 are, however, rare, there being, apparently, but eleven such documents known. Of these eleven, seven are Earldoms,

RANKING OF IRISH PEERS

The first Ranking of the Irish Peers was in 1489, in "the order of placing the Lords of Ireland in the procession of the Court of Greenwich where the King himself was." (See table of Rankings, post) Two Earls and eleven Barons were present, but of only two of these Barons, Trimleston and Gormanston, is the date of creation known, thus the order of placing is very important as showing the ranking of the other nine among themselves at that time. To these nine should be added the Barony of Fitzmaurice of Kerry (the owner of which was summoned in 1489 but did not attend); these ten may be called Baronies by Prescription acknowledged as Peerage Baronies in 1489. The holder of the Barony of Portlester was not summoned to Greenwich; the Barony of Ratowth became extinct about 1480.

While the ranking at Greenwich shows the precedency which the Barons there present were assigned at that date, it probably has little bearing on the actual antiquity of their Baronies. Reference to the rankings of later dates also suggests that precedence then depended solely on the importance possessed or assumed by the holders of the peerage dignities at the time of the ranking, having no basis in antiquity, and being uninfluenced by the precedence held on a former occasion.

DATE OF CREATION OF EARLY BARONIES

As has been pointed out in the body of this work, the ascription of dates of creation to the early baronies is in the nature of guess work. Although the principle obtaining in England may be deemed unhistoric and even absurd, it is convenient, because it provides a definite starting point, which in the case of Ireland is lacking in most of the early peerages; for, as we have seen, the patents of creation of only three Baronies and one Viscounty are known to date before 1500, although as many as twelve Barons were summoned by Henry VII to Greenwich as early as 1489.

In assigning the date at which the status of a peer may be held to have been acquired, the Editor has been guided mainly by historical evidence as to the public position and influence of the individual concerned. But it must be borne in mind that in the absence of proof as to the actual creation of a peerage dignity, the dating in this manner of an early Irish Barony is tentative only.

EARLY IRISH VISCOUNTCIES

The first Irish Viscounty is that of Gormanston, created by patent 1478. In England there had been three earlier creations of a Viscount, viz., Beaumont (1440), Bourghchier (1446), Lisle (1451); the fourth English Viscounty, that of Berkeley (1481), being cr. only three years later than that of Gormanston.

A reference to the lists of Rankings will show that Gormanston, although created a Viscount in 1478, only ranked fifth among the Barons in 1489, being then described as "Lord Preston of Gormanston." In 1541 he was ranked second; in 1560, fifth; in 1585, third.

The anomalous position of Gormanston has prompted G.D. Burtchaell to compare the extant Patents of creation of the earliest Viscountcies. The patent creating Viscount Bourghchier is not in existence. With regard to the others named above, the patent creating Gormanston proves to be almost identical with that creating Berkeley. But while Beaumont and Lisle were specifically given precedency over "all barons," these words do not occur in the Gormanston Patent, which gives him "the Status of a Viscount of our land aforesaid [Ireland]"—the only status at that time being that of a sheriff. The Irish peers, therefore, seem to have considered that he was not given (or, at any rate, would not recognise him as having) precedence over barons, consequently his name was not put above them in the oldest lists extant. As to Berkeley, on the other hand, that being the fourth Viscounty created in England, the status of Viscount in that country had already been definitely settled. As to the Viscountcies of Barry (or Buttevant) and Roche of Fermoy, it has been pointed out in the text under Barry that the Lords Barry were never styled Viscounts in any documents prior to 1541, and no evidence as to the creation of a Viscounty at any time is forthcoming.

The Lords Roche of Fermoy appear to have been first styled Viscounts in the list of Ranking in 1584, and in their case also there is no known evidence of the creation of a Viscounty. Indeed both of these seem to be cases of the audacious and successful assumption of a higher title, which could hardly have occurred anywhere but in Ireland. G.D. Burtchaell, who has investigated this question thoroughly, writes; "I am convinced that the titles of Viscount Buttevant and Viscount Fermoy were unknown before the reign of Henry VIII, and that such titles were never created; and that Lord Barry and Lord Roche managed to get themselves acknowledged as Viscounts with precedence before Gormanston, who was the first and only Viscount until Barry and Roche insisted on being treated as such."

THE DUKEDOM OF CHÂTELLERAULT

James Hamilton, who succeeded to the Marquessate of Abercorn in 1818 was styled DUKE OF CHÂTELLERAULT in France, inasmuch as "he was served h. male of the body of the 1st Duke of Châtellerault by the Sheriff of Chancery in Scotland, 13 Jan. 1862, and, as such h. male of the 1st Duke, asserts his hereditary right to the original title of Duke of Châtellerault of 1549. By the edict of Louis XIV, May 1711, the descent of French Dukedoms was declared "to be to heirs descendus de mâles en mâles."<sup>(a)</sup>

"It has been doubted of late whether the title of Duc de Châtellerault ever existed as a peerage dignity, and it has even been argued by the late R. R. Stodart (in his paper on the Dukedom of Châtellerault in Her. & Gen., vol. iv, pp. 97-107), that no creation of a Duchy took place, and that the object of the grant made by Henry II (5 Feb. 1548/9) to James, Earl of Arran, and his heirs was merely to secure a yearly revenue of 12,000 livres to the grantee. This opinion was fortified by the fact that the letters patent of Châtellerault differ from those by which, three years later, the Constable de Montmorency was created Duke; Mr. Stodart concluded therefore that the title of Duke was never regularly conferred at all, and was only a title of courtesy given to Arran as Lord of the Duchy. But, (though in a later part of his paper he seems to be aware of it) Mr. Stodart has overlooked the fact that in France, Dukes were not necessarily Peers. It is quite clear that, in the sense of being a duché-pairie, the duchy created by Henry II for Arran was not "a peerage dignity;" but that did not at all affect the fact that the Duchy was nevertheless an hereditary dignity. The difference in the letters patent, on which Mr. Stodart lays stress, is fully accounted for by the fact that Montmorency was created (while Arran was not) 'Duc et pair;' and it must be added that no further argument can be based upon the difference in the letters-patent, if it be remembered that Montmorency was the first French subject created 'Duc et pair ' by letters patent ;<sup>(a)</sup> of this fact Mr. Stodart seems to be unaware.

It must be noted that by the treaty signed at Châtillon, 27 Jan. 1547, Henry II expressly engaged ' a conférer au Comte d'Arran le titre de duc, avec duché en ce royaume de France de douze mille livres de rente, pour lui, ses hoirs et ayants cause, à perpétuité.' The after proceeding shows clearly that this engagement was carried out to the letter by Henry. On 5 Feb. 1548 the act of cession of the duchy of Châtellerault received the sign manual. In the same month letters patent of investiture were delivered by the King at St. Germain-en-Laye. In the month of July letters de grand naturalité were granted to the ' Comte d'Arran, duc de Châtellerault, pour lui et ses héritiers ;' and moreover the King divested himself and his successors of the ' droict d'aubeyne ' with regard to the duchy, in favour of the Duke, his heirs and successors. In 1550, the Bishop of Ross, as procurator for Arran, did homage for the Duchy, and the needful proceedings in fulfilment of the provisions of the treaty were thus completed. There is really no doubt whatever that a hereditary duchy was fully and legally created, and that it was not merely a rental of 12,000 livres which was secured to Arran and his heirs. The King thoroughly carried out the stipulation of the treaty, and we may be sure that no other arrangement would have satisfied the Earl. No doubt could have arisen on the subject had it been remembered of how very few persons the ' pairs de France ' consisted at this time, and that the two dignities of the duché and pairie were, and continued to be, distinct. Arran as a foreigner would care nothing for the special privileges of the pairie ; the Duchy of Châtellerault, with its hereditary title and its guaranteed revenue of 12,000 livres, would be all that he would value. The seizure of the Duchy in 1559, after Henry's death, by the ' parlement de Poitiers,' did not destroy Arran's rights ; and in 1560, in the treaty between England, France, and Scotland, it was particularly stipulated that the Scottish seigneurs, particulièrement le duc de Châtellerault rentreraient en possession et jouissance de toutes les terres, possessions, héritages, estats, et offices dont ils jouissaient en France avant le sixième Mars 1558, non obstant toutes saisies, dont par ce traité, Sa Majesté consentit par ses Ambassadeurs une pleine et entière mainlevée. As a matter of fact the full restitution of the Duchy was hindered by various causes ; though money payments were made in partial satisfaction of the claim ; but the hereditary rights granted to Arran and his heirs in the Duchy, and therefore to the title of Duke of Châtellerault, were never legally annulled. It must be added that no argument can be drawn from the fact that the Earl of Arran was not always styled in documents ' Duc de Châtellerault ' by the French King, in the face of many others in which his full title was accorded to him."<sup>(b)</sup> concerned, eleven years after its creation, though the pension thereby secured of 12,000 livres was continued to the heir of the grantee (which h. was h. male as well as h. gen.) till the death of the 1st Duke of Hamilton [S.], s.p.m., in 1649, when (for two years) it was paid to his br., the 2nd Duke, who was h. male (but not h. gen.) of the grantee. Since his death in 1651 the French government appears to have recognised the claim of the h. of line, Anne, suo jure, Duchess of Hamilton [S.], by repeated grants (but apparently not by actual payment) of the said pension, and in 1714 arrangements were made for payment to the said Duchess Anne of 500,000 livres as an equivalent for her claims. The then Earl of Abercorn [S.], however, protested, as h. male, against such recognition, and it was agreed that one-fourth of the sum so recovered should be paid over to him. The money, however, appears never to have been actually received.

Although there appears to have been some recognition of the title of Duc de Châtellerault to the Hamilton family previous to 1649, after that date, when the h. male ceased to be the h. gen., there is none whatever. The rights of the h. male, however, were asserted by a protest of the then Earl of Abercorn [S.], 14 July 1652, against the rights of the Duchess Anne, as h. of line to her father, which general protest hardly seems to apply to this special point. There is also a protest of the 6th Earl, 9 Sep. 1712, stating that, as the ambassadors at Utrecht were to obtain from the French King justice as to the restitution of the Duchy of Châtellerault, he himself reclaimed the said Duchy with all its privileges; and on the coffin plate of the 8th Earl, who d. 1789, he is styled "Duc de Châtellerault." On the other hand, the Dukes of Hamilton [S.], from 1651 to 1799, during which time they were the heirs of line to the grantee, never assumed or claimed such title. Since 1799, the family of Stanley, Earls of Derby (as descendants and representatives of the 6th Duke) have been such heirs; but they also, never assumed nor claimed such title. The family of La Trémoille, the possessors of the Duchy, however, long since adopted it, and made use of it in 1748, when the then Duc de la Trémoille styled himself Duc de Châtellerault in his protest as to his right to the Kingdom of Naples.

After the restoration of the French monarchy the 10th Duke of Hamilton advanced his claim to the Dukedom of Châtellerault, which was, however, opposed by the Abercorn line, the heirs male. In 1819, he assumed the title, and his wife was received at the French Court as a Duchess (which indeed she was), but probably only as a foreign lady of that rank. Charles X of France took advantage of the disputed succession to drop all recognition of the title. The 11th Duke of Hamilton [S.] (s. of the 10th Duke) having m. a cousin of Napoleon III, renewed his claim. His rank and that of his wife was in 1855 settled in the French Court as being next to that of the Imperial family. Nothing, however, was said of the title of Duc de Châtellerault till (shortly after his death in July, 1863) the following paragraph relating to his s., the 12th Duke, appeared on 25 Aug. 1864, in the "Bulletin des Lois," viz., that the "Duc d'Hamilton a été maintenu et confirmé, par décret du 20 Avril 1864, dans le titre héréditaire de Duc de Châtellerault, crée par le Roi de France, Henri II, en 1548, en faveur de Jacques Hamilton, Comte d'Arran." Such "confirmation," however, appears only to apply to a creation of 20 April 1864, for with respect to the creation of 1548/9, the opinion of W. B. D. Turnbull, in his "Factum touching the restitution of the Duchy of Chatelherault" (Edinburgh, 1843), is doubtless correct, viz., "that his Grace of Hamilton being neither heir male nor heir female [h. of line] has as much right to it as he has to the throne of China."

The decree of the Emperor was so far favourable to the Abercorn line (the heirs male), in that it acknowledged the creation of an hereditary French Dukedom which his predecessors had ignored; and, this being acknowledged, it would appear to follow that its descent would be (as set out in the decree of Louis XIV) to the h. male of the body of the grantee. Inasmuch, however, as the decree assigned the said title to the Duke of Hamilton [S.], the Marquess of Abercorn appealed against it in 1864-5. The "Conseil d'Etat aux Contentieux," nevertheless, decided against him, and found him "liable in expenses," which decision was "approved of" 11 Aug. 1866 by the Emperor. It is stated (see The Times, 22 Sep. 1866), that the appeal was not "rejected by the 'Council' on a question of right, but solely on the incompetence of the [said] 'Council' to reconsider or reverse the decree of the Emperor, who, in 1864, re-created that title in favour of his relative, without any consideration being given to the claims of the Marquis of Abercorn to the original title." See the able article on "The Dukedom of Châtellerault," by R. R. Stodart, already referred to, from which most of the above remarks are taken; see also Requête et Pièces pour Milord Comte d'Aran, touchant la restitution de Duché de Châtellerault et des autres choses comprises dans le don fait par le Roy Henry II, &c., 1685, 4to., pp. 26; also see Mémoire Justificatif de droit qui appartient à M. Le Duc d'Hamilton de porter le titre de Duc de Châtellerault, Paris, 8vo., pp. 64, where the argument of "A. Teulet, Archiviste aux Archives d'Empire," against the right of the h. of line in 1799, but in favour of the right of such h. in 1652 (which two points are necessary for his case), is rather amusing; see also (a much more able work) Consultation pour James Hamilton, Marquis d'Abercorn, &c., contre le Duc d'Hamilton, Paris, privately printed, 1865, 8vo., pp. 95, signed "E. Reverchon, Avocat à la Cour Impériale, &c."

APPENDIX C

PRECEDENCY OF PEERS IN PARLIAMENT BY ROYAL PREROGATIVE

The prerogative of the Crown as to the precedence of Peers of the same grade inter se, has been frequently exercised, as in the case of SOMERSET (1397) by Richard II; of DORSET (1441), of EXETER, of WARWICK, of BUCKINGHAM, of DE LISLE, of RICHMOND, and of PEMBROKE, by Henry VI; of DACRE OF GILLESLAND by Edward IV; and of PEMBROKE (Marchioness) by Henry VIII. This precedence, however, as regards place in Parliament was disputed in the case of the patent of the Earldom of Banbury, in 1626, as being contrary to the Statute of Precedency of 31 Henry VIII, which regulates the order of certain great offices and which enacts "that all Dukes not afore mentioned, Marquesses, Earls, Viscounts and Barons not having any of the offices afsd., shall sit and be placed after their ancienty as it hath been accustomed." As to the meaning of the above phrase, Sir Harris Nicolas remarks (in his "Observations on precedency in patents of Peerage") that "the purport of the clause appears to be that the former practise respecting the Precedency of Peers, excepting in the instances of those who held certain high offices, should remain as before the passing of the act." Anyhow, very shortly after that act (1) Edward Courtenay, a descendant, through the female line, of the old Earls of Devon, (temp. Stephen), was cr. (1553) EARL OF DEVON "to him and his heirs male" with a clause of precedency, viz. that he and his successors "were to enjoy in Parliament, as well as in all other places whatsoever, such place and precedence as any of the ancestors of the said Earl, heretofore Earls of Devon, had ever had or enjoyed." (2) In 1557, Thomas, Lord Percy (who had been so cr. in tail male the previous day, being s. and h. of the attainted Sir Thomas Percy, next br. and, in his issue, h. to Henry, Earl of Northumberland) was cr. EARL OF NORTHUMBERLAND also in tail male with a spec. rem. of each peerage in favour of his yr. br. (such creation in no way amounting to a restitution), and with an especial clause granting the ancient place of the Earldom as it had been held by his ancestors, under which clause he sat in Parliament (as the second Earl of the realm) between the Earl of Arundel and the Earl of Westmorland (Lords' Journals, vol. i, 533). (3) William

Parr, the attainted MARQUESS OF NORTHAMPTON, being restored in blood but not in honours was, on 13 Jan. 1559, again cr. by such title with the precedency of the former creation (1547), to which no objection was ever made by the Lords. (4) In 1603, the King having awarded the BARONY OF ABERGAVENNY to Edward Nevill (who was neither heir nor a coheir of any former Baron), the House assigned to him its old precedency, though, in this case without, apparently, a royal warrant to that effect; while, on the other hand, (5) without consulting Parliament, and simply by royal warrant, 31 March 1613, the EARL OF ABERCORN, a Scottish Earl, was authorised "to hold the place and PRECEDENCY OF AN EARL" in the Parliament of Ireland. (6) In 1618 the King granted to Charles (Howard), EARL OF NOTTINGHAM, a descendant (but not the representative nor even a coheir) of John (Mowbray,) Earl of Nottingham in 1377, the same "place and precedency as well in Parliament as in the Star chamber, &c.," as was possessed by his said ancestor, and "above all Earls of a later creation," in which precedency (of 1377) he sat for the remainder of his life. Such then were the precedents which Charles I followed when (7) in 1626 the precedency of the previous year was granted to the EARLDOM OF BANBURY, a precedency which was, after protest, acquiesced in by the House of Lords for the Earl's life, and not for his heirs. No such acquiescence, however, was given to (8) the precedency of the BARONY OF MONTJOY conferred, 5 June 1627, on Montjoy (Blount), Baron Montjoy in Ireland. In this creation the clause of precedency was over all (they were but two) Barons cr. after the 20th day of May last past. On complaints being preferred by these two Barons, (viz. by Lord Fauconberg, who had been cr. 25 May, and by Lord Lovelace, who was cr. 30 May in the same year), the point was referred to the Lords' Committee for Privileges, who reported 29 April 1628 that the Committee had considered thereof, and are of opinion, "That according to the statute 31 Henry VIII, and according to a former judgment of this House, in the like case of precedency (granted to the Earl of Banbury), that the said Baron Fauconberg and the said Baron Lovelace are to have place and precedence according to the ancienties and dates of their several patents before the said Baron Montjoy, whose patent of creation bears date afterward, notwithstanding the said clause in his patent to the contrary." See Lords' Journals, vol. iii, p. 174. The natural result of this report was that Lord Montjoy was, on 3 Aug. following, raised to the rank of an Earl, as Earl of Newport. Before, however, the date of the report of the Lords' Committee, the King (9) on 7 Apr. 1628 granted a patent to Henry (Percy), Earl of Northumberland and BARON PERCY (under the limitation of the creations of 1557 above mentioned, in which a spec. precedence had been granted to the Earldom but not to the Barony), "that he and his heirs male" should enjoy "the same seat, place and degree of Baron Percy as well in Parliament as elsewhere," as any the said Earl's ancestor. Under this patent the Earl's son and h. ap., who had already been sum. in his father's Barony, sat in the old precedence (in lieu of that of 1557), and his claim to precede Lord Abergavenny came before the Lords' Committee in 1628-9. It is to be remembered that this Earl, though inheriting the Barony of Percy under the spec. rem. of the creation of 1557 was not the heir gen. nor even a coheir of the ancient Lords Percy. (10) On 12 Sep. 1640, Sir William Howard and Mary his wife, sister and h. of Henry, Lord Stafford, were cr. respectively BARON STAFFORD and BARONESS STAFFORD, with a warrant of precedency "to possess such place and precedency of Baron of Stafford as well in Parliament, &c., as Henry, late br. of the said Mary, in his lifetime Baron of Stafford, ever held or enjoyed." Sir William took his seat in the old Barony of Stafford, cr. 1298, which seems to have been then under forfeiture. The question of his right to do so having been referred to the Committee for Privileges, the King, to prevent controversy (as in the similar case of Montjoy in 1627), raised him to a higher rank, 11 Nov. 1640, as Viscount Stafford. In Garter's list of Peeresses at the coronation of James II, this early precedency (1298) was allowed to his widow, suo jure Baroness Stafford (her husband's Viscountcy and Barony being under attainder), such list having been duly approved of by the King in Council. When, however, in 1829, the attainder of her husband was reversed and their h. gen. inherited his and her Barony, the place assigned to it was according to the patent of creation (1640), the Lord Chancellor Eldon stating that, having the case of Banbury in view, the clause of precedency was void.

The last case of a warrant of precedency of higher date than the creation of the Peerage is one that does not involve any rank in Parliament, being that of Alice Dudley, cr. 23 May 1644, DUCHESS DUDLEY for her life. Her husband had been cr. a Duke by Ferdinand II of Tuscany, by patent dat. 9 March 1620 at Vienna, and her precedency was to date from the time of such creation. The words in the grant are "out of our Prerogative Royal which we will not have drawn into dispute."

So late, however, as February 1645/6 (as has been pointed out to the Editor by J. H. Round), the Crown endeavoured to follow the Abergavenny precedent by diverting the descent of the Barony of Windsor (a barony in fee), with its ancient precedence, in favour of the heirs male of the body of a coheir, though the endeavour was abandoned. (See Studies in Peerage and Family History, pp. 360-361). The same informant mentions the similar attempt previously made by the Crown in the Patent granted to Sir Conyers Darcy in 1641 which made him Baron Darcy, with the precedence of Henry IV's reign, and with a limitation of the Barony to the heirs male of his body. The House, however, appears to have ignored this grant.

APPENDIX D

PRECEDENCY ANOMALOUSLY ALLOWED

The precedence due to certain Baronies of ancient creation has been allowed in the following cases to the person sum. therein, though such person has not been the h. gen. or even a coheir of the Barony, and would not, according to the now accepted notion, have been entitled to such precedence. There is some ground for supposing that to certain ancient Baronies (say those before temp. Henry VI.) certain seats in the House of Lords were formerly assigned, and that to such seats the persons sum. in the name of such Baronies (whether entitled thereto by descent or otherwise), were deemed to be entitled.

(1) In 1421 James Berkeley, h. male (but not h. gen.) of Thomas, LORD BERKELEY (sum. by writ 1295) was himself sum. by writ as a Baron, and he (probably) was, and his heirs (certainly) were, allowed the precedency of the old Barony, in which his grandson Thomas sat (1529-33), though, as the latter was not in possession of the Castle or estate of Berkeley, the precedence could not (in his case, at all events) be due to a Barony by tenure.

(2) In 1533/4 Henry Pole was sum. by writ as LORD MONTAGU, and sat in the precedency of the Barony of that name (under a sum. by writ 1299), though his mother, through whom his claim was derived, was then living.

(3) In 1558 Henry (Stafford), LORD STAFFORD, (who having been declared BARON STAFFORD, with rem. to the heirs male of his body by Act of Parliament 1547 had taken his seat as junior Baron in 1548) claimed and was allowed the precedency of the BARONY OF STAFFORD (under a sum. by writ 1298), which, so far from being vested in him, was then actually under forfeiture.

(4) In 1571 (on 4 April) Thomas Paget was sum. by writ in a Barony of that name, cr. by writ 1549, and was ranked accordingly. If the date of death of Elizabeth, da. and h. of the last Baron (viz. 29 June 1571) be correct, he would not have been so entitled till two months later, viz., after her death, s.p.

(5) In 1597, Thomas (West) LORD DE LA WARR, whose father had sat as junior Baron under a creation of 1570, was allowed the precedency of the ancient Barony of De la Warr (cr. by writ), of which he was not, apparently, h. gen.

(6) In 1604 Edward Nevill, a descendant, but neither h. nor coheir of William (Beauchamp), LORD BERGAVENTY (who was sum. by writ 1392), was himself sum. by writ as LORD BERGAVENTY and allowed the precedence of the older lords, that is to say, a much higher precedence than that of 1392, the earliest to which he would have been entitled had the Barony been treated as a Barony by writ. E.g., temp. Henry VIII Bergavenny was ranked above Zouche (1308), Willoughby (1313), de la Warr, Dacre, Ferrers, &c. (See J. H. Round's Peerage and Pedigree).

In the cases subsequent to this date the writs were issued by inadvertence, viz. :—

(7) On 7 Feb. 1627/8 Henry Clifford, s. and h. ap. of the EARL OF CUMBERLAND, being sum. by writ as LORD CLIFFORD (under the erroneous impression that that ancient Barony was vested in his father), sat in the precedency of the BARONY OF CLIFFORD, under a sum. by writ 1299. In 1691 the claim of the h. gen. to the old Barony of 1299 was allowed, and in 1737 the claim of the h. gen. to the Barony of 1627/8 was also allowed, but not (of course) the ancient precedency of 1299, this latter Barony being ranked as one cr. by the writ of 1627/8, de novo, notwithstanding the high precedence which had formerly (though erroneously) been assigned to it.

(8) On 7 Mar. 1627/8, (a few weeks later) James Stanley, s. and h. ap. of the EARL OF DERBY, was sum. by writ as LORD STRANGE (under a like erroneous impression), and sat in the precedency of the BARONY OF STRANGE, cr. by writ 1299. In 1736/7 the claim of the h. gen. to the Barony cr. by the writ of summons of 1627/8 was allowed, but not the precedency of the old Barony of 1299, which last was then, as now, in abeyance, the Lord Strange (in 1754) taking his place, as a Baron of 1627/8, next immediately below Lord Maynard.

(9) In 1722 Algernon Seymour (styled Earl of Hertford), s. and h. ap. of the DUKE OF SOMERSET was sum. by writ as Lord Percy (under a like erroneous impression that that ancient Barony had become vested in him on the decease of his mother), and sat in the precedency of the BARONY OF PERCY, cr. by writ 1299. This precedence was also allowed to his grandson and h. in 1777, and again to his great-grandson in 1817. There can, however, be no question that the old Barony of 1299, though under attainder, is in abeyance between the descendants of the daughters and coheirs of the 5th Earl of Northumberland, who d. 1572, and that the precedence, allowed in 1722 and subsequently, was probably (like the issue of the writ) in ignorance of the real facts of the case.

Note.—To the BARONY OF PERCY, cr. in tail male 1557, the ancient precedence (i.e., that of 1299) “in Parliament as elsewhere” was granted by Charles I, by patent 2 Apr. 1628. In virtue of this grant, Algernon Percy (s. and h. ap. of the EARL OF NORTHUMBERLAND), who sat in his father's Barony, 1626 to 1632, as BARON PERCY, was after (though not before) 1628 rightly placed in the precedency of 1299. This barony, however, and the precedency of 1299 (so granted thereto in 1628), became extinct in 1670.

The following errors have also occurred in writs of summons, but in no way affect the question of precedency :—

In 1717 Charles Pawlet (styled Marquess of Winchester), s. and h. ap. of the DUKE OF BOLTON, was sum. as a Baron, by writ directed “Carolo Pawlet de Basing, &c.,” and sat as LORD PAWLET OF BASING. This was under the erroneous impression that this Barony was vested in his father, whereas the name of his father’s Barony was ST. JOHN OF BASING. It was held to be a writ of fresh creation, and he was placed as the lowest Baron and thereby obtained a Barony in fee. On his death, however, s.p., in 1754, this Barony become extinct.

In 1833 Francis Russell (styled Marquess of Tavistock), s. and h. ap. of the DUKE OF BEDFORD, was sum. as a Baron, by writ erroneously directed to “Francis Russell of Streatham, co. Surrey, chevalier.” The Barony, which was vested in his father, was that of HOWLAND [not RUSSELL] OF STREATHAM, co. Surrey, cr. 1695. In this case, however, it having been declared from the chair that his Lordship’s summons was “in his father’s Barony,” in that Barony (i.e., “Howland,” cr. 1695) the Marquess was placed, and consequently no new Barony in fee was created.

Judging from these cases (more especially from those of Strange and Clifford), it would appear that, in spite of a wrongful placing in the House, a writ of summons to a person not being an heir or coheir to the Barony in which he is sum. creates a Barony de novo and one of no higher date than the writ.

APPENDIX E

SCOTTISH PEERAGES FORFEITED AFTER THE RISINGS OF 1715 AND 1745, AND SUBSEQUENT RESTORATIONS

1715

By the Rising of 1715 no less than 19 Scottish Peerages, together with the Earldom of DERWENTWATER, the Barony of WIDDRINGTON, and the Dukedom of ORMOND in England (which last, however, was held with the Barony of Dingwall [S.], and so is included among the 19 Scottish Peerages abovenamed) were forfeited by attainder. This, however, in ten cases (those marked *) was reversed by acts of Parl. in 1824, 1826, and subsequently, while in one case, that of Sinclair, it came to an end. This list [S.] is (alphabetically arranged) as under :—

- * AIRLIE (Ogilvie), Earldom ; after death [1717] of the then [1715] Earl. Restored 26 May 1826.
- * BALFOUR OF BURLEIGH (Balfour), Barony. Restored 19 March 1869.
- * CARNWATH (Dalzell), Earldom. Restored (nominatim) 26 May 1826.
- * DINGWALL (Butler), Barony, held, in 1715, with the Dukedom of Ormond [E.] Restored 31 July 1871.
- * DUFFUS (Sutherland), Barony. Restored (nominatim) 26 May 1826; dormant or extinct 30 Jan. 1827.
- * KENMURE (Gordon), Viscounty. Restored (nominatim) 17 June 1824 ; dormant or extinct 1 Sept. 1847.
- KILSYTH (Livingston), Viscounty. The Grantee's heirs male of the body, extinct 12 Jan. 1733.
- KINGSTON (Seton), Viscounty ; extinct about 1726.
- LINLITHGOW and CALENDAR (Livingston), Earldom. The Grantee's heirs male of the body, extinct 25 April 1723.
- * MAR (Erskine), Earldom. Restored (nominatim) 17 June 1824, and, again, 6 Aug. 1885.
- MARISCHAL (Keith), Earldom. The Grantee's heirs male of the body existed down to 1833, and possibly later.

- * NAIRNE (Nairne), Barony. Restored (nominatim) 17 June 1824.
 NITHSDALE (Maxwell), Earldom. The attainder reversed 9 June 1848, as far as relates to the issue of the forfeited Earl, whereby the Barony of HERRIES OF TERREGLES, held therewith in 1715, was restored to the heir general.
 PANMURE (Maule), Earldom. The Grantee's heirs male of the body, extinct 4 Jan. 1782.
 * PERTH (Drummond), Earldom; after death [1716] of the then [1715] Earl. Restored 28 June 1853.
 SEAFORTH (Mackenzie), Earldom. The Grantee's heirs male of the body, extinct 11 Jan. 1815.
 SINCLAIR (Sinclair), Barony. The effect of the attainder came to an end 30 Nov. 1762, and the Peerage was allowed accordingly.
 * SOUTHESK (Carnegie), Earldom. Restored 2 July 1855.
 WINTOUN (Seton), Earldom. The Earl d. s.p. 19 Dec. 1749.

The holders of five of these peerages—Carnwath, Kenmure, Nairne, Nithsdale and Wintoun, together with the English Lords, Derwentwater and Widdrington, were condemned to death. Derwentwater and Kenmure were beheaded 24 Feb. 1715/6, Nithsdale having effected his escape the previous day. Carnwath, Nairne, and Widdrington were respited till preserved by the act of indemnity, while Wintoun, on 4 Aug. 1716, also effected his escape. "A large breadth of land was forfeited by special statutes passed for attainting the Lords Mar, Tullibardine [s. and h. ap. of the Duke of Atholl], Linlithgow, Drummond [s. and h. ap. of the Earl of Perth], Marischal, Southesk, Seaforth, and Panmure." "The epoch of a change of dynasty is not an appropriate time for a sanguinary retaliation," and "there was a palliation on this occasion which did not attend the subsequent rebellion of 1745." The celebrated Duncan Forbes, Lord Advocate [S.], truly "predicted that excessive penalties and forfeitures following the first outbreak against the Hanover succession would infallibly lay the foundation of another." See J. H. Burton's Scotland, under 1716-18.

1745

By the Rising of 1745, seven Scottish Peerages were forfeited by attainder. This act, however, in three cases (those marked *) was reversed by acts of Parl. in 1824, 1826 and 1854. The list is as under:—

- BALMERINOCHE and COUPAR (Elphinstone), Barony. The grantee's heirs male of the body, extinct 18 Aug. 1746.
 CROMARTY (Mackenzie), Earldom. The grantee's heirs male of the body, extinct 4 Nov. 1796.
 FORBES OF PITSLIGO (Forbes), Barony. The grantee's heirs male of the body, extinct 30 Aug. 1781.
 KILMARNOCK (Boyd), Earldom. The heir male of the body of the attainted Earl is the Earl of Erroll [S.].

- * LOVAT (Fraser), Barony [forfeited 19 March 1746/7] Restored 10 July 1854.
[Pitsligo, see Forbes of Pitsligo].
- * STRATHALLAN (Drummond), Viscounty. Restored 17 June 1824.
- * WEMYSS (Wemyss), Earldom, forfeited after the death [1756] of the then (1745) Earl. Restored 26 May 1826.

In the act of 19 Geo. II., there were also included ;

Alexander (Erskine) EARL OF KELLIE, who having surrendered before 12 July 1746 (before the attainder took effect), was pardoned.

“ James DRUMMOND, Esq., ” 1st s. and h. ap. of William, VISCOUNT OF STRATHALLAN.

“ Simon FRASER, Esq., ” 1st s. and h. ap. of Simon, LORD LOVAT.

“ James DRUMMOND, taking upon himself the title of DUKE OF PERTH ” [i.e. James then styled Lord Drummond, attainted by act 1 Geo. I., s. and h. ap. of the Earl of Perth, to whose dignities he was accordingly barred from succeeding].

“ James GRAHAM, late of Duntroon, taking upon himself the title of VISCOUNT OF DUNDEE ” [i.e., the collateral heir male of that Viscounty, cr. 1688 ; forfeited 1690].

“ John NAIRN taking upon himself the title or style of LORD NAIRN ” [i.e., John, s. and h. of William, Lord Nairne, who was attainted by act, 1 Geo. I.].

“ David OGILVIE taking upon himself the title of LORD OGILVIE ” [i.e., David, s. and h. ap. of John, who, but for the attainder of his brother, by act, 1 Geo. I., would have been from 1731 to 1761, Earl of Airlie. He himself, but for such attainder, would have been, in 1761, EARL OF AIRLIE].

The list also contains the following persons connected with the Scottish nobility, viz., LORD GEORGE MURRAY (br. to the Duke of Atholl), LORD LEWIS GORDON (br. to the Duke of Gordon), “ John Drummond taking upon himself the style or title of LORD JOHN DRUMMOND, br. to James, taking on himself the title of Duke of Perth, ” five of the clan of Macdonald, four of that of Cameron, &c.

The holders of four of these seven Peerages were condemned to death, of whom Balmerinloch and Kilmarnock were (accordingly) beheaded on 18 August 1746, Lovat on 9 April 1747, while Cromarty was subsequently pardoned. “ A list of Persons attainted after the '45, ” is in The Scottish Antiquary, (Ed. by A. W. G. Hallen, F.S.A.) for Sep. 1890, vol. v, pp. 49—53.

RESTORATIONS

The following is a return, pursuant to an order of the House of Lords, dat. 15 June 1885, of “ All Acts of Parl. passed during the last 200 years by which a Peerage has been restored to the person entitled to hold the same : ” —

1. 1742/3 March 21. Dignity and title of EARL OF DONCASTER and of BARON SCOTT OF TINDAL restored to Francis (SCOTT), Duke of Buccleuch [S.].
  2. 1824 June 17. Ditto of EARL OF MAR [S.] to "John Francis ERSKINE of Mar."
  3. " " " " " " VISCOUNT KENMURE [S.] to "John GORDON, Esq., of Kenmure."
  4. " " " " " " VISCOUNT STRATHALLAN [S.] to "James DRUMMOND, Esq."
  5. " " " " " " LORD NAIRN [S.] to "William NAIRNE, Esq."
  6. 1826 May 26. " " BARON DUFFUS [S.] to "James SUTHERLAND, Esq."
  7. " " " " " " EARL OF CARNWATH [S.] to "Major-Gen. Robert Alexander DALZELL."
- To which may now be added
8. 1885 August 6. "An act for restitution of the ancient dignity and title of EARL OF MAR" [S.] to John Francis Erskine GOODEVE-ERSKINE.

With the exception of the first one in this list, all these restorations were of peerages forfeited in connexion with the Risings of 1715 and 1745.

It should be observed that the restoration of 1742/3 applied only to the Duke of Buccleuch [S.] and the heirs male of his body, whereas all the other restorations are to the persons entitled to succeed the restored person in the specified dignities. This partial restoration, whereby the inferior dignities held by the attainted Duke of Monmouth were restored, excluding the Dukedom, is probably accounted for by the Earldom of Monmouth, cr. in 1689, being still in existence in the family of Mordaunt. Had it been extinct, no doubt the interest that prevailed for the restoration of the Earldom belonging to this cowardly and self-seeking traitor would have prevailed as to the restoration of his Dukedom, which, had it been restored, would now (1910) rank as the 3rd English Dukedom. A somewhat similar partial restoration of honours was that in 1858 of those of the Earl of Nithsdale [S.], attainted in 1715, whose attainder as far as concerned the Barony of Herries of Terregles [S.] was reversed, whereby the heir general became entitled to the Barony, whilst the Earldom, which was to heirs male, was still left under attainder.

As to the 7 Peerages restored from 1685 to 1885 in the above table, those only are included which were so restored nominatim, but many were restored indirectly, as

The EARLDOM of WEMYSS [S. 1633] and the Barony of Wemyss of Elcho [S. 1628] were so restored by an Act dated 26 May 1826 "to restore Francis, Baron Wemyss and others from the effects of the attainder of David Wemyss, commonly called Lord Elcho."

The EARLDOM of AIRLIE [S. 1639], the Barony of Ogilvy of Airlie [S. 1491], and the Barony of Ogilvy of Alith and Lintrathen [S. 1639], were restored by an Act of like date "to restore David Ogilvy Esq., and others from the effects of the attainder of James, eldest son of David, Earl of Airlie, and of David Ogilvy taking upon himself the title of Lord Ogilvy."

The EARLDOM OF PERTH [S.] was restored in 1853; the EARLDOM OF SOUTHESK [S.] in 1855; the BARONY OF LOVAT [S.] in 1857; the BARONY OF HERRIES [S.] in 1858; the BARONY OF BALFOUR [S.] in 1869; the BARONY OF DINGWALL [S.] in 1871.

APPENDIX F

JACOBITE PEERAGES

James II was declared, by the English Parliament (6 Feb. 1688/9), to have abdicated the throne on 11 Dec. 1688.

In Scotland no similar declaration was made till 4 Apr. 1689, but only one Scottish peerage, and that only for life, was cr. by James II between 11 Dec. 1688 and that date. He however cr. 6 Irish Peers, when in Ireland, during a time when the government was carried on solely in his name (which was the case till the landing of Gen. Schomberg in Ulster in Aug. 1689), and when he was at all events the de facto King of Ireland.

The acts of a King in possession have, as a rule, been recognised by his successor : e.g., the Peerages cr. by Henry VI were acknowledged by Edward IV ; those cr. by Richard III were acknowledged by Henry VII ; though in both these cases (unlike the case of 1689) the preceding monarch was considered as an usurper by his successor.

There remains indeed the constitutional question, whether Ireland, being “a dependent, subordinate kingdom,” and “inseparably united” to the Crown of England (see Blackstone, i, 99-104, and Coke, Inst., iv, 349, &c.), an “Abdication” in England would not override all kingly rights in Ireland, and the soundest legal opinion would, in all probability, be that it does so. By an Irish Statute, 33 Henry VIII, it is enacted that the King of England is ipso facto King of Ireland. The statutes relating to the Crown were not re-enacted in Ireland after the Revolution.

Such Irish Peerages, however, as were cr. by James II in 1689—at a time when he was in full possession of all his Regal Rights as King of Ireland, all of which creations, moreover, were duly enrolled on the Patent Rolls of that Kingdom, from which they have never been erased—stand in a very different category from other Peerages cr. by that King after his (so called) “abdication” of the throne of England on 11 Dec. 1688. By a singular coincidence, however, nearly all these Irish Peerages, at no long time after their creation, became either extinct or merged. In 1839, in the case of “Nugent of Riverston” (the only one then existing per se), the dignity was claimed but no decision was pronounced thereupon ; and in 1871 this peerage also (assuming its existence) merged into the Earldom of Westmeath [I.].

IRISH PEERAGES

CREATED BY JAMES II IN 1689

(while he was de facto King of Ireland) are as follows,—being (besides the minor incidental creations) one Dukedom, three Viscountcies, and three Baronies :—

1689. Mar. 30, Warrant, 25 Mar. Richard (Talbot), Earl of Tyrconnell [I.], cr. MARQUESS AND DUKE OF TYRCONNELL [I.]. Attainted, 1691. He d. s.p.m., 14 Aug. 1691.
1689. Apr. 2, Warrant same day. John Bourke, cr. BARON BOURKE OF BOPHIN, co. Galway [I.]. In 1705 any Peerage so cr. became merged in the Earldom of Clanricarde [I.].
1689. Apr. 3, Warrant same day. Thomas Nugent, cr. BARON NUGENT OF RIVERSTON, co. Westmeath [I.]. In 1871 any Peerage so cr. became merged in the Earldom of Westmeath [I.].
1689. Apr. 20, Warrant same day. Sir Valentine Browne, Bart. [I.], cr. BARON CASTLEROSSE AND VISCOUNT KENMARE [I.]. Attainted 1690. On 14 Feb. 1798, his great-grandson and h. male (the attainer never having been reversed) was cr. a Peer by the same titles, and subsequently (2 Jan. 1801) was cr. EARL OF KENMARE [I.].
1689. May. 1, Warrant same day. Sir Alexander Fitton, Lord Chancellor [I.], cr. BARON FITTON OF GOSWORTH, co. Limerick [I.]. He d. s.p.m. about Nov. 1699.
1689. May 23, Warrant May. Lieut. Gen. Justin McCarty, cr. BARON CASTLEINCH AND VISCOUNT MOUNTCASHELL, both in co. Tipperary [I.]. He d. s.p. July 1694.
1689. Aug. 23. Edward Cheevers, cr. BARON BANNOW, co. Wexford, AND VISCOUNT MOUNT-LEINSTER, co. Carlow [I.]. He d. s.p. 1693.

PEERAGES CREATED

BY JAMES II AFTER 11 DEC. 1688

Other than the seven Irish Peerages mentioned above.

As far as these can be ascertained they are, in chronological order, as under :—

- 1688/9. Jan. 3/13. Donna Victoria Montecuculi Davia, cr. COUNTESS OF ALMOND [S.] for life.
- 1688/9. Jan. 21. Richard (Graham), Viscount Preston [S.], cr. BARON OF LIDDAL, Cumberland, and VISCOUNT PRESTON in Amounderness, co. Lancaster, with a spec. rem. On 9 Nov. 1689, he claimed his privilege

- as an English peer, in right hereof, but the creation was disallowed. (*)
Attainted 1690. His issue male extinct 1739.
1689. July 9, Warrant same day. Henry (Jermyn), Lord Dover, cr. LORD JERMYN OF RAYSTOWNE, [i.e. Royston], BARON OF IPSWICH, VISCOUNT CHEVELEY, Suffolk, and EARL OF DOVER. He d. s.p., 1708.
1689. Aug. 7. John (Drummond), Earl of Melfort [S.], cr. BARON OF CLEWORTH [i.e. CLEWER], BERKS, with like spec. rem. as that with which that Scottish Earldom had been conferred. (b) See "Melfort," Dukedom of, cr. 1692, by James II, as below.
- 1689 or 1690? [—]. Dominick Roche, Alderman of Limerick, cr. BARON TARBERT and VISCOUNT CAHIRAVAHILLA [I.]. (c)
- 1690/1. Jan. [—]. Patrick Sarsfield (the celebrated Irish General), cr. BARON ROSBERRY, VISCOUNT OF TULLY, and EARL OF LUCAN, CO. Dublin [I.], by a patent brought over from St. Germain to Ireland by the Lord Deputy Tyrconnell [I.]. His only son d. s.p.
- 1692? [—]. Piers (Butler), Viscount Galmoye [I.], cr. EARL OF NEWCASTLE [I.]. Attainted 1697. His issue male extinct 1740.
1692. Apr. 17, Warrant same day. John (Drummond), Earl of Melfort [S.], cr. DUKE OF MELFORT, as also "MARQUIS OF FORTH, EARL OF ISLA AND BURNTIZLAND, VISCOUNT OF RIKERTON, LORD CASTLEMAINS AND GALSTON" [S.], (d) with the like spec. rem. as his former honours. Attainted 1695. [His heir was restored 28 June 1853.]
1692. May. 3. Sir Edward Hales, of Woodchurch, Kent, Bart. ; cr. EARL OF TENTERDEN, VISCOUNT TUNSTALL AND BARON HALES OF EMLEY, Kent, 3 May 1692, with a spec. rem. His issue male extinct 1829.
- 1691? Sir Edward Herbert, sometime (1685-87) Lord Chief Justice of the Court of King's Bench, was appointed by James II, when in exile, his Lord Chancellor, and cr. EARL OF PORTLAND. He d. s.p. Nov. 1698.
- 1691? [—]. Kenneth (Mackenzie), Earl of Seaforth [S.], cr. Earl, Viscount, or Baron, FORTROSE and MARQUESS OF SEAFORTH [S.]. Attainted 1716. His issue male extinct 1815.
- 1696, Warrant, 13 Jan. 1695/6. Henry Fitz James, cr. BARON OF ROMNEY, EARL OF ROCHFORD, and DUKE OF ALBEMARLE [E.]. He d. s.p. 1702.

(*) It has been pointed out to the Editor by J. H. Round that, as William and Mary were not offered the Crown and proclaimed Sovereigns till 13 Feb. 1688/9, this (and the preceding) creation took place during an interregnum, a point which was raised at the time. V.G.

(c) See Ferrar's History of Limerick.

(d) See Riddell, pp. 963-965. On 28 June 1853, the h. male of his body, George Drummond, Duc de Melfort in France, was restored in blood, and consequently became entitled to the Earldoms of Perth and Melfort [S.]; inasmuch as his ancestor, the 1st Earl of Melfort (cr. Duke by James II in 1689 as above) was 2nd s. of the 3rd Earl of Perth, and next br. to the 4th Earl (cr. Duke of Perth by the titular James III) whose issue male had failed in 1760.

1698. Apr. 12. Virgilio Davia, Senator of Bologna, cr. BARON DAVIA, VISCOUNT MONEYDIE and EARL OF ALMOND [S.].

[—] . . . Purcell, said to have been cr. BARON LOUGHMORE [I.] but query? Nicholas Purcell, Lord of the Barony of Lougmow, co. Tipperary, was Col. of a Regiment of Horse in James II's army [I.] 1689. Many of that name "followed the fortunes of James the Second to the Continent." <sup>(a)</sup>

[—] . . . De Cantillon, said to have been cr. BARON BALLYHIGUE [I.], but query if not a French creation? <sup>(b)</sup>

[—] Humphrey Borlase of Treludro, Cornwall, is said to have been cr. by James II after his dethronement LORD BORLASE OF BORLASE, and BARON OF MITCHELL, Cornwall. He d. s.p.s. 1709.

[—] Walter Pye is said to have been cr. BARON KILPEE [E.].

The abovenamed creations of James II (after 11 Dec. 1688), if arranged according to the highest dignity conferred (omitting the incidental titles), amount to 4 Dukedoms, viz. :—Tyrconnell [I.], Powis [E.], Melfort [S.], and Albemarle [E.]; one Marquessate, viz. :—Seaforth [S.]; 7 Earldoms, viz. :—Almond [S.] for life, Dover [E.], Newcastle [I.], Lucan [I.], Tenterden [E.], Portland [E.], and Almond [S.]; 5 Viscountcies, viz. :—Kenmare [I.], Mountcashell [I.], Mount Leinster [I.], Preston [S.], and Cahiravahilla [I.]; and 5, or possibly 9 Baronies, viz. :—Fitton [I.], Bourke of Bophin [I.], Nugent of Riverston [I.], Liddal [E.], Cleworth [E.], and (Qy.) Loughmore [I.], Ballyhigue [I.], Borlase [E.], and Kilpee [E.]. In all 21 or 25 creations, of which 6 (Tyrconnell, Powis, Jermyn, Galmoy, Melfort, and Seaforth) were already Peers of the Kingdom in which they were thus granted a dignity of a higher grade.

PEERAGES CREATED

BY JAMES FRANCIS EDWARD STUART titular "JAMES III" 1701-66

Note.—The list is arranged according to the rank of the Peerage conferred. It is to be observed that there are some Scottish creations among them after 1707, inasmuch as the Union with Scotland was not recognised by the exiled House of Stuart.

DUKES

<sup>(b)</sup> The arms of "Cantillon de Ballyhigue" are blazoned in H. Gourdon de Genouillac, Recueil d'Armoires des Maisons Nobles de France, Paris, 1860, 8vo. "The Chevalier Antoine Sylvain de Cantillon, Baron de Ballyheige in France" is mentioned in Sir B. Burke's Gen. Armory, 1878. J. H. Round suggests that the grantee may have been Sir Richard Cantillon, of the court of James III. V.G.

- CONCRAIG, VISCOUNT CARGILL, EARL OF STOBHALL, MARQUESS OF DRUMMOND and DUKE OF PERTH [S.]. His s. and h. ap. was attainted, v.p., in 1715. Issue male of the grantee extinct 1760.

1722. Charles (Butler), Earl of Arran [I.], cr. a Duke.* Qy. DUKE OF ARRAN [I.]? On 16 Nov. 1745 he became, de jure, DUKE OF ORMONDE [I.], but never assumed that title. He d. s.p., 1758.
1722. Thomas (Wentworth), Earl of Strafford (so cr. by Queen Anne), cr. DUKE OF STRAFFORD [E.] 5 Jan. 1721/2. His issue male extinct 1791.
1716. Philip (Wharton), Duke of Wharton (so cr. by George I.), was, 22 Dec. 1716 cr. by the titular James III, DUKE OF NORTHUMBERLAND, MARQUESS OF WOBURN, co. Bedford, EARL OF MALMESBURY, Wilts, and VISCOUNT WINCHENDEN, Bucks [E.]. Attainted in 1728. He d. s.p., 1731.
1718. Col. the Hon. John Hay, of Cromlix (3rd s. of Thomas, 6th Earl of Kinnoul [S.]) having joined in 1715 in proclaiming "James Francis" as "King" at Inverness, and having been attainted in 1716 accordingly, was cr. 5 Oct. 1718 EARL OF INVERNESS, VISCOUNT INNERPEFFRAY, and LORD CROMLIX AND ERNE [S.]; on 3 Apr. 1727 he was cr. BARON HAY [E.], and finally, 4 Apr. 1727, DUKE OF INVERNESS [S.].
1740. Simon (Fraser), Lord Lovat [S.], cr. 14 Mar. 1739/40 DUKE OF FRASER, MARQUESS OF BEAUFORT, EARL OF STRATHERRICK AND ABERTARF, VISCOUNT OF THE AIRD AND STRATHGLASS, and LORD LOVAT OF BEAULIEU [S.]. Attainted in 1747. His issue male extinct 1815.
- 1725? Henry Benedict Maria Clement Stuart, 2nd and yst. s. of the titular

* The name of the title unknown.

James III, attaining the age of twenty-one years on 21 Mar. 1746, was (probably at his birth) cr. (by his father) DUKE OF YORK. When he was made a Cardinal, he was popularly known as "Cardinal York." He d., unm., 13 July 1807, in his 83rd year, being the last legitimate descendant of James II.

MARQUESSSES

1715. James Paynter, of 'Trelisk' [Trelissick], Cornwall, was cr. 20 June 1715, at the Court of St. Germain, MARQUIS [sic] OF TRELISSICK, with rem. to the heirs male of his body.
- 1720? James Francis Fitz James, styled Earl of Tinmouth (being s. and h. ap. of James, (attainted) Duke of Berwick), is stated to have been cr. MARQUESS OF JAMAICA, but no proof has been found of such creation. He was also cr. a Spanish Duke, as DUKE OF LIRIA. In 1734 he suc. his father, and d. 1738. His issue male still (1910) exists.

EARLS

 1721. James Grant, of Grant, cr. BARON GRANT [S.] 24 June 1721.
 „ Sir Peter Redmond, cr. BARON REDMOND [I.] 15 Dec. 1721. He had been cr. a Bart. also by the titular James III, in 1717.
 1723. Charles Fraser, of Inverallochy, was cr., 20 July 1723, LORD FRASER OF MUCHALLS [S.].
 1724. Robert Sempill, is said to have been cr. BARON SEMPILL. <sup>(b)</sup>

<sup>(b)</sup> It appears however that there was no Jacobite creation of, but only a recognition of Robert's claim, as h. male, to the Barony of Sempill; see under that title. V.G.

1727. Sir Toby Bourke, cr. BARON BOURKE [I.] 3 Feb. 1726/7.

After the death of the titular James III (1 Jan. 1766) his s. and h., “Prince Charles Edward” (titular Charles III), assumed for himself the title of EARL OF ALBANY (Comte d’Albanie), and by deed 30 Mar. 1783 cr. his illegit. da. Charlotte, DUCHESS OF ALBANY. It is not known that he conferred any other titles, neither are any supposed to have been conferred by his br. and h., “Cardinal York” (titular Henry IX), on whose death, 13 July 1807, the legitimate issue of James II became extinct.

Note.—In “N. and Q.,” 3rd Ser., vol. ix, p. 71, there is a notice signed “B. B. Woodward” (the well-known Librarian at Windsor Castle) concerning the whereabouts of the records of many Jacobite titles of honour, and a list of Peerages, Baronetages, K.G.’s, and K.T.’s, so cr., is given. See also Oliphant’s Jacobite Lairds of Gask, “The Stuart Papers,” Hist. MSS. Com., and Ruvigny’s Jacobite Peerage.

ELDEST SONS OF PEERS SUMMONED TO PARLIAMENT V.P. IN ONE OF THEIR FATHERS' PEERAGES

In "Writs of Summons to the eldest son of a Peer in his father's Barony" (Courthope, p. xxxix) the effect of such writ is fully discussed in an able and lucid manner. It is there mentioned that "the only instance of a son sum. in his father's Earldom" is that of the Earl of Warwick (1552-53), 6 and 7 Edw. VI. It is also stated that in 1628 the s. of a Viscount (i.e. Edward Conway, s. and h. ap. of Edward, Baron Conway and Viscount Conway) was sum. v.p. in his father's Barony; and that in 1680 the s. of a Baron (i.e. Conyers Darcy, s. and h. of Conyers, Baron Darcy and Baron Conyers) was sum. v.p. in one of his father's Baronies. There is, however, a later such instance, when, in May 1723, Charles Townshend s. and h. ap. of Charles Viscount Townshend was sum. v.p. in his father's Barony. In no other cases has the s. of anyone below the rank of an Earl been so sum.

Among the nine instances of eldest sons of Irish Peers sum. to the House of Lords [I.] in one of their father's titles (see ante, p. 2, note "c") it is to be noted that the s. of the Duke of Ormonde was sum. in 1662 as Earl of Ossory; the s. of the Earl of Clancarty, also in 1662, as Viscount Muskerry; the s. of the Earl of Cork, in 1662/3, as Viscount Dungarvan, while the s. of a Viscount (Viscount Strabane), was sum. in 1735/6, as Baron Mountcastle.

As to the right of the eldest son of an Earl to be sum. to Parl., compare the writ (1336) 10 Edw. III to Hugh (Courtenay), Earl of Devon, "quod ipse &c. vel filium suum primogenitum ibidem mittat." See Dugdale's Summons, p. 187.

For convenience of reference the list here given is printed in tabular form on the next page.

Those summoned down to the end of the 19th century are as under. <sup>(b)</sup> Note. In every case only the date of the first summons is given, and in every case, except where it is otherwise specified, it may be assumed the men once summoned in their fathers' baronies continued to be regularly so sum. until they suc. to higher titles on their fathers' death.

[HENRY PERCY, "Hotspur," s. and h. ap. of Henry, Earl of Northumberland, sat in the Parl. of 6 Oct. (1399) 1 Hen. IV, and is by some considered to have been sum. in his father's Barony as Lord Percy. <sup>(b)</sup>]

2. HENRY POLE, s. and h. ap. of Margaret, suo jure Countess of Salisbury, sum. as LORD MONTAGU, Nov. 1529, <sup>(d)</sup> attained 1538.
3. GEORGE BOLEYN, " " Thomas, Earl of Wiltshire and Ormond, " " LORD ROCHFORD, Feb. 1532/3, <sup>(e)</sup> attained 1536.
4. HENRY FITZ ALAN, " " William, Earl of Arundel, " " LORD MALTRAVERS, Jan. 1533/4.
5. FRANCIS TALBOT, " " George, Earl of Shrewsbury, " " LORD TALBOT, Jan. 1533/4.
6. JOHN DUDLEY, " " John, Duke of Northumberland, " " EARL OF WARWICK, Mar. 1552/3, attained Aug. 1553.
7. GEORGE TALBOT, " " Francis, Earl of Shrewsbury, " " LORD TALBOT, Mar. 1552/3.
8. FRANCIS RUSSELL, " " John, Earl of Bedford, " " LORD RUSSELL, " "
9. THOMAS RATCLIFFE, " " Henry, Earl of Sussex, " " LORD FITZWALTER, Aug. 1553.
10. JOHN PAULET, " " William, Marquess of Winchester, " " LORD ST. JOHN, Oct. 1554.
11. HENRY STANLEY, " " Edward, Earl of Derby, " " LORD STRANGE, Jan. 1558/9.

<sup>(a)</sup> A similar list down to 32 Car. II is given at p. 579 of Dugdale's Summons: the Editor is indebted to the Rev. A. B. Beaven for pointing out various errors into which Dugdale has fallen, and for carrying on the list as far as the end of last century. V.G.
<sup>(b)</sup> In the Editor's opinion, however, the idea that a summons to Parl. could confer a peerage title had not then entered the mind of man. V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> He sat in the Parl. of (1471) 11 Edw. IV, but there is no record of his having been then sum. V.G.

12. HENRY HASTINGS,	s. and h. ap. of Francis, Earl of Huntingdon,	sum. as LORD HASTINGS, "
13. WILLIAM PAULET,	" " John, Marquess of Winchester,	" LORD ST. JOHN, May 1572.
14. JOHN RUSSELL,	" " Francis, Earl of Bedford,	" LORD RUSSELL, Jan. 1580/1 <sup>(a)</sup> d.v.p. 1584.
15. FERDINANDO STANLEY	" " Henry, Earl of Derby,	" LORD STRANGE, Feb. 1588/9.
16. GILBERT TALBOT,	" " George, Earl of Shrewsbury,	" LORD TALBOT, "
17. HENRY SOMERSET,	" " Edward, Earl of Worcester,	" LORD HERBERT, Mar. 1603/4. <sup>(b)</sup>
18. WILLIAM HOWARD,	" " Charles, Earl of Nottingham,	" LORD HOWARD OF EFFINGHAM, Mar. 1603/4. <sup>(c)</sup> d.v.p. 1615.
19. THOMAS CLINTON,	" " Henry, Earl of Lincoln,	" LORD CLINTON DE SAY, Feb. 1609/10.
20. THEOPHILUS HOWARD,	" " Thomas, Earl of Suffolk,	" LORD HOWARD DE WALDEN, Feb. 1609/10.
21. JOHN PAULET,	" " William, Marquess of Winchester,	" LORD ST. JOHN, Feb. 1623/4.
22. HENRY LEY,	" " James, Earl of Marlborough,	" LORD LEY, Mar. 1625/6.
23. ALGERNON PERCY,	" " Henry, Earl of Northumberland,	" LORD PERCY, Mar. 1626.
24. SPENCER COMPTON,	" " William, Earl of Northampton,	" LORD COMPTON, Apr. 1626. <sup>(d)</sup>

" 'Dominus Russell,' for the Journals in such cases never give the Christian name, appears for the first time on the list of peers in the Journals on the second day of the session (Jan. 18) and is retained thereon throughout the remainder of the Parliament which sat for the last time on March 18 following."

In place of John Russell Dugdale gives "William Paulet" Lord St. John eldest son to William Marquess of Winchester, 23, 28 Eliz., " but a careful investigation of the Lords' Journals by the Rev. A. B. Beaven seems to show that this is an error, and that no St. John title other than that of Oliver, Lord St. John of Bletsoe, who sat in his own right, was represented in Parl. at this time. V.G. <sup>(b)</sup> After Henry Somerset, sum. as Lord Herbert, Dugdale gives "Charles Lord Herbert of Shurland, eldest son to Philip, Earl of Montgomery 18, 19, 21 Jac. I." He also omits Henry from his lists of these Parliaments, though inserting him in his lists for 3, 5, 7, 8, 12 Jac. I, and again in 1 Car. I. It is obvious that Dugdale has wrongly put "Charles" for "Henry," for in 21 Jac. I Charles was an infant of only about 4 years. V.G.

<sup>(c)</sup> After William Howard, sum. as Lord Howard of Effingham, Dugdale gives "William Parker Lord Monteagle eldest son to Edward Lord Morley 1, 3, 4, 7, 8, 12 Jac. II." This is clearly an error, for though his father was then alive, the Barony of Monteagle was never vested in him; and his mother, from whom he inherited the Barony in the ordinary course, must have d. before 12 July 1599, when her son, who had then sic. as Lord Monteagle but had not yet been sum. as such, was knighted as "Lord Monteagle," by the Earl of Essex. V.G.

25. EDWARD MONTAGU,	s. and h. ap. of Henry, Earl of Manchester,	sum. as LORD KIMBOLTON, May 1626.
26. HENRY CLIFFORD,	" Francis, Earl of Cumberland,	" LORD CLIFFORD, Feb. 1627/8. <sup>(1)</sup>
27. JAMES STANLEY,	" William, Earl of Derby,	" LORD STRANGE, "
28. BASIL FEILDING,	" William, Earl of Denbigh,	" LORD NEWNHAM PADDIX, Feb. 1627/8.
29. EDWARD CONWAY,	" Edward, Viscount Conway,	" LORD CONWAY, Apr. 1628.
30. HENRY FREDERICK HOWARD,
31. MONTAGU BERTIE	Thomas, Earl of Arundel,	" LORD MOWBRAY, Apr. 1640.
32. FERDINANDO HASTINGS,	" Robert, Earl of Lindsey,	" LORD WILLOUGHBY D'ERESBY, Oct. 1640.
33. THOMAS WENTWORTH,	" Henry, Earl of Huntingdon,	" LORD HASTINGS, "
34. JOHN CAREY,	" Thomas, Earl of Cleveland,	" LORD WENTWORTH, Oct. 1640, d.v.p. 1664/5.
35. CHARLES HOWARD,	" Henry, Earl of Dover,	" LORD HUNSDON, Nov. 1640.

AN ANONYMOUS SATIRE ON THE NOBILITY
EARLY IN 1773

Specifying their faults and foibles, being an early instance of what in the twentieth century would be called a topical song. V.G.

“You I love my dearest life,
More than Georgey loves his wife;
More than ministers to rule,
More than North to play the fool,
More than Camden to grimace,
More than Barrington his place,
More than Clive his black jagueer,
More than Bute the Royal ear;
More than patriots their price,
More than Fox loves cards and dice,
More than cits the Court to spite,
More than Townshend not to fight,

† Rigby, who was b. in 1722, held the lucrative office of Paymaster of the Forces from 1768 to 1781. His “blushing merit” [from wine] is alluded to by Junius. He is often mentioned in Wraxall’s Memoirs, and Horace Walpole speaks of his Essex seat, Mistley Hall, as “the charmingest place by nature, and the most trumpery by art that ever I saw.”

More than Colebrook heaps of pelf,<sup>(a)</sup>
 More than Elliot loves himself,<sup>(b)</sup>
 More than Alderman his gut,
 More than Hillsborough to strut,
 More than cullies love a jilt,
 More than Grosvenor horns well gilt;
 More than Dartmouth loves field preachers,
 More than Huntingdon her teachers,
 More than Carlisle those who cheat him,
 More than Long Tom those who treat him,<sup>(c)</sup>
 More than Pomfret a lead mine
 More than Weymouth play and wine,
 More than fools at wits to nibble,
 More than Walpole loves to scribble,
 More than Lyttleton to write,
 More than blackleg March to bite,
 More than country squires their dogs,
 More than Mawbey loves his hogs,<sup>(d)</sup>
 More than demireps a spark,
 More than Martin a sure mark;<sup>(e)</sup>
 More than Grafton loves his pimps,
 More than Devil loves his imps,
 More than Tories love the Stuarts,
 More than Whigs love all true hearts,
 Thus my fair, I love you more Than ever man loved fair before."

(a) Sir George Colebrooke, Bt., M.P. for Arundel, chairman of the East India Company, head of the bank, Colebrooke, Lessingham & Binns. He was supposed to be very wealthy, but his bank stopped payment 31 Mar. 1773, very shortly after these lines were circulated.

(b) Sir Gilbert Elliot, father of the 1st Lord Minto.

(c) Sir Thomas Robinson of Rokeby, on whom Lord Chesterfield wrote the epigram

"Unlike my subject now shall be my song,
 It shall be witty and it shan't be long."

(d) He is the Sir Joseph of the Rolliad, M.P. for Southwark, then a strong Wilkesite. He was the butt of both sides, being a frequent and rather grotesque speaker; he affected the pursuits of a country gentleman and took prizes for fat hogs.

(e) Samuel Martin, secretary to the Treasury at the time of the prosecution of the North Briton; he challenged, fought, and wounded Wilkes in a duel, and was alleged by the latter's friends to have practised steadily at a target before sending the challenge.

APPENDIX I

POLITICS OF PEERS

The Rev. A. B. Beaven writes as follows in explanation of the principles by which he has been guided in assigning the party designations which the Editor has adopted, on his authority, in describing the politics of individual peers.

“So far as I know no one has ever attempted to determine in a comprehensive list, embracing the whole period from the reign of Charles II to the writer’s own times, the political bias of individual members of the two Houses of Parliament. For the three-quarters of a century since the passing of the Reform Act we have the successive issues of Dod’s Parliamentary Companion, which publication records throughout the politics of the members of the House of Commons, and (explicitly from 1857 onward, as well as inferentially in its earlier issues), though with frequent omissions, those of the peers. But we have no similar authority for the pre-Reform era. The Biographical Indexes to the House of Lords and the House of Commons respectively by Joshua Wilson, published in 1806 and 1808, are of some service for the parliaments with which they deal, but the attempts of Stooks Smith (Parliaments of England, 3 vols, 1844-50) and Crosby (Parliamentary Record, 1841) to identify the political opinions of many of the members of the House of Commons in the 18th century with those of the Whig or the Tory party are more praiseworthy in intention than successful in execution: their numerous demonstrable inaccuracies render them practically worthless as authorities on this point, except to those who possess the requisite ‘expert’ knowledge for correcting them.

“The Protests of the Lords and the Division Lists in both houses, with the records of contemporary newspapers, periodicals and correspondence, afford the only trustworthy evidence on which the party allegiance of the less prominent political personages before 1832 can be determined with any degree of accuracy, and this material, which exists to a fairly adequate degree up to the fall of Walpole, is of comparatively scanty extent for the latter half of George II’s reign, and not only during that period, but also through the greater part of the reign of his successor, political connexions were so variable and transient that the knowledge we possess as to the apparently inconsistent votes of individuals, on various questions and at various stages of their public careers, increases the difficulty of classification.

“Throughout the 230 years which have elapsed since party nomenclature became a permanent feature of our parliamentary system, there has been a more or less continuous supply of those sturdily ‘independent’ members—men of the type of the first Lord Lilford, William Wilberforce, John Arthur Roebuck, and Harold Cox—who were the despair alike of contemporary Whips and of future historians. By whatever party name, if any, they may have elected to be called at any given date, the label of a single epithet would be delusive without some annotation. We are on surer ground when we have to deal with those whose political opinions, whether in the normal course of some evolutionary process or through the operation of more expeditious inducements, underwent complete transformation—those for whom party malignity or the attractiveness of monosyllabic emphasis has provided the ineuphonious but expressive designation ‘rats,’ and for not a few of whom, especially in these later days, a change of political connexion has been found to be the precursor of a coronet or of the Ulster hand.

“Politicians like Godolphin and Peterborough and Haversham in the Lords, or ‘Jack’ Howe in the Commons, who boxed the party compass in the days of William III and Anne, were early practitioners of that fine art of political tergiversation, which in the master hands of Charles Fox and the first Lord Auckland and Peel and Graham and Gladstone was reduced almost to an exact science, and is still illustrated by no unskilled exponent in the ranks of the leading statesmen of the year 1910.

“From 1679 to the death of George I the distinction of Whig and Tory was sufficiently marked to ensure a fairly accurate discrimination, except in the case of those members of either House who rarely took part in important debates or divisions.

“For the later years of Walpole’s government (1730-42) I have used the simple term ‘Whig’ to denote the Prime Minister’s adherents, distinguishing those of his opponents who were not Tories pure and simple by the epithet ‘Anti-Walpolean.’

“From the fall of Walpole till the rise of the new Tory party under the younger Pitt, the Tories became less and less an organised political connexion, and in fact had almost ceased to exist under that name when George III ascended the throne: politicians like Egremont, Halifax, Barrington, Nugent, even Lord North himself, who were ranged on the side of the Court in its struggle with the old Whig families, regarding themselves as being no less genuine Whigs than the Bentincks and Cavendishes and Lennoxes and Wentworths, who affected to monopolise, by a kind of divine right of permanent tenure, the trusteeship of the Revolution settlement.

“The difficulty of precise classification is complicated by the action of the Grenville and Bedford Whigs. Both these sections protested against the Repeal of the Stamp Act, and supported the measures taken against the American Colonists, while the former section, although the original proceedings against Wilkes had been initiated by their leader in 1763, joined the Chatham and the Rockingham Whigs (the Bedford group, irreverently termed by their opponents 'the Bloomsbury gang,' standing aloof), in vehement opposition to the action of the Grafton ministry with regard to the Middlesex election of 1769 and the agitation to which it gave occasion.

"In dealing with the period from 1780 to 1783 I have had regard to facts rather than to names, and have classified the adherents of Lord North's administration generally as Tories and its opponents as Whigs, though probably most of the former would have disclaimed the party name which I have assigned to them.

"Many of North's colleagues and adherents, as Loughborough, Carlisle, Eden, Stormont, Sandwich, &c., followed their leader into the disastrous Coalition of 1783, and continued afterwards to act, some for a time only and some permanently, with the Whig opposition to Pitt's ministry, whilst leading Whigs, as Camden, Gower, Carmarthen, Thomas Townshend, Wilkes, &c., gave their support to Pitt, most of them ultimately becoming indistinguishable from Tories, though they did not adopt the name.

"From the Regency Bill of 1789 to the close of the 18th century the main body of Pitt's supporters may for historical purposes be classed as Tories, though Pitt himself and Grenville, his leader in the House of Lords, would hardly have accepted the designation: these were reinforced in 1794 by the Portland-Burke section of the Whigs, some of whom were with Portland himself finally incorporated in the Tory party, whilst others, as Windham, Spencer, Minto, &c., reverted to their old Whig connexion after the Peace of Amiens. For some years after Pitt's resignation the Grenville and Addington sections were disturbing elements as political combinations, till they were merged (the latter in 1812, and the former in 1822), in the main body of the Tory party. The Canningite group and (at a later date) the Peelites have also to be considered; with few exceptions, after the deaths of their respective leaders, they gravitated towards and were finally swallowed up by the Liberals. The Liberal Unionists of 1886 are of too recent date to cause any difficulty in identification, although in one or two cases such authorities as Dod and Who's Who regard the same individual as 'Conservative' and 'Liberal Unionist' respectively in the same year, and some Liberal peers who avowed their opposition to Home Rule in 1886 are classed with their old party in Dod till 1892 or 1893.

"As I have said, it is not in my judgment possible to indicate with precision, by the simple use of the terms 'Whig' and 'Tory,' the avowed principles and the course of action (often tortuous and evasive) of politicians in the half century that followed the fall of Walpole, or even in the time of the French Revolution and the Napoleonic Wars. I am conscious that where I have used those terms without modification my fundamentum divisionis may not commend itself to every student of the subject, but I think the explanation I have given will render my classification intelligible.

"I ought to add that for any errors whether of fact or judgment, in the statements made in this work as to the politics of individual peers, I accept the sole responsibility. What I have written above will show that they are not due to inadequate appreciation of the difficulties inherent in the task I have undertaken. On the other hand, whatever degree of accuracy has been attained is due in no small measure to the perspicacity of the Editor, whose vigilant eye detected many items in my original contribution which required reconsideration, or notes explanatory of doubtful points which they suggested to him."

GRANT OF THE COMTÉ OF AUMALE TO RICHARD, EARL OF WARWICK

In the Chambre des Comptes at Paris there was formerly a volume entitled:—"Cest le Livre et Registre des Chartes et Lettres patentes du Roy nostre souverain Seigneur des dons par luy faits de plusieurs fiefs terres rentes et seigneuries commenceantes a Pasques 1420<sup>(b)</sup> lunziesme jour davril apres Pasques."

This Register is not now in the Archives Nationales, and has doubtless perished. But in the unarranged mass of Preuves collected by Gilles André de la Roque in his Histoire de la Maison de Harcourt, ten documents are reproduced (pp. 1439-73) therefrom. Of these some have been also entered on the Norman Rolls, some not. Among the latter is the following:—

(b) So described, but several of the documents mentioned above are of earlier date. There is no doubt about the date of the one here given, for Henry V was certainly at Vernon on 19 May 1419. Note.—When Aumale was besieged and taken by Henry V in 1419, Jean d'Harcourt VIII (only legitimate son of Jean VII, Count of Harcourt), was Count of Aumale and Mortain. He was slain at the battle of Verneuil, 17 Aug. 1424, aged 28, being then "Lieutenant et Capitaine General pour Monseigneur le Roy es pais de Normandie danjou et du Maine." He d. s.p. legit. Aumale was captured by the French under the Sire de Longueval in 1429, but was shortly afterwards recaptured by the Earl of Suffolk.
